CHALLENGE TURKEY'S ROLE IN CYPRUS

Guessing On Cabinet Changes Many, Varied

Announcements Will Be Made Middle of Month

OTTAWA (CP)—Almost anybody is ready to take a guess these days about federal cabinet replacements for Justice Minister Cherrier and Postmaster-General Denis.

But the only man who can really name them, Prime Minister Pearson, is keeping mum until some time later this month.

Mr. Pearson has said there will be "consequential" changes due to departures of Mr. Cherrier and Mr. Denis and perhaps one or two others.

Mr. Cherrier is expected to get a top diplomatic post, possibly ambassador to Paris or high commissioner to Britain Mr. Denis is going to the Senate.

A recurring theme of speculation has been that Immigration Minister Guy Favreau, 45, will step into Mr. Chevrier's shoes as Mr. Pearson's chief Quebec lieutenant and also into the justice ministry.

Almost as widespread has been speculation that Health Minister Judy LaMarsh will move out of her portfolio, possibly into immigration.

From there on the variety of guesses has been almost unlimited.

There is talk that State Secretary Pickersgill may give up that portfolio and the demanding job of government leader in the Commons to move into the transport ministry.

Transport Minister McIlraith is mentioned as a possible postmaster-general. But so also are Associate Defence Minister Cardin and Minister Without Portfolio Rene Tremblay.

Mr. Tremblay, an economist, is not originally slated as the liberals' eastern agriculture minister. But the proposal to split agriculture into an eastern and western department seems to have been shelved for the time being.

Several men, mostly Quebec MPs since the departing ministers are Quebecers, have been suggested as new ministers. Trade-ish Maurice Sauve, the chairman of the Commons defence committee and MP for Timiskaming-Cochrane Roy Beau, chairman of the government caucus and MP for Montreal-Jeanne Mance Yves Forget (Drummond - Arthabaska) and Yvon Dupuis (St. Jean-Iberville-Napierville).

Bomarcs' Warheads At Base

NORTH BAY (CP)—Nuclear warheads for Bomarc missiles at the RCAF base north of here arrived unexpectedly Tuesday night, just one day after the defence department in Ottawa said they would not arrive until sometime in January.

The warheads were ferried in by a United States Air Force C-54 transport at about 10 p.m. and were met by a four-truck convoy which took the missiles to the Bomarc base, about five miles away.

The arrival made 446 surface - to - air Bomarc air defence squadron the first Canadian military unit to be equipped with defensive nuclear weapons.

There are 28 missiles at the North Bay base, part of an extensive underground installation that includes a SAGE—semi-automatic ground environment—system that also controls a Bomarc squadron at La Macaza, Que., about 80 miles north of Ottawa.

The convoy was escorted without incident to the Bomarc base by provincial police, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, North Bay city police and RCAF personnel.

WILL BE COMPLETE

The warheads, when installed, will complete the North Bay defence installation. The Bomarc base was completed in 1961, and nine solid fuel Bomarc B missiles arrived later in the year.

A 30-man USAF detachment which will have custody of the warheads has been here since mid-November.

The defence department said in September the warheads were scheduled to arrive by the end of November. But late in November the department revised its prediction and said the warheads would arrive by the end of the year.

It was only Monday that the arrival date was changed again, but the second estimate proved to be correct.

Revelry, Prayer and Hopeful Messages Mark Start of 1964

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Revelry, prayer and hopeful year messages for peace marked the start of 1964 around the world.

In the United States, the holiday was marked by traditional parties and football bowl games as the deep south was struck by heavy snow storms.

Synopsis— The storm which gave heavy snow to southern Ontario New Year's Day has moved into New England and the Maritime provinces. Temperatures moderated a little during the night and are expected to continue to rise today as a warmer air moves in from the west.

Five Die Of Thirst On Desert

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuters)—Five members of a British migrant family who died of thirst in blistering barren country north of here were buried today in a lonely desert grave.

Searchers found them early today after they became lost along an arid track in the far northeast of South Australia last Tuesday when their car ran out of gas.

Dead were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Page and their sons, Douglas, 12, Gordon, 10, and Robert, 19. They had emigrated to Australia four years ago from England.

Members of the search party said the five might have survived if they stayed near their car. Near it was a windmill where they replenished their water supply before walking for help.

One of the bodies was clad in an undershirt. The others apparently had discarded most of their clothing before their agonizing death.

The other son, Robert, had arranged to meet them some where along the track, which crosses wild stony country.

FOUND NOTE

The car was found abandoned by a rabbit trapper with a note on the windshield saying: "No petrol. Have water for two days. Heading south."

The five were believed to have died the day after Christmas. Temperatures in the area then were up to 118 degrees fahrenheit in the shade.

A policeman who took part in the search commented:

"It can be dangerous, and it certainly needs endurance to travel over the track. But if your car breaks down off the track, you would be better off in a row boat in the middle of the ocean."

The bodies were sighted from the air 45 miles south of Birdsville, Queensland, in an area known as Dead Man's Sandhills. There is no water there, and no means of livelihood for hundreds of miles.

Three Persons Die in Fire In Calgary

CALGARY (CP)—Three persons died in a fire of undetermined origin in an east-end Calgary rooming house Wednesday and eight others including three children were injured.

Names of the victims were withheld.

Alderman Ernie Starr, executor of an estate which owned the building, estimated damage to the three-storey brick structure, on 4th Avenue Southeast was $50,000.

Twenty-six persons—24 occupants and two visitors—were in the building at the time of the fire. A fire department spokesman said some were rescued by ladders and others came down fire escapes.

172,740 West Berliners Greet New Year With Friends

BERLIN (AP)—A new rush of West Berliners crossing the wall is expected with only four more days remaining on the agreement allowing visits to East Berlin.

A total of 172,740 West Berliners greeted the new year with relatives behind the wall, pushing past 600,000 the number of visitors to the Red sector since the visits began Dec. 19.

The huge flow of West Berliners placed new pressure on Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin government to discuss an extension of the visiting arrangement with the Communist East German regime.

The agreement expires at midnight Sunday.

Brandt has said he will try to renew the agreement, which has given West Berliners their first chance to see relatives in East Berlin since the Communists built the wall in August, 1961.

But he also is under opposite pressure from allied and West German officials and West Berlin newspapers who regard any negotiations with the East German regime as recognition and fear such talks can only strengthen the Communist concept of a divided Germany and a neutralized West Berlin.

A gay and happy throng returned from East Berlin early New Year's Day after welcoming 1964 with a frenzy of song and drink. East Berlin's Karl Marx Allee was aglow with fireworks.

As stragglers met the extended 5 a.m. deadline for returning on New Year's morn, West Berlin's police said there was no violence during the day. Several thousand persons had passes for both days, and were allowed to spend the night in East Berlin.

Some West Berliners combined under the combination of hard drinking, late hours and emotional tension of reunions. They had to be carried home by ambulance.

The revelry even infected the normally somber East German vopos (people's police). A turnwrapped West Berlin woman hugged several vopos, saying: "We are all Germans."

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson led more than 1,000 Ottawans at a New Year's morning levee attending Governor-General Georges Vanier's New Year's Day levee.

The Governor - General — whose new military rank of full general became effective Jan. 1 —received in the scarlet and gold dress uniform worn on Parliament Hill, while his blue and gold personal standard flew from the top of the Peace Tower. He wore morning clothes.

The civilian guests led by Mr. Pearson—517 of them, by the House of Commons constabulary's count—were received first at 11 a.m. EST. General Vanier shook hands and spoke a few words to the first of them.

At noon, 490 men and women of the armed forces were received.

The 2½ hour event was attended by some members of the federal cabinet, most city controllers and aldermen.

Conspicuous were the large numbers of family groups who lined up to exchange New Year's greetings with the mayor. And Miss Whitton paid special attention to the youngsters, often going down on one knee to talk with them.

Tea and cake were served by the wives of city council.

TORONTO (CP) — For the first time ever, non - military women attended the traditional New Year's Day levee extended by Ontario's lieutenant-governor.

It was the first such reception by Hon. Earl Rowe, who became lieutenant-governor last year.

Officers of women's service corps had attended previous levees, but aides de camp could not recall receptions when non-military women were present.

Two housewives from Lindsay, Ont., were invited into the reception by Mr. Rowe after being spared the embarrassment when their husbands went into the receiving line.

Mrs. Jean Waddell, wife of a department of lands and forests forester, and Mrs. Franklin Bromley, wife of a Lindsay area farmer, were in Toronto to view the Christmas trees set up around the legislature building.

They shook hands and chatted briefly with the lieutenant-governor.

Earlier, the only women visitors had been a group of nursing officers from HMCS York. Some 500 persons attended the levee, including former federal finance minister Donald Fleming.

ACT TAKES EFFECT

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec's new Electoral Act came into effect Wednesday and 18-year-olds henceforth have the right to vote in provincial elections. Most of them, however, won't get the chance probably until 1966, when the next general provincial election is likely. But there are three byelections in the offing to fill vacant seats in the Montreal area, caused by ailing health of Liberals, and in Dorchester, left vacant by the death of the Union Nationale member.

Defector Living In Canada

An announcement Thursday night said he has left Britain to start a new life under a different name in a Commonwealth country. Official sources said the country is Canada.

The Daily Telegraph says he went to Canada some weeks ago with his appearance altered." It adds that Dolnytsin is living "in the same province"—it does not say which one—Igor Gouzenko, key figure in Canada's espionage case of 1946.

Dolnytsin is regarded as one of the most important Soviet citizens to defect to the West. His information played a part in the trial of William Vassall, 38-year-old British admiralty clerk who was imprisoned on charges of spying for Moscow.

Dolnytsin also tipped off British security to the fact that there was a "third man" in the case of British diplomats Guy Burgess, who died last year, and Donald Maclean. Burgess and Maclean quit the West for Russia in May, 1951.

Dolnytsin did not know that British journalist and former foreign office employee, Kim Philby, was the "third man," The Daily Telegraph says, but his replies to questions pointed directly to Moscow's defection to the West in December 1961.

Philby, who escaped to Russia when the net began to close around him.

Dolnytsin has been in Britain about a year. He was handed over to British authorities after defecting two years ago.

He is the unknown man who has probably given the West the greatest advantage in the espionage war since the defection in Canada of Igor Gouzenko, says The Daily Telegraph.

Nkrumah Shot At Five Times But Uninjured

Nkrumah escaped the shooting unharmed but a security guard died from gunshot wounds.

DENIES REPORT

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has denied that he plans to make a nationwide television and radio appearance to discuss his divorce and remarriage. Rockefeller, the only announced candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, made the statement in commenting on a Washington Post story which said he would make such an appearance later this month.

Makarios Seeks End Of Pact Signed In 1960

More British Troops Heading for Cyprus

CP from AP-Reuters

NICOSIA, Cyprus—Archbishop Makarios, Greek-Cypriot president of Cyprus, has begun a campaign to end Turkey's special role in Cyprus, granted by the island's 1960 independence treaties.

Charging Turkey with "aggressive actions" in the communal strife between Greek and Turkish-Cypriots, Makarios announced Wednesday he would seek to dissolve agreements under which Britain, Greece and Turkey guarantee Cyprus' sovereignty.

Earlier, Makarios said he would tear up the agreements. But after Britain challenged his right to act alone, he said he would "secure the termination of these treaties by appropriate means," meaning by negotiation.

The treaties with all three governments are interlocked, and all three must be abrogated to get rid of the agreement with Turkey. But Makarios and other members of his government have made plain the Turkish government is the object of their ire. They say they hope to preserve links with Britain as a member of the Commonwealth.

MORE BLOOD SPILLED

The diplomatic exchanges came amid fresh blood - letting on the 25th day since strife between the island's Greek majority and Turkish minority turned violent. Three monks were killed and another three wounded in a raid Wednesday on the Greek orthodox monastery of Galaciforous, 25 miles southwest of Nicosia. Survivors said five or six Turkish-Cypriots made the raid.

And police reported that a Greek-Cypriot and a Turkish-Cypriot were killed in a shooting incident Tuesday night at Dhorna on the southern edge of Cyprus.

Fires were bringing reinforcements of British soldiers arrived during the night. The men were landed at the British base of Akrotiri to replace other forces transferred to peace keeping duty in Nicosia.

Tooting, Tooting and Thoughts Launch New Year in Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A year of predicted prosperity dawned for Canada Wednesday.

And prosperous Canadians ushered it in in style—by eating, by drinking and by being merry.

It is the year that economists say, in their financial jargon, will be a rich one.

But the new year came to Canadians without pre - occupation with economic problems. It came traditionally—the spanking of the new born, the toast at midnight, the Happy New Year tooted on a horn.

It was not a setate beginning to a year that will be anything but sedate.

For one thing, it has an extra day—beginning 366 in 1964 is the funny year when the girls are supposed to chase the men. What 1964 will bring may well be what the, prophets say. At any rate, here's how it started:

The warmest New Year in the East, snarling traffic in Toronto and Montreal; balmy weather in the West; a high in Winnipeg near 40; a snow storm in the Maritimes; mild and wet at the Pacific.

Babies—Two boys, born at the stroke of midnight: For the Mrs. Jean Brett of Montreal, a son weighing seven pounds, 14 ounces; for Mrs. Brian McGowan of Hull, Que., a son weighing seven pounds, eight ounces.

Deaths—13 on the highways, nine from other causes.

In the capitals of the 10 provinces the lieutenant-governors, representatives of the Queen, turned out in morning coats for the New Year's Levees. But in Ontario and Alberta, long-standing tradition was broken when non-military women attended the receptions.

Two Lindsay, Ont., home wives, barred at the door as their husbands entered, were later invited to the receiving line by Ontario's LG-Gov. Earl Rowe. In Edmonton, the wife of a diplomat attended the levee.

In Hamilton and in Vancouver members of polar bear clubs donned bathing suits for icy swims; seven men and a woman had to break the thin ice in Hamilton before they could enter the 35-degree water.

In Charlottetown a newborn boy entered the world at 12:03 a.m. and was named Prince Edward Islands centennial baby. It was 100 years ago that the fathers of confederation met in the island province.

The boy, James Roy Peters, weighed six pounds, 10 ounces.

800 Crack Troops Off To Cyprus

LONDON (Reuters) — An advance party of about 800 crack British paratroopers will fly to Cyprus tonight to protect British families and bases on the island, the defence ministry announced today.

The announcement said the main body will fly out at noon Friday.

Meanwhile, it was learned Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas - Home may interrupt his Christmas vacation in Scotland to return to London for talks on the communal conflict in Cyprus with Commonwealth Relations Secretary Duncan Sandys.

Sandys, who flew to the island to arrange the setting up of a neutral zone between the warring Greek- and Turkish-Cypriot communities and a peace-keeping operation by British troops, is expected to return here this evening.

The paratroopers, put on 48-hour standby Thursday, will follow 700 men of the Royal Ulsters by air to the troubled island during the night.

The latest batch will bring the total of reinforcements sent to Cyprus because of the crisis flared up over Christmas to nearly 2,000.

They are taking the place of British troops already in the island who are carrying out "police" work.

MORSTER BURIED

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph (The Fat Man) Magliocco, 65, top leader of Cosa Nostra, was buried Tuesday after a requiem mass attended by about 50 persons. He died at a hospital Saturday of a heart attack. In testimony before a Senate committee, mobster Joe Valachi said Magliocco was one of the bosses of the Cosa Nostra's ruling families across the U.S. He was reported to have controlled Brooklyn and Long Island rackets.

Construction Roundup

By ANDY TURNBULL

Word out of Toronto is that work on the new Carnegie Motel will start very soon, but not everyone who hears the word is counting on it. The building is planned to go up on North Front St., near the OPP station, and original plans would have seen broken ground a month ago. It's a big job though and all sorts of things could cause a delay.

Speaking of delays, there are none now at Goodman's new motel, North Front and Highway 401. Begg and Dalgle foreman George Snow says painting can start early next week. Kitchen equipment has been delivered, the coffee bar is on site and the dining room chairs are there. Heat is on in the building, water is running and doors are being hung on the 75 units. The dining area is being partitioned now, and will be ready for painting about a week after the rest of the building.

Still on motels, the drywall is being finished now at Dickenah motel, just off the Wallbridge Road near 401. Mac Belch and Sons may have it ready for painting next week.

Bell Telephone crews are busy in Prince Edward County now, stringing new wires for the telephones in Bloomfield and Wellington. The two villages will be cut over to dial service during the spring, and it seems it cannot use dial equipment with the old lines. A related job is stringing the new Belleville-Picton toll cable. Two submarine sections have yet to cross the swamps about half way down the route. Three crews are working on the total project — and they'll be at it for another two months.

Frosty weather this week held up several jobs in the Quinte area. Chatham Farmer of Dodge Construction was all set to pour the first floor on the new building for Bell Telephone, at Picton and Victoria, Monday morning. When he saw the temperature, he called the work off for the day. Plans call for a look at the weather Thursday, and Dodge didn't do a thing at Black Diamond Monday, and Nicholas Dix, in charge of the new apartment block at Victoria and George, closed up for the holidays.

Mike Voscamp of Miron-Wiggers had hoped to pour concrete Monday at the Bank of Montreal branch at North Front and College. He got it done Tuesday, working under tarps. The pour was for a foundation for the vault, above a reinforced fireproof room in the basement. Steel is up on the job and the next pour Monday putting in floor joists. At other Miron-Wiggers jobs, College Hill drywall is done except a few trades and the foundations are all finished for the new Haggarty Transport warehouse north of the 401.

Tatham's have the north wall poured for the new Smith Transport warehouse north of town, and the forms for the south wall are almost finished. They should be ready by next week, and the wall will be poured first chance after that. Howard Lewis poured the north wall with insulation but no heat, and found it was still wet two days later. Same procedure will be used on the south wall, he says.

Work in finished on the west side of the damaged section of the Bay bridge, and foreman Ken Fox was hoping to have help Monday, to move the Bailey sections across the road. Now he hopes to have it done right after the holiday. A couple of days' work then, replacing the main beam of the portal on the other side and the section can be removed. It's really needed only when one of the big beams is missing. There will be another delay in a week or so, while the grating on the swing section is patched up.

Fund Set Up For 2 Families Now $2,212

The community fund set up for families of two construction workers who died in a cave-in December 11th, has reached $2,212.

The figure was reported by the Bank of Montreal this morning.

The fund—for the families of Douglas Cronkright and Patrick Black—was due to receive a boost this week, as Hastings county sheriff Roscoe Robson says donations will be accepted.

Both men will portion out the cash to the victimized families.

The fund was started the day after the cave-in at a Bridge Front Street motel, which went demolished for about five hours.

The inquest will be held on January 15th into the incident.

Robber Irked, Shoves Youth Into Dryer

James Baumgardner Jr., 17, spent more than 30 cramped minutes in the machine before another customer rescued him.

The youth said he was alone in the building, preparing to wash a load of clothes, when a man approached him from behind and demanded money.

Told the teen - ager was broke, the thug made him climb over in front of an open dryer and shoved him in, shutting the glass door.

A woman freed Baumgardner.

He was pale but apparently unhurt.

"At least the man didn't drop a quarter in the machine," he said. "I would have fried alive."

Gangsters Far Outnumber Police in Japan

TOKYO (Reuters)—Japan has four major underworld gangs with organizations on a national scale, and the gangsters far outnumber the police, a national police agency report said today.

At the end of October there were 5,211 small underworld gangs with a membership of about 180,000, some 50,000 more than the total strength of the police force.

The agency said gangsters with walkie-talkie radios were stationed outside the homes of police officers to report police movements and 24-hour guards were mounted on the homes of gang leaders, some of whom acted like feudal lords.

Must Fight Viet Cong Way In Order to Defeat Them

SAIGON (AP) — "The hardcore Viet Cong is probably the best fighting man in South Viet Nam, and we're going to have to start fighting the Viet Cong's way if we're going to beat him."

This comment came from a senior U.S. military adviser stationed here, who requested that his name be withheld. It probably was the blunt est assessment of enemy strength yet from any American official here.

"We've cut some of his advantages with modern equipment such as helicopters, but when he chooses to fight he has the advantage," the officer said.

"He digs the right kind of hole in the right place. He forces us to maneuver in open sight, while he is perfectly hidden. His use of camouflage and the discipline of his troops are superb. To defeat one of his battalions you need either be very lucky or accept losses, perhaps five government troops to every one of his.

"TERRAIN IS PROBLEM

"The best way to get him is to surround him under cover of darkness, wear him down, and force him into hand - to - hand combat. But in this terrain, it's very hard to do that.

"The advantages swing our way when we have good intelligence and good luck, and exploit every break we get."

"It's partly ideology. He's a fanatic. But it's also a question of discipline. He exploits every little thing that can work in his favor, and these little things add up to a big advantage.

"He is very willing to dig and dig deep, so his fortifications are very hard to clean out. He is willing to undergo any kinds of rigors. He has to—to survive."

ATTACK AT WILL

The Vietnamese Army is trained by a French - trained army, and training Americans in military training is not suitable for Viet Nam. There still are hundreds of indefensible government outposts all over the country that are really nothing more than supply depots for the Viet Cong. Any time he needs some weapons or a few grenades, he can knock one over.

"Most of all, it's discipline and caution. Time after time in all little details of guerrilla warfare that we lack.

"There's no reason why our troops can't do the same things, ambushing Viet Cong patrols at night, for example, or planting mines along their supply lines.

Cry for Unity In Canada Great - - Vanier

OTTAWA (CP) — Governor-General Vanier says in a New Year's message that it is "inconceivable" that French and English - speaking Canadians should not be able to live together in unity.

In a message emphasizing unity, the Governor-General said that the cry for unity in Canada is great.

"It is inconceivable that the heirs to the two great western civilizations—Anglo - Saxon and French—should be unable to find a brotherly way of life based upon respect for rights conferred by history, a respect for conventions freely accepted nearly a century ago but adapted to the exigencies of our time.

"The future of Canada is intimately related to this fabulous double heritage. It is for Canadians of Anglo - Saxon and French descent, whose two cultures are a source of mutual enrichment, will be an example of fraternal co-existence, and that they will advance hand in hand to make of Canada a great nation. hand in hand also with Canadians of all origins, without distinction of race or creed, with their language and their culture."

All men feel a need to reach unity, he said. Pope John had given a wonderful impetus to the movement towards spiritual unity. His cry for unity still was being heard.

If Canadians are to justify their blessings in the coming year "we must deem ourselves to seek to establish ourselves in that peace which come only through unity."

Johnson Vetoes Bill on Canada's Lumber Imports

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Johnson has rejected legislation that would have put a country-of-origin marking on all lumber imported from Canada.

The bill also would have required a country-of-origin label on all imported products, each time they are repackaged in the U.S.

In a statement issued at Johnson City, Tex., Tuesday the president said the bill would "aggravate our relations with Canada at a time when we are trying to improve those relations at every level."

He said the bill would raise new barriers to foreign trade and invite retaliation against the U.S., impose new costs on U.S. merchants and consumers and would encourage higher prices on lumber and home-building "at a time when we are trying to expand our housing opportunities."

"There is no need for this bill," Johnson said in his first major foreign-trade action since he became president after the assassination Nov. 22 of President Kennedy.

Johnson had 10 days in which to sign the bill, which had been strongly advocated by legislators, particularly from lumber states, who sought ways of reducing lumber imports from Canada.

The deadline for signing was Tuesday midnight.

Canadian Ambassador Charles Ritchie, notified about the president's decision, said "I am very much gratified at the outcome."

Born in Haarlem, Holland, Mrs. Ruys was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Piet DeGraaf. She is survived by two sons, Klaas, R.R. 1, Beachville Ont., and Jacob of Holland and her daughter, Mrs. J. Vanderviet. Mrs. Ruys was predeceased by her husband, Klaas.

ASHLEY WRIGHT BROOKS

The funeral of Ashley Wright Brooks was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, on Monday, December 30th, with Rev. P. J. Hommersen, of St. Paul's United Church officiating. Pall bearers were Mr. William Belch, Belleville.

The bearers were: Messrs. Fred Bateman, Sr., Fred Bateman, Ray Poste, Bill Morton and Jack Doran.

Honorariums were made in Stirling chapel vault.

MRS. MARTHA E. ROBERTSON MADOC

The funeral of Mrs. Martha Robertson, a lifelong resident of Madoc, was held on Monday afternoon, December 30, with a service conducted in the MacKenzie Funeral Home by Rev. R. A. Sinclair, assisted in prayer by Rev. Gerald Kingston.

Interment took place in Lakeview cemetery.

Second Offence Drunk Driving Brings Term

Gordon Craig, second concession Tyendinaga township, was sentenced to a month after a police constable said he found him intoxicated in his pickup truck outside the Craig home.

Mr. Craig also was charged with having no licence, nor any proof of insurance. He received concurrent sentences for the offences.

OPP constable W. C. Willis said he could have laid a total of nine charges arising out of the incident.

The court was told Mr. Craig also had been convicted two years ago on an intoxicated driving charge.

"I warn you Mr. Craig," said Magistrate Wills, "if you come up before me again in a state of completed defiance of our motor vehicle laws I am going to give you everything I can."

Holiday Bogged Down Under Heavy Snow

The New Year's holiday in the Belleville area — in common with much of Southern Ontario — was largely bogged under heavy snow.

The official precipitation recorded by the meteorological plant was 3¼ inches. However, with heavy drifting a hazardous factor, roads were piled up to greater depths around the area.

There were surprisingly few accidents throughout the district — and most of them serious.

New Year's Eve mishaps also were quiet — on police hands. There were a few incidents that attracted police attention and intoxication appeared to be minimal.

City police were called out to the inevitable number of crashes, but generally the calm was unruffled.

Snow plows were involved in two accidents during the storm.

On Highway 2 near the Bay of Quinte country club dam- age was minor when a car slid into a Highways Department plow.

TWO TREATED

In Belleville two persons were treated for minor injuries when a car crashed into the wing of a city police department's into a snow bank on East Dundas Street in Bloomfield.

The car driver, Nelle Gertrude Brant, Deseronto, received a punctured jaw and a passenger, Murney Dawson, Shannonville, a cut knee.

There was no damage to the plow, driven by works employee Gordon Greene.

Oswald May Have Shot At Gen. Walker

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Chronicle says in a copyright story that Lee Harvey Oswald wrote his wife a set of instructions in Russian the day before a sniper took a shot at former Maj.-Gen. Edwin Walker last April 10 in Dallas.

The newspaper says the set of instructions has been given to the presidential commission investigating the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The Chronicle says authorities believe the man who sniped at Walker was Oswald, the accused assasin of Kennedy. Oswald was later slain by Jack Ruby, Dallas night club operator.

Walker was Oswald, the ac-member of the U.S. 24th division in Germany and a candidate for governor of Texas last year.

The Chronicle says the instructions left by Oswald for his Russian-born wife told her that something was coming up which might cause him to go away for some time or might cause him to be arrested.

The newspaper story says the told her where the jail was and gave her the number of his post office box and the key. It says he told her of a cheque he was expecting from an employer. He advised her how to get in touch with the consul of the Soviet Union, the newspaper story says.

The Chronicle says the shooting at Walker took place within the next day and the president-tial commission is investigating a report that Oswald told his wife he had shot at Walker.

Leukemia Serum Gives Boy, 4, Huge Appetite

AJACCIO, Corsica (Reuters) — A four-year-old English boy suffering from leukemia has developed a huge appetite during a special serum treatment here, a doctor said today.

Dr. Henri Santonacci said Edward Burke was "doing fine" after starting to receive injections by biologist Gastor Nazzeni, who claims his serum has helped cure other cases of leukemia.

Five local children suffering from leukemia have arrived seeking treatment and a second British boy was expected to arrive today.

Pinnacle Street Railroader, Harry D. Sharpe, Retires

Probably more Belleville people have seen Harry D. Sharpe at work than any other railroader in the district. It's not that he looks for publicity, but "Curley" as he is known around the railroad, is naturally in the public eye. He has spent more time than anyone else on the "commercial run" in the Belleville yards that puts trains up and down Pinnacle Street. Tuesday night he retired after thousands of trips.

According to the C.N.R. records, Mr. Sharpe started working for the railroad as a brakeman during 1923. The records are wrong though. His first railroad job was a fireman, and he started work during 1919. The job didn't last, and within months he was on his way to Flint, Michigan, and a job in one of the big auto factories.

He came back to Belleville because of his wife. The former Nina Deenis came from a Belleville when she was just two years old, and she's been tied up with railroads for longer than she can remember. Her father died in a head-on collision near Collins Bay when she was just seven years old. He was flashing his first run as an engineer at the time.

When she married in 1920, Mr. Sharpe was happy to move to Flint with her new husband. She didn't like the thought, though — in 1923 the couple moved back to Belleville. Mr. Sharpe took a job as brakeman and soon perfection appeared settled. It nearly was. Then, Mr. Sharpe looked around and discovered young men lead a better life than brakemen. He asked for a transfer and he got it, during October of 1927. He's been on the "commercial run" off and on since then, and he was on it steadily for the past two years.

The "commercial run" operates from the downtown area up Pinnacle St., through the Belleville yards and up to Corbyville. It's known as the commercial run because it handles commercial traffic, even if it does move within the yard area. Freight is varied and that found on the main lines.

STREET IS PROBLEM

The run is a pleasant one, with the possible exception of the Pinnacle St. section. The trains are on Pinnacle St. twice a day, for only a few minutes at a time, and each minute something is liable to go wrong. Main problem, Mr. Sharpe explains, is that parking is allowed on both sides of the street, and the street is used regularly by big cement carrier trucks. There isn't room on the street for both trains, the trucks and the parked cars all together. When the train is going south and one or more of the trucks are going north, problems arise. Most of the problems could be avoided, Mr. Sharpe says, if parking were prohibited on the street at this time.

But the problem is Mr. Sharpe's problem no longer. He is on vacation now, and he is officially retired after the end of this month. He has no long-term plans for his retirement but for the time being, he plans to see a lot more of his son Bernard and discovered young men lead a better life than brakemen. He asked for a granddaughter in Cobourg.

Youth Column

Says Adults Not Concerned With Teen-Age Problems

By JIM NEAVES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Working with young people for the last five years has convinced a Winnipeg man that the pressures and problems facing today's teen-agers are not being adequately met.

Gordon Balisky, 25, executive director of the Greater Winnipeg Youth for Christ movement, says adults are "not as concerned with the problems of teen-agers as they should be."

"After all, they are the leaders of tomorrow and even after realizing this we are doing far too little to change the situation and give our young people some tangible answers."

Mr. Balisky bases his opinion on one aspect of the work undertaken here by the international youth organization which has branches in 47 countries.

"Our work with juvenile delinquents has grown during the last 1½ years. Perhaps one of the reasons is that we never turn them away—we're available to them day and night."

He's not sure why teen-agers with problems seek out Youth for Christ rather than talking with their parents or clergymen.

MORALITY CHANGES

"Perhaps it's because we are a neutral body. We even have some parents asking our advice on problems relating to their teen-age sons and daughters."

The changing concepts of morality appear to be a major factor in teen problems.

"Many teens approach us for guidance on sexual relationship problems, the inability to get along with their parents and alien feelings of being unwanted . . . We try to apply the basic principles of Christianity coupled with modern psychology and practical therapy."

One difficulty, however, is that most of the reference material and publications dealing with teen-agers and their problems are outdated by the time they reach bookstore or library shelves."

Mr. Balisky, a native of Fairlew, Alta., became executive director of the youth movement here in 1961. He now is aided by a part-time club director and by part-time office secretary. Weekly meetings of the clubs, combined with other activities, attract between 600 and 1,000 teen-agers.

"Our youth program attempts to give young people for the realities of the world—mental, physical, social and spiritual. We use a well-balanced program and is certainly not designed to make namby-pambies out of them.

"Teenilative" sessions place emphasis on mental and physical fitness and the ability to adapt to other people.

"We also have quiz programs and our teen-talent contests are held on a provincial, national and international basis."

The talent contests encompass public speaking, drama, vocal and instrumental music. No one is permitted to compete unless his "studies are on a high level."

Charlotte Is Mayor Whitton Not Miss

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton's final blast of 1963 was saved for Ottawa's two television stations.

It seems they have been referring to her as "Miss Whitton." In fact, she pointed out, she is "Mayor Whitton."

In a New Year's Eve letter to the directors of stations CBOT-TV and CJOH - TV the lady mayor suggests that they "the newest, youngest, in impact most fleeting, of the media communications" — mend their ways.

Television alone is to blame, her letter says. The press and radio are "meticulously correct."

"Were I a younger, less pugnacious, less self - sufficient member of my sex, I might think you were seeking to advance my interests by assigning free space to my status to Leap Year."

Mayor Whitton suggests that even if this were the case, nothing would develop.

". . . I would myself be inclined to question the balance, though marvellous at the occasional pure unattached gentleman, who would think of facing such fearful odds.

"So will you 'cease and desist' from the "Miss Whitton' (though I'm honestly pleased much in a fairly full and lively life) until, at least, I lose the title in the proper form of reference 'Mayor Whitton?'"

Mayor Whitton says she doesn't objecting to the "reporting, or misreporting of me, my actions, convictions or alleged lack them."

Just could not afford to lose the sympathy of the public's understanding of your misunderstandings."

625 Persons Get Welfare Aid in October

The number of Belleville persons receiving general welfare assistance during the month of October, showed a nine per cent decrease over the same period in 1962, according to figures released by the Ontario Department of Welfare.

Figures show that 625 persons received welfare assistance last October, as compared with 687 in 1962.

Total expenditures for welfare in the city for the first ten months of last year was $264,636, an increase of $22,870 over the same period in 1962, or an increase of 9.5 per cent.

During October the Ontario Department experienced its first net decrease in numbers of persons receiving general welfare assistance as compared to the corresponding month in 1962. The decrease to some extent paralleled the unemployment rate which reached a low of 2.3 per cent of the labor force.

HO HUM — Greeting the New Year with a great big yawn is Belleville's first baby of 1964, seen above with mother. The baby girl, first born for Mr. and Mrs. Keith Wilson, 121 Front Street, was first of three New Year's babies at Belleville General Hospital. Born at 9:20 a.m. the baby girl comes in for a long list of gifts from Belleville merchants.

16 Inches Snow Dumped In Some Areas

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Unaccustomed to the bite of severe winter weather, parts of the southeastern United States remained in the grip of a storm today that dumped as much as 16 inches of snow on some areas before moving up the eastern seaboard New Year's Day.

Moderating temperatures were expected to give some relief to the ice and snow that swept northward from the Gulf of Mexico across Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia and into the Carolinas, Tennessee and Virginia.

There were 13 deaths directly attributed to the weather.

Schools were closed in many sections and some colleges postponed registration for the new term.

Driving conditions remained treacherous in areas where refreezing left patches of ice on highways.

In Georgia, civil defence headquarters received requests for aid from several north and middle Georgia towns as broken power lines left some communities without electricity and communications were disrupted.

About 200 persons were fed at an emergency kitchen set up in the French quarter of New Orleans, site of the Sugar Bowl football game, where more than three inches of snow ushered in the new year—the most since 1893.

France Rejects German Demand It Free Rightist

BONN (Reuters)—France today rejected a West German demand for the return of Antoine Argoud, right-wing extremist leader put on trial in France after he was kidnapped from Munich, West Germany.

A West German government spokesman said his government was preparing a reply, but he refused further comment.

Argoud, charged with being a leading member of the terrorist Secret Army Organization and with heading an insurrection movement, was sentenced to life imprisonment at his trial in Paris three days ago.

Throughout the trial he refused to testify because he claimed he was still legally in West Germany.

Police found Argoud trussed up in the back of a truck in the heart of Paris last February after he was abducted from Munich.

Woman Clings To Purse After Clubbing

OSHAWA (CP)—A 59-year-old woman who clung to her purse after an assailant clubbed her to the ground was in satisfactory condition today.

Mrs. Jessie Pratt was admitted New Year's Eve, suffering severe head injuries and extensive loss of blood.

She told police she was returning from a movie when she heard running footsteps behind her. Before she could turn, she was clubbed to the ground, but clung to her purse as she fell. The assailant fled.

Police have arrested a 16-year-old boy and released him in the custody of his father. They said charges will be laid.

Mayor, Two Councillors Are Sworn Into Office

TRENTON — Trenton's mayor for 1964 and 1965, Dr. James MacDonald and two year councillors, C. V. Graham, Joseph Gould and Duncan McDonald were sworn into office today by clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry and charged with "fulfilling their responsibility to the community with the help of God," by the Rev. Donald Reid at an inaugural ceremony in the town hall. Filling out the second year of their two year term on council this year will be Councillors Ross Burtt, Edward Todd and Gerald Weaver.

Entering his fifth year as the town's chief magistrate, Mayor MacDonald told the handful of taxpayers at the meeting:

To most people the start of a new year has in its very birth the faith and hope that this year will be the best ever. The same applies to Trenton, beginning her 111th year as a Town and looking to see what it will be a successful one. Larger than ever before, the possibilities too are greater, and although we have some indication that we are off to a flying start, the optimism and foresight to keep this up must not falter.

The major downtown development we mentioned in our report to the ratepayers has now been announced by the A and P Tea Company. The removal of the lower C.N.R. Station and the proposed development that which will include other stores as well should be completed early in June.

The purchase by Flight Equipment of the dormant Skilled Building and Supply Store has been a most welcome addition to our industrial complex. We sincerely welcome them and everything possible will be done to assist them.

The Federal member, Mr. Robert Temple, has assured me that tenders will be called on the New Post Office in the next six weeks.

We will be approaching various individuals and service clubs for assistance and advice on the development of the Bay Shore Park area. This could be a community effort with a target date of 1967 Canada's Centennial Year.

The removal of several of Trenton's largest and most beautiful trees for street widening purposes was a source of concern to many. With the co-operation of the Parks Board and promised assistance by Council, the immediate replacement by a species picked primarily for proper height, and rapid growth will be a must in 64.

We are still hopeful that the strike at Trenton Memorial Hospital will be resolved shortly.

To those citizens of today, who were not Trentonians last year, we extend a sincere welcome. Your problems now become our problems and ours become yours. We invite your participation in all phases of community life. One must not be destroyed, however, that, although Municipal government is considered "autonomous," the ever increasing complexity of Federal and Provincial statutes and directives. To all the citizens of Trenton, old and new, I wish you a Happy, Healthy and Prosperous New Year.

To our neighbors in the surrounding municipalities we wish you the same. May we work together in close harmony for our mutual benefit.

Napanee Pastor Will Conduct Week of Prayer

TRENTON — The Trenton Ministerial Association has invited the Rev. William B. Thornloe, minister of Grace United Church in Napanee, to be the special speaker for Trenton's Week of Prayer services, beginning Monday, Jan. 6, at 8 p.m., and continuing until Thursday night, January 9.

Mr. Thornloe was born at Niagara Falls, Ont., and is the son of the Rev. H. E. Thornloe and Mrs. Thornloe. He received his high school education at Goderich, Ont., and enlisted in the Royal Canadian Navy during World War II. Following the war, Mr. Thornloe returned to the University of Toronto to complete his theological education. He graduated in 1949 and was ordained. Mr. Thornloe has served in parishes in Newfoundland, at Lyn, near Brockville, and at Napanee.

The theme the speaker has chosen for the prayer week is "Praise Changes Things."

On Monday, a service will be held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Tuesday, the service will be held at King St. United. On Wednesday, the service will move to Bethel Temple and on Thursday to the Ebenezer Christian Reformed Church.

There will be noon-day prayer services at Canterbury Hall and at the Baptist Church in East Trenton from noon until 1.30 p.m.

First Baby Of '64 Arrives At 2.26 a.m.

TRENTON — First 1964 baby in the Quinte area was 5 pound David William Rivest, son of LAC and Mrs. Rosaire Rivest of 17 Hawley St., Trenton. David made his entrance into this old world at 2.26 a.m. Wednesday at Trenton Memorial Hospital. "Paddy" is with the RCAF at Clinton.

Baby Rivest was eagerly awaited by his parents, the staff at Trenton Memorial Hospital and reporters, who kept in constant contact with the hospital switchboard operator from midnight on. Reaction when he did arrive was "We Beat Belleville", as a telephone check with the city to the east revealed.

Negro Is Killed

UMTALI, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters) — One Negro was killed and 10 were injured, two seriously, in fighting here shortly after the arrival Wednesday night of African nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo, police said today.

Nkomo was to appear in a court here today to face a charge under this self-governing British colony's Law and Order Maintenance Act.

Need Distress Signal

Drive much on Highway 401 in this weather? Most Quinte Area motorists do, in any weather.

But the snow and the cold and just plain bad driving take a heavy toll, and the roadside is usually cluttered with cars that didn't make it. Most of them look all right—maybe a flat tire, maybe a flat battery stopped them. And a lot of them just hit the ditch—soft snow, so no damage to the car, but they are stuck there till a tow-truck comes. Each of these stopped or stuck cars poses a moral problem.

Obviously, a motorist cannot stop to investigate every stopped car he passes enroute. In most cases there is no help needed or wanted, and anyway the OPP patrols and the Department of Highways are supposed to take care of that.

Except that there are too many highways, and too few police officers in Ontario. In this area, one OPP car is assigned to Highways 401 and No. 2 between the Trent River and Marysville. That means it may cover the whole section in an hour—or on a bad night it may take several hours. And several hours is much too long for anyone who needs help to have to wait in a Canadian winter. Within the past few years, and within fifty miles of Toronto, a woman froze to death trapped in a car in a ditch. It was on a medium busy road in a holiday area, but the car slid over a snowbank and disappeared. Police assume she tried to attract attention and help with her horn and lights, but she didn't succeed.

Consider the next car you see half buried in a snowbank. Probably the driver walked or hitchhiked to a service station. But he may have been injured when the car stopped—might be lying there hoping for help.

There's a standard signal for a driver in trouble on the highway. Open the front hood and the trunk-lid, and people will know you are in trouble. A lot of them won't stop anyway, but you might get a look of sympathy.

The standard distress signal requires, however, that a person in distress be not so far in distress that he or she cannot get the signal. It's a good way to call for help, in other words, unless you really need the help. More to the point would be a non-distress signal—a flag or something that could be fixed on the car to show the situation is under control. Use of such a signal would have to be required by law, and the law would probably be ignored. But provision for such a signal is at least a good start toward a solution for a problem that may soon be serious.

Too Long to Dream

The clock was turned back in Africa as the New Year dawned.

The Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland was dissolved into the British protectorates of Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia and the self-governing territory of Southern Rhodesia.

Thus died one of Africa's brightest hopes, that for the emergence of a self-governing state with a truly multi-racial society.

While the three component parts of the federation resume their status of a decade ago, they will not be identical still.

Nyasaland will become fully independent next July. Northern Rhodesia may follow later in the year. Nyasaland will be one of Africa's poorest states, Northern Rhodesia one of the richest.

What the future holds for Southern Rhodesia is uncertain. The large number of whites there, and the strong strain of "white supremacy" which colors their thinking, may lead them into some adventure aimed at tying the country's fortunes to those of independent South Africa, outside the Commonwealth. It would not be surprising if this proved impossible to accomplish without bloodshed.

Whatever happens, though, the Central African Federation provides a lesson. It was born as part of a dream of racial harmony, certainly ten years ago the best hope for Africa. It died because the white man was too reluctant to move quickly to make the dream a reality. History is moving with seven-league boots in Africa. A decade is much too long to merely dream.

The trust of a very small child is always deeply moving. The total trust of a mature person is much rarer and even more deeply moving. It is the privilege of people in my job, as it is their deepest responsibility, to be given that kind of trust and to be allowed to enter into that kind of relationship with an incomparable variety of people. — Rev. Antony Bridge speaking on the B.B.C.

Bilingualism for TCA Girls Has Odd Results

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — French Canada's nationalist dead-set on Trans Canada Airlines has worked out in a strange way that could hardly be pleasing even to the extreme element in Quebec . . . or could it?

As a result of Quebec pressure on TCA the airline last year restricted the hiring of all stewardesses to bilingual girls.

They had to speak French and English, but not necessarily English and French.

There's a subtle difference.

Bilingual means — and take this from Lloyd Francis, Liberal MP for Carleton who has sat on many a Federal Civil Service Personnel Selection Board — somebody whose mother tongue is French but who can manage to get along in English, too, and not somebody whose native language is English but who also can speak French.

When Lloyd Francis was one of those presiding on Government selection boards which decided who was going to what Federal job, bilingual, he said, was "a polite euphemism" for French.

It was, in effect, a gimmick, for providing the required specified "French content" in the Federal Civil Service.

More bluntly, an instrument to meet a set if unofficial language quota.

JOBS FOR IMMIGRANTS

And that was the way it was supposed to work with TCA.

Girls from Quebec had got perhaps less than a fair break in the division of stewardesses' jobs, and the bilingual requirement was intended to restore the balance . . . and maybe a little more in compensation for good measure.

Well, it hasn't worked out that way.

With little success, TCA had tried to recruit its bilingual-ally-need-apply air hostesses in Quebec.

Even what TCA President Gordon McGregor has described as a Commonwealth scheme as a seductive advertising campaign" has been tried out. . . .

And the bilingual girls from Quebec still stayed away in droves.

The bilingual requirement ruled out the vast majority of English - speaking applicants, even those willing to learn a spectable or even passably adequate command of French.

Result: less than one-tenth girls from Ontario, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, British Columbia and the West Coast are ineligible because they lack the bilingual facility. They don't want the jobs but can't have them.

While girls from Quebec and the "Ensegnitue area" of New Brunswick who are keen on the jobs for the asking — in fact they are being begged to take them — don't especially want them.

So what is TCA doing?

Recruiting its stewardesses, reports President McGregor, from Europe. That way the air line gets real bilingual, but often, multilingual girls.

Bit odd, this, especially when you recall that the Glassco Royal report shows that 75 percent of paying air passengers are English speaking.

OUR CHARLOTTE

Say what you will about Ottawa's own "Queen" Charlotte Whitton, but one Mayor has a way with headlines.

She's thrust herself squarely into what "The Establishment" likes to call "The Bilingual Dialogue," making it plain that Ottawa is an English city in Ontario and not a French outpost of Quebec.

And there will be no bilingual street signs in the Capital, if you please, she has ruled, sticking to her guns even in the face of some protest marches on City Hall by "bilingual" students from Ottawa University.

Perhaps it was Madame Mayor's sense of the ridiculous that she surrendered bilingual ground only on one small front — years of members of the Royal Commission on Biculturalism and Bilingualism and of the witnesses they examine, when parked illegally, have been and will continue being ticketed by police with tags in both French and English.

So in the National Capital, while you find your way around the city only in English, you can be tagged with a $2 parking ticket in both languages simultaneously — as a lot of the "3 and B Boys" have been, since the Commission held its hearings in a hall located largely in a general no-parking area.

Yep, our Charlotte is quite a gal.

Letter to the Editor

Economic Question Is Not Only Issue

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer

When questions concerning the welfare of people are under consideration such as the question concerning the Health Unit for Hastings County — it is not enough that we should consider the economic side of the question. There is an area of thought that lies outside all legal or economic boundaries, and that is the area of love.

Simply as food for thought I submit the following quotations from the works of the wise men and women of all times.

"Our gifts and attainments are not only to be light and warmth in our own dwellings but are to shine through the windows, into the dark night, to guide and cheer bewildered travellers on the road".

H. W. Beecher.

"Who will not give some portion of his ease, his blood, his wealth, for others's good, is a poor, sordid churl."

Joanna Baillie.

"God has so ordered that men, being in need of one another, shall learn to love each other, and bear each other's burdens".

Sails.

"It is one of the beautiful compensations of life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself".

C. Bailey.

"I expect to pass through life but once. If therefore there be any kindness I can show, or any good thing I can do to any fellow-being, let me do it now, and not defer or neglect it, as I shall not pass this way again".

Penn.

Time is short; your obligation are infinite — Are your houses regulated, your children instructed, the afflicted relieved, the poor visited, the work of piety accomplished?"

Misollion.

In the truest sense we are all just "here today and gone tomorrow", and much of life is joy the fruits of the labor of those who have before us, and we enter into an inheritance not of our making, but built on the blood, sweat and tears of others.

Plutocracy means government by the wealthy, and is justified by the claim that those who have the biggest stake in the country have a logical right to rule it.

But democracy means government of the people, by the people, for the people Now Christianity is the only true democracy, because in a Christian state everyone would think as much of his neighbor as he does of himself.

Your sincerely,
Edna Cooper.

Fake Engine Is Opposed

Montreal Star

They need a new engine for the miniature railway in Stanley Park, Vancouver, and some bright boy decided that it would add to the attraction if it were run by steam, Everybody agreed. Then some skinflint came up with the insidious idea that it would save money by installing a gas engine, fixed up to look like the real thing with all the trimmings, a hot plate to provide the steam.

Vancouver is—rightly up in arms. You can fool some of the kids some of the time, but the modern boy, a spare out of rock age expert, knows steam from diesel and diesel from gas, and can't be fooled at all. The mechanics and engineers of tomorrow are training now in every backyard in the country. A faked steam engine? Phooey!

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1944

Mr. and Mrs. George Duesberry and daughters, Marie and Janet, spent New Years in Kingston, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Minaker.

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. McNish and Donna of Alexander Street spent the holiday weekend in Toronto.

Miss Madeline Walsh has returned to Ottawa after spending the holiday at her home on Yeomans street.

A cablegram was received by Mrs. T. R. Barrett, Pinnacle street, informing her that her son, Pte. "Bud" Barrett had arrived safely overseas.

Holiday visitors at the home of Mr. Thomas Hamilton were Mr. and Mrs. H. Smith and family of New Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and family of Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Ridley and two daughters, have returned home to Montreal after spending Christmas and New Years with Mr. Ridley's father, Mr. W. J. Ridley, Boswell street.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. M. Taylor and daughter, Diane have returned to their home in Windsor after spending Christmas with the latter's parentns, Mr. and Mrs. G. Thompson, Redmerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bird have spent the holiday the guest of her cousin, Miss Catherine Jeroy of Gananoque.

30 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1934

The inaugural meeting of the city council was held today in the council chamber at the city hall with a proper ate ceremonies. Prayers were said by the Rev. J. A. Seymour, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Re-elected for a third term, George O. Tice was escorted to the chair by Ald. Frank Domenico and Ald. Thomas Y. Wills, newly elected members of the council. His worship gave an excellent address dealing with present conditions and he was optimistic with regards to improvements in affairs generally. He expressed regret at the loss of Aldermen Armstrong, Imlah, Walker and Bennett from the council board, and heartily comed the new members: Aldermen Harvey, Wills, Domenico and Caulfield. His address was most interesting and informative. A vote of thanks to the mayor for his splendid address was moved by Ald. W. R. McCreary and seconded by Ald. Thomas Marshall, who in a few words spoke upon his third term in the council. The following chairmen of committees were appointed: executive, W. A. Woodley; public works, Wm. Donahue; waterworks, Mr. W. R. McCreary; fire, H. Hill; market and city property, Thomas H. Marshall; light, John B. Harker; industries, Benjamin Safe; printing and stationery, G. C. Bonisteel; parks, Wm. Harvey; power, Frank B. Foley; tourist and publicity, T. Henry Cushing.

40 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1924

Mr. Aubrey L. Lott, a Belleville boy, has been made manager of the plants owned and operated by the Steel Company of Canada in Gananoque. He left here four years ago.

Mr. Russell Cole has returned to Toronto after spending the holidays here.

Mr. Bassford, of Toronto, will succeed Mr. Len Crook as accountant in the Canadian Bank of Commerce here. Mr. Crook has been transferred to Toronto.

Mr. A. Y. Snider and children of this city are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Gillespie of Madoc.

Belleville building permits for the year 1923 amounted to $42,-000. This represents 25 permits, the largest of which was $4,500. This is the smallest number of permits issued for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Schryver are visiting friends in Guelph.

50 YEARS AGO

January 2, 1914

The Belleville Benedicts and Bachelors gave their annual New Year's Eve dance at the Hotel Quinte and it was a most enjoyable and fashionable event. The stewards were: A. P. Allen, B. K. Allen, Sanford R. Burrows, F. C. Billingsley, E. J. Butler, Stanley E. Carman, W. J. Cook, J. Vincent Doyle, Alfred Gillen, R. L. Hymon, A. C. McFee, R. E. Orr, Lt.-Col. Thos. Stewart, Robert Tannahill and Fred Aldridge.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Young spent New Years Day with friends in Madoc.

Mr. W. E. (Billie) Burke, an old Belleville boy, has been made assistant manager of the Canada Steamship Company at Montreal.

Mr. Harry Wiseman has returned home from Warren, Pa., where he visited friends.

Togetherness Causes Panic

Saskatoon Star-Phoenix

Evidence that, if animals are crowded too closely together, they suffer from mass psychosis and psychological collapse is of interest to mankind. This is the moral to be drawn from the so-called population explosion and the prospect that the earth may one day have to support many times its present burden of humanity.

Dr. Kai Curry - Lindahl, a Swedish scientist, has been studying the behavior of the Arctic lemming. He has come to the conclusion that it is not starvation that drives the lemmings to their periodic mass suicide in the sea, but a psychological breakdown, caused by their being crowded together.

The lemmings instinct for suicide has been described by some as an anomaly in nature, since people ordinarily consider that diseases are sufficient to keep any animal population from going beyond a certain maximum. But the evidence collected by the Stockholm scientist suggests a new viewpoint: That it is not the explosion of the numbers but mental factors which operate to take the place of the traditional population-limiting forces.

There seems to be a natural law, that of the soul of the individual is to thrive, he must feel himself surrounded by individuals like himself, but not too closely. People are uncomfortable when they find themselves in the "eat - and - be" society, and experience an almost irresistible, impulse to escape.

Opposes Surgical Efforts To Make One Grow Taller

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Several years ago I set a goal to make myself one inch taller. I am 27 now, I wanted too much time in investigating hormone treatments without getting anywhere. I am now engaged in stretching exercises. Do you think there is the slightest chance that I will succeed this way? If not, what about an osteotomy? Don't tell me to forget it. I do not intend to give up. — R. F.

All right, I won't tell you to forget it, but I don't think you will succeed. As to surgical efforts, I oppose them except under the most extraordinary circumstances. The cost and risk would be considerable, and would leave your legs out of proportion.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have given my 14-year-old daughter iron tablets for two years and they seem to have helped her. However, I read recently that too much iron may become harmful. Your advice will be appreciated. — Mrs. R. F.

Yes, too much iron in some (not all) cases can be harmful. Iron tablets can cause poisoning if taken in excess by very young children accidentally. I doubt if you have anything to worry about, but I must say that only a few medicines should be taken indefinitely, and that almost none should be taken over a long period without having a recheck to see whether the dose should be increased or reduced. Consult your doctor.

Dear Dr. Molner: Are there eye drops available today the advance of cataracts which already have formed? Will the use of an eye wash morning and night be beneficial? — Mrs. F.

Eye drops or washes do not retard the progress of cataracts but can widen the pupil of the eye, admit more light and hence help vision until time comes to remove the cataracts surgically. The eye wash may also be soothing, but is it good enough reason, even though it cannot control the cataracts.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am afraid I have a case of shingles on my right arm, about three spots above the wrist, near the elbow and on the shoulder. I went to a doctor recently and he didn't know. He said I couldn't have shingles more than once. I had it before, in a tiny spot. The doctor gave me some shots and it cleared up. It can't be a food rash, as I would have it all over my body. — V. W. H.

I'm not sure you have shingles now, and I'm not even sure you had it before. Shingles do not usually "settle down" in the spot." Maybe you don't have an allergy, either, but allergies do not necessarily manifest themselves all over the body...In fact if I were you, I'd let the doctor be the judge of exactly what he has been trained to do.

Dr. Molner: What about diverticulosis or a bulge in the digestive tract? Is a recent operation you had for diverticulosis throw you, "as that is why I am writing. — M. B.

Yes, I had the diverticulosis. It is part of the title of a book I wrote on the subject, because diverticulosis is the most common condition that an internist encounters. As many as 25 out of every 100 will have it sometime during the lifetime.

Dr. Molner: I would like to read more in detail than I could do in the space of a column. If you want a booklet and I'm sure it will set your mind at rest — send 35 cents in coin for the booklet, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, 211 E. Ohio St., Chicago 11, requesting the diverticulosis booklet.

Strictly Personal

Pure Respect Often Becomes Dissatisfying

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: The one thing a woman wants from a man is respect, and, paradoxically, it is the one thing she becomes most easily dissatisfied with, in its undiluted form.

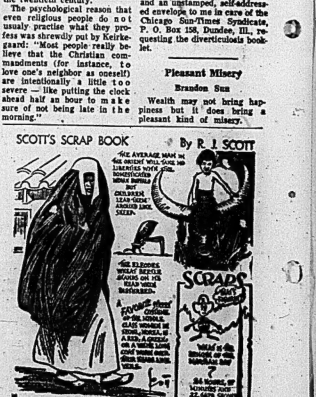
Children, as we all know, have to learn how to survive in adolescence and adulthood; what we do not see as clearly is that adults, too, have to learn how to grow into middle age and old age; each stage of life requires its own adjustments, and it is often as hard for a man or woman to learn how to be middle - aged as it was for them to learn adolescence.

Discipline without talent can go a great deal further than talent without discipline — for discipline itself is a kind of talent for making the very most out of the least.

The people who walk around clutching transistor radios in their chests remind me of the living dead, galvanized into a semblance of life by the electrical impulses tickling them from the outside.

One isn't a reasonable person until one knows how to get along with those we consider possessing less reason; for the prime function of the faculty of reason is to accept its limitations, and not to demand more of it than can be given.

Here is a riddle whose answer you must find out for yourself: What animal is it that kills to feed itself, kills to clothe itself, kills to adorn itself, kills to defend, kills to learn, kills to amuse many times its present burden of humanity.



Dr. Kai Curry - Lindahl, a Swedish scientist, has been studying the behavior of the Arctic lemming. He has come to the conclusion that it is not starvation that drives the lemmings to their periodic mass suicide in the sea, but a psychological breakdown, caused by their being crowded together.

The lemmings instinct for suicide has been described by some as an anomaly in nature, since people ordinarily consider that diseases are sufficient to keep any animal population from going beyond a certain maximum. But the evidence collected by the Stockholm scientist suggests a new viewpoint: That it is not the explosion of the numbers but mental factors which operate to take the place of the traditional population-limiting forces.

There seems to be a natural law, that of the soul of the individual is to thrive, he must feel himself surrounded by individuals like himself, but not too closely. People are uncomfortable when they find themselves in the "eat - and - be" society, and experience an almost irresistible, impulse to escape.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market greeted the first trading day of the new year the same way it ended the last day of the old—higher in heavy trading.

The 77-stock industrial index broke its 1963 high in the first hour of trading with a gain of .34 to 137.73. The index closed 1963 at 137.43. The record high is 137.94, set in 1961.

Gains dominated the industrial board and losses were few and far between. Best gain was a two point advance by St. Lawrence Cement A to 17¼ on a small turnover of 213 shares. Canada Steamship Lines gained ¾, and Canada Cement, CPR and Distillers-Seagrams all ¼. Interprovincial Pipeline was ahead ¼.

Senior issues were relatively quiet but speculatives were extremely active. Among seniors, Falconbridge was down ½, while Noranda gained ¼. Consolidated Mogul showed a 50-cent gain among speculatives to $5.40 on more than 120,000 shares. Bralorne gained 1¼ cents to 12 cents on more than 425,000 shares.

Western oils were quiet. Among industrial oils, Home A and B each gained ¼. Trading was also quiet on the Foreign market.

On index, the Exchange Index rose .18 to 128.73 and golds .09 to 129.30. Western oils were down .77 to 81.81 and base metals .06 to 58.84. The 11 a.m. volume totalled 1,622,000 shares compared with 772,000 at the same time Tuesday.

The 77-stock industrial index broke through the 1963 high twice during the afternoon, to close ahead 1.06 at 137.49—a gain of approximately 3.25 on the old industrial index. The record high is approximately 137.94, set in 1961.

With few exceptions, industrials advanced across the board.

Sterling trust led gainers, ahead 4¼ to 60. Eddy Match was up 2¾ to 39¾, Dominion Foundries and Steel 1¼ to 64¾, Canadian General Investments 1¼ to 45, Huron and Erie 1¼ to 66¾ and Aluminum and B.C. Sugar one point each.

IBM rose 10 points to 349 on light turnover.

Geco Mines advanced 1¼ to 31½, International Nickel ¾ and Hudson Bay Mining and Labrador Mining ¼ each in senior base metals.

The exchange index rose 1.06 to 128.85, industrials 1.06 to 137.49, western oils 1.90 to 82.35, base metals .60 to 58.90 and golds .56 to 129.25. Volume for the day was 4,579,000 shares compared with 2,944,000 Monday.

Older Boys' Parliament Holds Session

WATERLOO, Ont. (CP)—Paul Bowlby of Hamilton will be premier of the 44th Ontario Older Boys' Parliament when it meets next year.

He succeeds Don Francis of Welland who led the Parliament in sessions that ended Wednesday at the Waterloo Lutheran University.

Opposition leader will be Tom Owen of Brampton. Doug Hall of Kingston will be ranking cabinet minister.

Sponsored by the Ontario Council of Christian Education, the Parliament is formed of boys 15 to 20 years old. They represent eight Protestant denominations and discuss church work.

Radiation Belt Caused by Reds Has Dispersed

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Alouette satellite has provided scientific data indicating that the radiation belt in space caused by a Russian high-altitude nuclear explosion in October, 1962, has dispersed, authorities said Tuesday.

At the same time, however, Alouette data has indicated that the radiation belt resulting from the American space nuclear detonation in July, 1961, will persist for another 10 years barring some huge magnetic storm or similar phenomenon.

Dr. I. R. McDiarmid of the National Research Council said the Soviet belt dispersed in about a year because it was in a higher latitude where the earth's magnetic field is less stable. The American explosion, probably bigger than the Russian, occurred in equatorial latitudes where the arching magnetic lines of force trap the hydrogen bomb product, creating an artificial belt of radiation.

In the latter half of 1963, the United States and Russia and more than 100 other countries, including Canada, signed a treaty prohibiting nuclear test explosions in outer space, the earth's atmosphere or underwater.

The Alouette is expected to continue to transmit scientific information to earth throughout 1964 and to remain in orbit for some 2,000 years.

Four more Canadian research satellites will be launched in 1964-65. This program was announced Jan. 11, 1963, by former defence minister Douglas Harkness. Details are expected to be given in the next few days by the Defence Research Board and the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Pork Supplies Above Last Year's Levels

OTTAWA (CP)—Pork should be the housewife's best meat buy in January, the federal agriculture department predicted Tuesday. Pork supplies are well above last year's levels and prices are a "somewhat lower" says the department.

It is unlikely that pork prices will rise much above present levels until next summer. Shoppers are advised to look for specials in the last half of January.

Demand for roasts, steaks, stew and ground meats is expected to remain strong. Prices for high quality beef are expected to rise slightly, making pot roasts, stew and rpund beef better buys than steaks and oven roasts.

A slight decrease in the price of chicken broilers may occur, while frozen prices are expected to remain steady with less turkeys available after the holiday season.

Louie the Dip Dies Penniless Due Arthritis

CLEVELAND (AP)—Louis Finkelstein—Louie The Dip to police officers throughout the United States—is dead at 68. He died broke.

His body was found in his automobile Wednesday on Cleveland's east side. Doctors said he died of a heart attack.

For 50 years, Finkelstein pursued his career as a pickpocket. He slowed down about 10 years ago when arthritis stiffened his nimble fingers. In 1959, he applied for relief. He died penniless.

Finkelstein was arrested 120 times and served more than 10 years in prisons as the result of 20 sentences.

In 1933, he picked the pocket of the police chief of suburban Parma. Another time he dipped into the pocket of a jail headsman, and once he stole the wallet of a reporter covering one of his trials.

Finkelstein touched off an investigation of prisons and workhouse, where he was an inmate. It was disclosed that he was treated to a private house, arranging steaks, pies and gambling games for prisoners with money.

He escaped and officers found him at a revival meeting in New York state. Five wallets were in his pockets.

Town and District People Enjoy Dancing Out Old Year

By JACK FAWKES

PICTON (Staff) — The Armories had a sell out crowd, estimated at over a thousand, at the annual New Year's Eve Ball. The Prince Edward Yacht Club were filled to capacity. The Officers' Mess at Camp Picton was also well attended as the people of Picton and Prince Edward County danced out the 1963 and the beginning of 1964.

The teenagers, however, waited until New Year's Day to hold the regular K and A Teen Dancing Party at the Community Centre.

The ten inches of new snow that fell in the afternoon and evening, kept a lot of them from attending, but 160 of them braved the storm and turned out for the party.

The music was supplied by the "Paramounders", four-piece combo from Petawawa, with the old reliable records being played at the intermissions.

WELL BEHAVED

The parents who allow their teen-aged children to attend these dances, usually held on Friday, may rest assured that they are exceedingly well behaved. Those who do not, and there is one last night, are promptly ejected.

One thing, Mothers, here is a tip — If you could get your teenaged daughter to put as much energy in the business end of a broom or dust mop that they use in one single dance, you could have a seven-roomed house cleaned in ten minutes.

The dancing is different now from the roaring 20's. Now they wear their skin out — from the inside. The times are really something to see. Most of the dancers stand on one spot and just wiggle, in fact it seems the one who does th most wiggling, is the winner of what, I am not sure.

After listening to the dulcet tones of Guy Lombardo usherring in the New Year, the stuff that came out of the three guitars and drums of the four young men from Petawawa, would be hard to explain. It was not music, sure it had rythm and a beat, but music, no.

JUST SEEMS SILLIER

When you come right down to it, I don't suppose this twist would look any sillier than the Black Bottom, or the Turkey Trot, or the Charleston, it just seems sillier.

Last night, one very nouchalant young man, was seen dancing with one arm around his partner, while with the other hand he was eating some very salted peanuts into his open mouth.

The Picton Kiwanis Club, joint sponsors with the Agricutural Society, of the dances, are particular about the way the couples dance. There is fines for the school kids dancing and teenagers who persist are taken to one side and warned, if they get firm warning, and usually one such warning is sufficient.

WEDDING

COONEY — LUCAS

St. Andrew's United Church Chapel in Marmora was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday, December 26th, when Fanny Gladys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lucas, Main St., Marmora, became the bride of Murney Paul Cooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooney of Foxboro.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. D. McLeod, minister of St. Andrew's.

The bride chose for her wedding a pale blue nylon sheer over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice with portrait neckline and full street-length skirt. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings to match. A headdress of a white feathered band and corsage of deep red roses completed her costume.

Her only attendant was the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Beverly Chaumont of Belleville, who wore a street-length dress of sheer nylon over taffeta in deep lime featuring a fitted bodice of lace, a white feathered band headdress and a corsage of pink roses.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Paul Chaumont.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Main Street, Marmora, Mrs. Lucas received the guests wearing a two-piece suit in royal blue of poodle hair wool with black accessories and corsage of red carnations.

Mrs. Cooney chose a dress of nylon in navy over taffeta with black accessories and corsage of red carnations.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gray, were able to attend and Mrs. Gray was presented with a spray of roses and Mr. Gray with a white carnation buttonhole.

The young couple left for a honeymoon to points south, the bride wearing a red wool dress with grey and black accessories.

On their return they will reside in Belleville where the bridegroom is employed at the Belleville General Hospital.

Previous to her marriage Mrs. Cooney received an electric fry pan and a set of glassware from the staff of Belleville hospital with which she was associated.

Women's Activities

PINE GROVE W.I.

MARSH HILL — The December meeting of Pine Grove Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Coulter with 11 members and one visitor present.

The president, Mrs. Alex Tanner, opened the meeting in the usual manner, after which a letter from the Provincial president was read. Conveners of the standing committees reported and Mrs. Fred Campbell read a selection from the Countrywoman's Magazine. Mrs. Ross reported that there would be an exchange program with an Institute in the United States. It was decided to hold a card party on January 17, with the ladies of the Seventh Line as a committee in charge. Each member gave an item of current events. Mrs. Ross, a delegate to the 37th Area Convention, gave a comprehensive report.

Mrs. Farley Lindenfield was program convener and opened this portion by reading a Christmas poem. Several Christmas carols were sung. Readings were given by Mrs. Leslie Finkle, Mrs. Allyn Finkle, Mrs. Ivan Clare and Mrs. Grace Bartindale.

CONFIRMATION

An impressive confirmation service was held December 22 in the Foxboro United Church, when six young people from Marsh Hill were confirmed. These included Diana and Donna Andrews, Gwenda Dellor, Linda Finkle, Gary Mayell and Harold Finkle. Each candidate was presented with a Bible. A time of fellowship followed in the church hall.

WHITE GIFT SUNDAY

White Gift service was held in the Marsh Hill Sunday School hall under the direction of the superintendent, Mr. Allyn Finkle. Miss Patsy Little read the Scripture and Miss Donna Andrews read a Christmas story. Offerings gathered at this service will be turned over to the Missionary and Maintenance treasurer.

PIONEER SMOKER

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

A great deal of modern "religion" has been produced by people who have been scared by a variety of twentieth century monsters - war and the threat of war, atom and hydrogen bombs, communism and fascism. Religion that is based primarily upon fear of failure leaves much to be desired. Too many people are backing into God, retreating, in search of easy, facile pat answers.

They are ready prey for churchmen willing to dispense "packaged salvation." In much of the current literature this theme can be found. Many people who have failed at one pursuit or another, out of fear of further failure, uncritically embrace a religion and find consolation for their lack of success.

A good number of people who have met with serious tragedy or failure in their personal lives, in politics, or in business, are too weak to seek possible solutions within themselves; they have converted to some religion which pretends to offer them all the solutions necessary. They are no longer to blame for their own discomfiture.

They are warmed, comforted, and caressed by the loving and healing arms of a church. It is said that many who are unwilling to summon personal courage to fight the battles of their lives with heroism, have been given legitimacy by religion.

HAVE FAITH

Do not misunderstand. Religion should offer comfort, should provide consolation, and should give people a sense of the meaningfulness of life, especially when it seems most meaningless. But high religion asks us to have faith, not only in God, but also in ourselves. There are things, we believe, that God can do. But there are things which He cannot do, unless we help with Him. Running away from life is not the high road to God.

"Crisis religion," the kind that feeds upon our weakness, in the long run tends to be shortlived. And it tends, as well to be a snare and a delusion rather than a realistic way of life. For one thing, people who seek a God-faith only in moments of weakness, and in moments of personal crisis, find that they have no use for the umbrella after the storm stops raging. When the sun comes out they no longer need that kind of protection. Moreover, "crisis religion" tends to be self-defeating because it does not look at the whole problem, but only as the problem affects the one, fearful individual.

On the other hand, vital religion says: There is no human problem which is a problem all by itself, for one person alone. All our dilemmas have their echoes somewhere else and in someone else. There is no organic sickness which we have not also suffered. No one human being has been victimized by melancholy, depression, or morbidity; many have been, and many will be.

Indeed, many of our problems are the result of our inability to see our relationship to the world around us. A vital spiritual outlook calls for religious realism. Religious realism requires that we see ourselves in relation to others; that we recognize our sorrows, our burdens, our defeats, our challenges, and our tragedies, as part of the eternal rhythm and riddle of life.

Crisis religion tends to be selfish, concerned only with the wants and the needs of the individual; it may also easily become superstition. What is superstition, if not credence given to the false belief that we bring harm to ourselves by acting in a certain way, or the hope that we may bring good fortune to ourselves by not acting in a certain way? Superstition begins and ends with concern for the self — and only the self.

Vital religion is antagonistic to superstition. It tries to teach men to see themselves as part of the larger world, as related to the big and the broad fabric of the universal canvas. Many of the answers are hidden from our view. But, at least, we are told how to view the problem.

Vital religion, as contrasted with crisis religion, has three themes to it. The God hath given and the Lord hath taken away. Praised be the name of the Lord." Any attitude may ultimately lead to madness, to morbidity, or to ranting against life, instead of living it.

Second, vital religion is concerned with society, not only with the person. Instead of escape from the group at every turn, it leads us from the individual to the group.

And finally, of the utmost importance, vital religion is "all-weather religion." It sees life steady and sees it whole. In the midst of happiness, it is prepared for sorrow; in the midst of sorrow, it can still seek to find happiness.

The 60-year wed couple who moved to Belleville from Madoc eight years ago, received messages from the Queen, from Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and Premier John Robarts of Ontario as well as from local members Robert Temple, M.P., and from Clarke E. Rollins, M.L.A. for Hastings West.

A lovely bouquet of diamond sprinkled "mums from Mr. Rollins added to the quiet anniversary celebration.

A veteran of the Boer War with service in South Africa with the 5th Canadian Mounted Rifles, Mr. Connor was born in the city but moved to Madoc while still a lad.

BY MOUNTED WAR

He joined the Mounted Rifles in Manitoba after going west on the harvest excursion, and spent six months in South Africa, returning home in August of 1901. Mr. Connor will be 83 in January, while Mrs. Connor, the former Leah Turner is 78.

Although serving in the Boer War with a "mounted" unit, Mr. Connor says the horses were used only for transportation. Actual fighting was done on foot with the horses remaining behind the lines.

Retired for the past eight years, Mr. Connor was in the hardware business in Toronto and later at Madoc where his former store is still operated by a brother.

He was working at Peterborough when he and Mrs. Connor were married at the bride's home in Madoc 60 years ago.

They didn't have a honeymoon in the modern sense of the word and on their way back to Peterborough actually became separated due to crowded train conditions.

"We couldn't find a seat — together so I had to sit in one end of the coach and the bride in the other," laughingly recalled Mr. Connor.

But that was all made up for a year or so late, when en route from Madoc to Toronto their train became snowbound at Corbyville.

They were brought on in to Belleville by horse and sleigh and when someone reported them as newlyweds were given the bridal suite at the hotel.

The couple have one son Arthur who lives with them on Lemoine Street.

VOW Protest Sending Arms To Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—The Voice of Women of Canada announced Tuesday it has sent a telegram to United States President Johnson over the shipment of nuclear arms to Canada expected early in 1964.

The telegram, from VoW President Kathleen MacPherson, said:

"You stated recently before the United Nations General Assembly that 'the United States wants to prevent the dissemination of nuclear weapons to nations not now possessing them.'

"Voice of Women Canada respectfully urges you to consider this statement before authorizing the shipment of nuclear weapons to Canada."

MOUTH CANCER

Many of the 40,000 new cases of mouth cancer each year can be detected in early stages by the family dentist.

Both hats are backed with nylon in a black on white stylized houndstooth. At left is a bobby cloche with ear flaps that can be tied over the hat or tucked inside. At right is a snap-brimmed casual with a mannish look. (CP Photo).

Mr. and Mrs. Robert John Cummins are pictured following their recent marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Barbara Joan Caverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Caverley, Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis John Cummins of Corbyville.

CUMMINS — CAVERLY

A pretty wedding was solemnized recently at Christ Church, Belleville, when Barbara Joan Caverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Caverly, Belleville, was united in marriage with Robert John Cummins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis John Cummins, Corbyville. Rev. Everett Smith performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar adorned with white and red 'mums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a short bridal gown of white peau de soie enhanced with a Sweetheart neckline. The bell-shape skirt was highlighted with a straight panel down the front with a nylon overskirt which was caught up in ruffles on side and tiny rosebuds at back. Her bouffant shoulder length veil fell from a headdress of Sweetheart rosebuds and stephanotis set in white tulle. She carried a crescent bouquet of pink Sensation roses and stephanotis, mingled with fern.

Mrs. James Lewis, Belleville, twin sister of the bride as matron of honor, wore a pink street-length dress of peau de soie featuring a fitted bodice with scooped neckline trimmed with pearls and rhinestones and a bell-shape skirt. Her headdress consisted of pastel pink pons and green fern sprinkled with silver glitter. Mrs. William Allen, of Corbyville, as bridesmaid, was identically attired but in Larkspur blue peau de soie. Her headdress was of Larkspur blue poms mingled with fern and sprinkled with silver glitter. Both girls carried Colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Mr. Graeme Burris, Belleville, was groomsman for his brother-in-law, while Mr. David Cummins, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. William Allen of Corbyville, were the ushers.

Mr. John Croyden Withers, church organist, accompanied the seven choir boys in their wedding music.

The reception for approximately 100 guests was held at Club Canara where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a brown and pink silk figured dress, brown accessories, pink feathered hat and a corsage of a pink gardenia with pink-glow feathered carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a blue lame dress featuring a Sweetheart neckline and a sheath skirt, white lame hat, black and white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias with stephanotis. The bridal table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake misted about the base with white tulle and pink rosebuds and topped with two tiny doves under three wedding bells. Tapering pink candles and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

Previous to her marriage the bride was honored at a family shower held at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Henry Logue, Belleville; also at a presentation by co-workers at International Precision Casting Co. Ltd. at which time she was the recipient of an ironing board. Shortly after the marriage the young couple was honored at a community shower held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins, Corbyville. They were presented with a studio couch and twin lamps at which time Mrs. Borden Forsythe read an address of welcome to the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummins are residing at Corbyville.

French Husbands Tend To Treat Wives Better Than 20 Years Ago

PARIS (Reuters) — French husbands today treat their wives better than they did 20 years ago, says a survey on "women in society" published here by the National Centre for Scientific Research.

The survey shows both men and women agree that women are happier now than their mothers were, and that men have become more tolerant and less inclined to think of themselves as masters. Apparently they give their wives more freedom and treat them more as companions and less as "slaves" than previously.

Women, on their part, are less frightened of their husbands and are getting more and more of an equal voice in the household's family and social responsibilities.

Both sexes agree that women have more rights today than 20 years ago—but the women are less convinced of this than the men, some of whom think women's rights have gone far enough.

Men also are slower to admit that women today have different interests than their mothers.

IMPORTANT INFLUENCE

Both men and women are agreed that the increase in the number of women at work has been an important influence on equality between the sexes but they are less sure that working wives are a good thing.

Half of those asked feel that women should be free to have a career, but 27 per cent of the men and 77 per cent of the women think it is a bad thing for society as a whole.

While women are making increasing inroads on what used to be a man's world, men, less willingly, are being introduced to that of women. Seventy per cent of husbands, the survey reports, help their wives with the household chores—but only 46 per cent think they should.

It may be that the husband's helping hands around the house have something to do with the reasons 80 per cent of women gave for thinking they are happier today than 20 years ago. They said they have an easier life — more comfortable, less tiring and less tied to the home.

Mashed Potatoes Fast Leftover

by Mary Moore

It is the day after New Years and I am so enthusiastic about some instant mashed potatoes that I made with the help of Lorne Cunningham for 140 people that I have to spread the glad tidings.

Imagine the pressure on Simcoe, having just returned from a flying trip to the Maritimes, to convene a youth vocation dinner for 140 young people at our church.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY
(Easy)

Beef (leftover from New Years Dinner) Curry on; Instant Mashed Potatoes (make surplus for Saturday's Potato Patties); Brussels Sprouts; Head Lettuce Wedges with 1000-Island Dressing; Stewed Prunes with Lemon Slices; Shortbread; Tea.

SUNDAY

Roast Stuffed Shoulder of Veal; Cream Gravy; Pan Browned Potatoes; Creamed Onions; Fine Cabbage Salad; Hot Mince Pie; Cheddar Cheese; Coffee.

I thought of all the streamlined methods: unstuffed slow-baked turkeys (five 20-pounders); turkey gravy made by a future home economics student; Beth Jarvis; frozen vegetables (corn, cut beans, mixed peas and carrots); instant mashed potatoes (see below) cranberry sauce made by one pupil, Leslie Singer, with a flair for cooking; salads donated by pupils' mothers; pies donated by pupils' mothers; instant coffee.

The instant mashed potato dishes were a godsend. (On a previous night another group had a Christmas dinner for 80 and it took four of them, on the night before the dinner, hours and hours to peel enough potatoes—then they had to be mashed by two strong-armed men just before the dinner.)

INSTANT MASHED POTATOES
(serves 27-30)

9 cups boiling water, one 6-oz box instant potato flakes, 1 tablespoon salt, 1-3 lb. butter, 4 cups milk.

Bring water to boiling and add salt. Slowly stir in instant potato flakes until thickened and smooth. Now stir in milk and butter until heated through.

For 140 people we made up five 24-serving boxes as above. We made one box at a time and put each batch into our preheated stainless-steel steam table as they were ready. It was a wonderful success.

If you copy my idea of using fresh frozen vegetables use less boiling water than you think you should and allow 20 minutes time for them to come to boiling. Then drain. We used the liquid drained from the corn niblets in the turkey gravy.

The five 20-pound frozen turkeys roasted unbasted, untended at 200 deg. F. for 20 hours. I put them in the ovens the night before, from solid, at 11 p.m. These were a success.

IDEAS FOR USING LEFT-OVER MASHED POTATOES

Potato Patties: To 2 cups left-over mashed potatoes, add 1 slightly beaten egg yolk; 2 tablespoons minced onion, salt and pepper. Mix well. Shape into 6 patties. Dip in flour; then brown in hot fat — slowly so patties will have a delicious brown glazed crust.

Crusty Potato Balls: Use same ingredients as for patties above. Shape in balls; roll in egg white, then in fine bread or cornflake crumbs. Bake on buttered pan in very hot oven at 450 deg. Fahr. until heated through and golden without turning.

HITS RECORD

ARREY, N.M. (AP)—A New Mexico golden guernsey cow, Princess Jubilee, produced 20,524 pounds of milk and 797.36 pounds of butterfat in 365 days, a record for junior two-year-olds, the American Guernsey Cattle Club says.

THAT AFTER CHRISTMAS LETDOWN

The best antidote for those winter blues is something new to wear, that is, of course, unless a winter cruise or a southern holiday is in the planning stage. Many of us, lacking either time or funds, will have to settle for a wardrobe pickup.

The stores are full of clearance sales, so our cure should not wreck even the frailest budget. A new blouse can well make a worn suit look new and fresh, especially if the blouse is chosen in a lovely shade of yellow or pink.

A new hat, either a tailored straw to wear on milder days, or one made of a new fabric, again chosen in a flattering color, can serve as an excellent morale booster. The styles for this coming spring are not so tailored as last fall's creations. There are many softly draped styles with pretty profile brims to be found in fine serge alpaca.

DRY COMPLEXION CARE

Many women suffer from dry complexions in the winter months. The best remedy for this is a facial treatment, either at a beauty salon, or, failing that height of luxury, an afternoon spent with creams and a steam kettle can work wonders. Then is nothing quite like a new hair style to make you feel different. Now that the teased, swollen-headed look is "out," a new light permanent, and a shorter softer styling, are recommended. Consider also, a new lipstick in a pretty color, or a new bottle of cologne.

About now, the handbag that looked so fresh and chic when it was new last fall, may be a little weary. It is time to give it a thorough cleaning and a good polishing. Scarves, gloves and overshoes that have been in steady use since the snows came, should be freshened and, if possible, changed around.

Who says you always have to wear pearls with that grey wool? This is the time of year to try to vary the routine. A change of jewelry, not necessarily new jewelry, will help a lot.

An exploration of that jewel box will reveal forgotten treasures, turning out a cupboard can unearth a different blouse or belt. A new feather on an old hat will serve to remind you that spring has to come soon!

If you have a question on fashion, just write Pegg Rogers in care of this paper.

Speaking Personally

MY ACHING FEET

Now that the flurry of fall bazaars and teas is over for another year it may be time for women to take a good hard look at this means of raising money.

Many times over the years after I have come home from a five to six hour stint at one of these affairs I have pondered with my aching feet propped up, whether it wouldn't be simpler, more satisfactory and certainly less trying and tiring to just make a donation. It would serve the same purpose, which is to raise money for a church, club or society with much less wear and tear on the nerves of the worker and her family. By the time a woman has baked two or three pies, made three or four aprons or pillowslips, children's clothes, dressed dolls or any of the many things asked of a person at bazaar time, paid for transportation (gas or taxi to get there with loaded arms) paid a baby sitter if one has small children, made supper ahead of time for husband and family, and worked like a dog for hours at a time. It seems so much simpler (and no more expensive) to give the money outright.

In days when women grew their apples or fruits, there may have been some sense to strawberry socials and dinners, but when all the food has to be purchased it doesn't make sense.

Once I said to a minister, "Isn't it time the church got out of the restaurant business?" He replied that in all churches there were Marys and Marthas. The Marthas could not contribute much except their services, and that was their offering. They made things with their hands that others would buy, which was their contribution. Another woman took issue with me about my views, saying it was the social way of working together for one common aim that kept the women interested. "The church with the mortgage is the active, alive church, with everyone out working together," was the way she put it.

What do you think? I would be interested in hearing others' views on this topic.

SLICK IT TRICK

There is something very satisfying about baking bread. Partly it is the delicious yeasty smell of bread in the oven, and partly, I think, the release of energy in pounding down the rising dough. But it probably goes deeper than that. Bread has been used as a symbol of life for so long that it goes back to our basic needs.

When those crusty brown loaves are turned out of the pan to cool, they look so mouthwatering. The heel of the loaf spread while it is still warm and crunchy outside and seemingly warm inside is a treat for all ages. Nowadays after the loaves are cool, they can be wrapped and put in the freezer and kept indefinitely or made into sandwiches and kept for some special occasion. Many people share their loaves with friends, or at a home where there is illness, and a loaf of bread taken with you when you go visiting, especially to a summer cottage, is a welcome gift.

At a bake sale the most popular item and the first to be sold is the homemade bread.

Nutritionists tell us that everyone needs some bread every day, even in a weight reducing diet. The amount and kind of bread eaten will depend on the total amount of food needed by an individual, and that of course, is decided by a doctor.

If any of my readers would like my recipe for bread, I will be glad to print it one of these days. So far I have not had a failure with it. Although I have kept house for a good many years it is only recently that I have experimented with baking bread. But as I said at the beginning, it is a satisfactory experience. You just can't by a commercial loaf that tastes like it.

Women Advised to Spend More Time Studying Economy

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian women should spend more time learning basic facts about the nation's economy and less in reading columns on health, beauty and baby care, says the Canadian Economic Foundation's secretary treasurer.

George Rogers of Toronto says Canadian women spend little or no time studying the operation of business and the problems of prices, wages and quality.

Any woman who wants specific information about economic matters need only consult banks, trust companies, industry, unions, government officials or his own organization, Mr. Rogers said in an interview.

The foundation — a research organization—is concerned with measures designed to protect the purchasing power of the dollar and with supplying basic information on the Canadian economy.

Women are concerned with prices, but do they really know anything about the elements of price?

"Purchasing power of the dollar is made up of a few basic costs: goods the firm buys from other people, depreciation to pay for machinery wearing out, wages, salaries, fringe benefits, taxes, plus some return to the people who invested in tools, machinery and land.

Mr. Rogers suggested that women "watch for proposals made by industries, governments and unions to see what effect they will have eventually on prices. As an example, look at sugar prices. It is too late at this point, but had they known a year ago, the women might have anticipated the rise and brought pressure to bear. They did it in the United States over coffee. They just stopped buying."

C. A. PARTY

FRANKFORD — On December 20 the Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle C.A.'s held their Christmas party held in the recreation room of the parsonage.

The room was decorated with a large lighted Christmas tree in one corner, a decorated tablecloth adorned a long table in another corner.

C.A. president Keith Helm was master of ceremonies. The activities began with singing of Christmas carols and a game was enjoyed.

A girls' quartet of Miss Carolyn Reichert, Miss Beverley Wannamaker, Mrs. Lonnie Reilly and Mrs. Eldon Sine sang two selections.

A tape recording of Rev. D. Loney, head of Youth for Christ in the U.S.A. was heard.

Gifts were exchanged and delicious refreshments were served.

Christmas Concerts

NINTH LINE SCHOOL

SYLSTONE — Mrs. Don Woods and pupils at the Ninth Line School held their Christmas concert in the school on December 18th. There was a good crowd in spite of the fact that several other neighboring schools had chosen the same night for their concerts.

Murray Heath was chairman for the program which was as follows: Piano recitation by Tommie Meiklejohn; opening chorus by all; a skit by the pupils; a recitation by John Heath; piano duet by Maureen Stewart and Lynne Spencer; a play by the pupils; a ventriloquist act by Lyle Heath; a dialogue; a piano duet by John and Jerry Heath; the Nativity scene; a recitation by Randy Spencer; an accordion medley by Lyle Heath; the chairman's remarks; a play; a piano solo by Marlene Sherit; a monologue by Randy Spencer; an acrostic by the younger pupils; vocal duet by Lynne and Sue Spencer; recitation by Jerry Heath; a play by the pupils; a duet by Reed Morton and Randy Spencer and the singing of Christmas carols. The teacher Mrs. Don Wood also spoke briefly.

Santa paid a visit and each child was presented with a gift and candy bringing an exciting and enjoyable evening to a close.

Ann Landers

Subject of One "Tipping" Raises Violent Controversies

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Recently a group of us were discussing your column on tipping. What started out to be a very pleasant conversation turned into a fierce clash of opinions.

A man whom all of us consider intelligent (sophisticated, too) said that tipping was a symbol of insecurity and that people who are sure of themselves don't find it necessary to tip. He further declared that tipping is a subtle way of buying homage from inferiors.

His last statement shocked me and I would like to know if you agree. If you do not agree, please take him apart in your column. Thank you. — ALL EARS.

DEAR EARS — Tipping should be a reward for special services. Unfortunately it has become a built-in custom and more often than not it is expected, regardless of the quality of the service.

I have said it before and I will say it again. It would be infinitely more equitable if employers in the service industry paid their employees a living wage instead of passing on the responsibility to the customers.

The notion that "homage" can be bought with a tip is absurd. And the theory that people whose livelihood depends on tips are inferior is absolutely revolting.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Please print this letter. It may shake up some teen-a gers who will not listen to their parents.

For two years I dated a divorced man who had three children. I was only 17 when I began to date Manny, but I was sure I had twice as many brains as both my parents put together.

Manny's wife got custody of their three girls. I married him against everyone's advice and now we have a baby of our own. We fight constantly about his going over to see the girls. We have no money for the bare necessities, yet he is always buying ridiculous gifts for his daughters.

My parents pretend not to see how miserable I am. Every time they come over they slip me a few dollars "for the baby's bank." I'm sure they know I am buying milk and food with that money.

I'd give anything if I could turn back the clock a couple of years, but since that is impossible I would like to tell other kids to slow up and take some of the good advice their parents have to offer. — THE STRONG-HEAD.

DEAR STRONG-HEAD — Here's your letter. Are you listening, Students?

DEAR ANN LANDERS — About three years ago my husband was involved in a scandalous financial mess. He was found innocent but his picture was in the papers a great deal during those terrible months and it made a strong impact on the community.

There are about five or six people in our crowd who bring up the past regularly. My husband goes into a cold sweat whenever the subject is raised, and I find it terribly humiliating.

I would appreciate it if you would give me a few sample sentences to shut these people up — once and for all. Thank you in advance. — INNOCENT BUT SUFFERING.

DEAR INNOCENT BUT SUFFERING — You don't need sample sentences — you need new friends. Anyone who would be so thoughtless and unkind as to attempt to reopen the old wounds and sprinkle them with salt is not worthy of your friendship. You and your husband should have long since dropped these clods.

U.C.W Meeting

MOIRA U.C.W.

The Christmas meeting of Moira U.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Foster with 14 members present. The president, Mrs. Jean Thompson, opened the meeting with a Christmas hymn and prayer by Mr. Dyson. Mrs. Wesley Farrell conducted the worship service assisted by Mrs. Don McInroy. Thank you notes were read by Mrs. Mumby. Program convener was Mrs. Wesley Farrell with a Christmas hymn, a solo by Mrs. David Mumby, a reading by Georgina Vander, water, a piano solo by Mrs. James Vanderwater, a reading by Helen McInroy, topic by Mina Foster, "Solitude of Christmas."

Lunch was served and the ladies packed Christmas boxes.

Christmas Concerts

OUR LADY OF FATIMA

A large number was present for the Christmas concert held at Our Lady of Fatima School on December 19th which was sponsored by the P.T.A. of Our Lady of Fatima School. A short business meeting was conducted. The president, Mr. E. N. Eklingo presided over the current business, and a meeting was turned over to the children who presented a most entertaining program.

Mr. Tim Amo was the announcer and introduced the following numbers: choral selections by Grade II pupils; a monologue by Christine Gordon; guitar selections by Raymond O'Colis; a playette by Grade I accompanied on the piano by Mary Alice Tobin; a wreath drill by pupils of Grades V and VI; a tap dance by Karen Donohoe; a dance by pupils of Grades V and VI; a drill by pupils of Grade I; a play by pupils of Grades IV and V; a monologue by Gary Wood; a dialogue with Debbie Mobey and Michael Rivers; baton twirling by Margaret Triesen; choral speaking by Grade III; a play by pupils of Grades V and VI; step dancing by Larry Rivers, accompanied by his father, Mr. Earl Rivers; a sing-song by pupils of Grade III; a play by pupils of Grades VII and VIII and the Nativity tableau by pupils of Grade II concluded the program.

Sister Mary Rosaria contributed fine piano accompaniment.

MOIRA

Moira Sunday School held their Christmas concert on Wednesday in the church hall. Mr. Wesley Farrell acted as chairman when several recitations were given by children. Two playettes were given by children and adults which were enjoyed. Mr. Milton Vanderwater and Mr. Donald Hawley conducted the Christmas worship with several Christmas hymns and Bible readings. Santa Claus arrived with bags of candies and oranges for each child and a gift under the tree for the children.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: My daughter's fiance has given us a list of friends and relatives who are to be invited to their forthcoming wedding and reception. The list is pretty complete, except for one thing. He's listed many of his friends by their nicknames instead of their real names. His mother isn't sure what their original given names are, and would have to write to him at college to get the list revised. I told her to hold off until I asked your opinion: May invitations be addressed to a "Mr. and Mrs. Fuzzy Smith," for example, and still be appropriate? — Mrs. H. C., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: Invitations are more correctly addressed using the guest's full proper name, instead of just his nickname. If there's still time before the invitations are to be mailed, I'd suggest you comply with good taste and contact your future son-in-law about revising names incorrectly noted on his invitation list.

Question: May guests correctly pass snacks for a hostess? I tried to be helpful the other night at an informal gathering and got the impression the hostess thought I was trying to take over her job. A tray of canapes was sitting on a table in the living room. After helping myself, I decided to pass it around the room, figuring it would be courteous to lend the hostess a hand. She was busy across the room, but as soon as she saw me take off with her canapes, came dashing across the room, took the tray from my hands and said something about being able to manage herself. I got the impression she'd rather stay help-less. I felt rather foolish, and would like to know if trying to be of assistance was rather boorish behavior on my part? — C. Y. V., Philadelphia, Pa.

Answer: Maybe the hostess preferred guests stroll over to the sideboard to help themselves and, in effect, keep the party moving. It's a device often used by get guests to move around and socialize more in passing. Whether this was the reason or not, however, a guest shouldn't take over any of the hostess' responsibilities without asking her permission first.

Question: The husband of a close friend is witty, charming, and a good conversationalist. He'd be the ideal guest except for one thing. He likes to dress casually, and usually shows up at parties in a sports jacket and shirt without a tie. His wife obviously doesn't seem to mind even though she usually wears an appropriate outfit for the hour and type of party. I would like to include them in a gathering soon to meet our son's fiance and her mother. Would it be impolite to request my friend to get her husband to wear a tie for a change? The girl's family, I've been told, are quite proper and I'd like them to get a favorable impression of our family and friends. — Mrs. E. N., Baltimore, Md.

Answer: It would be rather tactless to come right out and suggest that her husband wear a tie. But you might let her know in passing conversation how important the party is and the purpose and that everyone is dressing to the nines to welcome the new addition to the family. It might impel her to get her husband to dress more suitably this time.

Question: Is it considered good manners to bring a gift to a friend's house whenever one is invited to dinner? I usually do so, but very few other people ever seem to do the same thing so I wonder if perhaps I'm being a little too correct most of the time. When is it appropriate to bring a gift and when is it not necessary? — Mrs. V. M., Ardsley, N. Y.

Answer: An occasional gift may be brought when one is invited to dine at the same friend's house fairly often, but it's not necessary to bring something every time you visit.

Woman Has Cared for 219 Babies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I'm crazy about little babies," said Mrs. Judy Dyer, 'minding her 219th child.

Two of them were her own. The rest were newborn infants put in her care over the last 20 years by an adoption agency.

Mrs. Dyer, 39, has cared for so many babies that she has even found a cure for colic: Experience. And a sure, relaxed manner.

"My babies never cry, never scream with gas, cough or spit up milk," she said. "A baby reacts to his mother's inner tensions. That's what causes colic.

"A baby senses everything is all right by the way a mother holds and handles her. Once in a great while, I have a baby that's sort of tense and takes a lot of extra care. But most just get along fine."

Her husband likes babies, too. It's a good thing. Since 1944 their home in Los Angeles' Highland Park area has been something of a nursery.

Mrs. Dyer is a boarding mother for the Children's Home Society, largest of California's 27 private adoptive agencies. Most of the babies come to her when they're four or five days old. They stay with her from a month to four months—until they're adopted.

"Then I start all over again," said Mrs. Dyer. "I'm always just so anxious to see what the next baby will be like. Each one is different. They come with built-in personalities."

Mrs. Dyer gets paid for caring for the infants but, she says, the sum doesn't much more than cover the cost of feeding and clothing the babies. She is presently caring two and sometimes as many as four babies at a time.

"I do it because I'm crazy about little babies," she said. "It's as simple as that."

Mother's Helper

IF YOU have to give your baby's legs an oil treatment, her brushes and combs will need extra attention, too. A quick and easy way to make them sparkling clean is to soak them for ten minutes in a little ammonia water. Two tablespoons of ammonia in enough hot water to cover them will do the trick.

The Experts Say
Exercising a Must After The Strenuous Holiday

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP) — Women should make a conscious effort to relax and get back into shape after the hectic holiday season.

It pays off physically and psychologically and isn't difficult to do, say leading beauty experts.

Grace Stoyle, chief consultant for Elizabeth Arden in Canada, says if a woman looks pretty and refreshed, she is more likely to feel that way.

Miss Stoyle recommends that women keep up their regular beauty routine of cleansing, toning and moisturizing their skin, no matter how busy they are.

The plea "I haven't the time" no longer is justified with modern skin cleansers, oils and creams.

When women are tired, their skin often becomes lined like parchment, especially when the skin's moisture content is low and most homes are centrally heated, Miss Stoyle explained.

Other types of skin become pasty, especially around the eyes, when tired.

MILK BATHS

"One of the most refreshing remedies for both dry and oily skin is to put on a face cream and sit in a fluffy, warm milk bath for about half an hour."

After more than a week of rich holiday fare, a diet high in proteins and low in calories is essential for getting back into shape, says Miss Stoyle.

Exercise is also a must. Stretching, reaching and bending exercises, even for only 10 or 15 minutes a day, aid relief of holiday tension.

"Most women think they exercise enough just working around the house but there's a big difference between housework and a brisk, arm-swinging, deep-breathing walk.

Beauty experts at Elizabeth Arden recommend that women have a body massage or steam bath for relief of tension if possible.

Evelesn Dollery, beauty consultant at Chatelaine, highly recommends the "miracle mornings" or "miracle matinees" — two or three hour beauty treatments including massages, manicures, even pedicures offered by many salons.

"The idea of having someone wait on you and fuss over you is especially rejuvenating for women," says Miss Dollery. "Many women have never treated themselves to a manicure or facial and they should."

Having a completely liquid lunch of juices one or two days a week is very refreshing, and especially good for women trying to keep their weight down, says Miss Dollery.

The American elk, or wapiti as the Indians called it, is the second largest deer in the world after the moose.

Christmas Concerts

UNION SCHOOL

RYLSTONE — Mrs Cora Reid and pupils at the Union School, Rylstone held a successful Christmas concert at the school on December 18.

Jack Spencer was chairman for the program as follows: choruses by the school; welcome verses by Johnnie, Douglas Spencer and Jimmie Meikle-John; chairman's remarks; recitation by Chris Trumbley; a song by Kathy Thomson, Lenora Stapley and Lois Reid; the Nativity story; an exercise by grades one and two; a recitation by Beth Anderson; a skit by the pupils; a song by the girls; two drills; and concluded with a dialogue.

After the singing of closing choruses Santa arrived and distributed gifts and candy bringing a delightful evening to a close.

EMPLOYED TEENS

Sweden's gainfully employed teen-agers between ages 16 and 19 are nearing about 240,000,000 annually.

Large Number Of Women Holding Jobs

More than 1,803,000 women were employed in 1963. This is the largest number since June, 1945, when 1,804,000 women went to work near the end of the Second World War.

There was a substantial increase in the number of married women working in Canada from 1962 to 1963. The bureau said 918,000 married women were employed during the 12-month period in 1963. This was an increase of 54,000 women the 1962 figure of 864,000.

The latest bulletin issued by the occupational health division of the federal health department says most of these women work because of economic necessity. Many are the main breadwinners of their families, and many more work because they wish to raise their family's standard of living.

"That does it! I'm going over your head to mother!"

Family Doesn't Need Invitation to Wedding

DORIS CLARE

DEAR DORIS — My cousin is getting married. The invitation which came to our house was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. B—. We have spoken to different people about this and they feel as we do, that this is meant only for my parents.

Our question is: We as cousins, ages 12, 16, 18 and 19 years, feel that we should have our names on the invitation. Would it be proper to include our escorts on this invitation? All our other relatives had separate invitations for us and our escorts. My aunt doesn't think this is needed. She thinks families don't need invitations. — FOUR COUSINS WHO DON'T FEEL WELCOME.

DEAR FOUR COUSINS — All who come should be invited, either by being named on parents' invitation, or by getting your own. Any escorts need to be specially asked. Having said which, if your aunt has made it clear beyond all doubt that she wants everyone, escorts and all, then go. You are welcome.

(P.S. — This message could have reached you much sooner if you had enclosed a stamped envelope, identifying yourselves.)

DEAR DORIS — I suppose there are cases like the one where the wife has to ask for every 50 cents she gets.

If he goes out and spends money on himself why doesn't she say to him: "If I am just the hired girl around here let us settle on my wages. And I want them every month!" — FAIR PLAY.

DEAR FAIR PLAY — I say Amen. Marriage 1963 style should be a share-and-share-alike proposition. Never having one cent to rub against another — without making a special accounting to Moneybags Himself — puts a housemaker in the position of a second class citizen. Can't M.H. see that he insults himself when he acts this way?

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1964

Diefenbaker Cites Rising Living Costs, Inflation as Evidence of Danger Ahead

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Tuesday that continued expansion of the economy must not lead Canadians into complacency and warned there are danger signals evident.

In a New Year's statement, he cited rising living costs, inflation and a drop in foreign capital inflow as evidence of danger ahead.

"There has been in recent months a disturbing rise in the cost of living which means increased costs to the Canadian consumer for food, housing and clothing, which bears most heavily on the pensioner and those persons with a fixed income," he said.

"Inflation is becoming an increasing factor."

"There has been a sharp and dangerous drop in the inflow of capital from the United States attributable in part to recent discriminatory Canadian financial policies. . . . If this trend continues it will mean that a brake will be applied to Canadian industrial expansion."

Mr. Diefenbaker said a major incentive to expansion of the economy should be provided by reduction in taxation. He said tax cuts would reverse actions taken at the last session of Parliament "when a very large increase in taxation of some $300,000,000 was put on the people."

Mr. Diefenbaker added that unemployment "remains high in spite of the unusually mild weather of this fall and early winter which was conducive to employment."

OTTAWA (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton called Tuesday for "the grim but glorious fashioning of a people who shall one day be known of all the world simply as Canadians, and their country Canada."

She said in her New Year's message that the choice of Ottawa as Canada's capital by Queen Victoria years ago on Tuesday, was fought bitterly and even viciously by some Canadians.

The controversy had toppled three ministries and threatened the breakdown of government itself, but finally the wise choice of the Queen had prevailed.

She said the "mammoth cut of nations on the anvil of the Lord" similarly is wrought in conflict, toil and sacrifice.

"Nothing can defeat us but ourselves," said Miss Whitton.

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Russia and United States opened the new year Wednesday with greetings emphasizing peace—with President Johnson declared 1964 should be a time for action and not just talk of peace.

The president sent a New Year's message to Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Soviet President Brezhnev at the Kremlin saying that the strengthening of peace is the "highest purpose in the new year" of the American people and their government.

"The aims for simply talking about peace, however, has passed," Johnson said, "and 1964 should be a year in which we take further steps toward the goal.

"In this spirit I shall strive for the further promotion of relations between our two countries."

CITIES IMPROVEMENT

Khrushchev and Brezhnev had told Johnson in a New Year's Eve message that the last year saw "significant improvement in the approach to the solutions of urgent international problems, and in the development of Soviet-American relations."

"We would like to hope," they said, "that the coming year will be marked by further significant successes, both in the resolution of important international problems and the improvement of relations between our countries in the interest of the Soviet and American people and the interests of strengthening world peace."

Both the Soviet leaders and the president offered cordial New Year's greetings and best wishes.

The Johnson message was made public at a press centre in Austin, Tex., while President Johnson, Mrs. Johnson and nine of her relatives were getting ready to sit down at a holiday dinner.

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Khrushchev said Wednesday general and complete disarmament is the top international problem in the way of strengthening world peace.

In an interview with the Urdu-language newspaper Ati Dinka as reported by the Soviet news agency Tass, Khrushchev said:

"Our aim is to strengthen peace include a wide range of problems but unquestionably main problem is general and complete disarmament."

The Russian leader's remarks came as the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda printed New Year's greetings to the Chinese Communist leadership and people.

Western observers said the greetings seemed to an indirect defence of Russia's position in the Sino-Soviet dispute.

Pope John XXIII and El Dia rio, Khrushchev charged "militaristic circles of the United States of late are showing little support to build up tension in the Caribbean."

He reaffirmed Russia would come to the aid of Cuba if it was attacked by the United States.

The Russian leader added he was confident efforts of America can "wild men" trying to muster forces against Cuba would stern hemisphere "reactionary" forces against Cuba would be doomed to failure.

Khrushchev also mentioned the elimination of vestiges of the Stalin cult as a step in order for the strength ening of peace.

He said there were some who disliked the social system of Communism. He answered by that this did not warrant "stubbornly closing eyes to the actual state of affairs in the world."

Premier Khrushchev toasted in the new year with an appeal for further lessening of cold war tensions in 1964. But at a reception for Mrs. Indira Gandhi, Khrushchev said his only difference with Communist China is on "how to bury capitalism."

Sitting next to a surprise guest, ex-premier Nikolai Bulganin, who fell into disgrace after a Communist party power struggle in 1957, Khrushchev was in an expansive mood as he proposed 13 toasts.

His face clouded, however, when he recalled the demonstration in Red Square two years ago by several hundred African students protesting the alleged murder of a medical student from Ghana.

"At home if they want to stand on their heads and shake their legs in the air, that we can do so if the government permits it. But we will not allow it."

PEKING (Reuters)—Chinese Communist leaders welcomed the new year Wednesday with headlines urging readers to greater revolutionary zeal, with diligence and thrift, to build China into a prosperous, united socialist country.

The main Communist party newspaper, People's Daily, distributed throughout China intends to concentrate large resources on certain key agricultural projects to help push the nation's food and cotton production on a more stable basis.

Editorials in People's Daily and other papers pledged a continued Chinese struggle during the coming year against "imperialism headed by the United States" and against revisionism and modern dogmatism."

An editorial marking the fifth anniversary of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolution, People's Daily declared armed struggle was the most important means in the revolutionary movement today.

In the message to Mao, Khrushchev predicted that Russia and China would march together to new successes in 1964.

Without taking note of the ideological feud between them, his message said:

"The Soviet people are sincerely glad at the achievements of our friend and ally, the Chinese people on their path to socialism."

To Castro, Khrushchev pledged to support Cuba in the event of an attack by "United States aggressive circles."

Khrushchev also took note that this is the fifth anniversary of the Cuban revolution. "The

Pope Preparing For Pilgrimage To Holy Land

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Paul, in the midst of intense preparations for his history-making pilgrimage to the Holy Land Saturday, said Wednesday the new year "seems to inspire serene wishes of peace and well-being for all."

The Pope spoke from the window of his study to a crowd of about 30,000 in Saint Peter's Square as nuns and others in his household sorted personal effects and liturgical robes to pack in suitcases for the trip.

The pontiff spent most of the day drafting speeches with his secretaries to deliver on the pilgrimage.

In Jerusalem, Greek-Orthodox Patriarch Benedictus said Sunday's meeting between Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual head of Constantinople church, and the Pope would be "for acquaintance and courtesy only."

But it was hoped the meeting between the two church leaders would lead to "something for the good, and for a reapprochement in the future."

WILL MEET

It was announced in Istanbul Monday that the two church leaders would meet on the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem Sunday.

The Pope's decision to go on a humble pilgrim to the Holy Land for the successful outcome of the ecumenical council. Christian unity and world peace has set in motion a massive effort to tell the story to the world.

Hundreds of journalists have been converging on the Holy Land since the Pope's announcement two weeks ago.

The first Mass of the Roman Catholic church in visit to Holy Land since St. Peter made his pilgrimage there was Paul will also be 1 herald pontiff to meet a spiritual leader of the Orthodox church in 525 years.

Kingston Man Fined, Pomted Gun at Officer

TORONTO (CP)—James Edward Amey, 30, of Kingston, was fined $200 or two months in jail Monday for pointing a toy pistol at a policeman.

Although a toy pistol is not designed to be an offensive weapon, Magistrate Thomas D. more ruled that Amey intended to use it for that purpose when he pointed it at Constable Peter Anderson.

During the trial, which occupied all-night session, Constable Anderson testified Amey approached him and said:

"I've just been thrown out of town and I need some money for a meal."

Instead, Anderson said he became suspicious because Amey was well dressed, so he began to search Amey.

Amey pulled the toy gun out of his pocket and said: "I guess I'll be all right looking for."

Const. Anderson said: "I thought it was a real gun."

Amey was charged, stripped with Amey and wrested the toy gun from him.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Douglas - Home told Premier Khrushchev in a New Year's message that he hopes more steps can be taken this year "to build up confidence and strengthen peace."

The message, handed over in Moscow and published in London was in reply to one from the Soviet premier Tuesday in which Khrushchev said he hoped Britain and Russia would continue to develop friendly ties.

A British prime minister said: "I share your satisfaction on the improvement in international relations and believe that the nuclear test ban treaty was a valuable step, for-

"I am glad that our two governments and the United States government were able to play a positive role in reducing tension, by reaching this important agreement, and hope that in the future we shall be able to take further steps to build up confidence and strengthen peace. . . . and

Baron Thomson 'Burned up' By Report He Renounced His Canadian Citizenship

LONDON (CP)—A published statement that Roy Thomson has relinquished his Canadian citizenship drew an indignant "absolutely today from the publisher, who said he was "burned up" over the report.

"I have acknowledged nothing," said Thomson, refusing to go beyond his promise that he will make a full statement in Toronto next week.

Thomson was created a baron in the New Year's honors list, instantly raising questions about his citizenship in view of the past policy of the Canadian government in opposing titles and decorations for Canadian citizens.

Thomson was born in Toronto and still has a home there. He has had lived mainly in Britain for the last 10 years.

He married Wednesday that he became a British citizen last June, a procedure open to any person from a Commonwealth country who has lived in the United Kingdom for five years.

British citizenship does not necessarily involve giving up Canadian citizenship, however, since dual nationality is possible under U.K. law.

A special item on Thomson's intentions continued, the London Daily Mail quoted Thomson as saying he had relinquished his Canadian citizenship to become a baronj.

DENIES REPORT

This morning Thomson told a reporter that he repudiates the report in the strongest possible terms.

"I definitely and positively did not know that I was to be announced my Canadian citizenship," he said.

He repeated that he is going to Toronto Saturday and will make a "comprehensive" statement there after consulting his son, Kenneth, who runs the North American side of the Thomson publishing empire.

The continuing crossfire over the relinquishing of citizenship newspaper attention from the human aspects of Thomson's life took on a political slant.

Malaysian Govt. Reported Seeking Aid From Allies To Protect Borneo Border

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—The Malaysian government is reported considering an appeal to Britain, Australia and New Zealand for military personnel to help build up defences on its Borneo border with Indonesia.

Informed sources said the proposed request was discussed Wednesday at a meeting of emergency cabinet meeting. Mostly technical personnel are wanted, the sources said, but soldiers are communication lines in the jungles of the Borneo states of Sarawak and Sabah.

All three Commonwealth allies have pledged support to Malaysia against Indonesian President Sukarno's campaign to smash the new nation. Britain already has sent several thousand troops to North Borneo.

The cabinet meeting was called to discuss the clash Sunday in the Malaysian state of North Borneo, in which eight Malaysian soldiers and a civilian were killed and 14 soldiers and five civilians were injured. About 1,000 miles from Malaysia, Indonesian territory was blamed on Indonesian Army regulars.

Indonesia, which claims the Malaysia Federation is a device to prolong British colonial rule in Southeast Asia, has admitted training anti-Malaysian rebels on Borneo. But it claims its troops are not involved in any active aggression.

Gross Product Of Ontario Up 6 Per Cent

TORONTO (CP) — The gross domestic product of Ontario advanced six per cent to $18,000,000,000 during 1963, Treasurer Mitchell Hepburn told Minister Stanley J. Randall said Tuesday.

In a year-end statement, Mr. Randall said the increase was about the equivalent of a four-per-cent rise after allowing for higher prices.

Industrial production was up 4.5 per cent. The principal advances were in automobile, steel and big iron production. Other important gains were recorded in rubber products, chemicals, petroleum and coal products.

Mr. Randall also reported a

South Ontario Blanketed With 5 Inches Snow

TORONTO (CP) — A New Year's Day snowstorm blanketed southern Ontario with about five inches of snow, causing a 12-car pile-up near Chatham, and created a 2,400 calls for help to the Ontario Motor League in Metropolitan Toronto.

The Welland area bore the brunt of the storm with 12 inches of snow in six hours, but the entire southern section of the province, as far north as Parry Sound was struck by snow and freezing rain that made driving conditions hazardous.

Police said the 12-car pile-up on Highway 401 about 30 miles southeast of Chatham occurred when cars hit a slippery patch of road. Four persons suffered minor injuries in a series of rear-end collisions.

The London, Woodstock and Stratford areas reported about three inches of snow as the storm swept into Ontario at midnight. It reached Ottawa just as the snow stopped at Windsor.

Some flights from Toronto International Airport were cancelled during the day, but trains and buses were reported running on time.

Milder temperatures are expected today although winds of up to 35 miles an hour are forecast. Overcast skies are expected most of the day throughout the province and weather officials do not expect more snow.

21 Fatalities Across Canada Over Holiday

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The mid-week holiday period that ushered in the new year was not all happy. Twenty-one persons died in accidents across Canada in the 30-hour period from 6 p.m. yesterday to Wednesday midnight local times.

A Canadian Press survey showed 12 persons killed, 6 of the lives, four persons died in fires, two were killed by trains, one died in a hunting accident, and one was drowned.

But the traffic toll was below the 15 to 30 fatalities predicted by the National Safety League of Canada. It was also the lowest since 1959 when 19 persons died in a 30-hour holiday period.

All years since then have had three-figure holiday tolls. Last year, 39 persons were killed, 22 of them in traffic accidents, in a day holiday. In 1962, 51 died in a three-day holiday, with the traffic toll 31.

Quebec led the provinces this year with seven deaths, all but one in traffic. Ontario and Alberta each reported five deaths. Three of the Ontario deaths were in traffic, one man was drowned when his car went off a bush road bridge into a creek and a woman died accidentally shot herself while hunting rabbits. Three persons died in a fire in Toronto.

ONTARIO DEAD

Wednesday

Albert Hamilton, 48, Port Credit, accidentally shot while hunting a rabbit he had seen in his back yard. Police believe he fell, discharged when he slipped and fell.

Tuesday

Harold Clayton Payne, 20, Kemptville, trapped in a burning car following a two-car collision on Highway 31 about 20 miles south of Ottawa.

Frederick Hall, 8, Coboconk, was drowned when his car slid into the side of a car.

Roger Gauvin, 35, Chouther, died when his car slid off a bridge into a creek on a bush road about 25 miles east of Kirkland Lake.

capital investment of $2,200,000,000, highest since 1957.

Rival Church Officials Soft-Pedal Old Quarrel Before Arrival of Pope

BETHLEHEM (AP)—Just in time for the Pope's pilgrimage to Bethlehem, rival church officials are soft-pedaling an old quarrel which sometimes led to fisticuffs in the rock-hewn cave where Christ was born.

Despite the surface truce, underlying jealousies continue. One likely result may be some dirty windows in the Church of the Nativity in the days before the visit.

Disputes have been going on for centuries in Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity, a massive basilica built 1,600 years ago over a grotto accepted as the stable where Mary gave birth.

Every Christmas for many years—and each church celebrates its Christmas on a different day—services beside the Bethlehem manger were interrupted by arguments over whether a Roman Catholic mass could be said in a room owned by the Orthodox, or whether a priest of one faith should wash the floor assigned while the others celebrated mass. There was even a controversy over which group of monks should have the privilege of washing windows.

HEAVILY BATTLE

The issues seem trivial, but spice priests took the argument up to the church roof where they threw snow balls during Christmas Eve. Every year policemen are stationed in the grotto to keep the peace.

Bishop Pope Paul's visit was announced by the Jordanian government got the bearded Orthodox priests and Franciscan Catholic processions may descend to the grotto only by the northern stairway, not the south entry.

Greek authorities here have made it clear that the statue of the Catholic feast of the Epiphany. For the Greek Orthodox this is Christmas Eve, and the great basilica will be filled with their ceremonies throughout the day.

The truce was counted upon to allow for an annual window-cleaning job. Catholics were to wash the outside of the glass and Greeks the inside. The Greeks were to use long poles with cloth on the end to avoid stepping on a strip of church claimed by the Catholics.

But, priests said, the agreement broke down and no one saw any washing windows Monday, the traditional day when the job is done each year.

CLEANING AS USUAL

In the grotto beneath the church the usual three-times-a-week cleaning continued in routine fashion. A bearded Greek priest scoured the Star of Bethlehem with detergent. A Catholic father washed the silver manger with a cloth.

Its heavy stone ramparts towering like a fortress, the Basilica of the Nativity is believed to be the oldest church in Christendom. It was built above the grotto in 326 by St. Helena, mother of the Roman emperor Constantine, rebuilt 200 years later and restored by the Crusaders.

To enter the basilica, the Pope will have to bend double and squeeze through a chest-high door, built that way in the 16th century to prevent horsemen from riding into the church.

Sunk in the marble floor is a 14-point silver star whose Latin inscription proclaims "Here Jesus Christ was born of the Virgin Mary."

Nearby is the manger, once hewn through cut into the rock. Today it is covered with silver and lit by pilgrims' candles.

Roman Catholics may celebrate mass at the manger site while the Star of Bethlehem is reserved by the Greeks and Armenians. Call it processions may descend to the grotto only by the northern stairway, not the south entry.

What's Peking up to Now? Question Asked by Observers

By CARMAN CUMMING
Canadian Press Staff Writer

One of the most fascinating games in international diplomacy is called "What's Peking up to now?"

It is played with equal enthusiasm in the capitals of Washington, or Accra. There are no real winners, but the intellectual stimulation is considerable.

At the moment, the specific aim of the game is to figure out what Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China hopes to gain—or is likely to gain—from his tour of Africa.

Most Western observers see ominous signs that Chou is exploiting the United Arab Republic as well as the West.

Others see it as an attempt at cooperation with the Algeria Chou was reported to have broached with some success an idea for China to explore the Sahara for oil.

Some observers also have found significance in a political sign in Chou's junket.

Whatever else it means, they say, it is known to represent a Peking attempt to break out of its shell, to win friends and influence people, to become a more respected member of the international community.

This is encouraging to that group of China experts who believe the giant Communist power must be encouraged to re-enter world society before it can be influenced in a constructive way.

The main achievement to China's credit so far seems to be the promise by Tunisia to recognize Peking. That will make 10 countries recognizing Communist China, compared with 48 still recognizing the nationalists.

Beyond that, it seems unlikely to fall easily into the Peking orbit.

Similar campaigns by the Soviets have shown that even the most anti-Western nations of Africa aren't eager to acquire a new colonial master.

As Moscow at the same time, an Algerian delegation was making clear to Premier Khrushchev that Algerians intended to "build our own particular kind of socialism."

Subway Strike In New York Is Settled

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York's subway and bus strike that would have paralyzed the city was averted Wednesday by 11th-hour agreement on a new contract.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner said the 15-cent fare would be retained although the 35,000 employees now pay increases. Cost of the settlement was estimated at from $36,600,000 to $42,000,000.

The subways and buses carry about 4,000,000 a day.

Wagner and Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, meeting shortly after the agreement had been announced, said they had agreed to back legislation to solve financial and other problems of the city transit authority.

Michael H. Quill, president of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union, had called a strike for 12:01 a.m., but the deadline twice was postponed and the agreement was reached about 9:30 p.m.

Quill dropped his chief demand—a 32-hour, four-day work week—in return for the pay boost in a two-year contract.

First Clear Sign of Thaw In Disarmament Problem Began Early in June

By CARMAN CUMMIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

"The glacial disarmament problem has begun at last to melt a bit and to move."

The statement, by U.S. delegate Charles Stelle at the United Nations, typified the cautious new hope that developed on disarmament during 1963.

After years of tedious negotiations and the exchange of millions of words, the world began to wonder if disarmament might after all be more than a rosy dream.

The first clear sign of thaw came June 10 when the late president Kennedy announced agreement with the British and Russians "that high-level discussions shortly begin in Moscow looking towards early agreement on a comprehensive test ban treaty. . . ."

Once started, events moved quickly.

On July 15, negotiators from the three big nuclear powers sat down around a green-topped table at the Kremlin—in a mood of friendliness hard to believe only a few months after the Cuban showdown.

KHRUSHCHEV FINISHES

Premier Khrushchev, jovial and optimistic, suggested that they "start off by signing the agreement right away."

Within a fortnight, the historic pact had been initialled banning nuclear tests in the atmosphere, outer space and under water. The sticky problem of underground testing was left in abeyance with the West still insisting on on-site inspections to prevent cheating.

The treaty was hailed as a breakthrough, a cold-war turning point. But the optimism was dimmed as France and Communist China refused to sign and continued working towards their own nuclear forces.

When the United Nations General Assembly opened its fall session in September, two phrases were heard frequently: "Cold war pause," and "next step."

Besides the mood of optimism, observers noted two trends at the UN resulting from the test ban treaty.

They said the non - aligned countries appeared to have eased up on the pressure usually put on the big powers to move towards disarmament.

There was also some noticeable disillusionment about the role of the UN in disarmament.

"Only two men count in this world," one diplomat said, watching his colleagues file into the General Assembly chamber.

"We can talk here as much as we like but it doesn't mean anything until the man in Washington and the man in Moscow decide to move.

PACT ACHIEVED

Nevertheless, the "next step" came under the UN umbrella as the U.S. and Russia agreed, in a UN resolution, to bar nuclear weapons from outer space.

The assembly also passed another series of disarmament resolutions, mainly calling for action by the 18-nation disarmament conference resuming discussions in Geneva in January.

The main hope for progress there was in two areas:

1. An agreement on safeguards against surprise attack, including an East-West exchange of observer posts;

2. Measures to curb the spread of nuclear weapons.

But diplomats noted that these also were collateral measures; that the big problem of comprehensive disarmament still had not been denied.

As External Affairs Minister Paul Martin put it in a UN speech in October:

"It is a sobering thought at this time that as yet not a single rocket, not a bomber, not an atomic bomb, not a thermonuclear warhead, not even a machine-gun has been put on the scrapheap as a result of agreement to disarm."

U.S. Plans

No Men in Space in 1964 Will Test New Rockets Instead

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

More space spectaculars may come in 1964 as the United States and the Soviet Union continue their race to place men safely on the moon.

But the intense drama and excitement created last May by the whirl-a-publicity given to the orbital flight of U.S. astronaut Gordon Cooper isn't expected to be repeated until 1965.

The U.S. space program, as disclosed up to late December, doesn't call for manned space flights during 1964, when it will be testing larger and more powerful propulsion rockets and the Gemini spacecraft in preparation for two-man flights the following year.

The Soviet Union hasn't revealed its intentions beyond current rocket-firing tests in the Pacific that it said would continue until Jan. 25.

22 ORBITS

Television, radio and newspapers recorded every detail as Cooper was fired into orbit in his Faith 7 Mercury capsule May 15. After completing 22 orbits in 34½ hours, Cooper brought his craft to a safe landing in the Pacific.

The flight didn't equal the Soviet Union's two-man success in 1962 when Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich remained aloft 94½ and 70 hours, respectively, and brought their craft so close together in space they could see each other.

Nor was it a great an accomplishment as the Soviet doublehecker that began June 15, 1963, and ended four days later with the safe landing of Valery Bykovsky, 28, after 81 orbits, and of Valentina Tereshkova, 26 —the world's first spacewoman —who came down after 48 orbits.

None of the other space successes in 1963 drew the same attention as these three manned flights, but the others were important in several areas.

MOON RACE

On March 28, the U.S. Saturn rocket blasted to its fourth straight success, ending the stage-one testing and sending scientists into intensive work developing the second stage. This rocket is intended to power the three-man Apollo to the moon.

On Nov. 1, the Soviet Union announced it had successfully launched Mars 1, a vehicle that could be manoeuvred in all directions so that it could move alongside another craft in space. Rendezvous in orbit are considered essential to moon launchings.

COMMUNICATIONS

The U.S. sent up three new communications satellites, two of them successfully used for television and other transmissions linking North America with Europe, Africa and Japan.

Syncom 1, launched Feb. 14 in the first attempt to get a synchronous satellite into stationary orbit, failed, but Syncom II on July 26 went successfully into its intended orbit, then demonstrated its abilities with broadcasts from North America to Africa, later to Japan.

Meanwhile, Telstar I, launched in July, 1962, died in March, 1963, and Telstar II was launched successfully May 7 to replace it.

CO-OPERATION

The U.S. and the Soviet Union reached agreement in Rome March 20 to carry out a joint weather satellite program. The first satellites may go up by 1964.

The two space leaders also agreed to co-operate in launching the U.S. Echo II communications satellite, probably in 1964, for joint communications studies.

Perhaps even more significant, however, were agreements between the two made formal at the United Nations where resolutions approved overwhelmingly ban nuclear weapons from outer space and declare that outer space should be used for the benefit and interests of all mankind.

The U.S. proposed that the Soviet Union join it in a project to put men on the moon. The closest the Soviet Union came to giving the proposal recognition was in voting for a UN resolution calling for international co-operation in peaceful uses of outer space.

Elsewhere, the U.S. said its Mariner II Venus probe revealed temperatures on that planet far too high for life as the earth knows it.

GOING, GONE

Prime Minister Will Tour British Centres

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas Home has announced plans for an extensive tour of key British centres—clearly to rally his Conservative followers for the British election that must be held before next June.

Most pundits expect the vote will be held between March and June, depending on a time of domestic and international affairs.

The prime minister included a puzzler in his travel plans—a clear period between late April and early June.

This gap could be filled either by the election itself—which will be preceded by a four-week campaign—or by some important international conference Douglas-Home might want to attend.

His announced speaking program appeared to many observers to rule out a vote before June.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

If you are a football buff and aren't too sleepy-eyed after the conviviality of ushering in the Leap Year chorus, you saw some rather remarkable gridiron antics in the endless flow of bowl games that featured Ole Squarejaw yesterday.

It wasn't the bone-crushing, muscle-rending type of leather-clenson lunging the New York Giants, or the Chicago Bears stage, but all three games had their exciting moments.

The rah-rah boys ran practically the entire gamut of the great game. Upsets, interceptions, fumbles, injuries and brilliant plays and the color of tremendous holiday crowds featured the big battles.

Perhaps the biggest upset of the day was the 17-7 victory of Alabama's Crimson tide over Mississippi. The experts said it was the biggest flip-flop in the 35-year history of the famous Sugar Bowl. The Rebs' fumbled no less than ten times while the talented toe of Tim Davis of Alabama kicked four field goals to account for all the points.

The Texas Longhorns, America's national champ plons, proved their right to the title by crushing Navy 28-6 in the Cotton Bowl as the nation's top quarterback Roger Staubach of Navy was, booted by the Longhorns' quarter, Duke Carlyle, and the All-America linebacker Chuck Appleton.

Undefeated Nebraska pulled another upset by stopping favored Auburn 13-7 after being outweighed 25 pounds per man. It was a thriller all the way with the Cornhuskers halting an Auburn 69-yard drive with minutes to go.

The slightly-favored Fighting Illini of the University of Illinois, snatched the Rose Bowl honors grinding out 17-7 victory after spotting the coasters a first-half touchdown.

Between touchdowns, fumbles and interceptions came a pleasant hockey interlude. The Canada-Sweden game was videoed and I liked what I saw. It was the game which the Father Bauer crew took the measure of the Swedes 6-3 and I thought they were full value for the win. They checked hard both ways and this threw the Swedes off stride the most of the time. With a few more games under their belts they should, on this performance, give the best of the international crews a run for the Olympic roses.

Between oyster-soup cocktails I attended via television, the Guy Lombardo New Year's Eve party staged under rather quaint circumstances. Instead of the ballroom of the plush Hotel Roosevelt, the talented musical crew held forth at a ball held in the concourse of Grand Central Station, New York City.

The old Lombardo gang lived up to reputation while a trio of lovely girl singers were tuneful and pretty. But in this humble critic's opinion, Allan Ludden, who was the television series "Password" might better stick to his questions than attempting a role as a vocalist with a top-name band. He cannot sing and his attempt at comedy was a lot funnier than the alleged comedy itself.

NFL Gets Twelve
Pros Sign College Stars

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League continued to pass the buck to college football players Wednesday, signed much-pursued Nebraska linemen Bob Brown and Lloyd Voss and now have contracts with 12 of their 14 first-round draft selections.

Brown, guard, and Voss, a tackle, were signed after the Cornhuskers 13-7 victory over Auburn in the Orange Bowl. Philadelphia Eagles got Brown's signature and Green Bay Packers lured Voss into the fold.

Brown was the No. 1 pick of Denver Broncos in the American Football League draft. Voss was a second round selection of New York Jets.

The signings enabled the NFL to continue to overshadow the AFL in the chequebook war for the nation's top college football talent. The NFL has lost only one of its first-round draft selections to the AFL — Southern California quarterback Pete Beathard, picked by Detroit Lions, signed with Kansas City Chiefs.

HASN'T SIGNED

One first-round NFL selection still is not signed by either league—Texas tackle Scott Appleton, voted the outstanding lineman in the Cotton Bowl after the Longhorns' 28-6 victory over Navy.

The NFL rights to Appleton are held by Pittsburgh Steelers. He also was the No. 1 pick of the AFL's Houston Oilers.

Chicago Lead Cut To Four ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Blues Blast Hawks, Bruins Tie Habs

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Despite a rough season with New York Jacques Plante may still have the stuff that made him one of the National Hockey League's most celebrated goalies when he was wearing the uniform of Montreal Canadiens.

Plante stopped 32 shots Wednesday night as the Rangers trimmed the league - leading Black Hawks 5-2 in Chicago. The Rangers built up a 4-0 lead before the game was half over but, faltering in the face of a desperate Chicago comeback, had to count on the masked goalie to protect their lead.

The league's other doormats, Boston Bruins, blew a two-goal lead in the third period and had to settle for a 3-3 tie with Montreal Canadiens before a discontented home crowd of 10,554. Toronto edged Detroit 5-4 New Year's Eve.

HAWKS FALTERING

In their last 11 games the Hawks have managed only four wins and a tie, while their first place margin has been cut in half. It was their second straight loss to the fifth-place Rangers.

Chicago performances in the individual scoring race have not suffered a similar deterioration, however. Stan Mikita picked up an assist in Wednesday night's losing cause to take a one-point lead over Montreal's Jean Beliveau while Bobby Hull scored a goal to strengthen his hold on the third spot.

MISSED $500 CHEQUE

Because the games were the 38th for Chicago and the 39th for Montreal, Beliveau, enjoying a brilliant comeback after two lacklustre seasons, could have earned $500 by scoring a single point in the Boston game.

As it was, Beliveau and Mikita ended up with identical 25-game totals of 48 points and it is the Chicago player—who has 21 goals to Beliveau's 18—who will be getting a cheque in the mail for leading the league in scoring at the halfway mark.

Trailing 3-1 in the third period, Canadiens rallied to gain a tie with Boston that put them one point ahead of the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Rookie John Ferguson, who had just finished serving a one-minute penalty for high sticking along with Boston defenseman Ted Green for fighting, scored the tying goal his 12th of the season and his first since recovering from an injury.

ROUSSEAU STEADY

Other Montreal scorers were Gilles Tremblay and Bobby Rousseau, who now has four goals in the last three games.

Dean Prentice, Orland Kurtenbach and Tommy Williams scored for Boston.

The Rangers, by winning on Chicago ice, boosted their edge over last-place Boston to two points but are still eight points behind Detroit Red Wings, occupants of the fourth and last playoff spot.

The Rangers scoring was a well balanced team effort, as Vic Hadfield, Larry Cahan, Val Fonteyne, Don Marshall and Rod Gilbert each got a goal. Don McKenney, Andy Bathgate and Jim Neilson each collected two assists.

Hull's goal was his 22nd of the season, tops in the league and the other Chicago marksman was Murray Hall.

Toronto and Detroit were idle Wednesday night. The Leafs edged the Red Wings 5-4 in Detroit New Year's Eve.

Held to a 1-1 tie in the first two periods, the Leafs broke loose in the third to end a three-game unbeaten streak for Detroit.

Dave Keon scored twice for Toronto and the other Leaf marksmen were Tim Horton, Dick Duff and Frank Mahovlich. Pit Martin and Floyd Smith shared the Detroit scoring with two goals apiece.

All six teams are idle until Saturday, when the Red Wings go to New York for an afternoon game and Boston is at Montreal and Chicago at Toronto at night.

The Big Seven

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stan Mikita picked up an assist while his Chicago Black Hawks were losing 5-2 to New York Rangers Wednesday night to move one point ahead of Jean Beliveau in the National Hockey League scoring race.

Beliveau was kept off the score sheet as Montreal Canadiens fought to a 3-3 tie with Boston Bruins.

Mikita's teammate, Bobby Hull, scored his 22nd goal of the season to take over the lead in that department. Hull's 46 points give him third spot in individual scoring, three points behind Mikita, two behind Beliveau.

Another Chicago Hawkster, Ken Wharram, was held point-less and lost fourth spot to New York's Andy Bathgate, who got two assists.

Sweden Whips Winnipeg
Windsor 'Dogs' Nip Olympics 5-4

WINDSOR (CP) — Windsor Bulldogs held off a third-period comeback by the Canadian Olympic hockey team from the University of British Columbia here Wednesday 5-4 to end and posted a 5-4 exhibition victory before 1,500 fans.

It was only the seventh loss in 21 starts for Rev. Dave Bauer's young collegians on a cross-country tour before departing for Europe and the winter Olympics at Innsbruck, Austria.

Bulldogs recently returned from representing Canada on an exhibition tour of Europe where they posted a 9-6 record, six of the losses coming in Russia.

Jim Sanko's second goal of the game, a breakaway effort at 12:38 of the third period, proved to be the winner. Real Chevrefils, Jack Costello and Jim Dineen scored the other Windsor markers. Roger Bourbonnais, with a pair, Gary Dinnen and Rosi Morrison clicked for the Olympic team.

TAKES 3-0 LEAD

After a listless first period, Windsor shot into a 3-0 lead in the second period on goals by Sanko, Chevrefils and Costello. Dineen pared the margin to one with a power-play effort while Bourbonnais set the end of the period.

Josephson made it 4-1 only to have Bourbonnais marker in the last minute, a goal that set off a burious but vain charge for the equalizer in the final seconds.

Olympics goalie Rick Broadhurst faced 30 shots as the Bulldogs held a slight edge in play over their younger but potent opponents. Windsor goalie Wayne Rutledge stopped 26 shots and allowed two easy goals.

There were only six minor penalties, three to each club.

The Olympic squad now plays the Czech nationals in Sudbury tonight and Toronto Marlboros in London Saturday before leaving for Europe.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Swedish national team kept the pressure on all the way Wednesday night to defeat Winnipeg Maroons, defending senior champions of Western Canada, 7-4 in an exhibition hockey game before a crowd of about 8,000.

The Swedes gave the first goal but jumped into a 3-1 lead by the end of the opening period and were never headed. They were in front 4-2 at the end of the second and wrapped it up with three consecutive goals in the final period.

It was Sweden's second victory, against two defeats, in the first four games of their six-game Canadian tour. Their next stop is in Fort William on Friday night against the Lakehead All-Stars.

Mikita Nips Beliveau For '$500'

MONTREAL (CP) — Centre Stan Mikita of Chicago Black Hawks became $500 richer Wednesday night by ending at the top of the scoring heap halfway through the National Hockey League season.

Mikita and Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens wound up the first 25 games of the 70-game NHL schedule tied on points but Mikita took first-place honors because of his better goal-scoring.

Mikita wound up with 21 goals and 27 assists for 48 points, while Beliveau had 16 goals and 32 assists.

The Chicago centre will receive $500 from the NHL for his half-season performance.

Meet Chargers Sunday
Patriots Face 'Lightning'

SAN DIEGO (AP)—Rain or shine — and the weatherman says it probably will shine—Boston Patriots will face the threat of lightning bolts when they meet San Diego Chargers in the American Football League title game at Balboa Stadium Sunday.

The AFL eastern division champions will return to the same turf where, on a sunny day last Sept. 14, they did a remarkable job of stifling San Diego's offence. But two lightning-like strikes boosted the Western Division champs to a 17-13 victory.

In a second regular season game this year, on a cold and rainy day in Boston, lightning struck the Pats again—and it gave the Chargers a 7-6 decision. Both times the Pats outdid the Chargers in everything but scoring.

In the first game, Charger quarterback Tobin Rote, the AFL's player of the year, completed only eight of 23 passes and the Boston line hamstrung the usually blistering San Diego ground game.

Rote once played for Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League.

Charger coach Sid Gillman declines to say whether he plans still more innovations for the playoff game but says the Boston defence "makes it our burden to create an office that can go."

Gillman says his squad is better equipped to play now than it has been all season. For one thing, Gillman says, "Tobin Rote's arm is well for the first time in a month."

FINE COACH

EDMONTON (CP) — Buster Brayshaw, coach of the Memorial Cup champion Edmonton Oil Kings, Monday was fined $100 by Jack Ferris, governor of the Central Alberta Hockey League. Ferris levied the fine—one of the biggest in CAHL history—for Brayshaw's part in an incident during a game here Friday between Lacombe Rockets and the league leading Oil Kings.

Richardson, Baldwin Rinks Lose Twice

Title Chances 'Shot'

TORONTO (CP)—Three rinks go into the third round today of the Canadian Tankard Tournament of Champions Bonspiel with clean records, but two of the biggest names in Canadian curling are not among them.

Norm Houck of Winnipeg, Hector Gervais of Edmonton and Bob Mann's Hanover, Ont., quartet each won both games in Wednesday's rounds.

But Ernie Richardson of Regina, winner of the world championship in four of the five years it has been held and veterem Matt Baldwin of Edmonton lost both games in the eight-rink competition.

Both Richardson and Baldwin fell victim to Houck and Gervais.

Gervais established himself as the tournament favorite when he took an 11-6 decision from Richardson in the first round, then won a close 10-9 verdict over Baldwin in the evening when the Edmonton skip missed a draw shot with the last rock of the game.

HAS LITTLE TROUBLE

Houck had little trouble disposing of Richardson with a 14-7 score, but had to count three in the last two ends to edge Baldwin 11-8.

Richardson admitted his chances of winning the tournament were shot, but promised to "try and win as many games as we can in the next three days."

Mann had things a little easier with a 16-5 win over Mike Shyluk of Detroit after a close 10-8 decision over Ray Grant of Unionville, Ont.

Both Grant and Slyniuk have been 1-1 records. Grant downed Doug Cameron of Charlottetown 10-6 while Slyniuk edged Cameron 13-11.

Former Macs Suspended Or Fined

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Lockhart, president of the Eastern Hockey League, suspended goalie Marv Edwards of Nashville indefinitely Tuesday and also assessed fines totalling $800 for a pair of incidents in two games last weekend. Edwards was suspended for molesting an official in Nashville game at Charlotte last Saturday. John McClellan, coach of the Nashville club, was fined $100 for failure to control his players and for assaulting an official, while Ted McCaskill, also of Nashville, was fined $50 for molesting a spectator.

Don Graham, George Standing, Cal Dunsley, Leo Olivari, Joe Zortea, Harold Flemming and Jack Martin were fined $25 each for going into the stands. All were Nashville players.

Lockhart also fined the Long Island club $250 for failure to provide adequate protection at last Friday night's game with New Haven.

John Muckler, the Long Island coach, was assed $100 for failure to control his players and Fred Creighton, the New Haven coach, was fined $75. Players John Brophy, Raymond Larose and Bernard Deschamps of Long Island and Don Bamburger of New Haven also were fined $25 each for misconduct.

Illinois Wins Rose Bowl

Longhorns Gore Navy's Famed Quarter

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Duke Carlisle of Texas, the unheralded quarterback in the Cotton Bowl, passed for two touchdowns, ran for a third and overshadowed Navy's highly-touted Roger Staubach as the U.S. college champion Texas Longhorns crushed second-ranked Navy 28-6 in the feature attraction on the New Year's Day football bowl program.

Carlisle, switching the land-based Texas offence to the air also assessed fines totalling $800 for a pair of incidents in two games last weekend. Edwards was suspended for molesting an official in Nashville game at Charlotte last Saturday. John McClellan, coach of the Nashville club, was fined $100 for failure to control his players and for assaulting an official, while Ted McCaskill, also of Nashville, was fined $50 for molesting a spectator.

dle, Texas had built a 21-0 halftime lead.

That was more than enough for the determined Longhorns, coached by Darrell Royal, who introduced the split-T attack to Canadian professional football when he was head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos in 1953.

In the Rose Bowl, Illinois came from behind with two second-half touchdowns on short plunges by Jim Warren and Jim Grabowski and defeated crippled Washington Huskies 17-7 in the 50th renewal of the grandaddy of the post-season classics.

KICKS 4

Alabama never crossed the goal line in the Sugar Bowl, but defeated Mississippi 12-7 with Tim Davis' four field goals producing all the points. Davis, who hasn't run a play from scrimmage since he was in high school, produced three-pointers from 46, 48, 31 and 22 yards.

And in the Orange Bowl, Nebraska's Cornhuskers raced to 13-0 halftime lead on Dennis Claridge's 69-yard run and two field goals by Dave Thiesen, then had to mold off the rallying Auburn Tigers for a 13-7 triumph.

But on this day of outstanding one-man performances, Emmett Augustus Carlisle III supplied the biggest thrills. He steered the Longhorns to a touchdown after the opening kickoff and before he handed the reins over to Tommy Wade in the third quarter he had set a Cotton Bowl record for total offence—267 yards on 213 yards passing and 54 rushin.

The Lonhorn defence, anchored by All - America tackle Scott Appleton, kept Staubach bottled up until it was too late. Staubach and his unorthodox tactics finally got Navy a touchdown in the fourth quarter, Staubach carrying the final two yards. It was all the scoring Navy managed.

Tony Parilli Dies After Shooting

Grid Star Accidentally Shot

CHICAGO (CP-AP) — Police searched today for an unidentified participant in a washroom fight that led to the death of pro football player Tony Parrilli on New Year's Eve.

The 34-year-old former Chicago Bears guard was killed by a policeman's bullet after an argument and scuffle at a bowling alley party.

Investigators called the shooting accidental. They said they were looking for the unidentified man to clear up conflicting accounts of the fight.

Robert Winthers, police chief in suburban Willowbrook, said his service revolver fired accidentally as he tried to break up the fight between Parrilli and the unidentified man.

The quarrel in the bowling alley, partly owned by Mike Ditka, Chicago Bears end, was reported to have started after an argument over Sunday's National Football League championship game between the Bears and New York Giants, won by the Bears.

The Du Page County state's attorney's office said a grand jury will be asked to consider whether Winthers was guilty of either involuntary manslaughter or reckless conduct. An inquest was continued to Jan. 20.

CLUBBED MARCONI

Chief Winthers said his pistol discharged as he used it to club the head of Bears fullback Joe Marconi. The bullet hit the six-foot, 228-pound Parrilli in the head and he died almost instantly.

Winthers and Sgt. Stanley Lachta said they went to the washroom to quell a fist fight between Parrilli and the unidentified man—who left in the confusion after the shooting.

"Winthers told me things were squared away in the washroom when Marconi came rushing in," said State's Attorney William J. Bauer. "Winthers said Marconi knocked Sgt. Lachta aside and it was then that he used the gun."

Eight stitches were required to close a gash on Marconi's head.

"When I got there the scuffling was all over, so I said to Tony, 'Let's get out of here.'

"I was walking toward him to lead him out when all of a sudden I got hit from behind. I more or less blacked out after."

Among those at the party were Parrilli's recent bride, Nancy, Ditka and Ed O'Bradovich, the Bears' defensive end.

Parrilli had been with three National Football League teams. He signed after college with the San Francisco 49ers, tried out with the Bears in 1962 and played in a few exhibition games this past season with Washington Redskins. He suffered a shoulder injury and was released by Washington Sept. 3.

In 1961 he was named most valuable player on the University of Illinois football team.

THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD

by John LeCarre

A brilliant novel that has set the critical world afire comes to Star Weekly readers as a special bonus, starting with the issue at the news stands now. Graham Greene called it the best spy story he had ever read. Alec Waugh described it as "an absolute spellbinder." The first of two parts in this week's Star Weekly.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

By GORDIE HOWE

I like to play the point on the power play when we have a man advantage because of a penalty to the opposition. I like the point because the play is in front of you.

If you watch some youngsters play, you'll find the defencemen always look a little better at carrying the puck. That's because they have the full view of the play right in front of them.

If you're a wingman and drive in to fight for the puck, on a power play you may have your back to the play most of the time, be lost.

Playing the point, you have the play in front of you at all times. It gives you an opportunity to work out different plays, by having a fellow player go to a certain pre-determined position. I believe playing the point doesn't involve as much skating. Maybe I'm crazy. Again, if I'm playing the point, the opposition on occasion has put a man back there to cover me. That gives us five against their three, which is bad for them.

If they play the square, the hot type of defence against the power play, they'll place a defenseman off each side of the net and two players out towards the blue line. Then there's a man on you at all times.

However, if I'm playing up in front on the power and raving play, I find sometimes I'm not as effective as I am back on the point.

Being able to take a hard pass and give a hard pass is important for anyone playing on the point on the power play.

Here again, it is a matter of having full control of your stick at all times.

Speaking of control, I remember when Bronco Horvath had a great year with Boston several seasons back. He credited it to exercises he had done the previous summer to strengthen his wrists, his grip and his control.

a lot more to look forward to

Edmonton Coach Launches Attack

Deplores Spearing, Butt-Ends

By WALTER KREVENCHUK

EDMONTON (CP) — The coaching staff of Edmonton Oil Kings has launched an attack against an outbreak of spearing and butt-ending among the Canadian junior hockey champions.

"Butt-ending and spearing are the sneakiest, most useless things you can do, and they never help win a hockey game," says manager Leo LeClerc.

"The time spent in employing these techniques can be put to better use doing one of the 48 other duties a player has on the ice."

Spearing is defined in the rule book as "stabbing an opponent with the point of the stick blade while the stick is being carried with one hand or both hands."

Butt-ending, as the term suggests, is the act of jabbing an opponent with the butt of the stick.

Both infractions ordinarily carry a minor penalty although spearing may also be treated as a deliberate attempt to injure, resulting in a match penalty during which the offending player's team plays shorthanded for five minutes.

In a move to reduce the incidence of the two infractions, which have shown a pronounced increase this year, LeClerc and coach Buster Brynhaw have mapped out a self-officiating system that includes fines.

KEEP RECORDS

Spotters—each assigned to a specific forward line or defensive unit—record each butt-end or spear used by an Oil Kings player. When a player is caught by an official committing either act, he not only is penalized but is fined by the team in direct proportion to the number of times he has been observed by the spotter.

"The fines can range up to $50," LeClerc says. "From now on butt-ending and spearing are going to be luxuries and if the players can't afford them they had better stop."

The manager says the increase appears to be a byproduct of success. "Some players seem to have the attitude that they shouldn't be checked or harried by opposing players because they are members of the Memorial Cup champions."

Oil Kings have reached the Memorial Cup final in each of the last four years—an unprecedented feat—and last year defeated Niagara Falls Flyers to win the title .This season they had won 20 and tied four in their first 30 games as regular members of the intermediate Central Alberta League, part-time members of the Saskatchewan junior circuit and in exhibition play.

The surprising thing about the two rule infractions, LeClerc says, is that players generally considered the "most gentlemanly" on the team were becoming the chief offenders.

LeClerc adds that the crackdown does not reflect on game officials. "Butt-ending and spearing are difficult to catch and some of our players are becoming quite adept."

Morton Unbeaten In 21

Scottish League Soccer

LONDON (Reuters)—Morton, Scottish second-division soccer leaders, brought their run of victories to 21 when they beat Ayr United 3-1 at Ayr in the Scottish Football League Wednesday.

Morton has won all 21 matches played, scoring 90 goals and allowing only 21.

Morton is six points ahead of its nearest rivals, Clyde, which won 4-2 away to Queens Park Wednesday.

The first-division struggle for championship honors was much closer with both Kilmarnock and Rangers winning. Kilmarnock won 3-1 at St. Mirren to hold their one point lead over Rangers at the top of the table.

Several hundred police were on duty for the Celtic-Rangers match which has a stormy history.

Police said it was one of the quietest games in years and only four supporters were arrested in the round. They were charged with a breach of the peace.

But immediately after the game police had to protect several busloads of Rangers fans.

Celtic are third in the first division — five points behind Rangers.

Other challengers are Dunfermline and Hearts, both on the same number of points as Celtic, but Dundee's championship hopes were practically finished when they fell 4-1 at home to Aberdeen.

Hayes Hopes to Do It In "Nine"

Equals 100 World Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Big Bob Hayes, allisted by a breeze of about 10 miles an hour, equaled his pending world record of 9.1 seconds for the 100-yard dash Wednesday.

Because of the wind, Hayes' performance won't be put up for official recognition. But the husky Florida A. and M. football player's time was sensational nevertheless, because he ran on a cinder track soggy from a two-day deluge.

The 100 was the big thrill for the crowd of 5,000 at the first annual Orange Bowl track and field meet.

Under international rules, a time cannot be considered for a record if the favoring wind exceeds 4.46 miles an hour.

Both Hayes, one of the outstanding favorites for the Olympic 100 and 200-metre dashes, and his coach was enthusiastic over the star's superb time so early in the season.

Later in the day the muscular Hayes surprised Dave Sime, the world's 220 - yard dash record holder who was watching, by approaching within one-tenth of a second on Sime's eight-year-old mark of 20 seconds flat on the same slow track.

Central Pro League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Omaha Knights, high atop the Central Professional Hockey League, ended 1963 in typical winning fashion but started off the new year with a 3-2 loss to St. Paul Rangers Wednesday.

Rangers' victory moved them into second place, eight points behind Omaha and one ahead of Minneapolis and St. Louis, both tied for third in the five-team league.

The Knights handed St. Louis a 4-3 defeat New Year's Eve in Omaha while Minneapolis Bruins were walloping last-place Cincinnati Wings 9-2 in Cincinnati.

The Rangers turned the holes on Omaha Wednesday as Howie Hughes fired the tie - breaking goal. Chick Balon had scored St. Paul's two earlier goals.

Komets Nip Bulldogs, Grab Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fort Wayne Komets left it to the last minute, but they wound up 1963 and started 1964 in first place in the International Hockey League.

The Komets took over first place by a single point Tuesday night with a 3-2 overtime victory on home ice over Windsor Bulldogs. Chatham Maroons beat Toledo 4-3 in Toledo to knock the Blades into second place.

The Komets boosted their cushion to three points Wednesday with a 5-2 victory over the Maroons in Chatham.

In other league action, Des Moines Oak Leafs whipped Muskegon Zephyrs 6-3 in Muskegon Tuesday and lost to 6-2 decision to Port Huron Flags in Port Huron Wednesday.

Norm Wasiowski and Bob Rivard each scored twice for Fort Wayne Wednesday while Bob Bailey added a single. Al Cleary scored both Chatham goals.

Merv. Dubchak scored after three minutes of overtime Tuesday to give the Komets their 3-2 win over Windsor. Lea Thornton and Reg Primeau supplied the other Komet goals after Windsor had taken a 2-0 lead to a pair of goals by Bob Brown.

Aces Clip Clippers, Bears Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec Aces, behind the brilliant netminding of former National Hockey Leaguer Lorne (Gump) Worsley, gained most ground in the New Year's Day shakeup in American Hockey League standings.

The Aces battled to a 2-1 victory over the Clippers in Baltimore to step into second place in the league's Eastern Division, one point behind Hershey Bears who managed a 3-2 win over Cleveland Barons in Hershey.

Meanwhile, the belligerent Pittsburgh Hornets regained sole possession of first place in the Western Division with a 4-3 overtime win over the Reds of Providence.

In the other game, the West's last - place Buffalo Bisons dumped the East's last - place Springfield Indians 5-1.

Going into New Year's Day action three teams were deadlocked for first place in the East, with Quebec one point behind. Two were tied for first place in the West.

MOVE AHEAD

The Quebec victory moved them a point ahead of Providence and Baltimore and tied in third place with 33 points.

Wayne Hicks and Terry Gray paced the Aces to the triumph. But it was Worsley who put in an outstanding performance as the Clippers outshot Quebec 34-19. Dave Creighton was the lone Clipper to beat the former Montreal Canadien goalie.

At Hershey, the Bears tallied two goals in the first period and then dug in to preserve the win, their first over Cleveland in six encounters this season.

Mike Nykoluk and Pete Conacher scored for the Bears 12 seconds apart in the first two minutes of the game. Keith McCreary counted the winner in the second period. Ray Kinasewich and Jim Mikol scored for Cleveland.

Yves Locas's goal at 5:25 of overtime gave the Hornets the triumph at Providence. He got support from Pete Goegan, Art Henderson and Ralph Keller. Stan Rahnik, Jim Bartlett and Ed MacQueen tallied for the Reds.

Buffalo Bisons were paced by two goals from Len Lunde and ended a four-game losing streak. Billy Dea, Barry Cullen and Larry Wilson contributed the other goals.

WIN TITLE

WINNIPEG (CP) — A stonewall rink skipped by Bill Bush captured the 1964 Manitoba schoolboy curling title Wednesday with a 6-4 victory in a sudden-death final. Bush, 18, will represent the province in the national high school curling final at Regina Feb. 17.

AL LBLACKS WIN

LLANELLY, Wales (Reuters) — The New Zealand Rugby Union All-Blacks, trailing 3-0 at half-time, recovered to beat Llanelly 22-3 here Tuesday. The New Zealanders won by two goals, one penalty goal and three tries, to one goal and one penalty goal.

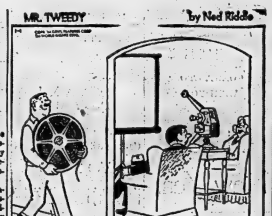
U.S. TEAM WINS

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—The U.S. Olympic ice hockey team concluded its American exhibition schedule Wednesday by defeating St. Nicholas Hockey Club of New York 6-3, and Princeton University 6-2. The Olympics played two 15-minute periods against each opponent.

PEAT GARBAGE BOWL

MONTREAL (CP) — Nearly 1,000 fans watched the 15th annual Garbage Bowl football exhibition New Year's Day, won by the North over the South 19-0 on Allan Schreiber's three touchdowns. The proceeds go to crippled children.

NEW YORK (AP) — Parade and football watching has become such a New Year's Day tradition that it is hard to remember what we did in pre-television days.



The Tournament of Roses parade on Wednesday was, as usual, an eye-filling spectacle, although I suspect those who saw it in black and white missed about 80 per cent of the fun. And even those snowbound viewers who didn't flip over the sight of a million flowers, elaborate floats and pretty girls could not help but be impressed at the sunny sight of all those people in shirtsleeves.

Both NBC and CBS did splendid jobs of covering the parade, NBC's Betty White has done the running commentary so many times she seems as at home in Pasadena as she is in her own kitchen.

After taping Belgium's singing sun, Soeur Sourire, doing her popular Dominique and other songs, Ed Sullivan asked the Dominican order's mother superior where he could send a cheque for the nuns' charity work.

"If it is possible, would you instead send a small jeep to our Dominican missionaries in Lubusburg," replied the nun. "Because of the torrential rains, a jeep with curtains would most preferred if this is not asking too much."

And, of course, it will be done.

"Don't worry—Eddie only has one reel."

SHARE PROFITS

VANCOUVER (CP) — At the risk of complaints from the rest of the Canadian Football League, British Columbia Lions have shared $31,000 of their profits with their players. Herb Capozzi, general manager of the club, said in a telephone interview from Kelowna that he knows this will meet with CFL opposition but Lions intend to defend it all the way. The provincial league, which has four privately-owned and five public-owned clubs, bars incentive bonuses.

Campaigns for Oscars Now Beginning to Roll

By BOB THOMAS

AT THE BELLE — Troy Donahue heads the college basketball team which trains at Palm Springs for a period of fun and romance in "Palm Springs Weekend," Warner Bros. comedy in Technicolor, playing today on an extended run engagement at the Belle Theatre. Connie Stevens, Ty Hardin, Robert Conrad and Barbara Rhoades are co-starred.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Academy Awards won't be handed out until April 13, but already the races for acting support and direction seem lively affairs.

Best pictures—at this point it appears to be between the flamboyant Tom Jones and the dramatic America, America. If highness counts—and it sometimes does —, then there will be chances for such epics as Cleopatra, The Great Escape, The Cardinal and How The West Was Won.

Looming large artistically are Lilies of the Field, Hud and Love with a Proper Stranger, or, if comedy is considered, Charade and Thrill of It All.

And there is talk of giving Cary Grant (Charade) his long deserved nomination. He has had only one nomination, no awards.

Also possible: Elizabeth Taylor in Cleopatra.

Best supporting actor—Past winner Hugh Griffith (Ben Hur) is the leader for the rollicking squire in Tom Jones. Others being mentioned: Melvyn Douglas, Hud; Tom Bosley and Herschel Bernardi, Proper Stranger; Walter Brennan, How The West Was Won; Eddie Albert and Bobby Darin, Capt. Newman, M.D.; Lee Cobb, Come Blow Your Horn; Edgar Buchanan, Move Over, Darling; John Huston, The Cardinal.

DELAY PARADE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The annual New Year's Day Mummers Parade, threatened with demonstrations by civil rights groups protesting planned blackface comic participants, was postponed Wednesday until Saturday because of threatening weather. Some 1,50 policemen had been braced for possible violence if the parade went on. The postponement gave officials additional time to workout some solution.

Alberta Initiates Program To Safeguard Milk Supplies From Radioactive Fallout

By ALLEN SACKMANN

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta government has initiated a program to safeguard the province's milk supplies from radioactive fallout.

Milk tests will be run when there is evidence or rising amounts of fallout, D. H. McCallum, provincial dairy commissioner, has announced. Monthly federal government tests carried out in the rest of Canada—will continue.

Although Alberta is the first province to introduce its own program, Mr. McCallum said, "other provinces are beginning to think—it will have to be a part of provincial activity."

Alberta will employ equipment worth $3,000 to check levels of iodine 131 and cesium 137. It is not sensitive enough to test for strontium 89 or 90, Mr. McCallum said.

Iodine 131 is thought to affect the thyroid in children and perhaps lead to cancer in later life. Cesium 137 is considered dangerous, in large quantities, to the human reproductive system.

Both have a relatively short life. Iodine 131, for example, is reduced by 50 per cent in quantity every eight days.

With the equipment, which will be operated by the agriculture department in consultation with other government departments, milk can be kept on the amount in various milk-producing areas.

SHIFT SUPPLIES

Mr. McCallum said that if the level is high in one area, fluid milk from another could be brought in during the danger period.

Contaminated milk could be separated since the fallout mainly would remain in the skim milk. The skim milk could be reconstituted after the danger period is past.

Strontium, which deposits itself in bones and is possibly related to bone cancer, has a much longer life and the danger cannot be as readily removed. Cows, however, absorb about 80 per cent of strontium which reduces its effects, Mr. McCallum said.

Levels of iodine 131 and cesium 137 at present "do not amount to anything" but resumption of nuclear testing could shoot the level upward, Mr. McCallum said.

The Alberta program was initiated, at least in part, because of pressure by organizations fearful of the harmful effects of fallout. Some groups suggested warning the public about the dangers of drinking milk.

"Scare propaganda would be more dangerous than drinking milk because of important health qualities in it."

Mr. McCallum said an adequate testing program should provide these groups with assurance that Alberta residents will be protected.

Astrological Forecast

For January 3

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Emphasis on service, patience and your flair for originality. Don't be afraid to change your mind. Discover short-cut methods. Your "sharpness" appreciated. You can now make new friends.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Social gathering can result in constructive decision. Applies especially if fellow workers are involved. Be diplomatic. But also be firm in expressing thoughts, opinions, wishes.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Don't become "upset" over minor matters. Home conditions due to change. Go with the tide — don't try to stem progress. Heed desires of loved ones. Be gallant, charming!

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Follow through on your ideas. Make the most of new opportunities. Time which finds higher-ups observing and listening. Travel plans may be changed. Be ready for surprises.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): A feeling of uncertainty is not to be "fought." You can gain now by being dissatisfied. Key is wanting improvement. Experiment. Advances through communications, travel indicated.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): More on "your side" than you might imagine. Act according-ly! Be confident. Stress greater independence of thought, action. Highlights originality. Assert yourself! Lead rather than follow.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Avoid feeling of "let-down." It's perfectly natural for you to seek improvement. If results are not immediately forthcoming, hang on. Cycle is moving higher. Be optimistic.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Fine chance to win friends. You may be "shocked" by activities, statements of some associates. But don't pass judgment hastily! Practical joke may be involved.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Go forward with plans, ideas. Break from tradition. Highlight originality, willingness to "go with" your fine talents. Means stress, vitality — young ideas.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Be perceptive. Find out the why of things. Good ideas aspect. Highlights higher education, learning, gain from reading. Check features in paper. Consult experts.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Get money's worth! Check expenditures. Find out why some promises have not been fulfilled. Be specific. Respect yourself — others will follow your example. Be first!

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Sense of humor your greatest ally. Turn on charm. Don't become involved in public disputes. Expect surprises in connection with outings, entertainments, social gatherings.

If today is your birthday... you are happiest when entertaining others. Often you feel guilty when others entertain you. Try to strike a balance!

Sale of Wheat to Russia Ends Fears of Surplus, Trim Plantings Next Spring

By ARCH MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP)—Wheat combatted the farm scene in 1963, earning some $800,000,000 or more in exports while a record 723,000,000-bushel harvest guaranteed that the golden flow will continue in 1964.

An unprecedented and sudden $500,000,000 sale to the Soviet Union—with deliveries stretching to next July 31—swiftly submerged fears of a new surplus situation and ended warnings to trim plantings next spring.

Grain, livestock, dairy and other revenue produced a record estimated cash income figure of $5,200,000,000 compared with the record $3,981,000,000 last year. But farm-operating costs continued to rise, and net 1963 income was only a shade higher than a year ago, at an estimated $1,700,000,000.

Sharing the spotlight with the Russian purchase was renewal of the long-term wheat agreement with Red China, covering a maximum 186,700,000 bushels over three years.

FUTURE BRIGHT

For the first time, similar but smaller agreements were signed with Poland, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia, also pinched by crop reverses. But Britain, Japan and West Germany continued to loom large as regular grain customers.

Wheat was credited with spacing a rising economy heading into 1964, and its impact boosted sales of autos, trucks, farm machinery and other durable goods. Heavy shipments are forecast lasting at least until next July 31.

Exports for the calendar year 1963—as opposed to the crop year expiring each July 31—might exceed 400,000,000 bushels. For October alone the shipments were a record 58,000,000 bushels for a 10-month total of some 330,000,000 bushels.

There were other key farm developments in 1963.

Calgary rancher Harry Hays became Liberal agriculture minister in May, succeeding Alvin Hamilton who had helped the Conservatives retain a grip on the Prairies in the April 8 election.

PLAN NEW MINISTRY

Legislation to create separate eastern and western agriculture ministries lagged in Parliament. Eastern nominee Rene Tremblay remained minister without portfolio.

The government moved to unload its butter surplus of more than 200,000,000 pounds at cut-rate export prices while dairy supply shifted into closer balance with demand.

One prospect for 1964: Some reduction in federal dairy subsidies which in the case of butter run about $40,000,000 annually.

The federal government implemented an Eastern Canada feed grains program, providing assistance for over-the-winter storage of Western supplies to help cut costs. It also extended freight-rate assistance in an effort to deal with Eastern complaints.

H. H. Hannam, the Ontario dairy farmer who had headed the Canadian Federation of Agriculture since its formation as agriculture's main voice, died and was succeeded by James Bentley, an Alberta farmer.

BEEF PRICES OFF

The beef industry, which had been one of the brightest spots in farming, saw prices ease somewhat while exports of feeders to the United States declined. Canadian demand still absorbed higher domestic slaughterings without any sharp price break.

The Farm Credit Corporation, federal farm loans agency, estimates 1963 business of between $110,000,000 and $120,000,000 compared with $91,000,000 in 1962. Quebec led the list in increased borrowings.

The Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act program, in its first full year, reported undertaking 240 cost-sharing projects.

On a regional basis, 1963 farm production showed good to excellent grain yields on the Prairies except for Manitoba and northern Alberta. Commercial production was up for most fruits despite weather damage in Ontario and British Columbia.

Vegetable acreage was down and weather also was a factor. But sugar beet acreage was higher, at least in part due to climbing sugar prices. The tobacco industry, centred in Ontario, had problems selling the 1962 crop.

Poultry production increased sharply late in the year with indication of a price break, perhaps affecting consumption of other meats.

Feuding Factions In Cyprus Will Hold Conference

Effort Will Be Made To End the Bloodshed

CP from AP-Reuters

NICOSIA, Cyprus — Feuding Greek and Turkish Cypriots will join in a conference with Britain, Greece and Turkey in London late this month in an effort to end the bloodshed on Cyprus and preserve the island republic.

Archbishop Makarios, Greek-Cypriot president of Cyprus, and Dr. Fazil Kutchuk, Turkish-Cypriot vice — president, agreed Thursday to send representatives. Their decisions came after a day of intensive diplomatic activity by Britain's on-the-spot mediator, Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Sandys.

Sandys flew to London for a personal report to Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home and the British cabinet.

"There will be problems and things may go wrong," Sandys told reporters in London, "but I think the situation is under control."

"I do believe that out of all this trouble and death, people are coming to the conclusion that the two communities have just got to live together and that people will make a real effort."

EXPECTS MORE FIGHTING

But he warned of the possibility of more fighting, saying "there is a large number of irregulars who are not controlled by any of the people who will be sitting around the table.

British High Commissioner Sir Arthur Clark said here the conference was expected to begin in the third week of January.

After the opening session, a committee of Greek- and Turkish-Cypriot representatives will be formed to work with a British chairman on proposals for revising the Cypriot constitution and the ties linking Britain, Greece and Turkey to the Mediterranean island.

Acceptance of the British proposal for a peace conference came 12 days after the outbreak of renewed fighting between Greek- and Turkish - Cypriots, who long have regarded each other with enmity. The agreement came after urgent pleas for a request earlier Thursday by the Makarios government for a meeting of the United Nations Security Council.

Greece and Turkey agreed informally to a peace conference several days ago. Both are bound with Britain in treaty pledges to protect the independ-

Castro Says Johnson Responsible

By DANIEL HARKER

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro charged Thursday that President Johnson is responsible for a Christmas Eve explosion that damaged a Soviet-built torpedo boat and killed several Cuban crew members in waters off the Isle of Pines.

Blasts at the United States laced a two-hour and 17-minute speech by the bearded premier in a celebration of the fifth anniversary of his revolutionary triumph over dictator Fulgencio Batista.

(A Cuban anti-Castro group called Commando Manbisa proclaimed responsibility through a spokesman in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, a few hours after the attack. The spokesman said the raiders, reported to have headquarters in Central America, suffered no casualties.)

Castro declared the U.S. Peace Corps and the Alliance for Progress are doomed to failure while "the Cuban revolution progresses by leaps."

NEEDED HELP

Castro said "we alone could not have resisted imperialism . . . the blockades, the aggressions, the economic strangulation," but boasted of Cuba's present military equipment.

With those arms, he said, "we . . . can fight against the best and best-equipped forces of the imperialist army of the United States."

Castro declared Cuba's economic situation is improving extraordinarily and reaffirmed that the island will more than double its annual sugar production to produce 10,000,000 tons by 1970.

A military parade and Castro's speech drew thousands to the Plaza de la Revolucion on a cloudy and relatively cool 60-degree weather.

Female Chimp Helps Employee To Subdue Angry Male Cagemate

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A female chimpanzee helped a Denver zoo employee to subdue her angry male cage-mate who broke in Thursday and charged a group of women and children.

He had raised Christie in his home.

"If it hadn't been for her, I'd look a lot worse than I do," he said.

Smith's cage-mate, Bimbo, a seven-year-old chimpanzee, smashed a padlock against a steel post and got out the door while Smith was cleaning the enclosure. The chimp, weighing 150 pounds and stronger than a human, pound for pound, headed for the small group outside.

"He was mad at them for something," Smith said.

The keeper wrestled with the ape, waving the metal back with one hand. Christie also came out the door.

"As soon as I tackled him, she tackled him," Smith said. "She started chewing on his back end and he had to turn away from me to get at her."

5 Shots Fired At Nkrumah

CP- from AP-Reuters

ACCRA, Ghana — President Kwame Nkrumah escaped a fifth attempt on his life when a gunman fired five shots at close range as Ghana's leader was walking to his car Thursday.

Nkrumah was not hurt but a security guard was fatally wounded. The Ghana government said the gunman was arrested immediately but did not identify him.

The unsuccessful attempts on his life have taken 16 lives including the security guard but Nkrumah, who dreams of being the leader of black Africa some day, survives unhurried.

The government said the latest shooting occurred as the 54-year-old Nkrumah was leaving his heavily - guarded official residence, Flagstaff House.

The brief announcement did not explain how the assassin gained access to the walled grounds of Flagstaff House or eluded the constant patrol of bodyguards, most of them from the president's Nzima tribe.

The pro - government Ghanaian Times said Nkrumah helped to overpower the gunman who attempted to kill him and published a photograph of the president and a policeman pinning the alleged assailant to the ground.

Messages expressing shock and horror over the attempt poured into Accra, with chiefs of various organizations congratulating Nkrumah on his "miraculous escape" and reiterating their "unfailing support."

First hint of the latest attempt to kill Nkrumah came in mid-afternoon when police suddenly massed around the presidential residence at Flagstaff House, Nkrumah's official home in a 200-year-old castle about two miles away.

GIVES FLASH

News of the shooting spread quickly. Ghana radio "interrupted a program to broadcast a flash giving the first details. This was followed by an official announcement.

The official statement said: "An unsuccessful attempt was made on the life of the president . . .

Communists Spring Trap On S. Vietnamese Rangers

BEN SUC, South Viet Nam (AP) — A battalion of South Vietnamese Rangers waded through brush and grass for a surprise assault on a heavy concentration of Communist guerrillas.

As the Rangers crossed the Saigon River, 30 miles northwest of the capital, they encountered only small arms' fire. It looked to be a sure government victory over the Viet Cong.

Instead the Communists sprung a trap, and for six hours threatened the Rangers with annihilation. Four Rangers were killed, 17 were wounded, including a U.S. sergeant, and 30 still have not made it back to camp.

Only the Rangers' superb fighting ability and training in the same tactics used by the Viet Cong averted a disaster, U.S. military advisers said after the action on New Year's Eve.

Target of the surprise attack was a Viet Cong battalion in Binh Duong province.

The Rangers crossed the Saigon River without incident. When the Communists put up heavier resistance, the Rangers counter - attacked, forcing the guerrillas back and swarming over their foxholes and entrenchments.

But the retreat obviously was meant to draw in the advancing Rangers. From dug-in positions the guerrillas opened a barrage of fire on the Rangers, who were outnumbered two to one.

"We were looking at them across the trench lines just an eyeball away," a U.S. adviser said.

In a classic manoeuvre, the Rangers tried to encircle the Viet Cong but lacked enough men. It was during this operation that most of the casualties occurred.

As the Rangers retreated, a dozen mortars opened fire from across the river. And the Communists had taken over the foxholes and trenches between the Rangers and the river.

Stalled by mortar and recoilless rifle fire, the Ranger battalion appeared doomed.

"We can't raise our heads," a U.S. adviser radioed back to his base. "We need support."

U.S. advisers at the base camp urged the Vietnamese commanders to speed reinforcements, but none came.

Still the unit fought on, moving back from trench to trench. When they finally reached the river, they were bombarded for three more hours.

Passengers Did Not Want To Leave Ship Says Owner

LONDON (AP) — The situation was so calm while fire raged aboard the Christmas cruise liner Lakonia that some passengers sat down to dinner before abandoning ship, the London head of the Greek Line said Thursday.

"There were a number of passengers . . . who did not want to leave the ship. They felt the situation was under control on board. There was absolutely, from what they tell us, no sense of immediate urgency among them to leave the ship. I understand that they sat down in the Caldwell Lounge and tea was served."

Goulandris, who spoke slowly under obvious tension, strongly denied reports that there had been plundering of passengers' cabins by the crew while the Lakonia burned.

"We have not had a specific charge from anyone about looting," he said. "This, of course, is very grave allegation and the inquiry at Piraeus (the port of Athens) will certainly go into it."

Goulandris, in a dark suit and wearing a black mourning tie, spoke with obvious emotion of the 128 dead or missing among the Lakonia's total of 1,033 people aboard.

"I know that nothing we can say will compensate for their loss," he said, "but we feel very, very deeply for them."

Asked whether he had any idea why fire spread so rapidly, Goulandris thought for a moment and answered:

"If you had asked me that two days before it happened, I would have said it was impossible."

He said he could understand a ship which was undergoing repairs with a skeleton crew aboard, but it seems incon-

Pope Ready For Trip

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul came today to the even of his history-making pilgrimage to the holy land.

Throughout the Vatican, last-minute details of the papal trip were being attended to.

At Rome's Fiumcino Airport, the new four-engined DC-8 that will carry the Pope to Amman, Jordan, Saturday was ready for its final test flight.

The Jordanians hung the ancient walls of Jerusalem's old city with flags. Jordan's government called out a fourth of its security forces, including two brigades of desert troops, to patrol the papal routes.

In the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, cycle-and-wide Vatican flags were mingled along main streets with Israel's blue-and-white Star of David flag. Police Minister Bechor Shitrit toured the Pope's itinerary in Israel inspecting security and traffic arrangements.

SWAP WORDS

The Pope's two holy land hosts swapped critical words in connection with the pilgrimage. King Hussein of Jordan was asked at a press conference if he would accept papal mediation between Jordan and Israel if the Pope offered it. The king said the question had not arisen, but the Israelis must "correct the wrongs they've committed."

In the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, Foreign Minister Golda Meir accused the king of trying to exploit the Pope's visit for "purposes of political propaganda." But both Hussein and Mrs. Meir emphasized the Pope's avowal that his pilgrimage was entirely of a religious nature.

It will be the first papal trip to the holy land, the first papal plane ride, the first papal trip outside Italy in 150 years and possibly the longest papal journey in history.

The trip also will bring about the first meeting of a pope and a patriarch of the Orthodox Church since 1438. In Jerusalem Pope Paul will meet Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul), spiritual leader of the 150,000,000 orthodox.

World Leaders Receive Notes Proposing Pact

International Treaty Would Have 4 Points

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government has put to the nations of the world a proposal to sign an international agreement renouncing the use of force in settling territorial and frontier issues.

A Tass digest of the message said Premier Khrushchev told world leaders in messages delivered Thursday:

"At the present time such a situation has arisen when it is possible practically to pose and solve the problem of excluding from international life the use of force in territorial disputes between states."

The message says the international agreement should contain four main provisions:

1. A solemn undertaking by the parties not to resort to force to alter existing state frontiers.

2. Acknowledgement that the territories of states should not, even temporarily, be the object of any invasion, attack, military occupation or any other forcible measure directly or indirectly undertaken by other states for whatever political, economic, strategic, frontier, or any other considerations.

3. A firm statement to the effect that neither differences in social and state systems, nor refusal to grant recognition or absence of diplomatic relations or any other pretexts may serve as a basis for the violation by one state of the territorial integrity of another;

4. A commitment to solve all territorial disputes solely by peaceful means such as negotiations, mediation, conciliatory procedures, and also other peaceful means chosen by the parties concerned, in conformity

Guessing Title For Thomson

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—Lord Thomson of North Bay, Toronto or North Bridge?

These were among the guesses Saturday as speculation swirled about the newly-coroneted head of publisher Roy Thomson, the latest addition to the ranks of Britain's peers.

Another Canadian-born press lord, Lord Beaverbrook, picked up his handle from the New Brunswick community of Beaver Brook. The former Max Aitken was created a baron in 1917.

Thomson was elevated to the peerage in the New Year's honors list. He said a reporter he was not at all sure that Thomson would be part of the new name, which must be approved by Britain's College of Heralds.

"In any event, I feel I have to consult my son Ken about the title. After all, he's going to have to live with it for a long time."

The 69-year-old publisher, who has said with customary frankness that he has had his eyes on the peerage a long time, seems keenly aware of dramatic matters as he talks of his new honor.

A standard reply to questions is that "I'll have to talk to Ken about that." He declines particularly to questions about his citizenship. Canadian governments have tended to frown upon Canadian citizens receiving titles and decorations.

REFERS TO CROWN

"His motives are dynastic," comments The Final Times, pinching at one point about Thomson's tendency to bring his son into all considerations arising from his career.

The meaning and origin of the word baron are said by Debrett's peerage to be shrouded in obscurity. It has been supposed to have meant a hired soldier, a free man or a man equal to any other man.

In baron's coronation robes have only two rows of ermine. Barons were merely a plain circle of gold until created a coronet in the reign of King Charles II. The coronet is formed of six silver balls set equal distances apart on a silver-gilt circlet bordered with ermine.

59-Year-Old Woman Clubbed To Ground

OSHAWA (CP) — A 15 - year-old boy was charged with assault with intent to rob Thursday after a 59-year-old woman was clubbed to the ground New Year's Day.

The woman, Mrs. Jessie Pratt, clung to her purse as she fell, then struggled to her feet, leaving a broken hockey stick behind. She was admitted to hospital with head wounds and extensive loss of blood. Her condition is satisfactory.

Mrs. Pratt told police she was returning from a store when she heard running footsteps approaching from behind. Then she was struck down.

U.S. Expects to Finally Exceed Red Mark for Heavy Spacecraft

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States hopes of passing the Soviet Union this month in weight of spacecraft sent into orbit were viewed with confidence Thursday by the deputy chief of the U.S. space agency.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden noted that over five years of gaining proficiency, the U.S. finally will show its space muscle by launching the first complete Saturn rocket this month.

The Saturn satellite will weigh 80,000 pounds, compared with 14,292 pounds each for the two heaviest spacecraft the Russians have announced putting into orbit — Sputniks VII and VIII in February, 1961.

Heaviest U.S. satellite to date is the 10,200 - pound Centaur, launched last Nov. 27.

tion, was asked how the United States compares with Russia in space achievement.

"At the moment we're drawing very close," Dryden replied.

He went on to say that as soon as the Saturn satellite has been placed in orbit "we will have reduced this deficiency in weight carrying ability we've labored under so long."

"In the future we'll be at least comparable with some things the Russians are doing," Dryden said.

"We're ahead in space science, we think.

"I think the Russians have a great respect for our program."

The Russians have proved the weights of their cosmonaut-carrying Vostok satellites as between 10,400 and 10,416 pounds. U.S. Mercury manned satellites weighed little more than one ton each.

Building Permit Total Down Little From Last Year

Close to five million dollars in construction, including 220 single family dwelling units with a collective value of $2,407,200, was chalked up in Belleville in 1963.

Building Inspector Grant Stickle reported today that the 1963 building permit total was $4,792,411, as compared with $5,079,774 in 1962.

In addition to the new residential construction there was $625,650 worth of new commercial building, and $263,335 for repairs and additions; over $337,000 in new industrial construction and additions, and just over a million dollars in institutional construction.

Among the larger building projects for the year were the Goodman's Motel on North Front Street, the new Elliott Motors building, also on North Front Street, the Smith Transport building, apartment house projects, the new Belleville Public Library, and the new technical school project at the Ontario School for the Deaf, which is just now being completed.

Open House Will Be Held At Quinte

Back at work next week, Quinte Secondary School is starting the New Year with two new events.

The January 8th and 15th open house will be held for parents and teachers to convene and discuss mutual problems and ideas.

The first event will host parents of Grades 9-10 students and the second will take care of the remaining grades.

The basic idea behind both events is explained by one teacher this way:

"Too often today do the teacher and the whole school system receive a beating from people who are unaware of the inner mysteries of school life, and who fail to realize that education is a three-way process involving equally teacher, student and parent. Too often does the teacher-parent relationship degenerating some proud parent on the miracle of her child's achievement, is often absent in the parent of the problem-child. And, while full attendance is obviously impossible, it would be both healthy and beneficial if all parents received to make Open House a Full House. Here, not by the comfort of a television set, is the place to grumble and to praise, and the time to recognize the child as, fully, the parent's responsibility.

"These two Mondays at Quinte are intended to benefit parent, teacher — and student. In the past, the last have been clear, but too few have shared it — and it is the parents alone who determine the success of such evenings."

Six Directors Named on Final C of C Ballot

At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce the scrutineers' report made by N .B. Keith, chairman, containing the results of the second final ballot noted the following persons elected to the Board of Directors of the Belleville and District Chamber of Commerce for a two-year-term of office:

D. C. Boyd, vice-president and general manager, Eastern Belleville Lock Division, International Harbour Company of Canada Limited;

F. B. Deacon, president, Deacon Brothers Sportswear Limited;

E. Kneisel, vice-president and director of sales, Hoist Quintex;

A. McLean Haig, president and general manager, Morse-Schuster Limited;

N. Moore, manager, The Royal Bank of Canada, Belleville Branch;

G. A. Wishart, vice-president, Manufacturers Mead Johnson of Canada Limited.

This meeting also saw the appointment of C. G. Chisholm, plant manager, Deloro Stellite as the Board for a further two-year term.

J. B. Corke stated that the speaker for the annual meeting of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce to be held on Thursday, January 30th, would be the Honorable Michael Starr, M.P., Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The next meeting of the Board of Directors will be held Tuesday, January 14th, 1964, at which time the directors will elect the new executive in 1964.

EXPORTS INCREASE

LONDON (Reuters) — Trade Minister Heath said today that British exports in 1963 probably would increase by seven per cent over 1962. He described 1963 as a "notable" because for the first time exports will exceed £4,000,000,000 ($12,000,000,000) in a year. Britain's exports to Canada during the first 10 months of 1963 were valued at £141,140,000 ($423,420,000) compared with £161,277,000 (about $485,631,000) during the first 10 months of 1962.

City Council Inaugural Meet Next Monday

Members of the 1964 Belleville City Council will formally take office next Monday, January 6th, when the inaugural meeting will be held at city hall.

The meeting will see Mayor-Elect Jack Ellis take over the reins of office from Mayor A. M. Haig, who officially remains in office until the inaugural meeting.

The Belleville Public Utilities Commission will also hold its inaugural meeting next week —on January 9th. The commission this year will see two new members, Mayor Jack Ellis and former mayor Gerald Hyde, who was elected commissioner at the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ross Weese, who had served many years on the commission.

The Belleville Public School Board will hold its inaugural session on January 7th, and the Bay of Quinte District High School Board will hold its first meeting of the year on January 14th.

Hastings County Council will not hold its inaugural session until January 21st when Warden Charles Wills will hand over council leadership to a successor still to be appointed.

Naming of the new warden will be the first business on the agenda at the January meeting.

11,000 DIE IN FIRES

BOSTON (AP) — Fire killed approximately 11,000 persons in the United States in 1963, the National Fire Protection Association, a non-profit educational organization, reported Friday. It said another 1,000,000 persons suffered severe burns in fires. Value of property destroyed by fire during the year reached an all-time high of $1,760,000,000.

Unemployment Insurance Queries and Answers

(Supplied by the Unemployment Insurance Commission)

In this column are published questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

If uncertain about any point, do not hesitate to send your question. An answer will be obtained and published in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest:

Q.—On September 15 my son and I started hauling wood for another man at $7 a day, using our own horse. We have two miles to walk before we reach the place where we're working, and we have to provide our own board. Can we leave this employment without being disqualified for six weeks? We have enough stamps to qualify for unemployment insurance benefit.

A.—It is not uncommon for workers to walk a distance of two miles daily to and from work, particularly in rural areas. Such distance is generally not justified under the Act in leaving their employment for this reason and, therefore, subject to disqualification from the receipt of benefit for a period of not exceeding six weeks.

Q.—I will have to hire a girl as a cook and baby sitter. Do I have to give her unemployment insurance stamps? What value of stamps will I have to use if I pay her $50 a month?

A. Persons employed in domestic service in private homes are not insurable under the Act. No contributions are, therefore, payable on behalf of this person who is employed as a cook and baby sitter in a private home.

Q. Can a man who is receiving fishing benefits cut wood to build a house?

A. Normally circumstances are such that the claimant may postpone cutting wood for the construction of his house in order to accept employment, he may be considered unemployed and available for work.

Q. Can I qualify for unemployment insurance benefits, having 26 weeks' contributions instead of the 30 required, seeing that I live in a town where in Massena, N.Y., and have contributed to the New York State unemployment insurance scheme?

A. The thirty contributions in question must have been made under the Canadian Unemployment Insurance Act, in the life time of the claimant preceding your claim. Contributions made under the New York State unemployment insurance scheme do not count for this purpose. However, the time you were employed in Massena can entitle you to an extension of the period of 104 weeks. Thus, if you produce evidence that you were employed six weeks in Massena, you can go back to 110 weeks prior to your claim to reach the thirty contributions required.

Q. Last year I had used up all my benefits by the end of January. This year since then I had 3 paid contributions which is less. How much can I get in seasonal benefits during the coming winter?

A. You have acquired at least 15 contributions since March 34, 1963 and can, therefore, establish a claim to seasonal benefit this winter. The duration of your entitlement will be determined on the basis of five weeks of benefit for every six weeks of contributions with a maximum of 42 since March 24, 1963. The rate of benefit which may then be paid to you will be based on the average of the contributions you have acquired since that same date.

Q. I worked seven weeks trapping lobster and 17 weeks on the fishing boat and I have 24 contributions. Am I entitled to regular benefits?

A. If the 24 contributions to which you refer are the only contributions you have to your credit, you would not be able to qualify for regular benefit. If, however, the 24 contributions have been earned since March 24, 1963, you would have sufficient contributions to qualify for seasonal benefit.

Q. Is a false statement made for the purpose of obtaining insurance benefits a criminal offence?

A. False statements, if made in good faith due to an excusable misunderstanding or misinterpretation, are not offences under the Unemployment Insurance Act. However, if it is proved that a claimant made a statement that he knew to be false, then an offence has been committed and prosecution may be considered. An offence under the Unemployment Insurance Act or Regulations is recognized as a criminal offence.

Q. Some time ago I was prosecuted by the Unemployment Insurance Commission for six offences in failing to report earnings while drawing benefit. I was fined $150 and a similar amount in costs. A few days ago I read of a similar case involving ten offences, but a fine of only $100 was imposed. Is this fair? Is the fine imposed by magistrates are the sole responsibility of the courts. It is a matter for a court to determine a sentence after considering all the circumstances.

OTTAWA (CP) — Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, chairman of the chiefs of staff committee, has been given a pay increase of $5,000 a year to $25,000, State Secretary Pickersgill announced today.

Given an increase of $3,000 a year to $23,000 were Vice-Admiral Herbert Rayner, chief of naval staff; Lt.-Gen. Geoffrey Walsh, chief of the general staff; Air Marshall Larry Dunlop, chief of air staff, and Air Marshal Roy Slemon, deputy commander of North American Air Defence Command.

The last pay increases for the chiefs and Air Marshal Slemon were May 31, 1961. The latest increases are effective Dec. 1, 1963.

BAN STENCH BOMBS

OTTAWA (CP) — Sale of stench bombs will be prohibited under an amendment to the City of Ottawa anti - noise and public nuisance by-law, board of control said Thursday. The step is being taken mainly because the stench could be mixed with smoke when a bomb was detonated in a public place such as a theatre. Stench bombs are available in joke shops. They are in the form of a small vial filled with a liquid. When the top of the vial is removed the bombs emit a cloud of foul-smelling smoke.

Salary Hike Of $20,000 For CBC Head

OTTAWA (CP)—State Secretary Pickersgill said today that the salary of the president of Radio Canada Ouimet has been increased to $40,000 a year from $20,000, effective Dec. 1.

Mr. Pickersgill said that, in doubling the salary, the government was following the pattern of increase recommended by the CBC Board of Directors.

Mr. Ouimet's salary was increased to $25,000 from $16,000 a year.

Mr. Dunton, who reports to Parliament for broadcasting, was second-in-command to former CBC chairman Davidson Dunton, now president of Carleton University in Ottawa.

It should have been reviewed in that way for the same reason, that was forgotten by the previous government," Mr. Pickersgill said in the House.

The board of directors recommended at its last meeting with Mr. Ouimet on Nov. 30 that he present that the president should receive $50,000 and the senior vice-president $35,000.

Mr. Pickersgill said he wanted to point out that all but $5,000 of the $40,000 went to the pointees of the former Progressive Conservative government.

"I am sure Mr. Ouimet's salary is a lot less than the salaries paid in private industry."

LONDON (CP) — George Drew, Canada's retiring high commissioner in London, was named honorary president of the Royal Lifesaving Society at a meeting of the society's Commonwealth council in Canada House.

Selling Sweep Tickets Cost $300

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — A Toronto man known only as Mr. Gowdy is testifying in the trial of sweepstakes racket, Richard Gooch, 33, of St. Catharines told court Thursday he was fined $300 for selling sweepstake tickets.

Later in an interview, Inspector Herbert Thurston, morality squad chief for Toronto, said he could not recall any Mr. Davis with a sweepstake racket.

Gooch and a Mr. Davis was operating the sale and sending agents to the Niagara Peninsula to make deliveries to ticket salesmen.

Inspector Thurston said when distributors are arrested and convicted sweepstake operators "find new sources and new agents to continue the racket."

Recently about 40 persons were convicted in a London sweepstake ticket distributing racket then existed between Toronto and Sarnia, London Police Chief Colin Campbell said Thursday in an interview.

The London police chief said the London racket was working out of Sarnia.

Inspector Thurston offered no comment on the "Mr. Gowdy" case "as the man's going to be a dry area mighty shortly."

Chief Campbell said when the distributors were arrested 2,000 to 3,000 records and ledgers fell into the hands of police.

Say Goldwater To Enter Race For Presidency

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Senator Barry Goldwater, who once called himself a conservative across the United States — will announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination today, a source close to the Arizona legislator said.

At the same time, the Goldwater campaign headquarters here will announce plans to file for his third Senate term. He was elected to the Senate first in 1952.

Goldwater will make his twin declarations at a private meeting with state Republican leaders and a press conference at his hillside home overlooking Phoenix.

The senator was said to feel he must broaden the base of his idential race because of the groundswell of support and the hundreds of telegrams and messages dollars raised by his conservative followers.

But Barry senator said Goldwater plans to hang on to the .nsurance of another Senate bid. ring Goldwater's withdraw from the senatorial field.

Say Kickbacks Being Asked By Suppliers

TORONTO (CP) — The chairman of the Ontario Food Council said Thursday he will seek talks with food processing outlets about complaints that kickbacks are asked of suppliers.

D. E. Williams, chairman of the body organized by the Ontario government last March, first mentioned the complaints in a speech to members of the Ontario Food Processors Association Dec. 9.

He said he had heard that some growers and suppliers had been told to contribute to store Hiring programs or other promotional devices or they would be cut off as suppliers.

He said council has has received further complaints since his speech.

He hopes to arrange talks with presidents of various food chain stores operating in the province.

Johnson and Khrushchev Slowly Moving Into New Era

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Johnson and Soviet Premier Khrushchev are slowly and cautiously moving into an era of friendly competition in the pursuit of peace, presenting a somewhat optimistic augury for further dismantling of the cold war during 1964.

While U.S. authorities are not sure at this stage where the peace path will lead, they indicate there now is "active movement" in discussions between the two governments on new possibilities and developments. They say there is even a communion of action along lines of what Khrushchev describes as "mutual examples" to bring the arms race under tighter control.

The exchange of New Year's messages between the two leaders was more than an expression of cordiality; it was an expression of anxiety and hope to build a permanent barrier against nuclear war and a will to take unilateral steps, if necessary, to show good intentions by example.

Both sides have given indications of reducing arms spending and of tightening the inventory on military manpower and bases without formal bargaining or agreements on how the cuts are to be made or the reasons for reductions. The U.S. complains that only the West can look at Soviet books, the world at large is not sure whether the Soviet ones are real.

Yet there is less demand from the U.S. these days for international inspection on every disarmament move. There is even a hint in high places that previous U.S. positions may be reassessed if Russia is prepared to reassess it own.

High authorities profess they have years of knowing what goes on behind the Iron Curtain. They are convinced they have a good idea of the size of the Soviet military force and therefore can judge in a general way whether reductions take place. Accompanying this is increasing confidence in U.S. intelligence that a return to cold war Khrushchev sincerely desires a detente.

Others also appears to be some apprehension that the U.S. may be considered in the eyes of the world as helping behind Russia in demonstrating a quest for peace.

There appears to be a form of competition in the making between Khrushchev and Johnson as to which can be described by the world as the more active protector of peace.

There is confidence in American quarters that new steps will be taken — perhaps even the beginning of major steps such as the final solution by Russia and East German interim issue—that can strengthen the prospects for a permanent peace.

While at this stage there is no indication that a summit meeting will take place this year, U.S. authorities emphasize that Johnson would agree to meet if there is evidence it shows willingness to enter into a major disarmament agreement on a viable terms with which the U.S. can live.

Threat to Kill Governor Burns Of Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Police and the FBI are reported investigating a threat to kill Governor John A. Burns of Hawaii. Schofield barracks soldier told authorities he heard a man say in the downtown area that he would assassinate the governor, a Democrat.

Authorities kept watch on the governor's home. Police officers escorted the governor to church services Thursday.

MADRAS, India (Reuters) — A magistrate acquitted the editor and publisher of the Tamil weekly Arappor here Thursday on charges of contempt in murder Prime Minister Nehru. The weekly published a cartoon of Nehru with a dagger thrust into him and blood gushing out. The caption under the cartoon pleaded acquittal for by Nehru that English would have equal rights with Hindi as India's national language.

Editor and publisher Rasa Arangannal said he was not present when the cartoon was published and made amends in the next issue. The weekly's regular printer said the name in question was not printed on his press, which was out of order at the time.

The magistrate accepted their explanations.

Theft of Hat Cost Man $50

Theft of a $9.50 cent hat from a downtown store cost a man $50 in Belleville magistrate's court, this morning.

John Edward Cormier of Trenton pleaded guilty to the charge after telling Magistrate T. Y. Wills last week he had been under the influence at the time.

"That's an expensive hat," commented the magistrate, warning the accused to watch his behavior in the future.

Danish Vessel Renews Battle Against Ice

MONTREAL (CP) — The Danish freighter Helga Dan, seeking to set a record for the earliest arrival here by a transatlantic ship in a new year, renewed her tortuous battle against ice today some 30 miles down the St. Lawrence from Montreal.

The 5,000-ton ship had turned back about half-a-mile Thursday to make room for three ice breakers to clear a channel.

The transport department said today icebreakers had started nudging their way toward Montreal and the Helga Dan was following them.

But officials were unable to say immediately how many miles closer to their destination the vessels had advanced.

The Helga Dan's agents said the freighter, herself well equipped for combatting ice, possibly might reach Montreal today but could arrive as late as Monday.

The record for the first arrival in a new year is March 12, made by the Helga in 1962 and equalled by her sister ship, the Thora Dan, last year.

The captain of the first transatlantic arrival is presented with a gold-headed cane by the harbor board.

Indonesia Says British Violate Her Territory

JAKARTA (AP) — Indonesia replied today to Malaysia's charges of aggression on the island of Borneo by filing a complaint with the United Nations against the Federation and its sponsor, Britain.

Foreign Minister Subandrio said evidence of alleged aggression had been turned over to UN Secretary-General U Thant.

"To date the violations of Indonesian (territory) conducted by British and Malaysian are considerable," Subandrio said in a statement.

The statement was in answer to charges by Malaysia that Indonesian troops attacked a military position on Sebah state last year, U.S. authorities emphasize that Johnson would agree U.S. authorities emphasize that Johnson would agree to meet if there is evidence it shows willingness to enter into a major disarmament agreement on a viable terms with which the U.S. can live.

Canadian Mineral Production Rises 4.6 Per Cent in Value

OTTAWA (CP)—Mineral production in Canada in 1963 rose 4.6 per cent in value to a record $2,973,910,000 from the previous peak of $2,844,986,000 in 1962, the bureau of statistics said today.

The new high was reached although output in Ontario, leading producer among the provinces, showed a decline in the year of $38,758,000 compared with 1962.

This decrease was more than offset by increased output in all other provinces and areas except Prince Edward Island and the Northwest Territories.

Among the leading minerals, values were higher in the year compared with 1962 for copper, iron ore, zinc, asbestos, natural gas, crude petroleum, cement, and sand and gravel. Values were lower for gold, nickel and uranium.

Metals as a group were valued at $1,505,733,000, up .5 per cent from $1,498,434,000 a year previous. Nickel headed the list of metals although it decreased in value to $382,782,000 from $383,785,000, followed by iron ore with an increase to $295,361,000 from $263,004,000 and copper with a gain to $287,704,000 from $282,733,000.

Gold output dropped in value to $151,376,000 from $156,314,000 and uranium to $148,891,000 from $158,184,000, while silver rose to $116,941,000 from $112,081,000.

ASBESTOS VALUE UP

Production of non-metals as a group rose in value by 3.6 per cent to $222,190,000 from $214,453,000 last year, with asbestos heading non-metal with the value rising in the year to a record $183,000,000 from the previous 1962 high of $130,282,000.

Next in value among non-metals was coal at $21,362,000, up from $21,927,000 a year previous, elemental sulphur at $12,253,000, cement at $11,101,000, gypsum at $11,101,000, ilmenite at $9,250,000, titanium dioxide at $9,250,000, salt at $8,325,000 and peat moss at $8,264,000 compared with $7,480,000.

Output of mineral fuels advanced 13 per cent from 1963 to $882,412,000 from $780,932,000 in 1962, with all fuels contributing to the increase. Value of fuels, with 1962 figures in brackets: Crude petroleum $633,219,000 ($532,353,000), natural gas $125,000 ($148,641,000), natural gas byproducts $68,252,000 ($50,-750,000) and coal $55,814,000 ($71,017,000 ($69,160,000).

The value of structural materials rose 2.5 per cent in 1963 to $365,575,000 from $353,167,000 a year earlier. Clay and gravel output increased in value to $121,167,000 from $118,603,000, cement to $75,101,000 from $73,-$113,234,000 and stone to $71,-613,000 from $65,866,000. Value of the output of lime, however, declined to $37,758,000 from $37,-$17,000 and lime to $17,447,000 from $17,556,000.

ONTARIO DECLINES

Production of minerals in Ontario declined in value in the year to $1,087,344,000 from $1,126,-342,000 in 1962 and its share of the all-Canada total eased to 37 per cent from 39.6 per cent from 18.1.

Value of production in other regions in order of size, with 1962 figures in brackets:

British Columbia $350,716,-000 ($325,428,000), Saskatchewan $257,076,000 ($237,654,000), Manitoba $171,252,000 ($156,523,-000), Newfoundland $121,786,000 ($101,859,000), Nova Scotia $67,-207,000 ($61,301,000), New Brunswick $26,501,000 ($21,812,000), Northwest Territories $15,234,-000 ($17,327,000), Yukon $14,-000 ($13,138,000) and Prince Edward Island $654,000 ($678,000).

ELECTED PRESIDENT

TORONTO (CP) — William Jenoves, 77, was elected by acclamation Thursday to his 22nd year as president of the Toronto and District Labor Council. He has been business agent of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union (CLC) for almost 43 years. He is also a general vice-president of the Canadian Labor Council.

Three Accused Of Kidnapping Are Indicted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted three men accused of kidnapping Frank Sinatra Jr. on six counts of kidnapping, conspiracy and possession of ransom money.

U.S. Attorney Francis Whelan said in making the announcement Thursday that the FBI "cracked the case before the arrest of the three suspects.

There have been reports that one of the three, John William Irwin, 42, volunteered information that led to arrest of the other three. Irwin was reported to have turned himself in.

Whelan, commending the FBI for "an outstanding piece of investigative work," said that contrary to these reports the matter was not settled when Irwin surrendered in San Diego.

Sinatra, a singer, was kidnapped Dec. 8 from a Lake Tahoe resort and released 84 hours later near Hollywood. His family fortune said he paid a $240,000 ransom.

ARREST 2 OTHERS

Also arrested were Barry Worthington Keenan and Clyde Joseph Amaker, both 23.

Whelan said of the FBI:

"They knew where they were looking for. It was just a question of wrapping it up."

Whelan said that of the $239,-925 ransom paid, the FBI has recovered $237,810.76 and accounted for $2,063.24, presumably leaving $112.75 not accounted for.

Steps are being taken to try to collect the accounted - for sums, some of which were spent by the kidnappers.

Whelan said the maximum sentence each man could receive would be life plus 30 years and a $35,000 fine. The defendants do not face a death penalty, he said, because the victim was not harmed.

Prime Minister And Khrushchev Exchange Notes

Mr. Pearson's office said Thursday the following message was received from the Russian premier:

"On the occasion of the New Year, I am sending you, Mr. Prime Minister, the government and people of Canada my congratulations and best wishes for happiness and well-being. I express the hope that in 1964 the co-operation between U.S.S.R. and Canada will continue to develop in the mutual interest of the peoples of our countries, and to strengthening of general peace."

Mr. Pearson sent this reply:

"On behalf of the government and people of Canada I thank you for your message at the beginning of the New Year and wish you personally happiness and you and your government best wishes for the happiness and well-being of the people of the U.S.S.R. I share your hope that in the year before us, relations between our two countries will continue to grow in a co-operative manner that will bring us mutual benefit. I hope also that the year 1964 will see throughout the world a further increase in understanding between all countries."

BIOLOGICAL PROGRAM

Biologists from 30 to 80 countries are expected to participate in the International Biological Program, expected to start in 1965 for five or seven years.

Propose Major Re-design of Fuel Tanks

WASHINGTON (AP) — To help prevent lightning - induced explosions in commercial airplanes, the Civil Aeronautics Board has proposed major redesign of fuel tanks.

The proposals, made public Thursday, were among a half-dozen submitted to the Federal Aviation Agency Dec. 17 in connection with the C.A.B.'s continuing investigation of the Dec. 8 jet airliner explosion near Elkton, Md. All 81 persons aboard the Boeing-707 Jet of Pan American World Airways were killed.

The FAA already had recommended that "wicks" to discharge static electricity be installed on all jet - powered aircraft. The ill-fated jet, the first put into service by Pan American, was not so equipped.

Although experts disagree as to whether the wicks are useful, the FAA said on Dec. 12, all the airlines had responded promptly, and promised that all 117 jets lacking the static discharges would be equipped with them.

SUGGESTS ONE FUEL

The C.A.B. suggested that the FAA, as maker of safety rules, also consider requiring that only one jet fuel, to be designated as Jet-A, be used in commercial air operations.

The board said petroleum industry range of flammability charts show that a plane using Jet-A fuel would operate a much shorter time, on each flight, with range in "flammability range," compared with a plane using some other jet fuel.

The FAA said it is studying the characteristics of the two basic jet fuels, JP-4, which is kerosene, and JP-4, a form of gasoline mixture—to determine whether safety margins might be increased.

The Pan American plane was known to have been fueled with JP-4 at Puerto Rico, at the start of the final journey, and to have been refueled at Baltimore with kerosene.

The U.S. Air Force has banned the use of kerosene in its jets, except in emergencies, because of kerosene's high viscosity at some combinations of altitude and temperature.

Court Confirms $39,500 Award To Que. Farmer

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Court of Appeals has confirmed the award of $39,500 damages to Adelaide, Que., farmer whose wife and two sons were drowned in a treacherous pond in June, 1961.

The five judges agreed Thursday with findings of a Superior Court judge that Terrel Noires Limited was responsible for the injury maintaining of the pond without effective warning signs or barriers. The company had appealed the decision.

The farmer, Benoit Tellier, had sold the land to the firm and drainage operations were carried out, creating a pond 10 deeper than 10 feet any point but containing treacherous holes beneath the water-surface.

The two sons, Francois, 10, and Paul, 9, were playing near the pond with another brother and sister when they decided to and swim and disappeared. Their mother tried to save them but also drowned.

PUC Members Are Inducted Into Office

TRENTON — For the first time in Trenton's history, the mayor, who sits on the Public Utilities Commission by virtue of his office, was sworn into office yesterday. The oath was administered by clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry. Also sworn in was Gerald Weaver, a commissioner for more than a decade. Commission chairman this year is Charles Hilton, a commissioner for the past three years. Utilities manager and secretary of the commission is James Page.

ICY ROADS BLAMED

Icy road conditions were blamed for Thursday's three minor accidents in Trenton. Police department boasts. Around 1.45 p.m. a car operated by Jon Stevenson of Hewson Blvd. in Middleton Park slid into a large plate glass window of the Bandana Tire building on Front St. as Mr. Gibbons attempted to park. Replacement cost of the window was set at $125.

CLUBS INVITED

A special invitation has been issued to Trenton service clubs to attend services of Sunday night's Week of Prayer service at Bethel Temple. The meeting starts at 7.30 p.m.

CUB PERIOD

Starting Jan. 1, the Elmer Safety Flag will be taken down from the flagstaff in front of Trenton Public School for a two-week period only when a child is involved in an accident. In the past, Elmer was taken from his rightful place for one month.

DISEASES BLAMED

Measles, mumps, chicken pox, flu and jaundice are listed as reasons for a slump in public school attendance during the week before Christmas. Percentage attendance for the month, was 91.40. On Nov. 30, 2,136 public school students were registered. During the month, 16 students were transferred to other schools. 15 were admitted from other schools. Enrollment on Dec. 30 was 2,132.

Last Passes Issued to Cross Berlin Wall

CP from AP-Reuters

BERLIN — East German officials today accepted applications from West Berliners to visit East Berlin relatives for the last time. It appeared unlikely that an agreement to extend the visits to East Berlin relatives could be negotiated before the Christmas - New Year holiday arrangement ends at midnight Sunday.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt conferred Thursday with officials of his government and West German Vice - Chancellor Erich Mende in preparation for negotiations with the East Germans to keep the wall open. But there was no indication when the negotiations would begin or what demands the communists would make.

An unofficial West Berlin intelligence service, Information Bureau West, reported the newspaper of East Germany's state-owned Seventh of October machine plant in East Berlin had published a workers' complaint calling on Communist officials to pull down the Berlin wall.

"The wall was built by our government in August, 1961," said the complaint. "We therefore up to our government to pull down the wall and all discussions and resolutions over visitors' permits and permit officials, regardless of where, are superfluous."

The paper's editor gave this answer to the complaint:

"These colleagues have apparently forgotten that the splitting of Berlin and Germany was deepened by the policy of the Western world."

VISITS RESTRICTION

Such plant newspapers have only limited circulation. Neues Deutschland, the East German Communist party organ, printed brief interviews with West Berlin visitors calling for negotiations for future visits but made no mention of any East Berlin opposition to the wall.

DESECRATE GRAVESTONES

NORDENHAM, West Germany (Reuters) — Police who heard cries for help from a cemetery here during the night found 18 gravestones were overturned. Trapped under the 330-lb. leg broken, lay the 18-year-old vandal who had been desecrating the graveyard.

"Accommodation" Theme

"Appeasement," of course, is out, but all the big powers except China, are now openly seeking an "accommodation."

China calls this accommodation an appeasement.

The Chinese are right.

The two words, in this context, mean precisely the same thing.

"Appeasement," though, has an unhappy history. It is linked to the Munich deal between Britain and France, on the one hand, and Hitler on the other.

That was a deal which, in the opinion of the world, went wrong. (Some would argue that it bought England and France valuable time but the price was certainly high.)

Appeasement, though, like many another action, is not of itself either good or evil; it can only be judged by the results obtained and the cost of obtaining them. The alternative to appeasement can be ruin. In the present world situation, some form of appeasement is essential. It is comforting to find that the big powers have at least discovered a new name for it, so that proposals can be advanced without having the stinking skeleton of Munich hung on them from the start.

Prime Minister Douglas-Home of Britain has gone on record as believing that the year ahead may offer opportunities for a real "accommodation" between the Western democracies and the Soviet Union. On the other side of the fence, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has said in Moscow that there are "reasonable prospects" for agreement on a broad range of measures aimed at slowing down the arms race and further alleviating international tensions."

Even more significantly, President L. B. Johnson of the U.S. and Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany have agreed that "it is highly important to continue to explore all opportunities for the improvement of East-West relations." Moreover, Erhard, on his return to West Germany, has said that the U.S. considers it should be West Germany's role to suggest points open to negotiation. Ostensibly, this may be recognition of West Germany's geographical position, with its common border with the communist world. Actually, it is more likely that it reflects West Germany's political position, or her past political position, so adamantly maintained by Chancellor Adenauer. President Johnson, perhaps, wants to make it plain that any change in this attitude stems not solely from the U.S. but also from the West Germans' new Chancellor.

It is true, of course, that the joint statement by Johnson and Erhard favoring exploring opportunities for easing of tensions was qualified by the declaration that there should be no arrangement which would perpetuate a divided Germany. Such a stand, though, is inevitable. It would be political suicide for Erhard willingly to accept recognition of partition with West Germany. It may very well be that such recognition will be part of any final formula for "accommodation," but if it comes it will be presented almost as a fait accompli.

That the big powers are serious about seeking an "accommodation" may be questioned by some, but it should seem too much of a coincidence to have Douglas-Home, Khrushchev, Johnson and Erhard all singing the same theme in different parts of the world, on the same week-end unless something was in the wind.

Snow in the City

One would suppose that the person who first observed that a stitch in time saves nine was an old woman, who had spent most of her days before the hearth, busily plying her needle.

Amongst her most sincere disciples, though, are the engineers who determine the policy for the Ontario Department of Highways. Once the snow starts falling, those big highway plows start rolling and they keep moving until the last flake has drifted to earth.

As a result, when we get a snowstorm like that which greeted us at the start of a new year, it is generally much easier to travel at sixty on the highways in open country than it is to crawl through the streets of a big city.

One of the problems which faces the snowplow man in the city is where to put the darned stuff. Highways have wide shoulders which provide lots of room to park the snow cleared from the travelled portion. City streets are bordered by sidewalks and these cannot be utilized for dumping purposes.

It does seem ironic, though, that on a really stormy night it is often easier to travel from one town to the next than it is to navigate the short distance between home and main street.

Letter to the Editor

Finds Big Variance In Prices for Drug

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ont.

Shocked by the price of $4.30 charged for a prescription of 30 pills supplied by a local drug store, two other pharmacists were asked by telephone what their price would be. A specific brand name was not mentioned in either the doctor's prescription or the telephone queries. Of the eleven stores, seven different prices were quoted ranging from $2.50 to $6.00.

Upon accosting the owner of the original drug store with this alarming information, a series of possible explanations were given:

a) Suppliers' prices vary greatly on this particular drug and unless the doctor specifies a brand, the choice is left to the druggist.

b) The assistant who filled the prescription chose an average priced brand.

c) Even so, had the owner filled the prescription by substitution of a cheaper drug as assistant so much an hour, it is more costly to fill ten prescriptions of 10 pills each than one prescription of 100 pills and

f) 65,000 new prescriptions filled by this store were not measured by over-charging.

The owner explained he would be glad to replace the brand supplied with a less expensive brand. However, he is accepted with the inference that the customer would probably go to another drug store altogether.

Ten minutes later the owner telephoned to say he had located an error in pricing in the stock clerk and would appreciate discussing drug prices in person.

One hour later a cash refund of $2.80 was delivered without exchanging the actual pills.

Perhaps the government is not moved to investigate drug pricing, but boy, am I going to shop around - if the local druggists will not settle down a situation. In fact, I might even start buying my groceries elsewhere.

Cold Cures Are Suspect

Minneapolis Star

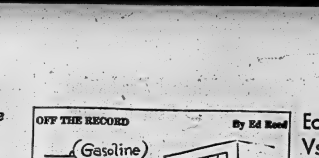
"Through the years man has "cured" colds with goosegrease mustard plasters, vile-smelling poultices, sprays, nose drops, hot lemonade, honey, vinegar, aspirin, bed rest and rest cures.

None has been particularly effective. The cold pills haven't proved much better than home remedies. Regardless of curative measures, colds, sniffles and sneezes remain for 10 days to two weeks.

In view of the common cold's resistance to both scientific research and folk medicine, the general public reacts to it rather mildly whenever a cure is hinted. The recent report that an experimental Soviet drug is about to stop "runny noses," had been developed is getting few loud hurrahs. The layman doubts that much will come of it.

Even the Public Health Service is not particularly sanguine, and couched its announcement in a number of reservations. It knows that the common cold is uncommonly elusive.

It would be wonderful, though if the runny nose could be hustled into oblivion, along with the accompanying chills and fever.



Funeral Business

Milwaukee Journal

Many of the nation's top funeral officials met recently in Washington to discuss the spate of criticism over the high cost of getting buried. Several TV documentary shows and radio and television programs have recently contended that funerals cost far too much and entail too much federal.

Martin F. Gaudian, executive vice-president of the National Association of Cemataries, had consolation for his colleagues. The attacks, he said, hadn't "hurt our business at all." He added: "About the only ones who have paid any attention to it are the intellectuals, the intelligentsia."

And, apparently, everyone knows there aren't enough of them in this country to carry any weight at all."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 3rd, 1944.

Belleville and Bellevale district services personnel were well represented in the New Year's Honor List containing the names of 384 Canadians, and in the RCNVR promotions list, both announced over the new year.

Award of the Air Force Cross has been made to Wing Commander Herbert M. Wilson, son of Col. H. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Trent Road, who has recently been posted overseas following a long term of instructional duty in Canada.

A Trenton boy, Flying Officer Alex Kennedy has also been awarded the Air Force Cross.

Other district service personnel included in the New Year's list were Nursing Sister Fit. Lieut. Mabel Montgomery of Brighton who was named an Associate of the Royal Red Cross. She is stationed at the Trenton RCAF Station. Naval promotions of interest in the Belleville district were that of Ewart M. Bassingthwaighte of Ottawa to the rank of acting Lieutenant-Commander while holding present appointment.

1944 was well on its way before the first baby of the new year was born at 9.45 a.m. in the Belleville General Hospital. "Miss 1944" is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gallagher of Mercia St. in Trenton. Five babies in all were born on New Year's day in the hospital, four girls and one boy. A number of years ago a controversy was fought between two factions of people, medical men and astrologists, that more girl babies were born during Leap Year than boy babies. No one ever discovered the facts otherwise on some Leap Years there are more girl babies born than on others.

January 3rd, 1934.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Henderson announced the 50th anniversary of their wedding on New Year's Day at their home on Cedar Street. They received the congratulations and good wishes of many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hovy Thompson of Toronto were here to spend the holidays with relatives.

Miss Ruby Milburn has returned to Toronto after spending the holiday weekend at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hughes and children of Toronto, spent New Year's weekend here with the former's mother, Mrs. J. Hughes, Queen St.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie Robertson are spending the holidays in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coppin of Oshawa, were here to spend New Year's with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Ridley of Montreal spent New Year's here with relatives.

The members of the Salvation Army Band had their annual tea at the citadel on New Year's night. Bandsmen, their wives and children were present and the event was most enjoyable. Arrangements were in charge of Bandmaster David Wardle.

40 YEARS AGO

January 3rd, 1924.

At the New Queen's Hotel this evening Mr. George A. Bennett, the retiring mayor, will entertain at a banquet the members of the city council, city officials and a few others.

Mr. James Booth who is retiring as leader of John Street Church, this week was presented with a handsome club bag at the close of the last choir rehearsal. Mr. Booth will leave shortly to reside in Boston, Mass.

Mayor-elect W. C. Mikel addressed the members of the Late Undertakers' Association at the New Queen's Hotel today. The president of the association, Harold Ketcheson presided.

Mr. Frank B. Foley, George St., is visiting his former home at Ontario, N.Y.

Mrs. E. Little of Frankford is visiting her daughter, Mrs. G. F. Cole, West Bridge St.

Mrs. Thomas Arthur and Miss Nellie Arthur of Trenton, spent New Year's Day here with Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Flindall and Miss Alice Flindall of Hillier, were also New Year's guests of Mr. and Mrs. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bird, of Elwyn, Manitoba, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Faulkner of Everett St. Mr. Bird is an old Belleville boy.

Mr. John A. Hayes was home from Toronto to spend New Year's Day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. O'Connor of Toronto, spent New Year's Day with Mr. and Mrs. P. Hayes of Bridge St.

Mr. W. J. McIlroy of Queenboro, was in town today and paid the Daily Ontario a friendly call.

R. Flagler and C. Barnhart while travelling at a high rate of speed in an 80 horse power bay, upset yesterday but fortunately escaped injury.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dyer of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, are visiting friends here.

Housewives Too Amorous

Stratford Beacon-Herald

A mighty stir was made recently in the town of Canberley, in an area of England well known to Canadian soldiers of the First and Second World Wars, when a secret list of amorous housewives ceased to be quite secret any longer.

On a municipal housing estate of 400 houses, it was reported, the husbands of women who did the routine repairs to the houses were warned that some housewives were unduly expressive romantic, and that no workman should go alone to any house on a secret list, issued by a municipal official to the workmen.

When the existence of this secret list was first reported, members of the town council indignantly denied that any such list existed. To their embarrassment, proof was produced, and the existence of the list was confirmed.

Everyone fired off statements in all directions, among the most indignant being housewives, among the 400, who objected to the list being secret, with the implication that if long as the names on the list remained secret, all 400 would be suspected. Eventually, after the residents' association on the housing development insisted that names on the list be known.

The chairman of the town council, Coun. J. R. Jeffrey, is an airline pilot, who was away on a regular transatlantic run to Toronto when the storm broke. When he got back to Canberley he announced, "I shall make a personal investigation," a statement which leaves us wondering how he would go about it.

The serious result, naturally, is to push the cost of doing repairs on municipal housing. Town officials would not dare send fewer than two men to any house for fear of scandalous

Economics Vs. Apartheid

Winnipeg Free Press

The combination of a domestic economic boom and the pressures of its own apartheid policies, has created an ironic problem for the Verwoerd government in South Africa.

By all the usual criteria the South African economy is in better shape than ever before. Foreign investment continues to pour in at a high rate, reserves of foreign exchange are at their highest levels in 15 years and exports are rising. But the country suffers from an acute shortage of skilled and semi-skilled labor and economists are advising the government that this factor, more than any other is holding back further expansion.

As a result the government is under heavy pressure to relax its infamous job reservation law, which bars Africans from all but the lowest grades of skilled work. Visiting business leaders, civil servants and even white-run domestic business organizations like the chamber of commerce are all insisting. Dr. Verwoerd that Africans must be trained and permitted to take jobs in industry.

So far there is no sign that Dr. Verwoerd will yield to this economic necessity, but the pressure on him is so heavy that he may be forced to compromise. South Africans who want a closer look at apartheid recalling that it is not long since Dr. Verwoerd was refusing to yield an inch to his opponents' to immigration, yet today South Africa is scouring the world for new (white) labor and that since this year has taken in 20,000 of them. The change was due to severe economic pressures than to the insignificant effect it would have on the black-white population ratio.

It now seems possible that sheer economics once again will force a change and bring about an important modification of apartheid.

Rural Fears Exaggerated

Financial Post

A rural MP complains that after redistribution of seats in the House of Commons, Canada will be ruled by a dozen or so "city states".

If the country's largest cities together had more than half the population, there is no good reason why they should not elect more than half the MPs. This would hardly be a fate worse than death for the nation; but it is not going to happen anyway.

The big bad (or biggest and worst), city politicians whose fears are no doubt Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver and Winnipeg MPs, will never have about one in four Canadians lived in these centres.

The "city" metropolitan areas" had 40% of the population in 1961. Even if they got a fair deal, which nobody seems anxious to give them, they would have only 40% of the seats, surely not enough to run country people nightmares.

Roughly speaking, another 29% of Canadians lived in places of 1,000 to 100,000, about 20% in small towns and 11% on farms.

A just distribution would certainly give somewhat more urban, and therefore better attuned to the country's needs, interests and thinking than it is now or ever was. But the rurals would still have plenty of spokesmen. Their words would not suddenly collapse if, for a change, they voted for equity.

"Boils" Come From Germ And Not the Hospitals

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

"I have been told that boils definitely come from hospitals. Even though persons employed at hospitals do not have them, they can be carriers. Is this true? Mrs. M. B.

This is what you might call a one-percent truth. Anyway, a grain of truth, but that's all.

Boils don't "come from hospitals." They come from a germ — the staphylococcus germ.

The germ can be anywhere, including hospitals. It can be carried by anyone, including people who work in hospitals.

So let's not over simplify things, because that's deceptive. Let's just look at the facts. People had boils long before there were hospitals. Remember Job, in the Bible?

Hospitals, being full of sick people, have to be constantly on guard against the germ carried by patients. Let's say that a perfectly healthy nurse may encounter this germ. She doesn't show any sign of illness. She's healthy and rugged enough to combat it.

Yet she — or you, or anyone — may carry it. We know enough about the germ to realize that it often lingers sleepily in our noses. If, sometimes, the germ is wafted toward someone who, for one reason or another, is ready to harbor an infection, then it suddenly thrives. It may result in boils, or the germ may appear in some other manifestation. But that's how it works.

So saying that "boils definitely come from hospitals" is not more than to say that boils definitely" come from people. A living room, an office, a bus or the corner drug store.

When the germ continues itself into a sweat gland or pore, or down around the root of a hair, it begins to multiply. This is another way to say that an infection begins.

If your body readily conquers the germ, then the net result is nothing but a pimple or "chicken" something. If the germs get more of a foothold, it becomes a "boil". Or several boils may merge into a "carbuncle."

At worst, the germ may penetrate the blood stream and you have "blood poisoning."

Generally, the staph germ is cunning, ever-present annoyance, but only occasionally becoming perilous. Other germs (such as streptococcus) are not as universal, but are more savage when they do appear.

Should you be careful and watch out for the staphylococcus germ? Certainly. Where? Everywhere. How? Mainly by observing the ordinary rules of hygiene, good food, adequate sleep, exercise, fresh air.

Now, you may unknowingly carry the germ to a hospital or anywhere else. But how do you pass it on to the patient you are visiting. Don't drink out of his water glass. Don't pass it on to his hands in his face. Don't sit on his bed. Just observe the sane and simple rules that you've used to recall "hygiene." In fact, some of us still do call it that. And it makes sense.

Dear Dr. Molner: I asked you some time ago about cracking in the back of my neck and never got an answer. Does one have to get a question answered? — Mrs. R. A. S.

No, nobody pays to get an answer here. I have frequently discussed wry neck and the cracking of it and other joints, explaining that changes in the bone at an arthritic nature are the likeliest cause. Naturally, also that nobody can give a dependable answer without an ex-

Knowledge Of Weakness Makes Strength

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

A young man I know, who is doing a study on "executive power" for his doctoral dissertation, told me at lunch the other day about some of the interesting preliminary conclusions he has arrived at.

He has been studying the "strong man" vs. the "weak man" in executive situations, to try to find out some of their principal differences in temperament and attitudes.

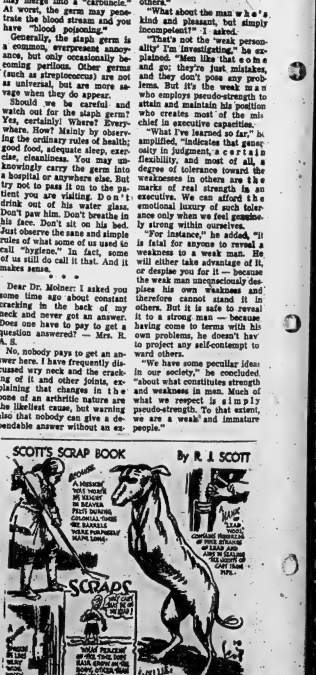
"There's a real paradox at the heart of the matter," he said. "The strong man is one who knows his weaknesses consciously, accepts them, comes to terms with them, and knows how to cope with them. In a funny way, this knowledge serves to give him more strength.

"The weak man," he continued, "is unconscious of most of his weaknesses, but cannot admit them to himself or to anyone else. He has not worked out his own inner problems — the source of his lasting self-acceptance, and so he cannot really accept anyone else in a normal natural way.

"As a result," he went on, "the weak executive adopts pseudo-strength. He is afraid to be kind, because it might be construed as a sort of weakness on his part; he is afraid to be open, because it might disclose too much of his real self to others."

"What about the man who's kind and pleasant, but simply incompetent?" I asked.

"That's not the 'weak personality' I'm investigating," he explained. "Men like that seem and go; they're just mistakes, and they don't pose any problems. But the weak man is one who employs pseudo-strength to attain and maintain his position and create around him the unlethical executive capacities.



"What I've learned so far," he amplified, "makes the basic quality in judgment, a certain flexibility, and most of all, a degree of detachment about the weaknesses in others are the marks of real strength in an executive. We can afford the emotional luxury of such tolerance only when we feel passionately strong within ourselves."

"For instance," he added, "it is hard for anyone to reveal a weakness to a weak man. He will either take advantage of it, or despise you for it — because the weak man unconsciously despises his own weakness and therefore cannot stand it in others. But it is safe to reveal it to a strong man — because being open about one's own problems, he doesn't have to project any self-contempt to ward others.

"We have some peculiar ideas in our society," he concluded. "About what constitutes strength and weakness in men. Much of what we respect is simply pseudo-strength. To that extent, we are a weak and immature people."

Mboya Critical Of Story From Kenya

CP from Reuters-AP

NAIROBI, Kenya — Tom Mboya, secretary - general of the ruling Kenya African National Union told the world press Thursday that, "we will not tolerate any tendencies intended to disrupt and undo our work."

A statement signed by Mboya criticized a cover story, Kenyatta's Kenya, which appeared in the U.S. magazine Newsweek. Mboya said the article did not appear to have any real purpose "except to repeat all the old clichés and worn-out ideas about Kenya."

He said the magazine had sought to play up tribalism and personalities when discussing Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta and Kenya's leaders.

Meanwhile, the government denied newspaper reports that Ethiopian troops have entered Kenya and that Kenya troops have been sent into Ogaden, Ethiopia, after the signing of a mutual defense pact.

MAKES CHARGE

The Somali government said Wednesday that the Kenya government had given officials in the eastern border region the power to arrest citizens arbitrarily and to hold them for up to 28 days.

The Kenya government said in reply that the only citizens who could be held for 28 days were those found inside a five-mile no-man's-land created by the government along the Somali border.

Somali bandits, who have been raiding across the Kenya border, are causing indignation among Somalis living in Kenya, government officials said.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — The demand for slaughter cattle was only fair with steers and cows showing rather sharp losses and heifers and yearlings easing lower at the Ontario public stockyards this week.

Bull prices were firm to higher and replacement cattle were in good demand, particularly for good quality lightweights.

Veal calf prices were strong to higher. Hog prices were lower and lamb prices were steady at the close.

Cattle receipts were 6,749 head, about 2,500 head more than last week and about 200 head more than the same week in 1963. Western cattle receipts numbered 365 head as compared to only 98 head last week. Western stock calf receipts were 196 head less than last week at 96 head. There were no shipments to Eastern Canadian slaughterers. However, 53 veal calves were shipped off the market for slaughter in the United States.

Slaughter cattle: Choice steers sold at $22-22.50 with some fancy feedlot steers to 22.50; good 21-22; commercial 18.50-20.50; common 15-18; choice heifers 21.50-22; good 20-21.50; medium 18-20; common 15-16.50; choice fed yearlings 22-25; good 21-22; good cows 15-16 with odd sales to 17; medium 14-15; canners and cutters 10-13.50; good heavy bologna bulls 19-20; common and medium 15-18.50.

Replacement cattle: Good stockers 22-24 with sales to 25.50; common and medium stockers and stock calves 17-21 with good light steer stock calves up to 26.

Hogs: Grade A 26.25 - 29.15; heavy weights 25.50 with lights sows gaining a $2 premium; slags 13.50 on a dressed weight basis.

Sheep and lambs: Lambs 16-25 per hundredweight with good lambs closing at 25; bucks discounted at $1 per hundredweight; sheep 3-10 according to quality with some feeder lambs at 19 per hundredweight.

Oswego Boy Swept off Dock By Huge Wave

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP) — A boy was swept away by a giant wave Thursday as he walked with two companions along a breakwater in Lake Ontario.

The two others also were knocked into the water but made it back to the stone jetty, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

The missing youth was identified as Daniel Vincent, 14, of Oswego.

Vincent's two companions were identified as Patrick J. Woods, 13, who jumped into the lake in an unsuccessful effort to save Vincent, and Robert Weaver, 13, who hauled Woods back to safety on the breakwater, 700 feet out in the lake.

Standard Card For Insurance To Be Issued

EDMONTON (CP) — Hon. Gordon Taylor, Alberta highways minister, said Thursday a standard insurance card will be available for Canadian motorists before the end of this year.

Mr. Taylor said legislation will be introduced at the next sessions of all provincial legislatures to introduce the standard card.

Mr. Taylor said the proposed legislation has been approved in principle by all 10 provinces.

Alberta has agreements with British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Ontario allowing motorists to travel without difficulty.

Mr. Taylor said the new scheme would erase the necessity of carrying separate insurance cards for each province and would allow drivers to leave insurance policies at home on long trips.

In Toronto, W. M. Earl, Ontario registrar of motor vehicles, said Ontario has adopted the necessary legislation after first promoting the idea of a standard insurance card.

The Ontario registrar said that members of the All-Canada Insurance Federation should complete distribution of the proposed single card by the end of 1964 as policyholders renew their policies.

Kitty Marks Dies in Hospital In Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP) — Mrs. Catherine Loreta (Kitty) Marks, 79, sometimes referred to as the First Lady of the Canadian stage, died in hospital here Thursday.

Her stage career began in 1901 at Brockville when she married Ernest Marks, one of the seven Marks brothers who were famous in Eastern Canada for their vaudeville stage comedies. She joined the show at that time and continued on stage until 1923, when she and her husband retired and bought a theatre here.

Her husband died in 1952. When her sister-in-law, Gracie Marks, died in 1957, Mrs. Marks became the last surviving member of the troupe.

Under the stage name of Kitty Marks, she started her career singing between acts of plays presented by the Marks brothers at fall fairs in towns and cities throughout Ontario and the Maritimes.

"I think I had a good voice," she recalled in an interview in 1958. "The miners in Cobalt used to throw coins on the stage when I sang."

WAS ACTRESS

Later in her career, she became the leading actress in the Lyric Players company and toured Canada and centres in the northern United States.

At one time, the company played under canvas in Hamilton for six weeks. Saturday nights in Kingston usually biting wind" around Lethbridge, Alta.

"We shouted our lines and the stage, she sold tickets at her husband's theatre for eight stage would shoulder them right years. She gave up the job when back and everybody had a good time," Mrs. Marks recalled in Mr. Marks was elected mayor the interview. of Oshawa in 1931.

New Radio Isotope Lab Helps Diagnosis of Disease At Belleville Gen. Hospital

In this age of nuclear energy, and diagnosis for this type so radiation emitting elements almost everyone knows the use of a geiger counter.

For instance they know it as the small portable machine used to detect radiation in the air and which was popularized a decade or so ago by prospectors in their hunt for uranium.

But medical science has taken advantage of the geiger counter principle and has put it to good use for diagnosis of various diseases.

For the past two months one of these medical geiger counters has been in use in the recently opened radio isotope laboratory at Belleville General Hospital.

Here is the "king sized" geiger counter is being used to diagnose thyroid disorders, pernicious anemia and other disorders and also to measure the blood volume of a patient.

IMMERSE ASSISTANCE

Director of the new radio isotope laboratory at the hospital is Dr. Walter Totten, who says that the use of isotopes in the many instances can be of immense assistance to doctors.

far has been the most common use to which the new hospital machine has been put.

Although most of the larger metropolitan hospitals have radio isotope laboratories, the equipment is too costly for the smaller hospitals.

Because of this it is the hope that Belleville General Hospital will become an area hospital insofar as radio isotope diagnosis is concerned.

WILL PROVIDE SERVICE

"We hope in the future to provide a service which will encompass the Bay of Quinte area taking in such hospitals as Picton, Trenton and Campbellford," Dr. Totten stated.

And as the work of the local hospital radio isotope laboratory becomes better known, there is every expectation the hope of hospital officials will be realized.

Basically the use of isotope for disease diagnosis is this:

The patient is administered radiation emitting isotopes mixed with common substances. The radiation counters then used to check radiation from the suspected organ or body area and the counts assists the doctor in his diagnosis.

W. T. Barron New Works Manager of Cement Co.

W. T. BARRON

Mr. Barron brings a wealth of experience to his new position. Since 1949 he has been the superintendent of the cement plant and assistant manager of the sand plant for the Dragon Cement Co. in North Hampton, Pa. Dragon is a subsidiary of Martin-Marietta Inc.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron (Pearl) have four children, three boys, Ricky, 12; Michael, 9; Kevin, 6, and one girl, Patience, who is three. The family will be moving to Picton as soon as a suitable home can be purchased.

The Barrons are members of the United Church of Christ.

Mr. Barron graduated from Lehigh University with a BSc degree in Electrical Engineering. He served a hitch in the U.S. Air Corps from 1936 to 1940 and also served in the U.S. Navy in 1942 and 1943.

"I was very much impressed not only with the company itself, but with the personnel. This is a very progressive company and a very well thought of in all parts of this country and the United States," Mr. Barron told The Ontario Intelligencer on Thursday.

"The town of Picton impressed me as being very modern, the hospital, the public school, the new addition to the high school all show progressive thinking," he added.

LIKE SMALL TOWNS

"We will small towns, we live presently in a small town called Wind Gap, Pa. It is about the size of Picton, and we like it very much there, but my wife and I have always cherished the thought that one day we might move to Canada, and I am sure we will both like it here immensely," he added.

Mr. and Mrs. Barron are ardent hunters—but with a difference, they both hunt with bow and arrow and, according to Mr. Barron, have both killed a deer in their hunting trips.

Mr. Barron admits to being 43, but the fact that there is no grey in his hair or the heavy black hair, would seem to belie his age. He will be a decided asset to the community.

Mr. Barron replaces Frank Stevens, who left Picton to accept a new position in the United States.

Ganaoque Wins 6-5 Over Juniors

PICTON (Staff)—The Gananoque Islanders pulled into a two-way tie with the Napanee Red Wings as they edged a short-handed Picton team 6-5 in a regularly scheduled game of the OHA Junior "C" League here last night before the largest crowd of the current season. 500 attended.

Picton opened the scoring at the 6.52 mark of the first period when Bill Hopkins deflected a pass from Harold Haddock and Larry Lemcke. Gan tied it up at 7.20. Murray Hawrylenko being given the credit, while actually the shot was kicked into the Picton net by one of the Picton players in his anxiety to clear.

Harold Haddock got that one back at the 18.43 mark as he converted passes from Hopkins and Gary Haennel. Haddock fired the hat trick for Picton.

Gan tied it up once more at the 11.12 mark, one minute after a Picton player putting the puck into his own net. Rick Swan was given credit for the unassisted marker.

Things really livened up in the second period. Picton bench teams going at each both ways. Gan went into the lead at the 1.43 mark as Ron Tamblyn's touch passes from Dwight Hall and Stan Parker to beat Larry Wilson in the Picton nets.

The Islanders went two up as Murray Rowntree fired his second marker of the night at the 2.53 mark, with Doug Higgins picking up the assist.

Picton came roaring back to score, with Gary Haennel bringing one from the face-off that was behind Brian Ramsden before he could make his move. Haddock picked up an assist.

At the 8.14 mark Hopkins teed off on one that hit the post, then struck a stray hop, landed on Haddock's stick, he didn't hit the post and the game was all tied up again.

In the third period, both teams showed the effect of the 5-5 tie that they had set and both teams tired. Gan did not tire quite as much as Picton, and fired the winner at the 6.14 mark, the other at the 18.46 mark, Rowntree fired the third and Ron Tamblyn his second to make it 6-4 for the visitors, and it looked like curtains for the Picton boys.

Harold Haddock was rewarded for a terrific game at the 18.47 mark, when he got passes from Hopkins and Haennel to beat Jameson with a hard drive.

Picton pulled their goaltender in favor of another forward, and in spite of them applying terrific pressure, they could not come up with the equalizer.

Gananoque — Jameson, Parker, Rowntree, Rose, Hall, Higgins, Callagon, Campeau, Swann, Edgely, Adaire, Hall, Tamblyn.

$450 Damage In Collision At Intersection

PICTON—Ontario Provincial Police at Picton are investigating an accident at the intersection of Chatham Street and No. 14 Highway which caused an estimated $450 damage to one vehicle following an accident between a car being driven by John Huskinson of R. R. 4 Picton and a parked vehicle owned by Joseph Roach of Belleville, about 12:30 a.m. on Thursday.

Ontario Provincial Police at Picton said the Huskinson vehicle was attempting to make a right hand turn when it struck the Roach vehicle which was parked.

No injuries were reported and damage to the Roach vehicle was estimated at approximately $450.

Collar Bone Dislocated In Accident

PICTON — Tim O'Grady of Picton suffered a dislocated collar bone when the car which he was driving flipped over on Scharrie Road, about five miles west of here around 5:00 p.m. Thursday.

FROM THE MAIL BOX

A reader writes about a problem which I wish were mine! She has been given a beautiful rose sari, embroidered with gold and having a gold border and a gold fringe. It sounds so completely elegant that, quite frankly, I envy her. She wants to have it made into an evening gown. She writes asking for advice about a suitable style for this exotic fabric. Among her other gifts from the Far East, she also received a bolt of elegant brocade in mint green tones with a faint glint of gold worked into a pattern of roses.

The sari being of a sheer, delicate fabric should be made into a draped style, which would show off the beauty of the fabric and allow the embroidery to show and a bit around the figure. This treatment would be ideal for such an airy material, but there are some figures which don't look well in draped styles, even if the fabric is very thin. My second choice would be to line the sari completely with a matching silk, and treat the length of fabric just as one would treat any length of dress material. I would suggest a gored skirt, using the gold border and fringe as a trim whether it be on the skirt, or at the hemline. Either fashion would make a beautiful evening gown.

The bolt of brocade could be used for a slim, full-length evening dress and matching coat, or for a dinner suit. If there is enough fabric, a simple evening blouse to wear with velvet, or corded silk evening skirts, would be very useful. If the dinner suit is chosen, then a small pillbox hat of the same brocade would be the ideal topping for such a useful ensemble.

Our reader should have her slippers dyed to match both of these costumes. When such fabulous fabrics are used for evening wear, the plainest, most inconspicuous accessories are the order of the evening. A plain gold evening bag, matching slippers, and the minimum of jewelry, are all that are needed.

The sari could become the perfect seasonless evening gown for her. It is such a bit in spring or to the most formal gala of the winter season, with the proper accessories. The brocaded gown and coat, or dinner suit, is perfect for the fall and winter seasons because of the weight of the fabric.

Thank you, dear reader, for giving me such a "fun" problem to solve.

If you have a question on fashion, just write Pegg Rogers in care of this paper. .

QUESTION:

Several of my friends have husbands who have suffered heart attacks and must now do without eggs and butter. Have you any cake and cookie recipes, etc. along this line? These wives find it very frustrating when they try to bake — Helen C.

ANSWER:

The doctor must be consulted regarding consumption of corn oil. If the patients can have polyunsaturated oil then they might enjoy

DATE SQUARES (no egg; corn oil):

1 lb. dates, ¾ cup sugar, 1 cup cold water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Cook gently together until soft and thickened and allow to cool. Then add the filling.

1¼ cups sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, 1¼ cups rolled oats, 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup corn oil, pinch of salt.

Halve this crumb mixture and pat half in oiled pan 8 x 12 x 2". Spread cooled filling on this and pat remaining crumb mixture on top. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for ½ to ¾ hour. We recommend a pyrex pan for this.

LETTER:

First I'd like to compliment you on your wonderful column . . . When writing a hint I thought you might find useful . . . When making snowballs or icing small cakes you mix the icing to the consistency to spread. Then place the bowl in hot water until the icing is runny. Dip the cakes in until coated. Then roll in nuts or cocoanut so the room temperature sets the icing. They really stick and you don't have the mess of thin cold icing — J. A. P.

ANSWER:

Thank you very much for this useful hint.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: I was engaged to a young man for two months. Due to a difference of personalities, we decided it would be wiser to cancel the engagement and wedding plans. I returned his ring. Now his mother has requested that I return to her a pair of earrings she gave me at the time our engagement was announced. I've worn them many times and consider them as my own. As far as I'm concerned, they were a personal gift to me, unlike several engagement gifts which were for our future home. These I naturally returned, since that home will never materialize. It don't want to seem grasping, but I certainly don't want to be forced to return a personal gift unnecessarily. During our engagement, our former fiance's sister gave me a watch which I have not returned, and he has not asked for it back. Would you advise me where I stand on this issue, and if the jewelry should be returned? — D. A. B., Trenton, N. J.

Answer: When an engagement is terminated, all wedding and engagement gifts should be returned as a matter of course. The watch should have been returned, along with the ring, unless, of course, your former fiance indicated he'd prefer you keep it. As far as the earrings are concerned, they were given by his mother as a token of welcome into the family. They should have been returned to her when the engagement was broken — as promptly as gifts were returned to other relatives and friends. Since she has now requested you to hand them back, you should do so immediately, without becoming involved in any further undignified bickering.

Question: I'm rather heavy-set, and prefer to wear dresses that are on the dark side to help give my figure a slimmer appearance. One of my favorites is a black lace dress suitable for late afternoon and informal dinners. It has a slim skirt and an overblouse in matching material. Would it be proper for a wedding? It's my most becoming dressy outfit, but I've heard that black is supposed to be incorrect for a wedding. The ceremony will be at five in the afternoon, followed by a buffet supper in a hotel. — M. K. B., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: A guest may wear a black dress to a wedding reception, but, of course, it's still taboo for anyone in the wedding party or for either of the mothers. The dress you describe would be suitable for the time of the wedding and the type of reception. Wear white gloves though. Black gloves are inappropriate.

MR. MELTZER ON REAL ESTATE
"What's Your Problem?"

From earliest history sovereigns have had the right to take what properties they wanted or needed. This doctrine has passed down to us through the English Common Law. But in the United States, the various states and the federal government are sovereign and the right of seizure is modified by the requirement that the land must be for the benefit of the public good, and that just compensation must be paid. This doctrine is known as eminent domain. Not everyone is aware of this limitation on property rights, however.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: You and your readers are the first people to learn that there are still some resourceful Americans. My neighbour and I have banded together as the pioneers did to save our homes and prevent a political injustice.

A new county court house is being planned in our town and the block they want for it is the one I live on. We don't think we need a new court house, we don't want one, so my neighbors and I got together and agreed that we won't sell our property no matter what they offer for it. If more people did this we could put a stop to the unnecessariness of property rights which is an American heritage. — Mrs. J. L.

Answer: I salute your determination and resourcefulness. Before you take to the barricades, however, I'm afraid I must advise you that you don't have the right to commission for your muskets. If your property is to be taken for a new court house, you can fight it by taking political action, or the action of public protest, but there is very little in the way of real estate action — or inaction — that can be used.

The right of eminent domain is a basic limitation on all property rights and is also an American heritage handed down by our forefathers.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Please answer this letter as soon as you can as I am in a terrible situation. My home is about half paid for, but I was laid up by an accident and couldn't make any mortgage payments for four months. I owed the bank $412. I got a letter from them the insurance company last week and I went to the bank to pay the back payments. They refused to take the $412 and said they had already started foreclosure. They said they had to have $6,300 — the entire balance of the mortgage — not just the $412. What can I do? I don't have that kind of money and I don't want to lose my home. — Mr. L. B. J.

"Answer: Your situation is unfortunate, but far from hopeless. Your bank apparently has become disenchanted with you, and probably for reasons other than your recent inability to meet your mortgage payments. They apparently are exercising a clause which is in most mortgages, that provides for the entire balance of the debt coming due in the event of default.

Since you have such a large equity in your home, however, I am certain that you will have little difficulty in getting it refinanced through a different mortgage lender. Make application then with a mortgage lender in your community. Explain the circumstances that led to your default. You can then pay off your original mortgage and avoid foreclosure.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: I thoroughly enjoy your column — and this comes from a man who has been active in construction and real estate for more than 35 years.

A number of your questions reveal the absolute necessity of buyers and sellers engaging competent representatives before making commitments. You have stressed this often, but I suggest that you stress it much more and even more forcefully.

I recently retired and in a small way have established a real estate consulting service. This service provides an independent and objective assessment, and is designed to supplement the services provided by the broker.

I hate to admit it, but I have gotten nowhere. Virtually everyone who comes to me has already made a commitment. Instead of being able to advise them, I can only listen to their troubles, pat their hands and tell them what they should have done. Hasn't this been your experience? — Mrs. E. H.

Answer: Indeed it has. As a real estate counselor, I find that most people come to me to get them out of trouble — not prevent their getting into trouble.

The same man who, when buying his son a $300 jalopy will get his mechanic friends and relatives to inspect it minutely is capable of committing himself to a lifetime purchase of a $20,000 home in the most casual, off-hand fashion.

One of the basic objectives of this column is to educate readers to the complexities of real estate and the desirability of taking advantage of experts who can help them. The volume of grateful letters I have received indicates a strong sense that we are getting through to some people. It's a huge problem, however, and I am pleased that you and others are joining in the same crusade.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: When I pointed out to a small merchant in our local shopping centre that he charged more for the same items than the department store he said he had to because of one thing, he had to pay more rent for his space than they did. Since they are both in the same new centre, this doesn't make sense to me. Can it be true? — Mrs. J. L. W.

Answer: It probably is true. Rents in a typical shopping centre can vary considerably. The department store or supermarket, for example, may pay a basic rent of $1 to $2 per square foot per year. The small local merchant in the same centre may pay from $3 to $5 per square foot per year.

The exact amounts, of course vary from centre to centre depending on the location and facilities.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: Can you tell me what is the one most important thing to look for when purchasing real estate?" — Mr. C. L. B.

Answer: There are many important factors to consider. If I had to elect one as the most important, however, it would be neighborhood. An individual can alter, change and modify his own piece of real estate, but if he has made a bad choice in regard to neighborhood, there is little, if anything, an individual, to change the trend or protect his investment.

Mr. Meltzer answers questions of general interest submitted by readers. You may write to him in care of this newspaper.

Man With Weak Character Poor Husband Material

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — I have been keeping company with a widower. We have a lot in common and have had a wonderful time together. We discussed redecorating his house, and my gradually meeting all the members of his family, with a view to getting married when the son entered high school in two years' time.

He took a holiday with his brother and sister-in-law in July, and on his return informed me he had met a relative of his brother-in-law's whom he is going to marry next September.

He is a fine man. He attends church regularly and makes sure his son never misses Sunday School. If a man of presumably such high calibre cannot be trusted to keep his word, who can a woman trust? — STUNNED.

DEAR STUNNED — My crystal ball tells me the in-laws did a little pressuring. Just thank the good Lord you were saved from marriage with this weak character.

(P.S. — If he were high calibre, you could trust him.)

Confidential to WONDERING AND AFRAID — Forget it. He can't tell you what you did that made him break things up, for he doesn't know. Go out more with other boys, by all means, and be yourself. Teen-age years are mind-changing times, and you have the same privilege he has.

(When your friends puzzle you, ask Doris how to cope. And remember that stamped envelope!)

Wife of Rehabilitated Man Expresses Gratitude

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I just wanted to let you know you had a hand in helping a prisoner become rehabilitated.

I married my husband without knowing he had violated his parole. It was a terrible shock to me when he was taken from our home and had to serve 16 months in prison.

During that time I wrote to you for moral support and guidance. You told me how I could best help him and myself. I followed your advice closely. I visited him 34 times and wrote him 442 letters. One of my letters contained a clipping from your column. It was your definition of maturity.

ANN LANDERS

My husband is home now and we are starting our marriage again — this time on the right foot. He told me your column on maturity gave him real insight into his own life and made him realize where and why he had failed. He read it so many times he memorized it. I might add that column is tattered and worn, but he still carries it with him.

Thank you, Ann, for helping someone very dear to me — and God bless you. — A VERY GRATEFUL WOMAN.

DEAR FRIEND — Thank you for your generous expression of gratitude. The most rewarding part of this work is knowing that I can occasionally provide someone with solace, strength or self-understanding.

Since the column your husband is carrying in his wallet is now tattered and worn, I am herewith re-printing my definition of maturity — especially for him.

Maturity is many things. First it is the ability to base judgment on the Big Picture — The Long Haul. It means being able to pass up the fun-for-the-minute and select the course of action which will pay off later. One of the characteristics of infancy is the "I want it now approach." Grown-up people can wait.

Maturity is the ability to stick with a project or a situation until it is finished. The adult who is constantly changing jobs, changing friends, and changing mates — is immature. He cannot stick it out because he has not grownup. Everything seems to turn sour after awhile.

Maturity is the capacity to face unpleasantness, frustration, discomfort and defeat without complaint or collapse. The mature person knows he can't have everything his own way. He is able to defer to circumstances, to other people — and to time.

Maturity is the ability to live up to your responsibilities, and this means being dependable. It means keeping your word. And dependability equates with personal integrity. Do you mean what you say — and say what you mean?

The world is filled with people who can't be counted on. People who never seem to come through in the clutches. People who break promises and substitute alibis for performance. They show up late — or not at all. They are confused and disoriented. Their lives are a chaotic mass of unfinished business.

Maturity is the ability to make a decision and stand by it. Immature people spend their lives exploring endless possibilities and then do nothing. Action requires courage. And there is no maturity without courage.

Maturity is the ability to harness your abilities and your energies and to do more than is expected. The mature person refuses to settle for mediocrity. He would rather aim high and miss the mark than aim low — and make it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WEDDING

MITCHELL — WILLIAMS

The chapel of Aylmer Baptist Church was the scene of a pretty wedding recently when Darlene Louise Williams, eldest daughter of Mr. Louis E. Williams of Foxboro and Mrs. Evelyn M. Williams of Aylmer, Ontario was united in marriage to Wayne Mitchell, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Mitchell of Aylmer. The Rev. Fred Ward officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of peau de soie featuring a fitted bodice with lace appliques and enhanced with a scalloped neckline and long lily-point sleeves. The bell-shape skirt was highlighted with a detachable train. Her elbow length veil flowed from a crown of crystals and pearls and she carried a nosegay of red roses, variegated carnations and white stephanotis.

Miss Carolyn Williams, sister of the bride was maid of honor and the Misses Sharon Williams and Beth Williams also sisters were bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in street length dresses of red velvet featuring bell-shape skirts. Each wore a headdress consisting of a large rose of matching velvet and carried nosegays of white roses and white 'mums.

Mr. Larry Mitchell, brother of the bridegroom was best man, while Mr. Kenneth Christie, and a brother of the bride Mr. Gary Williams (since deceased), were the ushers.

The reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother received the guests wearing a blue wool sheath dress with matching jacket, white hat and white accessories and a corsage of white roses and blue forget-me-nots. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a gold velvet sheath dress with matching jacket, gold hat and accessories and corsage of Orange Delight roses.

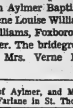
For the wedding trip to Detroit, Michigan, the bride donned a pink wool dress, brown wool faille coat with wedding ring collar of mink, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.



The couple are residing at Camp Borden until mid-January when they will leave for Zwischuchen, Germany, where the bridegroom will be stationed with the RCAF.

Previous to the marriage showers were held honoring the bride at the homes of Mrs. Marlene Wilson, Mrs. Ernest Wall and Miss Jean Potzelberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mitchell are pictured following their recent marriage in Aylmer Baptist Church. The bride is the former Darlene Louise Williams, eldest daughter of Mr. Louis E. Williams, Foxboro, and Mrs. Evelyn M. Williams of Aylmer. The bridegroom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Mitchell of Aylmer.

Mother of the Ages

By Clarence W. Cranford

Each year many groups choose "a mother of the year." One mother deserves to be known as "the mother of the ages." In fact, she can well be considered the most honored woman in history, for she is the one whom God chose to be the mother of His Son. The world would do well, as it begins a new year, to consider the qualities that have made her beloved down through the ages.

The Bible tells us very little about who Mary, the mother of Jesus, was. It does tell the kind of person she was, deeply religious. This is borne out by her knowledge of Scripture, and her submissiveness to God. The revelation to her that she would be the mother of one who would come to save her people from their sins must have been overwhelming. How could she, a very young woman, understand it? Yet she responded in faith. "Behold the handmaid of the Lord;" she said, "be it unto me according to thy word."

CHOSEN, NOT FOREORDAINED

Mary did not choose her role, God chose her for it. What wonder filled her soul as she cried, "My soul doth magnify the Lord. . .from henceforth all generations shall call me blessed." These were the words by which her faith would be severely tested. Did not the angel add to her, "He shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord shall give unto Him the throne of His father David?" but instead of power, she saw Him persecuted; instead of a throne, she saw Him on a cross.

Often we have to fulfill a role we do not choose, but one that is chosen for us. We do not choose the family into which we are born, nor even our name. Many circumstances choose us, we do not choose them. But when God chooses, it is not to bestow special favors, but for service. So it was with the Hebrew people. They were not chosen people, chosen to witness and through suffering to the righteousness of God, not to receive special privileges.

Mrs. Ida Reed, who died on December 24th. We can stand by in prayer, in love, waiting for opportunity to show it and ready to help.

Mary not only stood by Jesus He stood by her. In the midst of his dying agony, He asked "the beloved disciple" to take care of her. Always she could remember His love shown for her even when others did not believe. He died to reveal God's love for all mankind, she became a source of strength to Him and to the early church.

Mary continues to inspire down through the ages. The prophecy has been fulfilled. All generations call her blessed. By all she is revered. The world would be a better place if all followed her in her words concerning Jesus at the wedding in Cana: "Whatsoever he saith unto you, do it."

"One of the president's security officers was seriously wounded and has since died of the military hospital.

"The president was unhurt.

SOME EXPLODED

On Aug. 1, 1963, a bomb exploded near Nkrumah's car in a village 300 miles northeast of here, killing four persons and injuring 36 in a crowd on hand to greet him.

It was widely reported then that Nkrumah was injured but this was denied, although Nkrumah was not seen in public for some time. At a recent treason trial of two former cabinet ministers and a high party official however, testimony was given that the prosecution minister Tawia Adamafio, one of the defendants, saw Nkrumah in hospital with a splinter from the bomb in his shoulder.

Within the weeks of the attempt, two bomb blasts were reported at his home and the Flagstaff mounted to 15 but Nkrumah escaped unhurt each time. On Jan. 8 last year another attempt on his life was reported.

In March, five persons were sentenced to death for treason arising from the August, 1962 attempt on the man whose following is called "Nkrumahism," or "The Redeemer."

HAS LARGE GROUND

Flagstaff House, where Thursday's attempt was reported, occupies several acres on the outskirts of Accra. It is among the world's most strongly fortified palaces, surrounded by four walls, each patrolled by guards in bright red tunics and carrying machine pistols and automatic rifles. Nkrumah's personal guard is hand-picked and comprises about 1,000 of the president's own Nzima tribesmen.

For several months after the August, 1962 bomb attack Nkrumah rarely ventured outside the iron gates of Flagstaff House. Since then, however, he has regained much of his old confidence and drives through the streets of Accra with only a light escort.

Recently Nkrumah has relentlessly pursued two overriding ambitions—to unite Africa under a single government and to rid the continent of what he calls neo-colonialism.

Ghana, a country of a village, goldsmith wields virtually dictatorial powers over his 7,000,000 subjects. Nkrumah has also prepared the ground for a referendum that would have installed him, for life, president-larly over the courts.

The referendum was aroused among his political foes but three days ago when he announced that he would seek to have his Convention People's Party made the only legal political organization in the country.

He recently fired Chief Justice Sir Arku Korsah and threw out the verdict in a treason trial which acquitted three persons, including three former cabinet ministers.

Two other men were sentenced to death in the trial, involving a previous attempt on Nkrumah's life.

Parliamentary Notebook

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—The Liberals apparently hope to crack the Western strength of the Conservative party by holding up former agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton as a man with feet of clay.

One step in that direction is expected to come out of the judicial inquiry now under way into the firing last August of a Conservative appointed official of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act and the payment of possibly $500,000 to Western farmers last spring just before election day.

Conservatives say they are confident the Liberals will find no wrong-doing that reflects on Mr. Hamilton or the Conservative administration.

They seem to have hoped themselves that the inquiry would give them a chance to air in public what they regard as evidence that the administration of PFAA to help the Liberal party in the years before the Conservatives came to power in 1957.

But the Liberals may have headed off any such attempt by saying that Judge Porter is to be strictly limited terms of reference. A lot will depend on how Judge Porter, a 71-year-old Moose Jaw, Sask., who heads the inquiry, interprets the terms of reference.

INVESTIGATE FIRING

Judge Pope is instructed to investigate the firing of George Walker, a PFAA regional supervisor, whose case was brought before the Commons by Conservative MP Gordon Churchill (Swift Current-Maple Creek).

It was while the Commons privileges committee was dealing with this matter that the subject matter of Judge Pope's second set of instructions arose, and he was instructed by Ottawa to make payments just before the election. Opposition spite his doubts about the rightness of such a step.

He said he wanted an investigation first of the information supplied as a basis for claims by farmers for PFAA funds. He named Mr. Hamilton's executive assistant as the source of the information supplied. He also said Mr. Hamilton backed him up originally in desiring to delay the payments pending an investigation.

The Conservative position as stated by Mr. Churchill is that the claims had been adjudicated by the board of review, and had received the final stamp of approval, had to be paid under the terms of the Act.

A number of Conservatives who were aware of the situation in the Prairies were based on the advice of the justice department and on a precedent in equipment.

SOUGHT COMPARISON

Apparently their hope was that the judicial inquiry would show that there was a difference between the Conservative administration's operations of PFAA and the administrations of former Liberal government under James G. Gardiner.

They say Mr. Gardiner's effective political machine on the Prairies, which was broken by the Conservatives in the elections of 1957 and 1958, had as its nucleus the staff of PFAA. For periods each year the staff sends men through large areas of the Prairies to investigate claims for crop damage under the insurance supplied by the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. These men are appointed by the cabinet in power at the time.

The Conservative argument is that this arrangement provided Mr. Gardiner's political friends with handy political organizing machinery. This is hotly denied by some of the men involved although it is acknowledged that some PFAA staff was drawn from the Liberal party organization on the prairies.

The chances of the Conservatives getting all this material before the judicial inquiry appeared to be dimmed by Judge Pope's instructions.

PROBE 1963 CLAIMS

He is to inquire into irregularities said to have occurred in processing PFAA claims relative to the crop grown in the year 1963 in the province of Saskatchewan."

Thus he apparently is bound to confine himself to Saskatchewan and, more important from the Conservatives' standpoint, to the year 1962. This appeared to mean that Conservatives couldn't try to show that they had pulled PFAA out of the political organizing and confined it strictly to assisting farmers' crop-failure problems.

The Liberals, on the other hand, seem to feel that the inquiry affords them a chance to demonstrate publicly that Mr. Hamilton was responsible for, if not implicated in, the use of PFAA to help Conservative fortunes on the Prairies.

The Liberals hold only three of the 40 Prairie seats and apparently think they can break even the rack any of the 41 Conservative seats there would be required a majority to force a government which lacks a commons majority.

Mr. Hamilton is considered to be chiefly responsible for the Conservatives holding so firmly the Prairies in the April election while their support in other parts of Canada faded.

Mr. Hamilton becomes a prime target from the Liberal standpoint.

outside" that a ship with 1,000 by farmers could be of any did.

"They (the firefighters) seem to have fought this thing step by step and were able to control it," he said. "It is something I cannot explain at all.

"Do you rule out any chance of sabotage?" he was asked.

REDS NO SAMPSON

"We have no evidence for it at all," said Goulandris, "and I don't imagine it will. Liberately setting fire to a ship. That is a kind of charge which is so difficult. Unless you have an indication of it, it is better not to think about it. There is no point in speculating on it."

Goulandris gave details about the fire-fighting and life-saving operations aboard the Lakonia, and said:

"There is not the slightest doubt in our mind that all the life-saving appliances on board were in perfect order."

Goulandris said the Lakonia carried 24 lifeboats, although only required to have 20, and for 600 lifejackets more than the required minimum of one per passenger and crew member.

He disputed allegations by passengers that some of the boats could not be launched.

"I can assure you these lifeboats have been lowered again and again," he said.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

By the time the Canadian, Swedish and Czechoslovakian national hockey clubs finish their current "feeling-out" series of get-togethers, they should have a pretty fair idea of their respective strengths—or will they?

The three clubs have been jousting with one another all over the country and the scoreboards indicate there is not much difference between the clubs.

South of the border the Russian nationals are having a pretty easy time with run-of-mine American teams, although the Yankee national club showed some sign of strength when they held the Czechs to a tie the other day.

The visiting nationals may not be at their full potential because of the fact they are playing under strange conditions, in a strange country and against crowds that are not exactly cheering for them.

As a matter of fact it was reported the other day that the Swedes benched two or three of their top stars. All three clubs are learning a lot about each other but from here it looks as though all hands will have to wait for the Innsbruck affair to see which is the better chips-down club.

Canadian hockey fans, particularly those of us who have travelled with our international representatives, know that "enemy" fans and an "enemy" press constitute two of the biggest hazards our clubs face "on the continent."

This mainly because of our inability or sometimes refusal to adhere strictly to international rules as played over there.

This in turn was aided and abetted by the fact that in past years a ridiculous schedule of exhibition games was imposed on Canadian clubs which were asked to travel hundreds of miles to play these games, supposedly to condition them for the world tournament.

In 1959 the McFarlands played over 19 games of this nature, trekking from hell to hockney to Helsinki by plane, train and bus before settling down to the tournament proper.

They, like their predecessors, met a hostile fandom and hostile press. They too, knew well the whistling cacophony that is the European method of "booing." They read the foreign printed word that did not exactly classify them as eligible for an angelic band. And they met a lot of good fellows, too.

It is hoped the tour of the European national clubs this winter will reveal, through their "journalists," that Canadian hockey clubs and Canadian hockey do not constitute recreational mayhem by bloodthirsty athletes. (Unless they saw the Waterloo Blakine-Kitchener Junior "B" tilt the other night when the clubs drew 125 minutes in penalties, one player drawing 40 of them.)

In fact the first time I heard it advocated was in Zurich, Switzerland, in late February, 1959, after a travel-weary game-scarred McFarlands' crew rested briefly before going on to Bratislava, Czechoslovakia.

I had flown from Paris a few hours before the team arrived from Germany. They were a tired crew. Hildebrand and Reay plainly showed signs of weariness. But they had three days to rest before the "big adventure."

"This exhibition schedule, flitting from hither to yon, is the hunk," said Ike. Reay nodded agreement.

"What do you suggest?" some one asked. "You must play to keep in condition."

"I would suggest," said Ike, "that all representative clubs play a two-game exhibition series, and let it go at that. It would provide plenty of conditioning hockey and give the clubs an idea of what they are up against. It would stop all this silly heartbreaking travelling to unknown places."

Reay agreed and both men said they would take the matter up with Bill LeBel, then CAHA president, who was travelling with the team.

Palmer Well Back

Rosburg, Sanders On Top

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Rosburg and Doug Sanders shot individual five - under - par 66's Thursday while favored Arnold Palmer had a fat 70, including a three-over-par eight, in the pro-am prelude to the $50,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

Rosburg toured the Rancho Golf Club par 36-35—71 course in 36-30 and Sanders made the trip in 35-31.

Palmer had not played since Nov. 12 when he did a television show, and admittedly needs sharpening up. His eight came on the 18th when he hit three trees and a sand trap and overchipped the pin getting on the green.

Rosburg and Sanders each collected $642 for their individual scores. Rosburg got an additional $60 and Sanders $350 more for their team scores.

Opinion was divided on the condition of greens damaged by vandals Sunday night. Many said they would have to wait to see what the traffic and the weather does to them in the next four days.

Hawks Place Four Players

AP Names Beliveau All-Star Centre

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago Black Hawks placed four players, including goal - scoring leader Bobby Hull, on The Associated Press National Hockey League All-Star team for the first half of the 1963-64 season Thursday.

JEAN BELIVEAU

Jean Beliveau, veteran Montreal centre, was named the most valuable player and Jacques Laperriere, the Canadiens' young defenceman, was chosen the outstanding rookie.

Goalie Glenn Hall, defenceman Pierre Pilote and right winger Ken Wharram were the other Black Hawks picked for the All-Stars.

Defencemen Tim Horton of Toronto Maple Leafs and Pat Stapleton rounded out the six-man squad selected on performance through games as of Jan. 1.

ARE RUNNERS-UP

Runners-up in MVP consideration were Chicago's Hall and Detroit's Gordie Howe. Defenceman Terry Harper and left winger John Ferguson of the Canadiens, defenceman Bob McCord of Boston and Pit Martin, a Detroit centre, trailed Laperriere for rookie honors.

The league itself selects All-Stars and trophy winners annually, with one vote of hockey writers and broadcasters in each of the league's six cities taken after the first half of the season and another based on games in the second half of the season.

The official ballots for the season's first half will be compiled in the NHL's Montreal office next week. Leaders will receive $1,000 and runners-up $500.

The Associated Press, selecting an All-Star team for the first time, made its choices on the basis of detailed consultations with the coaches and managers of the six NHL teams.

Protest Illegal Use Of Players

GALT (CP) — Galt Hornets have found themselves in hot water from two sources and their current 10-game unbeaten string in the OHA Senior A League is at stake in the committee rooms.

Port Colbourne Sailors, season-long cellar dwellers in the six-team circuit, have joined Guelph Regals in submitting an official protest to the OHA office, claiming the illegal use of two players by Galt.

Sailors have protested the use of Larry Favero, who scored a goal in the 10-2 Galt win in Port Colbourne last Sunday. Regals voiced their objection when Hornets played Pete Restelli against them last Friday. Hornets won that game 5-2.

Both players, who were cut by Guelph Regals several weeks ago, signed with Preston Bees of the OHA intermediate circuit. Bees have a working agreement with Hornets. Restelli and Favero were called up as emergency replacements when Galt was missing three regulars.

Kilmarnock Rangers Win Celtic Ties

LONDON (Reuters) — Glasgow Rangers and Kilmarnock moved farther ahead Thursday in the race for the Scottish first division soccer championship.

Both were while contender Celtic dropped a point and Dundee and Dunfermline both lost.

Rangers and Kilmarnock were the only first - division teams to take six points from the three holiday games.

Rangers beat Partick Thistle 4-3 on the strength of two goals by Ralph Brand and singles by John Greig and Jimmy Millar.

Rangers were two up with three minutes to go to halftime, but Thistle shocked them with two quick goals.

Kilmarnock was too strong for Airdrie, going two up in four minutes and winning 4-1 to maintain a one-point lead over Rangers.

Celtic drew 1-1 with Third Lanark, and its equalizer did not come until 20 minutes after the half.

Second-division leader Morton stretched its amazing winning streak to 22 games. Today's 7-2 thrashing of Stenhousmuir sent its goals total to 97.

SIGNS CONTRACT

EDMONTON (CP) — Import fullback Dave Casinelli of Memphis State has signed a 1964 contract with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference. Casinelli, five-foot 9½ inches, is the first import officially signed by Eskimos since the 1963 season.

'For Encouraging Violence' Campbell Fines Sullivan $200

MONTREAL (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League announced he has fined coach Red Sullivan of New York Rangers $200 for encouraging violence during a game in Montreal Dec. 12 between Rangers and Montreal Canadiens.

Campbell in his statement said also that there was a "declaration of immunity by Sullivan to one of his players, to the effect that the player personally would not have to pay any automatic fine.

Campbell related the incident that involved player Henri Richard of Montreal and Vic Hadfield of New York, who engaged in "a brief stick-swinging duel" for which they were penalized.

The altercation was renewed in the penalty box "in the form of threats" both players were given misconduct penalties, which exhausted the balance of the Hadfield fine, but both retired from the game.

"In a subsequent dressing room interview reported in two New York papers, Rangers coach Red Sullivan is reported to have stated that he told Hadfield 'that if he got another shot at the guy in the penalty box he'd take it and not to worry about the automatic misconduct fine.

MADE STATEMENTS

"My investigation shows that there is no doubt that statements of the kind were made by Sullivan in the interview as reported, but Sullivan contends that his instructions to Hadfield were misunderstood as an incitement to cause further trouble in the penalty box but a simple warning s Hadfield to be on the alert to protect himself while in the penalty box.

"Sullivan also contends that the reference to the 'automatic fine being taken care of was never communicated to Hadfield at any time but was simply an expression of his personal sentiments of satisfaction at the time of Hadfield's actions in defending himself in the penalty-box fight.

"Regardless of the exact words used by Sullivan in the interview or the impression he wished to convey, I am satisfied that he was quoted substantially correctly and there is little or no difference in the text of the quotes in the two papers.

"Both aspects of the quotations — the encouragement of further violence and the declaration of immunity of the effect of the normal disciplinary effect of the automatic fine — clearly contravene the league's bylaws.

CLUB IS LIABLE

"Furthermore, any action on the part of any official of the club to offset the effect of such a fine would make the responsible parties and the club itself liable to very heavy penalties.

"In these circumstances, I consider that a fine of $200 should be imposed on coach Red Sullivan and it is ordered accordingly."

Campbell's action marked the fifth time this season that a coach or manager has been fined for Sullivan.

Garden May Form Own Network

NEW YORK (AP) — If the American Broadcasting Company goes through with its plans to drop the weekly Friday night boxing show from television, Madison Square Garden may form its own network and continue the series.

"That's a very definite possibility," Garden spokesman John F. X. Condon said Thursday.

"There's no reason why we shouldn't or couldn't. The New York Giants did it very successfully. We could do it cheaper than the big networks and make a go of it."

Condon emphasized, however, that the whole matter "is still in the talking stage. We still haven't been notified by the network of any planned changes."

The network, in its announcement, said the show may be dropped as early as April, possibly to be replaced by another sports show.

Canadiens Nadon Tossed Punch Junior Coach Suspended

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens junior hockey club announced Thursday it has been advised that coach Yves Nadon has been placed under suspension until his case is dealt with by the OHA Junior A League.

During a game in St. Catharines Wednesday Nadon is said to have become enraged at a misconduct penalty given defenceman Lemieux.

He is reported further to have hopped from the bench, tossing a punch at referee Hugh McLean. It missed and Nadon then threw his hat at the official.

The Montreal club said it had received a wire from the OHA Junior A League regarding the suspension. The club immediately named Claude Ruel, coach the last two seasons, to handle Thursday's return game with St. Catharines in Montreal.

"I had no intention of hitting him (McLean) even though he was trying to goad me into the action," Nadon said in a prepared statement.

"He skated near our bench continuously throughout the game yelling at me and my players.

"During the altercation, which occurred by the penalty bench, McLean didn't come within six feet of me. So how could I have possibly hit him.

"I threw my hat at him but only after he jabbed me in the stomach with a stick."

Petes Whip Rangers
Habs Down Black Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Montreal Junior Canadiens moved to within seven points of the league leading Toronto Marlboro with a 6-3 win over St. Catharines Black Hawks in Ontario Hockey Association Junior A action Thursday night.

The win enabled the Junior Habs to maintain their five-point lead over the third-place Peterborough Petes who kept pace with a 5-1 triumph on home ice over last-place Kitchener Rangers.

In the only other league game, Oshawa Generals strengthened their hold on sixth place with a 5-2 win over the seventh-place Hamilton Red Wings in Hamilton.

The Junior Canadiens used two - goal performances from Yvon Cournoyer and Leo Thifault as they spotted St. Catharines a one-goal lead early in the first period.

Tempers flared three times in Peterborough as Jim Patterson paced the Petes with two goals. Mickey Redmond, Mike Self and Bob Jamieson added the other Peterborough goals, while Gord Kannegiesser scored for Kitchener.

Referees handed out 21 penalties in the game including seven majors and one misconduct.

BUYS WINNER

MIAMI (AP) — Temeo, Vennemele's all-time record money-winning thoroughbred, has been bought by Herbert Herff of Memphis for $200,000. Herff said Thursday that he bought the horse from Dr. Anselmo Alvardo on the recommendation of trainer Arnold Winkel.

Name Koufax Male Athlete Of Year

Caps Honors List

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy Koufax, a Brooklyn boy who didn't really make good until the Dodgers moved west, was named Male Athlete of the Year for 1963 today in The Associated Press year-end poll, capping a long list of honors for his amazing pitching feats.

SANDY KOUFAX

Koufax, a left-hander repulled to throw a baseball faster than anyone in the major leagues, led Los Angeles Dodgers to the National League pennant while winning 25 games, and then won two more in their four-game sweep of the World Series against New York Yankees. Previously he had been selected as the National League's most valuable player and had won the Cy Young Award as the top major league pitcher.

In recognition of his selection as Male Athlete of the Year, Koufax will be presented The Associated Press Eagles Trophy at the Chicago Baseball Writers Dinner Jan. 12.

Another Dodger, speedster Maury Wills, won the trophy last year.

In the voting by sports writers and broadcasters in the AP poll, Koufax outdistanced two of the top contenders of the 1963 football season, Y. A. Tittle of the pro New York Giants and Roger Staubach of Navy.

Sandy's name was first on 93 ballots to 11 for Tittle, who passed the Giants to the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship, received 22. In point scoring on a 3-3-1 basis, Koufax was an easy winner with 341 points to Tittle's 170. Staubach was a distant third with 84 points.

Koufax, a regular National League season, Koufax compiled a 25-5 won - lost record, took the league earned-run title for the second straight year with a 1.88 average and struck out 306 batsmen to break his own National League record.

In the World Series he strongarmed the Yankees into submission 5-3 in the first game, striking out 15 for another record, and won the fourth and final game 2-1 with eight more strikeouts.

Richardsons Win, Baldwin Beaten

Manitoba Remains Only Unbeaten Rink

TORONTO (CP) — Norm Houck of Winnipeg, who lost the 1962 Canadian curling championship in Kitchener when he missed both shots on the final end, reigned as the only undefeated rink today after four rounds of the tournament of champions at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Houck, a grim-faced school teacher, stepped into the lead in the eight-team round-robin midnight Thursday when he guided his Manitoba foursome to a 13-3 victory over Mike Slywiak of Detroit before about 2,000 spectators.

The Manitoban gave up only three single ends as they walloped the United States national champions with a pair of triple ends and a deuce.

Houck's rink go into the fifth round at 4-0 with Bob Mann of Hanover, Ont., who suffered his first defeat of the bonspiel; Northern Ontario, the world champion Richardsons of Regina in a 14-11 decision.

CROWD DIPS

Attendance to date has been disappointing, with a total of 2,500 persons on hand for the opening session Wednesday and another 3,000 in the stands for Thursday's rounds.

The Richardsons — Ernie, Arnold, Garnet and Wes—dropped their first game of the tournament to Ed Baldwin of Sherbrooke, Que., 9-6.

In the second game Houck, in a three-way tie with Gervais Richardson in 1962 and then lost on the final end to the Regina crew, got sweet revenge and the likely jewelled consolation when over the Canadian curling king.

Richardson edged Doug Cameron's Charlottetown rink 8-7 in Thursday's third round then gained momentum as he fought off several brief comebacks in the fourth round against Mann. He didn't thriller came when Ray Grant o Unionville, Ont., gained an 8-7 win over Matt Baldwin's Edmonton rink in the final end.

Granville, Gervais, the burly Albertan who made his first appearance at a Canadian championship sliding a Newfoundland rink, moved into a second place tie with Mann by edging Cameron and crew 14-12.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Minneapolis Bruins Thursday night defeated Cincinnati 3-2 in a Central Professional Hockey League game. It was Cincinnati's 20th defeat.

Wings' goalie Joe Daley, on a one - game trount, made 41 saves. He was loaned from Johnstown, Pa., Jets of the Eastern Hockey League.

Canada, US, Czechs For Second

Picks Russ To Win Olympics

OTTAWA (CP) — Secretary-manager Gordon Jukes of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association said Thursday night that he believes Czechoslovakia, Canada and the defending champion United States will fight it out for second place in the Olympic hockey matches beginning next month in Austria.

Jukes, accompanying the Czech national team on its 11-game Canadian tour, made the prediction after watching the Czechs skate to a 6-3 win over Ottawa Nationals at Ottawa - St. Lawrence Senior League. About 6,500 packed the auditorium to see the game.

The Czechs now have won four, lost two and tied three in their four exhibitions to night in Sudbury against the Canadian national team. They wind up their Canadian appearances Sunday in Maple Leaf Gardens against Sweden.

"There's not much difference between the Canadian, American and Czech teams," Jukes said. "But the Russians look like the best club now."

The CAHA official also said the Ottawa game was one of the roughest the Czechs have played in Canada. Referees Gordon Pranschke and Percy Shore called 20 minor penalties, 11 of them to the Czechs.

Mr. Liston's Prediction

Flatten Clay In Three

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston said Thursday that he doesn't think it will take him more than two rounds to flatten challenger Cassius Clay in Miami Feb. 25.

"I don't think it'll go past two," said Liston. "It better not go past three."

Liston explained that he has bet a friend a wrist watch that he will silence the talkative Cassius in two rounds.

The champion, looking cheerful and fit, also told 3 press conference why he is training in Las Vegas instead of Miami.

"I don't like to hear that loudmouth," he said. "If I was in Florida, I'd hear it."

"I'm going to train harder for Clay than I did for Patterson,' said Liston.

Liston said he has no quarrel with Clay's being rated No. 1 contender.

"I'm not in the rating business. They rate 'em. I fight 'em."

"I'm in good shape for this one," he added.

He plans to start sparring Monday. Liston will stay in Las Vegas about a month.

LOYOLA WINS

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Loyola of Montreal nipped Yale 5-4 Thursday in the opening game of the annual Renssalaer Polytechnic invitational hockey tournament. Loyola and Yale swapped the lead until Loyola's Roger Legault slapped a 30-footer into the net at 18:21 of the second period. The third period was scoreless.

FAULKNER IS BACK

DETROIT (CP)—Alex Faulkner, 26-year-old centre from Bishop's Falls, Nfld., will be back in action with Detroit Red Wings Saturday when they meet New York Rangers in a National Hockey League game in New York. Faulkner was sidelined for 15 games after he suffered a broken hand in a game in Toronto Nov. 30.

Just Missed Record

Wheat Kings Nail Title

WINNIPEG (CP) — Brandon Wheat Kings missed a record in the Manitoba Junior Hockey League by two days when they clinched the league's regular season title Thursday night.

Coach Jim Morwell's undefeated club clinched its fifth consecutive title with a 10-2 drubbing of St. Boniface Canadiens.

In the standings, Wheat Kings have 43 points on 21 victories and one tie while second-place Fort Frances Royals, with only nine of 30 games remaining, have 34 points.

The record is held by another Wheat King club, the Memorial Cup finalist edition of 1948-49.

Under the Wheat King banner for the first time—the name had been changed from Elks on the eve of that season 15 years ago—Brandon captured the pennant New Year's Day.

WON 27 OF 30

That edition, which bowed to Montreal Royals in an eight-game Memorial Cup final, won 27 of 30 during the regular season. At one point this season, Brandon put together 20 straight victories and scored 171 goals while limiting opponents to 74.

In 22 games this year, the Wheat Kings have scored 167 goals and allowed 60.

Now Brandon fans are getting a little excited. The western Manitoba city of 37,000, has never won a Canadian hockey championship although it has been in at least seven playoffs.

Brandon teams played for the Stanley Cup, the Edinburgh Trophy, the Allan Cup and twice for the Memorial Cup, but lost out each time.

Juniors Host Trenton Tonight at 9

Belleville "B"s, in the middle of a four-game "home stand," will entertain the sell-out Trenton "C"s in an OHA Eastern Junior Hockey League game at Memorial Arena tonight. Game time is nine o'clock.

The "B"s, who do not have a road game scheduled from December 21 to January 20, defeated Picton here last Friday and after tonight's tilt with Trenton, play host to Picton again next Friday and to the Cananoque Islanders on Friday, January 17.

Coach Ed Piata and his boys would like to make the most of these home games since the club fattes up the schedule late in February with three in a row on the road.

Belleville has won four games, lost seven and tied two, good for 10 points in the campaign to date. Their record shows four wins and three defeats on home ice but a less impressive no wins, four losses and two ties on the road. The ties have been gained on their last two away games. They are looking to cash in that department.

The club has been getting most of its scoring from the hot line of Grant Hagerman, Stu Muirhead and Jim Rutherford. Bill Lang and Don Hancock, a couple of players who joined the club after the season had started, have also been showing well. Ted Rowland has been the backbone of the defence.

Trenton will be gunning for an upset here tonight, however, and the locals will have to work to earn a victory.

New Game Girdello Boxer of Year

MIAMI BEACH, (AP) — Joey Girdello, newly-crowned middleweight champion, was named by the World Boxing Association Thursday as its Boxer of the Year.

Girdello, who dethroned Dick Tiger as ruler of Nigeria Dec. 7 in a major upset, won the annual award over heavyweight champion Sonny Liston and bantamweight champ Eder Jofre, who tied...for second.

Two middle weight fighters were listed in the WBA rankings. George Chuvalo was rated as the No. 8 contender in the heavyweight division and Peter Schmitt was No. 8 among the junior middleweight challengers.

Half-Hour Topical Revue To Open Next Friday

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—That Was the Week That Was makes its NBC network debut as a weekly half hour topical revue next Friday and it may prove to be television's most daring experiment of the year.

Marshall Jamison, Broadway play director who has charge of the series, admits the show, which will base its humor and satire on the news of the day, will not have the mass appeal of a program such as the Beverly Hillbillies.

That Was the Week That Was is an adaptation of a brash English program. The original was so irreverent that it has been discontinued until after the British election at least.

The American program will be live and Jamison expects much of its material will be found in the world of politics.

"Things change so fast you never can be sure that will be usable," Jamison said.

"We were planning to do a song called Nobody's Mad at LBJ in our opening show next week, but now it seems to me a lot of people are furious at him for one thing or another. Maybe we can change the lyrics a little."

Elliot Reid, who has a deft way with comedy line, will be host of the series, and Henry Morgan and David Frost (host of the English version) carrying the heaviest roles in sketches. Nancy Ames will sing, in folk-song style, a commentary on each week's news.

Recommended viewing: Saturday—The Many Worlds of Jackie Gleason, CBS special, 7:30-8:30 p.m. EST, saluting the comedian on his 35th show business anniversary, with Art Carney.

Salesman Gives Statement

Says Parrilli Beat Him

CHICAGO (AP) — A salesman told authorities Thursday he was severely beaten by Tony Parrilli in a New Year's Eve brawl that resulted in the fatal shooting of the former college and professional football player.

Parrilli, 24, former University of Illinois star later associated with Chicago Bears and Washington Redskins, died from a bullet which a police chief said he fired accidentally. The shooting occurred in a washroom scuffle during a party at the suburban Willow brook Bowling Lanes. Mike Ditka, a Chicago Bears end, is part owner of the lanes.

Du Page County authorities have called the shooting accidental but said a grand jury investigation will be conducted to determine whether charges should be filed.

In Miami, the National Football League announced it would conduct its own investigation.

Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, said he has assigned assistant Jim Hamilton to investigate the shooting and prepare a report "as a matter of routine." Hamilton is a former Los Angeles detective.

WAS SOUGHT

The salesman is Ray Messmaker, about 33, of suburban Palos Heights, sought for questioning since the shooting.

Elmer Rosen, chief deputy sheriff of Du Page County, said Messmaker appeared voluntarily at the sheriff's office and gave a signed statement about the brawl. He was not held. Rosen quoted Messmaker as saying Parrilli, whom he did not know, attacked him without provocation in the wash room. Rosen said Messmaker had two black eyes, a split lip, and two loose teeth.

CHANGES NAME

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor James H. J. Tate announced Thursday he has signed a bill changing the name of Philadelphia Stadium, site of the Army-Navy football game, to John F. Kennedy Stadium in honor of the assassinated president.

North Shore Hockey

Wellington and Stinson's Construction registered easy wins in Prince Edward North Shore hockey league action in Wellington last night.

Stinson's blanked Melville Shoreliners 5-0. Wellington downed Consecon by an 11-3 count.

Wellington led 3-0 after one period and 6-0 going into the final twenty minutes against Consecon. Gary Pyke, Al Pettingill and Al Rawlie each claimed two goals and two assists, while Eldon Carson got two and one, for Wellington. Joe Scott had a goal and assist while Norm Kerr and Ed Ross also scored.

Consecon, drawing seven of the game's 11 minor penalties, got two goals from Jerry Matis and the other from L. Harvey.

Stinson's potted three goals in the first heat, one in the second and doubled the total in the final period against Melville.

Larry Hull was the scoring ace with three goals and one assist. Bill Generesaux had two goals and one assist while Pete Mitchell, Reg Ell and John Emerson had a-goal apiece.

The game was fast and clean with just five minor penalties.

Quinte Hockey League

Horlock Electric and Ter-Haar battled to a 4-4 deadlock while Belch Construction scored two third-period goals to clip SACO 6-4 as the Quinte Hockey League resumed action last night.

Both Belch's third-period markers came from the stick of B. Boulter, snapping a 4-4 tie. Each team scored once in the first and three times in the middle frame.

Yeme, D. Hallam, L. Rowbotham and D. Wood fired earlier Belch goals. L. Westfall drew two assists, B. Boulter, Wood, Hallam, Rowbotham and J. Boulter one each.

A. Deline bagged two SACO markers, Knapton and G. Crabbe notching the others. B. Porteous and L. Potter earned two helpers apiece, Deline, A. Burris, J. Calnan and D. Lucas one apiece.

B. Lambert scored Horlock's final two goals, one of them the lone marker of the third period to give his team its 4-4 tie. R. Poste and G. Little had the other goals. L. Soule earned three assists, B. Wannamaker, B. Hill and R. Poste one each.

Ter-Haar, ahead 1-0 after one period and 4-3 entering the third, got two goals from H. Pointer and one each from T. Morgan and D. Moore. B. Jeffery drew two helpers, G. Duggan and B. Pointer one each.

HORSES KILLED

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP)—Thirteen thoroughbred racehorses died in a fire Thursday at the Palmyra Fairgrounds. The fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed the grandstand and caused an estimated $118,000 damage, according to police. The horses were in a stable beneath the grandstand.

TV Buddies Make Plans As Borgnine, Merman Wed

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ernest Borgnine says his McHale's Navy buddies have his wedding to Ethel Merman all planned.

Borgnine returned to the television series this week after his surprise announcement in New York that he and Miss Merman will marry in July. He reported the cast's plans for the event:

"Joe Flynn will give the bride away, Billy Sands and Fuji (Yoshio Yoda) will be bridesmaids, Gavin McLeod will be the ring-bearer and Cary Vinson will stand outside the church and cry."

Borgnine's divorce from Mexican actress Katy Jurado isn't final until June, and there have been reports that he might seek quicker freedom.

"I don't think so—although Miss Katy Jurado has been very nice to offer to get a Mexican divorce to speed things up, he said. "Ethel and I are not in that much of a hurry.

SHE'S FABULOUS

The romance was a cyclonic affair. Ernie took another date to a Hollywood party a month ago and heard Miss Merman sing. His reaction: "Holy cow, she's fabulous; He told her so.

They had several dates, then Ernie flew to New York the day after Christmas and popped the question. Her reply: "I thought you'd never ask.

She is coming here this weekend, and they will make further plans. One matter seems settled: they will live here.

Ethel says she wants only to be a good housewife, although she might do an occasional stint on TV or something like that, said Borgnine. "She won't do another Broadway show; she made up her mind about that a couple of years ago.

"I dont want her to quit the business entirely. This great talent should never be hidden. She has too much to offer the world.

He added that they have plans to honeymoon in Japan, where neither has been.

MAKES U.S. DEBUT

The Beatles, British singing quartet, make their North American TV debut on the Ed Sullivan show Feb. 9.

STARTS MONDAY

FIRST BELLEVILLE and DISTRICT SHOWINGS!

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For January 6

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Check with business associates. Fine time for getting to know "competition." Means turn on Aries charm. Open doors to greater success through your personality.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Expand — spread influence; gain knowledge. Emotional "fireworks" result if you repress feelings. Key is greater self-expression. Applies especially with member of opposite sex.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): You are now able to strike responsive chord where public is concerned. Your personal magnetism rating high. Get out and around tonight. Impress one who influences you. Take the initiative!

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Key is being reasonable. Means analyze thoughts, motives and emotions. Find out the reason for things. Don't act in haste. Take time to be convinced. Find evening indicated.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Avoid scattering forces. Moving in all directions at once is foolish. Make plans. Carry them through. Check budget. Be sure you know how time and money are spent.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Count blessings. Be appreciative of recent "victory." Cycle remains high. Show willingness to take a chance on personal abilities. If necessary, tear down in order to rebuild.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Not so good for trying to keep secrets. Best to be open, frank, forthright. Most reliable guide is Golden Rule. Cycle high. Have confidence. Change advocated. Relax tonight.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Strive for objectivity. Face facts as they exist. Trying to gloss over situation not advised. Suggestion from friend may not "hold water." Par better to be self-reliant.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Day keynoted by attitude of acceptances. If you have to accept decision of one in authority, it will work out favorably, though now you may be skeptical. Highlight cooperation.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Read Aries message. Take initiative in community projects. Say yes to added responsibility. Your prestige due to rise. Diplomatic approach best. Close friend can prove valuable ally.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Changes due where income is concerned. Favorable if you are flexible. Means be willing to make adjustments. Be determined, but not stubborn. Be farm, but not fanatical.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Cycle starts climbing. Emotional burdens begin to lift. You now see your way "clear." Read Gemini message. Express cheer, good will, but be sure to obtain sufficient rest.

If today is your birthday . . . you are capable of bearing up under tension. You work best when deadline is approaching. You are happy when there is pressure."

GOVERNMENT SWORN IN

ATHENS (AP) — King Paul swore in a new 16-member caretaker cabinet Tuesday—the fourth Greek government in six months—to prepare for a new national election Feb. 16. The new political government headed by Ioannis Paraskevopoulos, a 53-year-old economist, takes over from the cabinet of George Papandreou, who resigned a week ago rather than try to work with pro-Communist support.

NOTICE

THE ONTARIO
MUNICIPAL BOARD

NOTICE UNDER SECTION 30
OF THE PLANNING ACT

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the County of Hastings has adopted on the 16th day of December, 1963, the following amendment to the provisions of Section 30 of The Planning Act, as approved by His Restricted Area By-Law 1813 passed on the 22nd day of December, 1963, the full text of which is given hereinbelow and explanatory note.

ANY person interested may, within fourteen days after the date of the publication of this notice, file with the Municipal Board of his objection to approval of the said By-Law together with a statement of the grounds of such objection.

The Ontario Municipal Board may approve of the said by-law but before doing so it may solicit and hear such written and oral objections to the by-law will be considered.

DATED at Toronto this 27th day of December, 1963.
R. VICKERS,
Secretary.

FORM 103-B
NOTICE OF APPLICATION to The Ontario Municipal Board by the Corporation of the Township of Ameliasburgh for approval of a By-Law to regulate land use passed pursuant to Section 30 of The Planning Act.

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Corporation of the County of Hastings has applied to the Ontario Municipal Board pursuant to the provisions of Section 30 of the Planning Act for approval of By-Law No. 1813 passed on the 16th day of December, 1963.

A By-Law to amend By-Law No. 1813, passed as a By-Law to regulate the location of buildings and structures and the density thereof in certain County Roads.

WHEREAS it is deemed necessary to alter the distance for the erection of future buildings and structures on land adjacent to certain County Roads;

THEREFORE the Corporation of the County of Hastings enacts as follows:

1. That Clause 1 of ByLaw No. 1813, passed by the County of Hastings on the 24th day of January, 1956, be and is hereby amended to read as follows:

That no person shall erect any building or structure within 50 feet of the limit of the roads under the nearest limit of the County Roads or such greater distance as hereinafter defined, that 33 feet where the road is 66 feet wide; and in all other cases, no closer than 23 feet.

2. This ByLaw shall come into force and take effect from the time that it is passed by Council subject to the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board.

PASSED IN OPEN COUNCIL this 16th day of December, 1963.
Charles Wannamaker, Reeve
Clerk

EXPLANATORY NOTE

The Corporation of the County of Hastings has by By-Law 1734, dated the 24th day of January, 1956, set back building lines on roads and adjacent to County roads as follows: Class 1 — 66 feet wide and 66 feet wide. It is now proposed to apply to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval of By-Law No. 1813 which will change the distance of building lines and structures on such roads to 50 feet right-of-way, and roads to 50 feet right-of-way, and roads which have 100 feet right-of-way.

By-Law No. 1813 will have the effect of the nearest limit of the road allowance.

CARL E. BATEMAN,
Clerk-Treasurer.

Any person interested may, within fourteen days after the date of the publication of this notice, file by registered mail or deliver to the Municipal Board at Toronto his objection to approval of the said By-Law together with a statement of the grounds of such objection.

The Ontario Municipal Board may approve of the said by-law but before doing so it may solicit and hear such written and oral objections to the by-law will be considered. Notice of any hearing will be given by the Board only to persons who have filed an objection.

The last date for filing objections to the said By-Law is the 27th day of January, 1964.

DATED at the City of Belleville, this 27th day of December, 1963.
CARL E. BATEMAN,
Clerk-Treasurer,
County of Hastings.

PITY THIS SITTER! The parents rode away, then later phoned to give her a thousand-word list of instructions.

Just a Few Suggestions From a Babysitter

By JACK HUTTON

It's nearly evening. Street lights blink through softly falling snow as TV sets are turned on in window after window down the street for after-supper programs.

Time to relax?

It may be for you or me, but not for several thousand Canadian girls. It's time to start work for our unsung heroines: the babysitters.

Watch them trudge through the snow, determined to arrive at the evening's assignment before Junior can coax his mother into letting him stay up to watch the next hour of TV.

If a national association devoted to preservation of babysitters doesn't exist now, it should. At least that's what I gather from Aileen Johnston, a 15 - year - old correspondent from Halifax, N.S.

But let Aileen speak for herself. If you have suggestions for her, I'll be glad to pass them on through the column.

"One of your columns recently mentioned courses available for girls or fellows who want to be babysitters," writes Aileen. "May I suggest that's not what we need. We need courses for the mothers and fathers."

FLAT TIRE

"Every one talks about better qualifications for babysitters. Maybe we should brush up on first aid or other essentials, but what about parents who promise to return at midnight and come in at 3 a.m.?

"You'll do every babysitter in Canada a service if you print something about the other side. Here are just a few suggestions for people hiring babysitters:

"First, get home at the time you tell the babysitter.

"Gosh knows why some people think this is unimportant. Our parents worry. We have school in the morning. All sorts of complications.

"We understand the occasional time when something happens — a flat tire, unexpected problems or that sort of thing. But have people forgotten that Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone?

"Secondly, make a list whenever possible of the things the babysitter must do. A friend of mine was bawled out the other night for not turning down the furnace thermostat. How was she to know they always did that at 9 p.m.?

"A girl friend says she heard rustling sounds at the back door of a house the other night but didn't bother to check. She thought it was the wind. The folks were mad because they claimed their cat almost froze outside.

"Thirdly, why expect babysitters to become involved if the people want to be 'Good-time Charlies'? Nothing annoys us more during this holiday season than having to listen to stories of their parties after they come home.

"I won't say anything about the husbands who try to get fresh after these parties. Needless to say, we just don't go back to those houses. Leave it to the wives to worry about that.

"I also wish some parents would stop accepting Junior's word about cuts every time. The other night I must have walked 10 miles carrying glasses of water to a wide-eyed 9-year-old. When his folks got home he claimed I wouldn't give him a drink.

"I always enjoy your column because I feel you're on our side. So maybe you'll strike a blow for the 'HYPBA — the Help Your Poor Babysitter Association."

Here's another letter, this time from "A Regular Reader" in Vancouver, B.C., commenting on my suggestion to remember the birds this winter.

"We enjoyed your column on feeding birds, but Dad claims you didn't mention a birdfeeder anyone can make. According to him, yours was a bit complicated.

"We made a birdfeeder this winter with a tin can and two metal pie plates. You boil a fruit tin can between the pie plates, turning the top plate upside down. The tin can has V's cut into it with a can opener. Fill it with bird seed and it will spill out as the birds eat it up.

"Just hang this in the backyard or from a window, and you're bound to get results. Believe it or not, we pass out about two pounds of feed each week."

NEW STAMP

As we predicted, the first stamp honoring the late President J. F. Kennedy is already on the market. Costa Rica has issued a stamp as one of a set honoring visitors to a Latin American conference last year.

The price, however, is a bit stiff. The New York price for the set is $2.65. Other countries should issue stamps soon more in line with our pocketbooks.

with the United Nations charter.

The Tass summary of the message added:

"The Soviet government is deeply convinced that an understanding by them to settle territorial disputes by peaceful means only would go a long way toward putting international relations in order.

DISARMAMENT URGED

"It can be said with confidence that in the new situation created by the conclusion of an agreement on the renunciation by states of the use of force to settle territorial disputes it would be much easier to find a solution to other fundamental international problems. This applies above all to the problem of disarmament.

"The Soviet government has arrived at the conclusion that while continuing to work tirelessly for the solution of the problem of general and complete disarmament it would be useful simultaneously to reduce our efforts in eliminating acute frictions in relations between states and centres of tension."

Tass said Khrushchev pointed to Formosa:

"This island since ancient times is a component part of the Chinese state. The unlawful occupation of Taiwan (Formosa) by American troops must be terminated. The island is an inalienable part of the People's Republic of China and would have been reunified with it long since were it not for the external interference of another state."

Khrushchev also singled out Korea, Viet Nam and Germany as areas where the use of force in settling frontier disputes should be renounced.

The territorial claims of "revenge - seeking states which were the aggressors in the Second World War must be resolutely rejected as incompatible with the interests of peace," because nothing but a new world war may grow out of these claims.

The Soviet leader added:

"Especially dangerous to all mankind would be an armed border conflict in that part of the world where both world wars started in the past, and where the bulk of the troops and armaments of the states belonging to the two principal antagonistic military alignments are concentrated in our time. There is no escape—there is no disputing this."

There is no doubt, Khrushchev said, that such a conflict would war escalate from some frontier clash it would spare no

NO SOVIET 'MADMEN'

"Nobody but mad or hatred-blinded political figures can put forward such a prospect," he said. "I should like to say quite definitely and firmly that in the Soviet Union there are no such political figures and had they appeared they would certainly have been committed to a madhouse."

The conclusion of a treaty of the kind he proposed, said Khrushchev, would, "like a fresh wind, sweep away much in international life that has been artificially contrived and is an obstacle to the relaxation of tension in the world, and to the consolidation of peace."

"It would further soften the international climate and provide a good foundation for the growth of trust between states."

Copies of Khrushchev's letter were delivered to the United States, the United Kingdom, Turkey and others.

Port Credit Gets Permit To Tax Line

PORT CREDIT, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Municipal Board ruled Thursday that this town west of Toronto may levy a business tax on Canada Steamship Lines for the operations at Port Credit's government dock.

The CSL had appealed the decision of Alex Thompson, the town assessor, to tax the shipping company. A later CSL appeal was dismissed by the court of revision but a county judge then upheld the appeal.

The municipal board's ruling overthrowing the judge's decision will mean that the town will receive about $7,000 a year in taxes from CSL.

The company had claimed it was not a tenant within the meaning of the Assessment Act because it was leasing a publicly owned wharf.

TOP INDEPENDENCE

In February, 1959, the same parties met in London and worked out the involved arrangement under which Cyprus received independence from Britain in 1960 and became a member of the British Commonwealth.

That conference drafted a constitution providing the island's Turkish minority a veto over major legislation, plus other minority rights. But the constitution has been a continual source of friction between Greek- and Turkish - Cypriots. The Greek community outnumbers the Turks four to one in a population of nearly 600,000.

Makarios' attempt to end the minority veto sparked the current crisis. Turkish - Cypriots charged he was attempting to whittle away their rights. Makarios says the change is needed to pass required legislation.

Wednesday, Makarios announced he was tearing up the 1960 treaties and agreements. But after Britain and Turkey challenged his right to act by himself, he said he would seek their disagreement by negotiations.

Announcement of the London meeting came as the NATO permanent council met in Paris to consider a request by Greece that the Atlantic alliance "prevent any unilateral Turkish action" in Cyprus.

Greece complained that Turkey, one of the NATO allies, had concentrated troops and naval units near this British Commonwealth island in the eastern Mediterranean under the pretext of routine manoeuvres.

Delegates of the Scation alliance during a one-hour session heard "further statements from the three powers principally concerned to bring the council up to date on the situation in Cyprus," a NATO spokesman said.

The spokesman declined to give details of the extraordinary session, held in secrecy inside a almost-deserted NATO building.

In Ankara, authoritative sources said the foreign ministry had handed a memorandum to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain, Cyprus and Greece calling for further measures to restore order on Cyprus.

(They said the memorandum proposed reinforcing the British, Greek and Turkish forces on Cyprus and warned of further serious developments on the island.)

The bulk of an 800-man contingent of British paratroopers was due to fly in to Cyprus following an advance party which left Britain Tuesday. The troops will bring to 2,000 the total number of troops airlifted from Britain within a week.

British army doctors searched for bodies in the charred ruins of gutted Turkish-Cypriot homes on the outskirts of Nicosia.

Burning 50 houses in the village of Trakhonas was one damaged by fire and another 10 destroyed by fire and looted during the last week in communal fighting.

Across the neutral zone which runs through the village the Turkish Army contingent held its positions. Turkish troops patriot side about 500 yards from British posts.

A British spokesman said today Turkish-Cypriot irregulars in Trakhonas handed over 11 Greek-Cypriot civilians, including nine women, who were captured Wednesday.

Narrow Search After Distress Signals Heard

HONOLULU (AP) — Searchers narrowed their hunt today for nine men aboard a missing U.S. Air Force plane after distress signals were heard in the area where the aircraft was presumed downed.

The first solid clue to the whereabouts of possible survivors of the C-124 Globemaster cargo plane came late Thursday when another Military Air Transport Service C-124 picked up three clear S O S signals.

That plane was bound from Wake Island to Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii when it heard the signals while about 1,100 miles west of the islands and headed for the area under search—750 miles west of Hawaii.

The air force said the distress code was on the same frequency used by Gilmore Girl radio transmitters, which are standard equipment for all 20 man rafts carried on air force planes.

Approximately 20 air force and coast guard planes and three navy ships fanned out over the area where the plane was last heard from early Thursday.

The plane which went down was bound from Tokyo to Honolulu to the mainland with 18 pounds of cargo. Based at the Air Force Base in Utah, it refuelled Wednesday at Wake, then departed on the 2,300-mile leg to Hawaii.

Turkey's Special Role In Cyprus Is Contested

Makarios to Meet Stiff Opposition in London

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Archbishop Makarios, Greek - Cypriot president of Cyprus, has called on the coming London conference to free the embattled Mediterranean island from foreign "intervention and interference."

His demand, aimed mainly at ending Turkey's special role in Cyprus, was certain to meet bitter opposition from the Turkish-Cypriots at the conference opening later this month.

In his first general press conference since fighting broke out Dec. 21 between the island's Greek and Turkish - Cypriot communities, Makarios expressed confidence peace would be restored between the ancient rivals.

To accomplish this, he said, the London conference must create "a really independent and unified state free from any form of foreign intervention and interference."

He promised to seek such a solution, if the London talks fail, "with all peaceful means at our disposal," including recourse to the United Nations.

Makarios and Dr. Fazil Kutchuk, Turkish-Cypriot vice-president, agreed to send representatives to London after a strenuous diplomatic effort by British Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys. Britain, Greece and Turkey, guarantors of Cyprus' 1960 independence treaties, also will be represented.

Kutchuk placed another obstacle before the conference by declaring again Friday the Turkish and Greek communities can no longer live beside one another in peace on the island. He again demanded the partition of Cyprus.

Makarios told the press conference partition is an unfeasible solution.

In London, the British government pressed all concerned to agree on an early date for the conference so Britain can soon withdraw additional British troops flown to the island to help keep the peace.

Russia Pays Cash For U.S. Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. agriculture department approved Friday the sale of 1,000,000 tons of wheat to the Soviet Union with export subsidies in excess of $25,000,000.

The more than 37,000,000 bushels of wheat, valued at $30,000,000 at U.S. prices, will be sold by Continental Grain Company of New York for $78,500,000—the world price plus delivery costs for shipping it to Russia.

The subsidy is designed to keep the exporter for the difference between the U.S. prices, fixed by farm price support programs, at which he must buy and the world price at which he must sell the wheat.

A department spokesman said the Continental sale was the largest single commercial grain deal ever made by a United States concern. He said the Russians will pay in cash.

The agriculture department said the Continental sale amounts to about one-fourth of the total the Soviet Union is expected to buy during the current marketing year.

Meanwhile, the commerce department granted export licences for shipment of about $85,000,000 worth of surplus wheat to the Soviet Union. It now has issued export licences for about 125,000,000 worth of wheat to be sold to the Soviet Union.

This included an additional authorization for Continental to export its wheat to Russia. Previously, the firm had obtained permission to export $40 600,000 worth.

These developments apparently opened the door for eventual sale to Russia and other Iron Curtain nations of millions

Monuments Start For Centenary

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — All provincial capitals as well as Ottawa should have big new imposing monuments to the Fathers of Confederation by 1967.

The monuments will most likely take the form of grand new libraries, art galleries, the musical centres, or similar buildings.

Already an arts centre is nearing completion in Charlottetown, one is planned in Quebec City, and one is being developed under special federal sponsorship in Ottawa.

The Fathers of Confederation memorial buildings in the Prince Edward Island capital—to be opened next spring—started the trend when the federal government put up $2,800,000 and other provinces pledged support, and the $5,600,000 project got under way last year.

The 1964 year is the centenary of the first meeting of the Fathers of Confederation in Charlottetown. The first real step towards welding the British colonies of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Canada—the Upper Canada into Confederation three years later.

QUEEN MAY ATTEND

The centenary will be marked by a season-long program of music, comedy and drama at Charlottetown. Performers at the nationally - televised event are expected to include the Canadian comedy team of Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster. Chairman of the centenary celebration will be a visit from the Queen, if all goes right.

Prime Minister Pearson said Friday an invitation to the Queen is being considered. If she accepts it will go forward and will be accepted soon after the Queen has her fourth child.

After the federal government to support the Charlottetown project, Quebec was assured of a $4,000,000 grant from Ottawa to build a similar arts centre in Quebec City marking the October conference of the fathers of confederation there in 1864.

MAY KNOW MONDAY

The federal government has approved similar $2,500,000 grants to the other eight provinces. Terms of each grant are expected to be announced Monday.

However, most provinces already have plans well under way. Newfoundland and Nova Scotia plan major concert halls and Manitoba and Alberta are voting the money to the big new provincial government offices buildings already under way.

Ontario's plans were not firm at the time federal officials met with provincial representatives here last month. Manitoba and Saskatchewan are leaning toward art centres and although Alberta is thinking in terms of a new provincial archives building, and British Columbia contemplates a threatre for Victoria.

MONTREAL (CP) — A competition to seek a symbol for the 1967 Montreal World's Fair may be held, it was learned Friday.

Robert F. Shaw, deputy commissioner-general of the fair, announced that the management of the Canadian Corporation for the 1967 World Exhibition will recommend to the corporation's board of directors that a national competition be held.

The fair previously chose a symbol designed by Julien Hebert of Montreal but it was discarded after it ran into severe criticism in Parliament.

Huge Human Tide Pours By Wall as Visits Near End

BERLIN (AP) — A huge human tide poured through the Berlin wall today as the Communist concession of holiday visits to the East sector neared its end.

By noon more than 100,000 persons had surged through the Communist controlled gates, the official East German news agency ADN reported.

While the Berliners made the most of their last 48 hours of visiting politicians of East and West jockeyed for political position.

Both sides have called for negotiations to allow West Berliners to visit the Soviet sector of the divided city after the present holiday crossings of the wall end at midnight Sunday.

The United States, Britain and France authorized West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt to negotiate a new agreement with the East Germans.

In East Germany, Communist party boss Walter Ulbricht, seeking full Western recognition for his regime, called for far-reaching East-West agreements to settle all problems of divided Germany.

Communist authorities prepared to handle the biggest single-day flow of West Berliners through the wall since the visits began Dec. 19.

Teams of workmen watched by armed border guards, further enlarged the five crossing points in the wall after authorities predicted that a record 200,000 West Berliners would visit relatives in the Eastern sector today.

The previous record for a single day was set last Sunday, when 151,000 passed through the five checkpoints. Immense traffic jams were caused by 17,000 cars crossing into East Berlin.

There was little doubt that the wall would close again Sunday as scheduled under the current agreement. There was no indication when new talks would begin to reopen the wall to West Berliners, who saw their relatives during the holidays for the first time since the barrier went up 28 months ago.

Liberals Opposed To Titles

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Friday his government is opposed to recommending titles for Canadians.

He referred in the House of Commons after a cabinet meeting to publisher Roy Thomson as a "former Canadian," and congratulated him on being made a baron in the Queen's New Year's honors list.

But Mr. Pearson pointed out that the hereditary peerage was given Mr. Thomson on the recommendation of the United Kingdom government.

In London earlier this week, Mr. Thomson denied that he had given up his Canadian citizenship to take up British citizenship and qualify for the title. Mr. Thomson said he would make a full statement of his position in Toronto next week.

Mr. Pearson said Canadian government policy on recommending titles for Canadians is unchanged. It was his first statement on the subject since his government took office last April 22, and he referred to carrying on the policy observed by other Canadian governments since 1935.

POLICY IS SAME

"Government policy is unchanged. (It is) not in make recommendations to the Queen for honors for Canadians."

When a reporter noted that Mr. Pearson referred to Mr. Thomson as "a former Canadian," the prime minister said:

"I don't think anyone would deny that Mr. Thomson was a Canadian. My information is that he now is a citizen of the United Kingdom.

"Our law says that a Canadian outside Canada, in acquiring other citizenship, cannot be a Canadian citizen." (Mr. Thomson) may not have realized the technicalities of the law, but that is the effect of the law."

The House of Commons passed a resolution in 1919 declaring its opposition to Canadians receiving honors that include titles. Non-title distinctions, such as awards of the Order of the British Empire, were instituted during the Second World War and the immediate post-war years.

HONORARY AUTHORITY

Titles, however, were reintroduced for Canadians by R. B. Bennett while he was prime minister from 1930 to 1935. He took the view that the 1919 Commons resolution was not binding on the new government.

His Holiness Greeted By Jordan's King

Says Visit Spiritual One to Sacred Places

AP Religion Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Pope Paul VI opened his historic pilgrimage to the Holy Land today with an expression of hope for all men to "attain to universal peace in true brotherhood."

The 66-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church told Moslem King Hussein of Jordan the three-day visit is "a spiritual one, a humble pilgrimage to the sacred places made holy by the birth, the life, the passion and the ascension."

"At each of these venerable shrines," the Pope said, "we shall pray for that peace which Jesus left to His disciples, that peace which the world cannot give, but which comes from the fulfilment of His commandment: To love one another as He loved us."

Shrine on the Pope's itinerary today included Christ's Way of the Cross through the old city of Jerusalem, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre and the Garden of Gethsemane. Sunday, he visits holy places in Israel, across the no man's land dividing Palestine. He goes to Bethlehem Monday before returning to Rome.

The spiritual leader of the world's 550,000,000 Roman Catholics was garbed in simple vestments of white as he alighted from an airliner to the cheers of thousands waiting in Jordan's capital at Amman.

A driving northeast wind and a low ceiling over the airport made the landing at Amman uncertain until the last moment. But clearance was given, and the big DC-8 jet landed at 1:15 p.m. after a flight of three hours and 30 minutes from Rome. The temperature was 48 degrees.

A 21-gun salute boomed across the field, welcoming the Pope as head of the Vatican City state and 15 white pigeons were sent aloft.

KING PRAISES VISIT

"This visit is an occasion we will always remember and treasure," Hussein told the Pope. "We hope that this pilgrimage to the Holy Land will be a success in every way and we hope that we, as men-

Nikita In Poland For Talks

WARSAW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev relaxed at a secluded hunting lodge in northern Poland today while world leaders digested his proposal for an agreement renouncing the use of force to settle territorial disputes.

There was no official information concerning the discussions between Khrushchev and his host, Polish Communist party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka, and other Polish and Soviet leaders in the thatched - roof hunting lodge in a forest region about 100 miles northeast of Warsaw.

Western observers in Moscow believe the talks centre on the Chinese-Soviet ideological dispute in preparation for a possible meeting of world Communist leaders on Peking's threat to the Kremlin's leadership.

Gomulka was expected to try to dissuade Khrushchev from calling such a meeting, arguing it would threaten unity in the Communist camp. The Moscow observers say the Soviet leader had been toying with the idea since it was suggested last fall as a means of settling the Moscow-Peking quarrel.

Khrushchev and Gomulka are expected to mix hunting with their talks, as they have done every winter since 1956, but there was no word of such sporting activity Friday.

The group came out once Friday for a walk through the

Bit of Old New France Added To Chateau Laurier Basement

OTTAWA (CP) — Once upon a time there was a carriage in the basement of the Chateau Laurier.

It was quite a famous cafeteria in Ottawa's most famous hostelry, a subterranean eating spot where you might catch a cabinet minister supping with a Senator.

But with its kitchen clatter its green tile walls and drab decor, it had about as much charm as a public washroom.

Now it's gone.

In its place, there's a bit of old New France, an early Quebec inn with stone walls, an old well and waitresses with low-cut blouses.

It's called L'Auberge and it's supposed to be a bilingual coffee shop.

And it's the first stage of reformation in the Chateau Laurier, a hotel within the shadow of Parliament Hill where they used to say more government business was done than anywhere else in the nation's capital.

The CNR, which owns the Chateau, is going to restore the old hotel to its past glories when prime ministers resided beneath its tall turrets and dukes and queens entertained in the grand ballroom under its glass chandeliers.

Air conditioning, redecoration, outside lighting, more parking space—all are planned for the old hotel that marked its golden anniversary last year.

For the first time Friday, the massive doors to L'Auberge were swung open to public by Mayor Charlotte Whitton serve up Auberge pea soup as a formal inauguration.

Said Ottawa's peppery woman mayor as she dipped a ladle into the soup cauldron:

"This is the first time since taking office that I've been ladling out soup."

In Northern Ontario it will continue mainly cloudy with a few periods of light snow.

Sen. Barry Goldwater After Republican Nomination

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Conservative Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona who announced Friday he will seek the Republican presidential nomination to offer the U.S. "a clear choice" of philosophies, is determined to go all the way in his bid for the White House.

Win or lose in the presidential primaries he enters, Goldwater says he will stick with his race for the nomination until the Republican national convention chooses its candidate next July.

Nevertheless, Goldwater announced also for re-election to the Senate seat he has held for 12 years.

"I find no incompatability in those two candidacies," he said.

The filing deadline for the Arizona senatorial primary is 120 days before the date the Republican convention opens in San Francisco.

Goldwater, who had insisted he would not run for both the Senate and the White House, would not say whether he will withdraw from the Senate race if he wins the presidential nomination.

"I will cross that bridge when I come to it," he said.

Four years ago, Goldwater called President Johnson a political trickster when the Texan ran for both the vice-president and the Senate.

Kitchel said both he and Goldwater are confident the senator can win the nomination.

"I think we'll probably have it wrapped up by early spring," he said in an interview.

Goldwater and his wife planned to return to Washington today to launch the campaign he announced Friday, when he bobbled on crutches in the midst of his hilltop home and declared:

"I will seek the Republican presidential nomination . . . because I believe it can be done. I believe and because I am convinced that millions of Americans share my belief in those principles.

"I have decided to do this also because I have not heard from any announced Republican candidate a declaration of conscience or of political position that could possibly offer to the American people a clear voice in the next presidential election."

Goldwater had a calcium deposit removed from his heel four days before Christmas, and still is on crutches.

Tonsillectomy Now Regarded As Status Symbol in Britain

TORONTO (CP) — Try to tell a screaming five-year-old that tonsillectomy is a status symbol undergo is a status symbol and you may get a kick in the shins. However, in Britain, the operation is being performed more among the rich than the poor and has come to be regarded as a status symbol, says an article in the Jan. 28 issue of the Journal of the Canadian Medical Association.

"Our law says that a Canadian outside Canada, in acquiring other citizenship, cannot be a Canadian citizen." (Mr. Thomson) may not have realized the technicalities of the law, but that is the effect of the law."

A tonsil is a formation at the back of the throat made of lymphoid tissue which prevents infection entering the body orally by absorbing it. Lymphoid tissue is a meshwork composed of lymphocytes, a type of white blood cell. The adenoids are located behind the nasal cavity and perform a similar function for infection attempting to enter the body through the nose.

Trouble starts after a child has had three or more throat infections. A tonsil loses its immunity to the infection and more serious types of disease begin to develop, such as recurring early warning signs such as sore throat.

Dr. McKee advanced four main conclusions from the study:

1. Tonsillectomies achieve best results when performed before five years of age;

2. When a child aged five to seven has had three recent throat infections, tonsillectomy can be expected to give good results only if performed within a year;

3. The development of immunity to throat infections is usually more rapid in older children;

4. Tonsillectomy is justified in children of any age when there is clear evidence of the recurrence of throat infection for more than two years.

Greek and Turkey Cypriots Cannot Forget Old Quarrels

By DOUG MARSHALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Greeks and Turks have been at odds with each other since Greece threw off the shackles of the Ottoman empire in the early 19th century.

The trouble in Cyprus now seems to be that the separate communities cannot forget ancient quarrels and settle down to the business of being just plain Cypriots.

In the wake of terror and bloodshed there are high hopes for some sort of permanent settlement at the four-country conference in London. Sources in Nicosia say it will probably convene in two or three weeks time.

Meanwhile, thanks to the diplomatic efforts of Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys and the cooling presence of some 12,000 British troops, tension in Cyprus is relaxing and an uneasy truce reigns.

Observers in London seem with satisfaction that Turkey has ceased her hostile feints. Open war between Greece and Turkey, which seemed incredibly possible in the heat of the moment, now is highly improbable.

ANXIOUS FOR SOLUTION

Neither the caretaker government in Athens nor the minority government in Ankara really wants to add to its troubles and both are anxious for a solution in London.

That just leaves the Cypriots themselves.

The island's 1960 constitution is in ashes. It was at best an unwieldy compromise, designed to protect the Turkish minority. It avoided the two extreme demands — union with Greece or the Turkish cantonal formula for partition.

There are signs that President Makarios now may be willing to accept partition as the only way out. Vice - President Kutchuk has long maintained that this is the only feasible solution.

But it is clear that Britain will do everything in her power to prevent her former colony being divided into two opposing factions, ever ready to settle market place disputes with the business end of a gun.

More likely Sandys and his cabinet colleagues will work for a reformed, more practical constitution with elaborate safeguards for the Turkish-Cypriots. Whatever this stage prevtends agreement will be sealed and it may be necessary for a United Nations or United Nations force to occupy the island for some time.

Hasty Pees Plan Drive For Recruits

Calling all army - minded youths . . .

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is conducting a recruiting drive on Monday night for new recruits.

The Regiment is primarily interested in high school students with satisfactory grades between the ages of 16 and over. Those interested are requested to report to Support Command at the Belleville Armouries on Monday night between 8 and 10:00 p.m.

Recruits will receive such training as parade drill and handling of fire-arms and will get a chance to attend field training, using regular army weapons, at Camp Petawawa. They will also be enabled to attend summer camp with other militia units for two weeks during the summer and various weekend drills during the year throughout the year.

At the armories itself, recruits will receive training in wireless operating and mechanical transport driving.

There is also wide opportunity for advancement to higher ranks.

80,000 Cheques Mailed Out For Election

TORONTO (CP) — About 80,000 cheques are being mailed out from here to cover the cost of the Sept. 25 Ontario election, and one official estimates the final cost will be more than $3,500,000.

Mary Coombs—assistant to Chief Electoral Officer Roderick Lewis, said Friday the final cost of the election cannot be determined because some accounts still must be submitted.

The cost for each of the 108 ridings it is expected to range from $5,000 to $30,000 with general expenses incurred by Mr. Lewis boosting the figure to the $3,500,000 estimate.

Miss Coombs said final figure would probably be available in May.

Trial In Crash Near Belgrade

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—At least 40 persons were killed today when a crowded passenger train ran into a passenger train standing in the Jajinci Station nine miles south of Belgrade.

More than 120 people were injured, and by noon 13 had died in hospitals. Workers were still recovering bodies from the wreckage and many of the injured were in critical condition.

Official sources said they did not know of any foreigners among the dead so far.

Yugoslavia declared a day of sorrow throughout the state on Sunday. All entertainments were cancelled and flags were at half staff.

The commuter train from Pozarevac was more crowded than usual because of the New Year holidays. Most shops and factories in Yugoslavia have been closed for the last three days.

Forty ambulances were called in and hospitals in the area appealed to the population for blood donations.

Almost all of the dead and injured came from the commuter train, witnesses said. They said the train was moving at full speed, which usually is about 40 miles an hour.

The train's engineer said he believed he had a clear track because there was no signal indicating otherwise.

DIDN'T SEE TRAIN

"I could not see the rear coach of the other train since there was a slight curve ahead of me," he said.

"I was only 100 metres away when I suddenly saw the other train. I did not have time to react to happen but I couldn't prevent it. All I could do was to safeguard the steam boiler to prevent it from exploding. I don't remember anything else from then on."

Train conductor Zivota Jevtic said the train was so crowded "he wasn't even room to stand."

Most cars were taken to hospital with injuries.

Turnips are on the market at $1.50 the bushel or 10c each, and sour cabbage are selling at 20c to 25c the head.

Ed Perkins Retains Boxing Title

Perkins floored the scrappy, courageous Japanese challenger in 1:57 of the 13th after a bruising battle which American title holder dominated most of the way.

Perkins knocked Takahashi down for a mandatory eight-count with a flurry of lefts and rights in the 13th then piled on him with another series of blows which downed the hapless challenger halfway out of the ring.

The Japanese crawled to his feet again but collapsed and was counted out. He was brought to in the middle of the ring, apparently badly hurt and was still unconscious in the middle of the ring while a crowd of 5,000 stood silently.

Perkins weighed 139¾; Takahashi 139¾.

G. T. Greatrix New Master Of The Belleville Lodge; C. Heath Banquet Speaker

New Lodge officers for The Belleville Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 123, were installed at installation ceremonies held on Thursday evening at the Masonic Temple.

A large number of Masons and other guests attended the banquet prior to the installation ceremonies, with guest speaker for the evening being Charles Heath, secretary of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Board.

Formerly with the Ontario Cheese Producers Marketing Board in Belleville, Mr. Heath has visited countries in connection with his work and told of recent developments in Africa with the emergence of newly-independent states.

The new master of The Belleville Lodge is George T. Greatrix who succeeds Eugene Harrison as the lodge head. The installation of the new officers was conducted by Russell C. Woodley, assisted by past masters of the lodge.

BOARD MEMBERS GUESTS

Attending the lodge banquet were 40 members of the official board of Bridge Street United Church, including Rev. Harry M. Davis. Newton Thompson proposed a toast to the new master-elect, while Ray M. Gunsolus thanked the speaker.

Clare A. McFaul, District Deputy Grand Master of Prince Edward District, replied to the toast to the Grand Lodge, proposed by C. A. Stanley Smith. Mr. McFaul congratulated Mr. Harrison for his successful year as lodge master and expressed best wishes to the incoming master.

The modern and extensive practices in agriculture and other industries in North and South Rhodesia and in Nyasaland were outlined by Mr. Heath. He said farms varied in size from 2,000 to 15,000 acres, were serviced by electrical power and have their own brickyards. Such farms are not subject to land tax and have only sales and income taxes to contend with.

FASCINATED BY FALLS

The speaker said he had been fascinated by the high mile-wide Victoria Falls, with the huge mining enterprises and the modern schools and hospitals, often with the best of them operated and occupied by negroes.

Southern Rhodesia, favored with a delightful and temperate climate, was described as a land of farms producing remarkable yields of corn, tobacco and sugar. Mr. Heath said Canada had recently received her first shipment of sugar from Rhodesia.

Because of the great size of the farms farm homes were necessarily far apart. The average farm employed about 40 colored workers and others, who must be retained the year round. Accommodation is provided in compounds clustered about the proprietor's home.

Due to the action of termites there is almost a complete absence of wooden buildings. Construction is generally of brick, concrete or steel.

Mr. Heath said the white man was mainly responsible for the development of the country. The white population had increased considerably but was still outnumbered by the colored ones and this situation was considered by Mr. Heath to have contributed to the unspoken fear existing there today.

In addition to African countries Mr. Heath has also visited many other parts of the world including Malaysia, Japan and Hong Kong. He praised the Canadian method of contributing toward the Colombo Plan whereby peoples of underdeveloped areas are assisted to help themselves.

Worshipful Master, George T. Greatrix; immediately Past Master, Eugene W. Harrison; senior warden, Harold J. McNish; junior warden, William Stewart; treasurer, Ronald H. Godden; secretary, Harry C. Bates; assistant secretary, Geo. A. E. Mountford; senior deacon, Franklyn Ray; junior deacon, William D. Dixon; inner guard, Harold C. Burley; senior steward, Kenneth Richards; junior steward, Clarence D. Fuzen; chaplain, W. J. Needham Throop; director of ceremonies, W. J. James Rapino; historian, George W. Rutledge; auditors, George S. Stanton and William G. Black; assistant stewards, Donald H. McCurdy, Grant Stickle, Joel H. Mazer, and Lloyd A. G. Doran.

Following the ceremony, Bro. William Adams was presented with a gift in recognition of many years' service as tyler of the lodge.

Bilingual School to Open In Hull Area

By RONALD LEBEL

HULL, Que. (CP) — A unique school will open its doors here within a month.

The school will occupy the main floor of a new office building in downtown Hull, across the Ottawa River from the national capital.

The "pupils" will be limited to 30 in number and range in age from 21 to 45. Call volunteers, they will be paid more than $100 a week to attend classes.

The school will be operated by the federal government. Half the pupils will be English-speaking, half French-speaking.

They will spend eight hours a day learning a second language, French or English, for 10 to 12 weeks. All will have an aptitude to learn languages. All will hold important government jobs where a knowledge of both French and English is valuable.

SPURS FRENCH

The school is the first concrete manifestation of the Pearson government's drive to make French a working language in the civil service and make French-Canadians feel at home when they are dealing with or working for the government.

The school will have two classrooms and a modern language laboratory equipped with tape - recorders, sound - proof booths and film projection equipment.

Two teachers will teach English and French during the first latest simplified oral methods. The principal will be Jean-Marc Hamel, 38, former secretary of the civil service commission and himself fluently bilingual.

OTTAWA (CP) — Erection of bilingual traffic signs in Ottawa is illegal and should be stopped, City Solicitor Donald V. Hambling said Friday.

He said no bylaw has been passed approving a 1956 city council resolution calling for English and French traffic signs on the Montreal Road, at the intersection of the Chaudiere and Interprovincial bridges linking Ottawa with Hull, Que., and in the predominantly French-speaking By Ward area of Overlawa East.

"In Ontario any corporate act should be authorized by bylaw before it is binding on the corporation," he added in a written legal opinion released by Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

(All federal property in the Ottawa-Hull area, the city of Hull and adjoining Eastview, Ont., are bilingual traffic signs).

Of the 17,000 traffic signs in Ottawa, about 350 are in both English and French in the By Ward area.

Some 800 paratroopers left Britain for Cyprus Friday. When the airlift ends, more than 2,000 troops will have been sent to Britain's regular Cyprus garrison of 10,000 men, mostly air-force personnel.

TROOPS BECOME SLIM

The emergency has reduced Britain's home reserve to only two fully equipped battalions. When Parliament reconvenes on Jan. 14, many members are expected to ask how the government plans to meet emergencies in a number of hot spots, including Malaysia, Aden, the Kenya frontier and Kuwait, all under British protection.

Julian Gromer to Present Idaho Adventure at Collegiate

Next Thursday evening the eleventh "Travel and Adventure Series" of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville, will be presented at the Belleville Collegiate auditorium with Julian Gromer as narrator under the title, "Idaho Adventure."

This presentation is the latest adventure of Mr. Gromer and will be both a mental and pictorial treat to old and young alike. The narrator will take his audience to the source of the Snake River; they will view the majestic Grand Teton Mountains; visit a dude ranch for young people; Sun Valley and the mystic craters of the Moon; see the fabulous growth of flowers at 20,000 times their normal growth; rolling sand dunes; attend the Hagerman Rodeo and water sports on Brownlee Lake and the Oxbow Dam; the impressive interpretation of the Sun Festival and many more accompanied with high fidelity music and sound effects.

Julian Gromer is one of the real favorites of travelogue audiences who are delighted with his love of adventure; his interest in people and his fine professional narration, all of which will be enjoyed on Thursday evening at 8.15.

Record Stinks Magistrate Tells Accused Man

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate O. C. McClevis frowned Friday on the marriage plans of Clarence Edward Jordan, telling him "your record stinks" and sending him to reformatory for 12 months despite the anguished cries of his fiancee.

The magistrate ordered Mrs. Iradell Yule, a 20-year-old divorcee, not to associate with Jordan in the future as a condition of her probation. Both had been convicted of assaulting a police officer.

Mrs. Yule told the magistrate, however, that "we're getting married next summer!"

"You won't be," replied Magistrate McClevis.

"I reckon we are," she snapped."

"And I reckon you are not," Said Mrs. Yule: "I don't like that."

"You're not going to talk back to me," the magistrate said.

The charges were placed against Jordan, 28, and Mrs. Yule after a constable who was questioning the pair was struck and his arm was badly bitten.

Magistrate McClevis noted that Jordan had 28 convictions during the last 10 years, mostly in Stratford.

He told Jordan: "The only thing that caused this girl's conduct and actions was living with you."

New Machinery For Handling Divorce Actions

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament's new machinery for handling divorce petitions from Quebec and Newfoundland swings into action Tuesday.

Senate Divorce Commissioner Allien M. Walsh, 51-year-old Montreal lawyer, will hear eight or nine petitions under the new system granting the Senate power to dissolve marriages performed in the two provinces.

After hearing a divorce petition, Commissioner Walsh will make a report to the Senate divorce committee recommending whether a divorce should be granted. The committee then decides whether a resolution should be presented to the Senate to dissolve the marriage.

This system, made possible by a private bill passed by Parliament last August, replaces one under which all divorce petitions from Quebec and Newfoundland, only provinces without divorce courts, were in the form of private bills which had to pass both the Commons and Senate.

Kiwanis Club Officers Installed

TRENTON — On Thursday night, Carl Reid, Kiwanis Lieutenant governor for O.Q.M. District 6A, conducted the annual installation of officers at the Trenton club. Sworn in was a slate of officers, headed by Dieter Rolf, 1964 president. Other officers installed for the year were Fraser (Bob) James, vice-president; Douglas Adams, treasurer and Al Perry, secretary.

Two-year directors installed were Frank Hyland, Walter Lachine and Edward Jordan. Following the second year of a two-year term will be Kenneth Bailey, Kenneth Stafford, Ted Kinsella and Ronald Jeffery.

COUNCIL INVITED

Mayor James MacDonald and the members of 1964 council have been asked by the Trenton Ministerial Association to attend the first Week of Prayer service, Monday night, Jan. 6 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The starting time of the Week of Prayer services, previously announced as 8 p.m., has been changed to 7.30 p.m. for each of the four scheduled meetings.

SAYS ICE NOT SAFE

Trenton police today reiterated their previous warning about the unsafe condition of river ice. Parents are asked particularly to tell their children not to attempt to skate on the river. Ice in the bay, say the police, is considered safe for skating. Many fish shanties have appeared on the bay, and eateries are reported as being "safe to middling."

Mayor Wants Walks Cleaned Of Snow

TRENTON — This week's snowfall presented no special problems for the public works department, town engineer E. Aldersey said on Friday. Mr. Aldersey said the snow is plowed on the east side of town by the Bassett firm and on the west side of the river by the new eight-foot dump truck, equipped with snow plow, of which the town took delivery in December. The snow is then picked up in rented trucks and dumped on the ice-surface of the bay at a point south of Bayshore Park. Working for the department at the present time are 20 to 22 men.

Meanwhile, Mayor MacDonald has called for the public works committee of council, headed by Councillor Joseph Gould, to devise some method of clearing the sidewalks of snow. Mr. Aldersey said that this matter would be taken up at an early committee meeting and that if arrangements feasible to remove snow from the walks, "Belleville," he said, "has been doing it for years by means of small machines."

PLANS SPENDING CUTS

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson announced Friday cuts of several hundred million dollars each for agriculture, Atomic Energy Commission and space programs as he worked to keep the fiscal 1965 budget just under $100,000,000,000 if possible. The president said the space cuts would be made "without damaging our goal of a man on the moon by 1970."

Coexistence, Chinese Style

On the eve of the New Year, Premier Chou En-Lai of Communist China said his government favored peaceful coexistence.

If this statement could have been taken at its face value, it would have transformed the international situation.

Unfortunately, the circumstances under which Chou made his observation rendered it suspect. It was in an interview taped for the French government television service. . . .

In international politics as in Tin Pan Alley's philosophy of love-making, it ain't what you say, it's the way that you say it—because the way and the where often provide a signpost to the why.

Right now, rumour has it that President de Gaulle of France is toying with the idea of attempting to make China's millions play the role of consumers for France's expanding industrial complex. To achieve this, he envisages eventual recognition of Communist China, his price being the communist equivalent of the capitalist world's "most favored nation" treatment in the realm of trade.

De Gaulle may have trouble selling such a policy to French industrialists, many of whom have reacted to the socialistic tendencies of the French masses by embracing extreme rightist views. It seems obvious that de Gaulle's problems in this regard would be eased if he could present assurances that the Chinese communists were not determined on cutting all capitalists' throats, after all. Chou's sudden about-face on the issue which has split the communist world was thus a most welcome, but perhaps not an unexpected, New Year's gift for Le Grand Charles. It would appear to indicate that the Chinese communists see some advantage for themselves in a trading pact with France.

Nikita Khrushchev is much too shrewd an operator to misinterpret Chou's tricky backfield manoeuvres with respect to coexistence. However, just to make certain that lesser minds in the communist world did not get the message twisted, Chou followed his tape recording by interrupting his African tour to visit Albania, the "hard-line" dissident amongst Eastern Europe's communist community. As plainly as possible, he was saying that China's version of coexistence was not to be confused with Khrushchev's version, which China interprets as appeasement, in the Munich-inspired "dirty-word" connotation of that once respectable and admirable trait.

Johnson Copies Kennedy

President Johnson, by withholding his signature, has vetoed a bill passed by Congress which would have hampered exports of Canadian lumber to the U.S.

The bill would have required such lumber to be marked with the country of origin. It would also have required a "country-of-origin" label on all imported products each time they are repackaged in the U.S.

On the face of it, the bill does not appear unreasonable. Its objective, though, was to erect an additional barrier against imports.

This is not the first time that Congress has approved such measures, only to have the President refuse to approve of them. President Kennedy also had vetoed such a bill.

President Johnson is thus doing no more than maintaining consistency, but this is significant because it gives reason to hope that the trade policies which President Kennedy advocated will be supported by President Johnson in other fields, too.

While the bill might have reduced Canada's sales of lumber to the U.S., the effects would not likely have been drastic at once. There is, however, another decision which will have an immediate reaction on a Canadian industry. This is the question of setting oil import quotas for the coming year, and whether Canada is to continue to enjoy exemption from such quotas. Because Johnson comes from the oil-rich state of Texas, there has been some concern that Kennedy's policy might be altered. Johnson's stand with regard to the bill affecting lumber will give oil firms new hope that Johnson will copy Kennedy's policy with respect to oil imports.

What is growth — is it getting bigger or getting better? What is a good standard of living, more things to consume or better things to appreciate and discriminate? Which is the better use of the moon: to hit it with a rocket or just to look at it? Where are the frontiers of human enterprise? Should people build and pioneer always outward or sometimes inward? — Robert Redfield.

Ottawa Offbeat

Knowles Could Well Be First Canadian Permanent Speaker

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Through sheer ability and special qualifications for the exacting responsibilities, Stanley Knowles, the quiet Socialist, may yet make Canadian history as Parliament's first Permanent Speaker.

One of the "old" CCF Parliamentarians, and even yet a bit unfamiliar in the ranks of the "new" NDP Members, he occupies a very particular or private corner in the public mind.

He has been enduring. Except for the four-year break in his Parliamentary career, he has been there in the Commons, Session in and Session out, while other CCF-NDP Members have come and gone and been forgotten.

Knowles is something like old M. J. Coldwell, so long the CCF national leader, in that if people didn't always agree with him — and they certainly didn't — there was never any question that they always respected him.

And that respect, perhaps, largely was for his Parliamentary scholarship.

Stanley Knowles knew what was tradition, custom and precedent in Parliamentary procedure when most others, including some of former prime ministers, wondered.

And he knew the Commons by the hand on a couple of memorable occasions and let them know it in that kind of their own bewilderment.

NO FOLLOW UP

There was never any question that Stanley Knowles is the most knowledgeable Parliamentarian in the working mechanics of the House of Commons.

There was never any question that if anyone was qualified to be Speaker, Permanent or otherwise, it was he.

And there was never any question that he was considerably unlike it as a CCF-NDP Member.

But distinction beckoned him, seven years ago from across the floor of the House, and he was being so urged.

In 1957, John Diefenbaker, to almost everybody's, not excluding his own astonishment, became Prime Minister, and wrote to Stanley Knowles, suggesting, but really making no firm offer, that he might be Parliament's first permanent speaker.

Unfortunately for Parliament, the two old friends never really got together on it. Stan Knowles didn't follow it up in typical fashion, and John Diefenbaker, with the first exploratory suggestion, didn't pursue it.

They had been in the Commons since the early 1940's, Diefenbaker having been elected '40 election and Knowles in '43, and together they had fought the Battle of Parliament.

That was the first retreat of what rapidly became the ultimate rout of Parliament, but once seemingly indestructible Liberal "Empire" that had endured for 23 years back to 1935.

NOW THE LIBERALS:

So they were brothers-in-arms, sharing the exhilarating victory, but out of pride or something, neither of them, made the necessary advances he might well have made Stanley Knowles Parliament's first career Speaker.

Now there is a distinct rumble of political thunder that out of the dimness of the very probable — alliance between the Liberals and the NDP, currently being negotiated in the lower echelons of command in both parties, might emerge Stan Knowles, and again as permanent speaker.

If a political Liberal-NDP marriage were arranged, gossip has it that such an appointment for Knowles, together with a cabinet post for Socialist Leader Tommy Douglas and perhaps for his deputy, Douglas Fisher, would be part of the ceremony.

What endures Stan Knowles that good, that now the Liberals, like the Conservatives, would want him as permanent speaker?

It's simply a matter of excellence. Knowles knows his stuff, better than anybody else in the Commons, not excluding any of the Speakers except possibly Rene Beaudoin who made the running of Parliament his life and work before his career blew up in the political explosion of the Pipeline.

Knowles made his first Commons speech back on February 3 of 1943.

When it was over, Mr. Speaker Allison Glen observed that the speech had been read but that a freshman MP could not really be expected to be familiar with all the rules.

THOU SHALL NOT:

For perhaps one of the Commons considerateness — like most such laws, usefully broken — is that speeches must be made, mostly, read.

But poor Stan Knowles, fresh and green from the Prairies 21 years ago, had been assured by his colleagues that it would be alright to read his maiden speech, since the Commons and Mr. Speaker were understandably tolerant of new Members.

Then, when he sat down, perhaps well content that he hadn't done badly, he was horrified to see the Clerk of the Commons, Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, approach Mr. Speaker and audibly call his attention to the fact that the new MP from Winnipeg North Centre had been reading from a manuscript.

It, of course, was a rebuke, and a humiliating one.

In dismayed silence, the gaunt, dedicated CCF freshman accepted it, and the pain of his acute embarrassment, made two resolutions:

He never again would read a speech in the Commons (and never has).

He would learn the rules of Parliament, page by page, cover to cover (and has).

Stan Knowles' standing in Parliament as a living, breathing book of Commons laws, is such that nobody would be particularly surprised if he somehow were to produce, on authority on traditions, customs and rules of the House rather than Beauchesne or Bourinot. Which perhaps proves that you don't have to be dead to be good enough to be recognized — and that in this tricky business of running Parliament, if you're good enough, you might just get to be Canada's first permanent speaker.

Universal Disease Test

New York Times

Medicine's dream of a universal diagnostic test, one which would spot and identify every conceivable disease in its earliest — and most easily cured — stages, is a little closer today.

Some cautious hope seems justified by research being carried out at the Johns Hopkins University, where preliminary results reported by Dr. W. H. Price and his colleagues suggest that substances produced as cancer, tuberculosis and schizophrenia may be identifiable early through the characteristic changes they produce in a hitherto obscure constituent of blood — the gamma globulin, which are complex combinations of proteins and carbohydrates.

If the present study stands up as a universal diagnostic tool proves successful, much of the credit will belong to the chemists — notably the Swede, Arne Tiselius — who pioneered the techniques of electrophoresis, which the Johns Hopkins researchers are employing.

This technique takes advantage of the fact that in a liquid mixture of different molecules there are differences of amount and kind of electrical charge carried by each substance. In an electrical field, molecules of different charge move at different speeds and, therefore, the original mixture can be broken down into a series of bands, each consisting primarily of a single component. The hope now is that each disease has its own unique and identifiable band pattern that can be identified when the serum succeeds in a patient's blood, subject to analysis by electrophoresis.

Mixed Pleasure

Peterborough Examiner

Do you remember the tall, nickel-trimmed, "urn-topped, inglassed, heater that sat on the side mat in the farm living room? a Quebec daily newspaper asks. No, but we do recall shovelling several hundred tons of coal into a dad-blasted, findangling, con-busted, pot-bellied furnace in the basement. Does that answer your question?

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 4th, 1944.

In his address at the inaugural meeting of the City Council, Mayor Robins propounded. "Fellow Members of the City Council and Citizens of Belleville. . . . I do not stand before you today proposing any radical departure from the course we have followed with such satisfactory results the past year. Again I emphasize, that I am absolutely opposed to unsanctial capital expenditures while the year is in progress. It is conceivable that certain improvements may really be necessitated or that changes may be required to protect past investments. It should always be remembered that any city which stands still is actually on the way to grass - grown streets and doors that hang by one hinge. Belleville is on the up and expanding city where every form of business finds a congenial home. Commerce and culture are the possible attainments of every household. There certainly appears to be the objective of public organization and the aim of private enterprise.

You may take it for granted that the City Council for the year 1944 will do all in its power to encourage that new spirit of advancement which means so much to the future of Belleville. Cities do not just happen. They are built by co-operation. That healthy co-operation and leadership the Council for 1944 is prepared to give.

Hoods Good Neighbors

Financial Post

Thanks to the efforts of Signor Joseph Vilachi, the historian, the names of leading criminals flourishing in various parts of North America have become public knowledge.

But an odd thing happened in Miami Beach. There the names and addresses of the local bandits got into the newspaper. Some alarmed citizens, finding out who their next-door neighbors were, made frantic calls to the police for advice.

The police reassured them. Hoodlums, they were told, are very quiet people at home, care not trouble, don't give loud parties, take good care of their property.

Best all, their houses are under constant surveillance, which means that everybody within shouting or shooting distance gets free burglar protection the year round.

So now when a Miami Beach developer advertises homes in a "select neighborhood," his readers will know exactly what he means.

Hydro Demand Drops Nov. 11

Ontario Hydro News

A striking example of how the demand for electricity reflects the home-and-business activities of the province occurred at 11.00 a.m. on Nov. 11. For two minutes, as Canadians everywhere said a silent prayer for the fallen of two world wars, electrical demands on Ontario Hydro's East System dropped 500,000 kilowatts — enough power to supply a city the size of Hamilton.

Normally steady demands at this hour fell off sharply from 10.52 a.m., reached a low at 11.00 and continued to hold the drop level at 11.08 as machines of commerce and industry resumed work.

Removal of Cysts Is Preferred to Draining

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of draining cysts in the breasts instead of removing them by surgery? I had two removed in less than a year and now I find I have another on the other breast. Is there a higher risk of cancer when you are prone to get these cysts? I am 31. — Mrs. F. V. C.

There isn't much point in draining cysts, whether in the breast or elsewhere.

A cyst, by definition, is a saclike or hollow enclosure in medical practice, it most frequently means that the sac is a gland of one type or another, and has become closed. Thus the material which should flow from the gland cannot escape, and the cyst swells and becomes painful.

If you drain such a cyst, the discomfort is relieved because the pressure is relieved. But the cyst then seals over, and the whole process recurs. And that is why removal, rather than draining, is preferred.

Some people have trouble with cystic conditions — cysts or more or both breasts. The breast tissue, of course, is full of small milk glands. Why you get them tend to become cysts in some individuals and not in others is not easy to answer, but this happens.

When several become encysted it doesn't mean there is "more" to the patient. It seems like a lot. But it is few as compared to the many thousands of the glands which continue to work normally.

These cysts are not related to cancer. Indeed, when more than one lump (more than one cyst) appears, it is a good sign. Cancer ordinarily begins as a single, painless lump.

However, while the presence of cysts is in no way an indication that cancer is likely, neither is it a guarantee that a cancer may not appear. The danger is in taking for granted that a new lump is "just another cyst." Therefore report it to your physician so he can determine its nature.

Dear Dr. Molner: A friend is using a bleach to lighten the hair on her lip. She gets sores and pimples in her nose almost every time although it doesn't seem to hurt her lip. I've been telling her the directions say not to use it on any part of the face, is there anything harmless on the market to use as a lip bleach? — V. P.

Hydrogen peroxide is about as harmless a bleach as you could use. Evidently she is sensitive to something in the present bleach and ought to abandon it, if only because such pimples won't enhance her appearance. They could, of course, become the site of infection.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it necessary to douche after menstruation? I am 27 and never have done so because frankly I don't know the first thing about it. — L. E.

No, it isn't necessary, and many gynecologists feel that needless douching can even be harmful at times. Douching is, however, often of use as a means of medication.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was surprised to read your article on keeping cool that I had a refrigerator for several days. I understood that it loses its vitamin content in no time, refrigerated or otherwise. After that it is sugared water. — M. L.

Scottish Names Drop

Milwaukee Journal

The register general for Scotland has been looking over birth registrations for the year 1858 and currently, and finds a definite Anglo-American influence governing the names chosen for boys and girls. A cyclic swing exists, too. Mary, Martha and Betsy were favorites. Today there is a trend to Jacqueline, Elaine and Sandra.

There is some clinging to tradition, though. Margaret was the top favorite 100 years ago as it is now, although Elizabeth has moved easily into second place, replacing Mary, which is now third. When it comes to boys, John, James and William have steadily headed the list of names by that order. But there has been a spectacular drop in the old Scottish names of Donald, Malcolm and Duncan.

However, there are still parts of Scotland and Ireland where old customs live on. The register general for Scotland who don't follow the fads when it comes to names. The register general for Ireland reports sisters labeled Gawain, Tearlach and Uladzan (all boys). He furthermore reports the fact that shakes one's faith in Sir Walter Scott; Smith is and has been the surname of Donald, Malcolm and Duncan.

His Holiness

bers of the Jordan family, will be able in a little way to show our gratitude to you as a man and as a great leader in the service of humanity and the service of peace. . ."

In Jerusalem, enthusiasm mounted as the Pope's motorcade left Amman airport for the drive to Jerusalem.

Pope Paul dismounted from his car at the Amir Abdullah Bridge, which crosses the River Jordan—in which Jesus was baptized — and descended on foot to the river bank. There he stood in contemplation, then turned and blessed the crowd of thousands which lined the banks on both sides.

He took off his headgear as he approached the water's edge at a spot the traditional pilgrimages, particularly on the Feast of the Epiphany Jan. 6. He dipped his hand in the muddy water.

As he climbed back to the road, the crowds moved closer and the police shouted in Arabic "irja 'lal wara." (step back). Amman radio said a helicopter flying overhead was piloted by King Hussein to assure that all went well.

He returned to his car with crowds pressing so thickly around him that progress was slow.

By the time he returns to the Vatican late Monday, the 66-year-old Pope will have travelled 3,500 miles by plane and car, possibly the longest papal trip in history. He will have visited Moslem Jordan and Israel and will have had the first meeting in five centuries between a pope and the spiritual leader of the Orthodox Church.

Departing from Rome, the Pope emphasized the religious aspect of his trip, which he described as "a pilgrimage, of prayer and of penance."

"Ours is intended to be a return to the roads of Christian piety . . . a visit of prayer to the places made holy by the life, passion and resurrection of our Lord," he said.

He also emphasized his hopes that his trip would advance the cause of world peace, saying:

"In these days, when the sacred liturgy recalls the Prince of Peace, we will beg of Him to give to the world this great bonum gift and to consolidate it always more firmly among men in families and among peoples."

GOODWILL FOR ALL

And in a salute to other religions he said his thoughts went out "to all peoples" and particularly "the people of the Orient, to whom we draw near, or who will be present through the whole circle of our voyage."

"We include them all in our prayer and in our greeting."

From the Amman airport, the route of the papal motorcade lay through the ancient biblical countryside to Jerusalem, 35 miles away. Jordanian troops and police lined the route in a massive display of security precautions.

Several arches decorated with the papal and royal Jordanian colors hung under the old-Arab way. It ran through barren hills of limestone which Moses saw as he looked down from Mount Nebo, toward the Promised Land he never reached.

Except for telephone poles and an occasional billboard, much of the land is as it was in biblical times.

At the Emir Abdullah Bridge over the Jordan River, Jerusalem's governor and other dignitaries awaited the pontiff. From the bridge could be seen the steeple of the Church of the Ascension atop the Mount of Olives, where Jesus is believed to have risen to heaven, and the Dead Sea, the lowest spot on earth, in the distance to the south.

The remaining 14 miles took the Pope's modern carmen from below sea level gradually upward through the Judean hills to holy city itself, 3,000 feet above sea level.

ABLAZE WITH FLAGS

Buildings in the old city of Jerusalem, holy to three great world religions, were draped with papal colors of yellow and white and the Jordanian national colors of black, white, red and green.

Arab Legion soldiers stood on guard atop the ancient crenelated wall from which they could look down on either side of the divided city.

The Pope's route through Jerusalem took him on foot along the Way of the Cross, the path Christ followed on His way to Calvary and the Crucifixion, to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. There the pontiff was to celebrate mass.

As Cuik descended on the city, the Pope planned to pray in the Garden of Gethsemane, amid the ancient olive trees where Christ prayed before He was captured and taken before Pontius Pilate.

In Israel, which Pope Paul will visit Friday, Prime Minister Levi Eshkol welcomed the arrival of the pontiff with ancient Hebrew greeting, "Blessed is your coming in peace."

"In welcoming the Pope to the gates of our land," Eshkol said in a statement, "we are conscious of his particular interest in, and incessant efforts for, peace in the world."

"May the pontiff's visit contribute to the strengthening of the aspiration for peace in our region and in the entire world."

PLANS MANY STOPS

In Israel the Pope will visit Nazareth, the Church of the Annunciation, the Sea of Galilee, Mount Tabor, the Church of the Beatitudes, at the site of the Sermon on the Mount, and the Hall of the Last Supper.

In the evening, he will cross back into the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem for his meeting with Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, the spiritual leader of the Orthodox Church.

After their meeting on the Mount of Olives, both will sleep in Jerusalem, the city divided 500 yards apart. The Pope is staying at the apostolic delegation, which maintains as the summer residence of the patriarch of Jerusalem.

The next day another will take place in the apostolic delegation.

Pope Paul began his momentous day before dawn, rising in his Vatican apartment while most of Rome still slept. The lights went on in the papal chambers above St. Peter's Square at 5:14 a.m. A 30-degree chill hung over the city.

After bidding farewell to the cardinals at the Vatican in the Consistorial Hall, the Pope entered his limousine while a pal-ace guard band played Gounod's pontifical anthem. He wore a white cassock and coat, small white skullcap and over it a broad-brimmed red hat for the 16-mile ride to Rome's Fiumicino Airport.

The great bell of St. Peter's Basilica sounded as the motorcade left St. Peter's Square and other church bells took up the peal as the motorcade passed.

CHEERED BY CROWDS

All along the route, crowds cheered. "Viva il Papa" (long live the Pope). Pope Paul repeatedly slowed his driver so he could bless the well wishers, and as a result his takeoff was 25 minutes behind schedule.

Suspicions of Co-worker Created by "Old Biddy"

DEAR ANN LANDERS — A certain young woman who came to work in this office about a year ago pretends to be a perfect lady. When she takes dictation, from the two top bosses she drapes a sweater across her lap to cover her legs. Such false modesty is enough to make me sick to my stomach.

Several of us girls have noticed that every Friday she wears the same dress to work that she wore the week before. This has happened four Fridays in a row. It can mean only one thing — she doesn't sleep at home on Thursday nights.

Should I tell this girl that everyone is on to her, and that the dress is the tip-off? I think it would be an act of friendship since she has become the topic of conversation every Friday during coffee break. — NEW WRINKLE.

DEAR MADAME NEW — I'd hate to think every working girl who is wearing the same dress today that she wore yesterday did not sleep at home last night.

Why don't you retract your claim before you hurt somebody?

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a teen-ager who is writing about an unusual problem. There is no trouble in our family. It's the problems of the family next door to us that have been wrecking our home life.

The neighbor lady's husband has been running around with another woman. She has seen them together so it is not just hearsay. This neighbor lady is over at our house sobbing to my mother every morning and we are all sick of the sight of her.

Tonight just as we were sitting down to dinner the phone rang. It was the neighbor asking my mother to come over. Dad said, "Please have your dinner first." Mom replied, "No. I will eat later." And she went out.

When she got home at 11:00 dad was furious. This sort of thing has been going on for two months. Mom says we are hard-hearted. Are we? What do you say about this? — HOUSE IN DANGER.

DEAR HOUSE — It is admirable to help a friend through trying times, but not at the expense of one's own home.

Your mother should now suggest professional counseling for this woman before she needs it herself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I was struck with the soundness of your advice in regard to attempting to fix up a widow or a divorcee with a "likely prospect." You said, "a sure way to finish a woman off permanently is to make her a project."

Well-meaning friends and relatives made me "a project" when my husband passed away six years ago. I was appalled when I learned that a close friend had telephoned at least a dozen men, (two were married — but unhappily) and suggested they take me to dinner. Some of these men must surely have thought I was a party to the calls.

When I moved out of town an attractive widower whom I had known for years asked me out. That evening he told me he had wanted to date me after my husband died but so many of my friends tried to push him into it that he lost interest.

We are going to be married soon, and I know now if I had not moved out of the city and gotten away from my well-meaning friends he never would have called me. — GLAD I LEFT.

DEAR GLAD — Thanks for the personal testimonial. Strangely enough I've had a great many letters from women who would like to trade their friends for a few like yours. The common complaint is that nobody offers to do a bloomin' thing for the widow or the divorcee.

Electronic Age Has Caught Up With Wild Animals, Fish

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP) — The electronic age has caught up with wild animals and fish, and it's only a matter of time before they begin wireless broadcasts around the world.

Already wolves, foxes, pheasants and other animals and birds are roaming and flying with radio transmitters flashing their whereabouts to wildlife officials miles away.

Scientists are even working on a transmitter that snakes can swallow without interfering with their slithering.

In a day largely devoted to science, the Canadian Society of Wildlife and Fishery Biologists Friday heard about new methods of animal study that would have seemed like science-fiction 10 years ago. And the space ride in the United States has played its role.

D. N. Johnston, a biology graduate now at Queen's University in Kingston, said that one of the traditional problems of getting suitable transmitters on animals was finding a battery both small and powerful enough for the job and which would function in Canada's extreme winters. Because of warmer climates in the United States, little research was carried out on this type of battery.

"But it's cold in space, so they have come up with the type of batteries we need."

PUT ON ANIMALS

Little three-ounce transmitters have been strapped around the necks of all sorts of animals in Ontario, and a department of lands and forests truck, equipped with receiver, can follow their routes with few problems. There was one case in which a transmitter-equipped ice fed wildlife officers to the carcass of a rabies - stricken wolf.

Mr. Johnston said one U.S. company is working on a transmitter that can be used to track ocean-going fish. A small beat would follow the fish within transmitter range and would rebroadcast the signal to a land station. With this method the movements of various species of fish could be easily determined.

Dr. K. E. Fisher, head of the biology department at the University of Toronto, told the meeting that recording the activity of animals by electronic methods can be far more effective than personal observation.

It allows animals to perform naturally without being watched by humans — which often resulted in "a continuous state of artificiality" — to provide more accurate information for analysis.

CALLS PUT IN WRITING

Another machine, demonstrated at the meeting, tags individual calls put in by the University of Toronto's biology department, can digest the recording of bird calls and turn them into a written form that looks like sheet music. With these sheets, it is possible to see that the dectress calls of certain birds are almost identical, while their normal sounds are far removed.

Earlier the delegates heard how radio isotopes are being used to keep track of minute tree seeds in an Alberta experiment. Only a small percentage of seeds normally sprout into trees, but until now scientists had difficulty tracing the problem.

Dr. Andrew Radvanyi of the Canadian Wildlife Service in Edmonton coated 2,000 seeds with scandium 46, a radio isotope solution that gives off gamma rays, and scattered the seeds in the Hinton area of the province. Seventeen months later he was able to recover most of the seeds by using a scintillometer to locate them.

He found 1,819 of the seeds—or what was left of some of them—and this is what had happened: Only 5.77 per cent had germinated, 20.67 per cent had remained unchanged, 24.3 per cent had dried up, an 49.25 per cent had been destroyed by mice, chipmunks, shrews and insects. Some had been dragged 15 inches below ground, others had been pulled into ant hills, and some were found under the bark of trees.

SHOWS MOOSE TAGGER

Pierre Desmeules of Quebec's fish and game department unveiled a device which can slip a tagged moose over the head of a moose before it knows what happened.

This is how it works: Two steel rods, 40 inches long, are attached to two trees about 42 inches apart. At each end of the rods are fans on which is a piece of elastic tubing which is stretched around the four corners of the rods. A stick is placed between the two top ends of the rods to keep them from turning. A moose about 18 inches from the ground runs between the two trees and it is attached to the stick.

When a moose runs between the trees, he kicks the rope. It yanks the trick stick and the rods turn around, freeing the elastic which snaps over the animal's head.

Mr. Desmeules said that three employees of the fish and game department tested the device last summer in various regions of Quebec and 147 collars were taken by moose.

His next project would be to develop a device to locate moose-calling system to attract the animals to the cage.

Moose are tagged by wildlife officials so the movement of the animals can be studied. The metal tags include the date and location.

met at the home of Mrs. Gordon Webb. The meeting attendance was smaller than usual. Christmas carols were sung and a Christmas program of readings, contest and exchange of gifts. Two card parties will be held in January at the town hall, Harold, on the evenings of the 17th and 31st; the proceeds to be donated to the skating rink for children in Springbrook. The hostess and assistants served a delicious lunch.

A Lift for Living

Emptiness in Man's Heart Invites Occupancy by Devil

By REV. HAROLD E. KOHN

No house ever stands empty for long. If people do not occupy it, something else does. Spiders move in and string their sticky cables across the corners of every room, festoon the chandeliers and drape the furniture with silken ropes. Mice leave the basement and engage rooms in cupboards and closets. Bats and squirrels take possession of the attic.

Human nature, like a house, tends toward perpetual occupancy. Jesus once told of an unclean spirit's departing from a man and, finding no rest anywhere, deciding to return to the place from which it came. It found its former dwelling empty and swept clean. "Then he goes and brings seven other spirits more evil than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man becomes worse than the first." (Luke 11:26, Revised Standard Version). Emptiness is a fleeting condition, if it is even momentarily possible. The human spirit, ever more than nature, "abhors a vacuum."

We have seen the principle of perpetual occupancy at work among our young people. For many decades Americans sought to pass child labor laws that would erase the blight of long working hours countless children spent in textile mills, factories and coal mines. These efforts were effectual, and children were largely freed from working conditions that deprived them of schooling and stunted their development. Moreover as America became more urbanized, fewer children were employed milking cows, feeding chickens, plowing fields, planting, cultivating and harvesting crops. Now American youngsters are relatively free from hard labor. But we have given them little of worth to take the place of work. As a result, we see the distressing devils of unwholesome leisure activities filling the void. As one juvenile explained the adolescent problem, "It is not that we want to do wrong, but we want to do something." Chaos sway drudgery; banish the daily grind. This is good. But if we leave a vacancy, worse evils come to find lodging. As life for the young becomes physically easier it becomes spiritually harder. We owe it to American children to help them find some healthy moral equivalent of strenuous work.

EMPTINESS MANKIND

Within the memory of millions of people now living, Marx-Leninism has grown from a political philosophy with nearly no power until it has become a force now controlling one-third the human race. In devious, devilish ways, it influences the rest of mankind. The astounding, alarming success of this ideology is due to the many vacant properties it has found in this century. Like the demonic of Jesus' parable, the principles of Marxist materialism love empty houses and empty lives. Communism moves into economic and political vacuums. Where there is an absence of enough food, enough shelter, enough health, enough work, enough race tolerance, enough religious conviction, Marx-Leninism and its cronies troop in with wild, false promises of better days to come.

The strategy of the western democracies must be more perceptive and intelligent than the maneuver of merely fending off Soviet barbarian communist approach, or throwing out an occasional Russian secret service agent, or banning communist propaganda. As important as these tactics may be, they are not enough. We must prove the worth of our way of life by filling the world's voids with superior ideas and helping other nations to help themselves toward freedom, justice, strength and prosperity. Driving out devils must be followed by inviting worthy tenants to occupy the vacated rooms.

TEMPORARY PEACE

So with war. We get rid of it every few years, temporarily. But it soon returns. A schoolboy was closer to the truth than he realized when in wrote an examination paper: "The Armistice was signed on the 11th of November in 1918. Since then, every year there has been two minutes of peace." What is it that after every war we resolve that we are forever through with that abomination, and yet within a generation another war moves in upon us? Isn't it because when war has been ousted we have not replaced it with better tenants? We want no war, but we are unsure as to what we desire in its place. Do we really prefer great patience with nations that frustrate us, or is patience an uncomfortable tenant? Will we choose the unglamorous, unexciting, humdrum business of interminable negotiation of international differences? Or is that tenant too drab for our liking? Will we invite into the place war once occupied the sacrifices peace entails, sacrifices for peace that are commensurate with those we have made for war? Or are such sacrifices too unpleasant in peacetime? It is good to cast out war, but we must bring in international understanding, social helpfulness and leave no room for war to return.

When I was a lad, parents could be heard demanding of their misbehaving children, "What possesses you, anyway?" This is one of life's biggest questions, "What possesses you?" Does God?

TAKES NEW CHARGE

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Very Rev. Angus J. MacQueen 52, former moderator of the United Church of Canada, has accepted an invitation to become minister of St. George's United Church, Toronto. Dr. MacQueen, minister of First St. Andrew's United Church, London for the last 12½ years, said he will take up his new duties July 1, succeeding Rev. John Short, retiring after 13 years.

READING OVER MY SHOULDER

I hope to have some of our readers' complaints answered through this column by the specialists in their fields — the manufacturers of dresses, coats, millinery, shoes, etc. Most of our complaints are about sizing, or what the trade calls cut and fit. It will take a little time, as most of these people are now busily making their spring samples.

In the meantime, the following interesting letter has been received.

Dear Pegg Rogers: As a reader of your column, I find it most helpful and informative. As you say that you appreciate receiving questions on problems your readers may have, I wonder if you can help me with mine?

I am five feet two and three quarter inches tall and my weight varies from 96 to 100 pounds. In a booklet published as a guide to wardrobe planning, my figure is classified as "petite" and the best fabrics listed for me should be crisp worsteds, soft, sleek wools and dull-finished wools. I have followed this advice in building my wardrobe.

Recently, I heard a talk on wardrobe co-ordination and on questioning the speaker, I was told that I should wear nubby, bulkier fabrics, as I am thin and slight. Now I am thoroughly confused. As I am planning to make a dress, I would appreciate some advice on what type of fabric I should look for. — Signed — T. J.

Dear T. J.: The advice given in the wardrobe planning is good advice for the petite figure, which means short. It is not very good advice in your case, as you are very slender. Some women of your height weigh 80 pounds more than you do. They are not exactly fat, but they are not really "petite" either, in the true sense of the word. A woman who wishes to appear more slender than she is, should choose flat, all-textured fabrics. Therefore, I must agree with the speaker who gave the talk on wardrobe planning when she advised nubby, bulkier fabrics for you. You are slim for your dress, figure, and surface fabrics, provided they are tasteful in design and color are suitable for you by your type. Do not worry too much about any fashion you have bought in the past. Now you are simply adjusting them up with colorful accessories and jewelry.

For your dress, I suggest you look for some of the new, pretty-puffed metallic fabrics, in flattering tones — for instance, silver, gold, dark green or dark blue, shot with metallic threads. Or you might consider velvet, it is an ideal fabric for the slender figure. Be sure that the material you choose is one that will drape-d style to flatter and soften your figure.

If you have a question on fashion just write Pegg Rogers in care of this paper.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

WHAT'S YOUR E. Q.?

Do disturbing mannerisms often create a false impression of bad manners and thoughtlessness? To see if you're knocking the props from under your own standing, check to see if you consistently do the following. For instance, do you:

1. Drum your fingers on the table?
2. Keep fiddling with your hair?
3. Primp whenever you pass a mirror?
4. Interrupt a train of thought by butting into someone else's observation?
5. Fail to hold doors for those behind you?
6. Unconsciously pick up and examine objects in another's home?
7. Keep up a running conversation by pacing the floor as you talk?
8. Flick cigarette ashes over tables and floors when aimlessly striving for the ash tray?
9. Use pointless gestures when talking?
10. Pay more attention to what's going on across the room than the person you're supposed to be talking with?

If you've answered "yes" to any of the above, you're guilty of bad manners. Why not start now to overcome them?

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

"AT HOME"

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowers, Foxboro R.R. 1 will be "At Home" to relatives, friends and neighbors on Monday, January 6, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m., on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Brown spent the Christmas season with their daughter Helen and her husband, Rev. H. Atkinson, at the Manse, Grace United Church, College Street, Toronto. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Atkinson and family.

Mrs. Wallace Ellis, who has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Highland Ave., during the illness and death of her husband, has returned after spending the holidays in Trenton.

QUESTION:

Do you have a recipe for a dessert called "Flower Garden"? It is cubes of jelly different colors in a very rich custard . . . I believe it has some angel food cake in it. This is the part I can't get right. It makes a large dessert for entertaining. Whipped cream and topping is optional — Ivy R. J.

ANSWER:

I think the following gives the "custard". You could add small amounts of broken angel food cake because this "custard" will support it. Hope the first that this is a low-calorie dessert is satisfactory to you, but this is how the recipe was created.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Baron or Ham and Eggs; Potato Patties (see Thursday); Cauliflower; Tossed Dark and Light Green Salad with French Dressing; Date Squares (see Friday) (With whipped cream optional); Tea.

FLOWER GARDEN (JEWEL) DESSERT (low-calorie):

1 envelope low-calorie lime-flavored gelatine, 1 envelope low - calorie orange-flavored gelatine, 1¼ cups boiling water, ½ cup pineapple juice canned — no sugar, 1¼ cup cold water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 envelope low-calorie lemon-flavored gelatine, ¼ cup dry skim milk powder, 1-3 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Dissolve the lime gelatine and the orange gelatine separately, using half of boiling water for each flavor. Pour into separate 8" x 8" loaf pans and chill until firm. Heat pineapple juice and the first amount of cold water to boiling. Dissolve sugar and lemon gelatine in this hot liquid. Chill until syrupy. Add skim milk powder to second amount of cold water in a bowl. Beat until soft peaks form. Add lemon juice and beat again until stiff peaks form. Add vanilla. Gently beat the syrupy lemon gelatine into whipped milk, blending just until smooth. Cut lime and raspberry gelatine into small cubes. Fold into whipped mixture gently. Pour into 8 x 4" loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmould and slice into serving portions.

QUESTION:

Would you have a recipe for a lemon cake that does not require more than two eggs? My little boy has been asking for a lemon cake and I have been unable to find one in any of my recipe books — Mrs. E. G.

ANSWER:

LEMON CAKE:

¾ cup sifted cake flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon soda, ¾ teaspoon grated lemon rind, ¼ cup butter, ⅔ cup sugar, 2 egg yolks, ½ tablespoon lemon juice, 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and soda, and sift together 3 times. Add lemon rind to butter and cream well. Add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Beat egg yolks until thick and beat in thoroughly then add lemon juice. Add flour, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in buttered layer cake pan at 350 deg. F. for about 25 minutes. This recipe may be doubled to make a layer cake or 16 little cup cakes.

IF YOUR MOFFET'S waistband gets pad is absorbed, rumpled under the sheet, sew a length of muslin on each side of the pad. This extra material can be tucked tightly under the mattress, and your squirming little one will have smooth sleeping.

'Pukka' Word Fashion Experts Use to Describe New Look This Season

By JANET KASK

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian ready-to-wear fashion for spring and summer 1964 ranges from loosely belted shirtwaist suits and coats to slim, full-length evening skirts and sportswear in riotous colors and designs.

The return to the natural silhouette was the feature of the National Association of Underfashion Executives, was held on Ste. Helen's Island, site of the 1967 Montreal world's fair.

The word fashion experts are using to describe the new look is "pukka." It's an Anglo-Indian term meaning "genuine," or in fashion, "free" and natural.

Highlights of the show were a new emphasis on sleeveless which added interest to otherwise simple coats and dresses —and the Patrick Hellen suits, with sheath skirts, cape tops and matching London "bobby" hats.

Coats and suits in traditional spring colors—white, pink, yellow and blue — came in soft wools with some in mohair. Especially popular were white straight lines were straight with a little or no waist definition. A few had belted fronts with stitching. Many were quite simple. A seam across the back, mid-way between shoulder and waist, hinted at an empress line.

SLEEVES VARY

Sleeves varied from none at all, as in suit and coat ensembles, to bell - shaped elbow-length numbers with a "cape" look to full length. The dropped sleeve was popular. Several numbers had the "bracelet look" with softly tailored collars. Capes are still very much in the fashion limelight.

The Chanel influence was still evident in suits with slim skirts and variations on the just-below - the - waist jacket theme. Wool suits had matching or contrasting underblouses and skirts. Jackets ranged from the blazer style, with two to four small amount pockets and sometimes with braided trim, to he favorite Sherlock Holmes cape which comes in the three-quarter - lengths. The houndstooth check was a popular fabric for these cape suits.

Evening wear remains simple and chic. Floor - length dress skirts were topped with more elaborate overblouses. Plain, soft chiffon sewn had clinging matching cloaks.

Raincoats, worn with high boots, were mostly of soft white leather hats, were in pastel shades of pink, blue and yellow and tucson.

Dresses and sportswear came in more vivid colors and dramatic styles. Sleeve lengths were important. Several costume numbers were sleeveless coats over long - sleeved dresses or suits with sleeveless jacket tops and underskirts in the same fabric crepe were favorite fabrics for dresses and afternoon suits.

8,000 Phone Calls Pass Through Board Each Day

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—As many as 8,000 calls a day pour through the federal government telephone switchboard to government departments and offices on Parliament Hill.

These may include calls that are not routine, such as the recent one from a man who wanted to know where he could buy a live reindeer, and he wasn't Santa Claus, either.

Or the long-distance caller from the Maritimes who wanted to ask "Mike" about an election promise. Or the elderly lady who wondered why her pension cheque had not yet arrived.

Answering questions like these, or channelling them to the right official, is all in the day's work for the 40 operators at the central switchboard in the O'Connor Street offices of the Bell Telephone Company, the prime minister's switchboard and the smaller board in Government House.

Thousands of other calls are handled automatically through the dialing which has some 20,000 lines.

The switchboard girls at Government House, residence of Governor-General Vanier, often have a special interest to their small board. Madame Vanier frequently stops by to say "good morning" to the operator on duty.

When the Governor-General's young grand - daughter visited the residence two summers ago, the little girl was brought to the switchboard by Madame Vanier, with a request that she be allowed to sit on the headset for a moment.

The switchboard operators, however, refuse to attempt the impossible in trying to locate someone for a caller.

Not long ago an emergency call came for one of the hundreds of cleaning women who scour and scrub federal buildings every evening. Knowing only the woman's name and the street where she was working, the operator managed to locate her within an hour.

The operators—some as young as 16—are hired and trained by the Bell Telephone Company

Jets of Future Are Facing Obstacles of Forerunners

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

NEW YORK — At 7:20 p.m. on a damp and misty October night five years ago, Eric Ashworth World Airways Flight 114 pulled away from the blocks at Idlewild's cluttered old "temporary" terminal.

Virtually every eye at the great airport was upon it as it taxied out to 8,500-foot Runway 31. In turn it took its position at the end of the strip, locked its brakes, and revved up its engines to a shuddering, shrieking pitch. Letting go with a slight lurch, it rolled slowly, then ever faster, and finally at approximately the 6,000-foot point, lifted 110 passengers into the night on the first fully loaded transatlantic flight of an airplane that was to make aviation history, the Boeing 707 jet.

MEMORABLE OCCASION

It was a memorable occasion for everyone on board. None but the crew had ever been on a jet before, and it was marvelling at everything — even the crew, virtually every one of whom was a veteran pilot of the company. The captain, Waldo Lynch, was later to gain fame for one of the most dramatic feats in aviation history when he pulled a similar plane out of an uncontrolled dive over mid-the Atlantic; had it ended in disaster, the reason probably never would have been known, and jet travel would have been set back years.

The plane then was shining and new, smelling of leather and fresh paint. It had come from a Detroit assembly line. Long as two Pullman cars, it seemed to be something out of Jules Verne, a visionary Giant Airship of the Future come to life off the cover of a science fiction magazine.

Clawing its way through the night sky, it was almost with a ghost-like whine. . .gone forever were the sight off flailing propellors, the shakin and pounding roar of piston engines.

A new age had dawned, and we were there. In retrospect it is still the most exciting memory of our travel career.

It was a long time coming. Years before, we used to ask airline people when they thought commercial jets would come along. All we got was a smile and "It'll be a long time."

WAS MUCH PESSIMISM

In the early 1950's, there was much pessimism over the prospects of passenger-carrying jets in aviation and travel circles. The planes are too big to fly and to service, it was said. Most experienced pilots were too old and their reflexes too slow to handle them. Why, you could count on the fingers of one hand the number of airports in the world with runways that can land them. And, ye gods, the noise! Think of the cost, the need for adding service facilities. How many airlines could afford it? And would people fly them?

Time in again five years from now for the answer.

New Annuals for a New Year is resumed power in 1935, and the policy was observed through the terms of prime ministers Louis St. Laurent and John Diefenbaker. It was that policy which Mr. Pearson said Friday is unchanged.

It was learned here that Sir Alec Douglas-Home personally communicated with Mr. Pearson on a prime minister-to-prime minister basis about recommending Mr. Thomson for the title.

The communication was simply an advisory message from the U.K. prime minister that Mr. Thomson's name was to be included in the list. It did not ask for Mr. Pearson's concurrence, and it is understood Mr. Pearson made no comment.

SAYS HE KNOWS

Mr. Pearson told his press conference he knew "on very good authority" that Mr. Thomson had taken the formal steps required to become a citizen of Canada, and this would result in loss of Canadian citizenship. However, he said he was sure the publication would continue to have "an interest and interests" in Canada.

The Canadian Citizenship Act of 1946 says that a Canadian citizen who voluntarily and formally acquires the nationality or citizenship of another country when outside of Canada, "ceases to be a Canadian citizen."

Citizenship regulations permit a person who has been a naturalized-born Canadian citizen to apply for citizenship again, but they cannot hold dual citizenship the other nationality or citizenship.

Conceivably, Mr. Thomson could take this course but it would open to question his qualifications to sit in the House of Lords, which he has said is his ambition.

LONDON (CP) — The Evening Standard says the history of the last 45 years supports the belief that Roy Thomson's peerage must force him to abandon Canadian domicile.

The paper refers to the Canadian parliamentary resolution of 1919 asking the monarch to retrain from conferring titles on Canadians "domiciled or ordinarily resident in Canada."

The resolution was reaffirmed in 1942, says The Evening Standard, and "it is idle to suggest that it is ineffective."

"No Canadian prime minister could overlook it except by persuading the Government to pass a new resolution."

Thomson was created a baron in the New Year's honors list. He has promised a "considered" statement within a few days covering all angles of the citizenship question. He maintains a home in Toronto and in a talk with a reporter Friday he strongly implied that he intends to retain his Canadian domicile.

"I intend to go back to Canada when I retire," he said.

It is always exciting to hear of the new plants that will be available from the hybridists for the coming spring. As usual the choice is wide and the promises intriguing.

The All-American Awards are given after the seeds have been grown in several trial gardens in different parts of the United States and Canada.

Zinnias again stand high in the ratings. One is 'pink bottom' a salmon-pink, 30-inch high and free flowering. "Bonanza' a better yellow cacti type in the giant class. 'Hot buttons' has a tall pompom blooms on 15 inch stems. Combines well with 'pink button', 'Pinwheel' is a two-tone double zinnia with dark base and lighter tips. 'Polka dot' pastel and bright salmon pink is the description given for the zinnia "princess."

A new Salvia 'evening glow' is coral pink. It is just as long lasting and more pleasing in color than the old 'Blaze of Fire'. Salvia 'snow tips' in red and white thrives in shade and is quite unusual.

"Cock's comb' (Celosia) 'fireglow' sports a six inch comb on 16-inch plants. This is a good plant to combine with white petunias or yellow climax marigolds.

SUMMER TREASURES

Petunias are always summer treasures with their growing popularity. Near ones include 'Sailor girl' a light lavender blue. 'Perfection' is a delicate shell pink and white, fullydouble. Aster 'burpee rose' has pulled petals and 'fire ball' has quilled petals one on nine inch plants.

Marigold too rate high with their boldness. This year we have 'Irish lace' with lovely fern-like foliage and myriads of tiny pink and white blooms. 'French type marigold 'sparky' is large and full in shades from orange to lemon yellow. 'Polly' has giant four-inch flowers on dwarf plants. In the chrysanthemum family 'Dwarf Primary' is offering 'Geraldine' in orange, and 'Texas' in yellow.

Fire Destroys 3 Buildings In Brockville

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Three buildings in a downtown business area were destroyed by fire early today. There were no injuries.

The fire began in a shoe repair shop and spread to a barber shop and a building being prepared for a restaurant.

Successful Living

Young Lady Finds Life Dull Without Boyfriends

DEAR DORIS — For the last year Jane and I have been friends with two other girls. This made a cozy little foursome of girls all without boy friends. But I didn't like this all. These two girls are pampered little angels, terribly interested in school work, and have never been on a date. Jane is a lot of fun but she isn't at all interested in boys either.

I'm fifteen year old, in grade 11, and have had about six dates. I think it's about time, but no boys will ask me out if I am best friends with these girls. My problem is, how am I going to make friends with other girls with whom I have more in common?

Jane has plans for that cozy foursome next year, but I don't want to be in it. But how can I get out of it without completely losing their friendship? — MEMBER OF A FOURSOME.

DEAR MEMBER — A tight little boy-excluding clique is not calculated to attract dates, and that's for sure. And you should be making new girl friends as you go along, too.

Break the pattern by leaving for school later or earlier than they do; having an errand to do on the way home. Join the literary society or tennis club and deliberately take on new responsibility.

Then write for my leaflet on throwing parties and invite all three — as well as some boys. Just see if they stay away — I'm betting they'll be there with bells on — or false faces.

Ruby Hearing Is Delayed For Two Weeks

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — District Judge Joe B. Brown has ordered a two-week delay in the Jack Ruby bond hearing because of a conflict in his trial schedule.

Ruby, a night club operator, is accused of killing Lee Harvey Oswald, who was charged with assassinating President Kennedy Nov. 22. Ruby's lawyers have been seeking his release on bond.

The hearing, which was released Dec. 23 by Judge Brown because of the Christmas holiday and lengthy testimony had been due to resume next Friday.

Brown Friday reset the hearing for the morning of Jan. 34, subject to the district attorney's office being ready to continue.

Brown said he ordered the two-week delay because of the scheduled murder trial of Ruby's Washinton, a yardman accused of beating his employer, Mrs. Sonia Gue, to death with a hammer Oct. 12 in her fashionable home.

LOCATE BLONDE

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Barbara Smigrod, 34, an Algerian born blonde who skipped bail here in September on a $100,000 jewel smuggling charge is under arrest in Brazil, Toronto police said Friday. Mrs. Smigrod was arrested by RCMP in Toronto last June 19 and a suitcase containing jewels and furcoats was seized. She forfeited $25,000 bail and was being sought by Interpol. Toronto police will try to arrange extradition.

3 Additional Charges Laid Besides Murder

OTTAWA (CP) — Reginald Binette, 18, charged with capital murder following the death of four persons in an attempted church robbery Dec. 22, was charged with three additional offences Friday in county magistrate's court.

The new charges arise out of a robbery staged last June 6 by two hooded men at the home of Kenneth Mayhew in nearby Nepean Township.

Binette was charged with assaulting Mrs. Elizabeth Mayhew with intent to commit an indictable offence, discharging a firearm at Brenda Mayhew and robbing Mr. Mayhew of money and four guns.

Binette is charged with the murder of Joseph Lucien Paul of Mercier, 24, who was shot to death in the rectory of Christ the King Church. Two other parishioners were also shot to death in the rectory and Binette was captured by police after his brother, Roger, 22, shot himself to death.

Binette was ordered transferred to a mental hospital in Brockville for thorough examination.

Question for Democrats:

Will Johnson Be the Bulwark Halting Southern Erosion?

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—What manner of standard-bearer can the Republicans get to beat President Lyndon B. Johnson in the presidential polls next November?

When an assassin shot John Fitzgerald Kennedy, the Democrats were momentarily dazed and demoralized. Many had banked heavily on the Boston-born Kennedy easily defeating the Republicans and winning a second term in the White House. Suddenly and unpredictably, their planning and hopes were shattered.

Now Lyndon Johnson, veteran campaigner with 33 years in Congress, appears to be restoring and even raising their confidence.

Johnson is keeping alive his predecessor's programs, thereby appealing to Kennedy's old-time supporters.

FACES THREATENED

At the same time, his Texas drawl has an appeal to the Deep South that Kennedy lacked. There was a widespread southern hate campaign against Kennedy at the time of his assassination.

Outraged at his outspoken efforts on behalf of civil rights, many parts of the South, which long had voted the Democratic ticket, were in a mood to abandon allegiance to right-wing Republicanism.

Democratic leaders believe Johnson's presence in the White House will help some of that southern erosion.

In killing Kennedy, the country's darkest Americans cut the presidential hopes of Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican conservative from Arizona, a man who seemed to national prominence in the wake of big-business backing and Republican disappointment with the Kennedy administration.

There were charges that Kennedy was trying to build a Socialist dynasty; that the Kennedys were seeking over-centralization of power.

Compared to pessimism so much of Kennedy's social welfare and civil rights proposals, Democrats held control of the House of Representatives 257 to 178, Republicans in the Senate 67 to 33 with their majorities meant nothing. A coalition of southern Democrats and northern Republicans frustrated the Kennedy administration at every turn.

GAVE WARNINGS

To many a southerner, Goldwater, the department store heir with the born-rimmed hair and the boyish grin, was a friend come true. He warned against over-centralization and too much power in Washington, spoke of the need of states controlling more of their own affairs.

New York Governor Nelson Rockefeller, the moderate Republican, watched the fast-moving Goldwater with amazement.

Rockefeller, nonetheless, announced he will make his bid for the Republican presidential nomination next July. Goldwater, he said, just waiting for the proper time to announce his own candidacy when the ballots first cast in Dallas as the country raised a storm over political extremism.

NIXON ASSESSED

Republicans took another look at Richard Nixon, edged out by Kennedy in 1960 and beaten in the California governorship race in 1962.

They took a look at Henry Cabot Lodge, Nixon's running mate and now ambassador to South Viet Nam. They talked of the youthful appeal of Governor William Scranton of Pennsylvania, whom Goldwater at one time thought he had wooed into his own camp.

But when all the talk was over, it appeared the Republican race was wide open.

Johnson had a definite advantage. He was in the White House, building up his following. And his party seemed to be behind him.

Kennedy was the first Roman Catholic president. When he campaigned, his religion posed problems. In a total population of some 190,000,000 persons the U.S. has more than 40,000,000 Catholics. As a southern Protestant, Johnson is likely to look for a northern Catholic as a running-mate.

MAIN CIVILIZATION

The ancient Mayo Indian civilization had great stone cities with lofty pyramids and temples, huge monasteries, vapor baths and astronomical observatories.

Choke's Job To Control Engine Diet

By EUGENE B. MILMOE

Since the hand choke was so often misused by drivers, the automatic choke (when properly working) must be considered an improvement. Like anything else, however, things can and do go wrong with it, eventually. Many cases of hard starting, stalling, sluggishness and gas waste can be traced to a malfunctioning automatic choke which prevents delivery of the precise air and gas mixtures needed for different engine demands.

Basically, the choke is designed to assist cold engine starting and warm-up by providing a richer - than - normal mixture. When the engine is cold, the choke valve is closed, blocking off air, while the vacuum created when the engine is cranked pulls raw gas from the carburetor or bowl. As the engine warms up, the choke valve is designed to open gradually, thus leaning out the fuel mixture until the air-gas proportion is just right for fast-normal-temperature engine operation.

R. F. asks: "In a new engine with tight piston rings, how is it possible for oil to be burned off in the combustion chambers?

Answer: Engine oil has to get by the rings to lubricate them and cylinder walls.

S. D. writes: "Why is engine oil more apt to become diluted with water in winter? Is it because of colder engine temperatures?

Exactly. Water, a natural by-product of combustion, is normally expelled through the exhaust as steam. A cold engine, however, will condense this steam to water and some gets into the crankcase.

From E. K.: "If tire life is not properly inflated, will this cause a bald spot to wear on it?

Incorrect pressure alone wont do it but if the wheel is also unbalanced, this will happen.

H. C. asks: "Is it true that if a regular permanent - type antifreeze is left in the cooling system for more than one winter, it becomes more corrosive than ordinary tap water?

Assuming you mean from one winter through the next — no. It would take longer than this for the anti-freeze to become that harmful.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Old Man Winter's recent sub-zero thrusts are rapidly shackling the lakes of the Tweed Forest District in heavy coverings of ice. And ice-fishing buffs are moving out to their favorite fishing spots over shoals and along the shorelines.

And Willie Wallerys, better known to most anglers as Percy the Pickerel, is showing a decided yen for sub-ice menus. The catches have been fair to good, with better-than-average hauls being taken from Beaver Lake. Most of the fish range between three and six pounds.

Winter fishermen who have moved or will move their huts to the icy battlegrounds are advised by Lands and Forests officials to have their name and address clearly printed on the outside of their outdoor living rooms. This is the law. Officers will check it from time to time.

And here's a few more tips that might keep you winter anglers out of legal entanglements.

If you cut holes in the ice be sure before leaving you place a marker in the hole. Don't cut trees along the shoreline. Use an oil heater in the hut. If you are fishing in the open and require a fire use only dead and fallen wood for the outdoors furnace.

If you carry boxes, cans, or bottles out on the ice, carry the empties back when you leave. Don't drop them in the hole, this only litters the bottom shoal area, and in turn could deter fish from using it and force you to move the hut.

Be good housekeepers. Don't litter the ice surface. This sometimes floats in along shorelines in the spring breaking and so not only appears unsightly, but presents a hazard to summer swimmers.

Department officials state that observance of these simple rules will go a long way towards retention of winter angling in the district.

And here's news for the "shock trouters." Reason number last year when you fished the northern hamlet of the brooks, standard trout limit? Well, the same opening date applies this year, through September 15.

And Mr. R. A. Whitfield of the Tweed headquarters Lands and Forests, tells me there is a possibility that the season for rainbows will also open March 1st. However that is not definite. Efforts are being made along this line.

Via telephone, Mr. Whitfield informed me that summer fishing in North Hastings lakes in 1963 was the best in years.

"Opening the brook trout season on March 1st did not have any noticeable effect on spring hauls. There was just as good trout fishing May 1st last year as any season when it opened on that date," he said.

"We have had a lot of comment from all over Ontario regarding the March 1st opening." Mr. Whitfield said, "and all of it was excellent."

The pickerel season in the district opens May 15 to March 31st, with the exception of the Bay of Quinte. Here it opens May 1st to March 31st, and don't forget, up to the first dam of the waters emptying into the bay. This date also includes East and West Lakes and Consecon Lake.

The pike season opens May 15th to March 31st, except the Bay of Quinte where there is no closed season.

Lake trouters can catch their favorite fish in the counties of Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac starting March 1st to October 15th. In South Renfrew the season opens November 6th and closes October 5th.

There is no closed season on whitefish.

The limits of catch are, pickerel and pike, six per day; lake trout, five per day; brook trout, 10 pounds plus one fish—or 15 fish whichever is the lesser. There is no limit on whitefish.

And a final tip to winter fishermen—all huts must be off the lakes by March 31st.

Ron Hergott Tops Senior Score List

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ron Hergott, Galt Hornet right winger, shattered the season-long monopoly of Welland Canal shooters on the top rung in the OHA Senior hockey individual scoring race last week with an eight-point spree.

Hergott, former junior A defenceman with Niagara Falls Flyers who transferred to the wing this season, scored two goals and six assists in two games to move from fourth to first place. He has 14 goals and 16 assists for 32 points.

The Hornet winger's hot streak knocked Welland centre Vance Millar off the top rung for the first time in a month. Millar's consistency in one game during the week is tied for second place with Woodstock's Bobby Robertson and Galt's Jim Dahmer, all with 30 points.

The leaders:

Hawks Clash With Leafs In Key Tilt

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston's battling Bruins, who have scored only one goal in three appearances at the Montreal Forum this season, will be out for more when they tangle with Canadiens tonight.

As Milt Schmidt, coach of Boston's National Hockey League club, put it:

"We need more goals and I expect we'll get them.

"Our defensive play has held up well and it represents our biggest improvement this season. But we haven't scored up to our potential yet. I'm confident we will."

The Bruins will be facing a Montreal club that has shaken off the injuries suffered in the first half of the schedule and returned to full strength.

HICKE PRONOUNCED FIT

Winger Bill Hicke, out of action for six weeks with a damaged knee, was pronounced fit after a stiff workout Friday and replacement Claude Larose was sent back to Omaha of the Central Professional League.

"Stops and starts are the best way to find out about a knee injury," said Hicke, who worked out alone after the morning session.

"It still pains a little when I turn to the opposite skating after I'm confident the knee will stand up in a game."

Rookie Glen Ferguson's thumb hasn't yet healed completely and defenceman J. C. Tremblay has been bothered by a sore foot for two weeks, but the injuries haven't hurt their play.

Swedes Rap Lakehead 5-1

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The Swedish national hockey team extended its undefeated streak to four straight and a 5-1 exhibition victory over the Lakehead Senior All-Stars.

The Swedes increased their record in their cross-Canada Canadian tour to three wins and two losses in the game, watched by a crowd estimated at 4,000 in the 4,200 - seat Fort William Arena.

They moved into a one-goal lead in the first period after having considerable difficulty penetrating the Lakehead defence. They jumped to a 4-0 lead at the end of the second period and coasted off to protect their margin in the final 20 minutes.

Lennart Johansson, Nils Nilsson, Ulf Sterner, Jan-Erik Nilsson and Tumba Johansson counted the Swedish goals.

Barton Bradley was the lone scorer for the Lakehead aggregation, made up of Fort William Canadiens, Port Arthur Bearcats and the Port Arthur Royals of the Thunder Bay Senior League. Five of the Bearcat players had previous experience with international rules from a successful European trip in 1960.

The Swedish Second Swedes have one remaining game, against the Czech Olympic squad in Toronto Sunday. They previously split a two-game series with the Canadian Olympics, lost to Montreal Junior Canadiens and defeated Winnipeg Maroons.

The Swedes applied the pressure from the start but failed to launch a sustained attack. On several occasions promising offensives were broken up by too much passing.

The pattern continued in the second period but the visitors' superior conditioning and faster skating showed to advantage. Their rushes began to penetrate the Lakehead defence.

Sterner, who worked out in the New York Rangers training camp last fall, was a standout. He had a knack of baffling the All-Stars with a fake drop pass, picking up the puck with his back skate.

Tumba Johansson, however, came up with the most spectacular goal with less than half a minute left in the game. He moved in on one skate, holding off a defenceman's stick with his other leg, and clicked with a long shot.

Bob Kilgour gave up four goals before being succeeded by Ken Bruler in the Lakehead net. The two had 29 saves during the game compared with 39 by Sweden's Leif Holmquist.

Morrisburg Wins 4-2

CORNWALL (CP) — Morrisburg defeated Lancaster 4-2 Friday night in a Lac St. Lawrence-Ottawa Senior Hockey League game marred by 92 minutes in penalties.

Al Cameron, who scored the opening goal for Morrisburg, was given a major and misconduct in the second period for arguing with the referee.

Only Morrisburg scorers were Arnie Lawlor, who netted twice, and D. F. Casselman. Dick Lefebvre and Jack Coleman were Lancaster's marksmen.

Morrisburg's victory lifts them to fifth position above Lancaster, who now occupy the league cellar previously filled by Brockville. Lancaster forwards withdrew from the league Friday.

PREMIER HOPEFUL

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning of Alberta said Friday he is optimistic about Banff's chances of gaining the nod to stage the 1968 winter Olympic games. He told a press conference Banff's outlook is good and "reports we have been getting during the last three months indicate Banff has a better than 50-50 chance to be selected as the site."

Muirhead Has Scoring Feast

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)

Sparked by Stu Muirhead's ten-point scoring feast, Belleville's "B" whipped and Trenton squad 12-4 here last night in an OHA Eastern Junior Hockey League fixture.

The "B"s were in command all the way, outshooting the visitors 44-20 and outscoring them in every period. It was 4-1 and 8-2 by periods.

Belleville's victory lifted the club to within two points of the loop's top teams, Nepanee and Gananoque. They have 14 points apiece, Picton has 12 and the "B"s have 12.

Muirhead, who participated in his club's first seven scoring plays and in 10 of 12 on the night, scored four goals and assisted on six more. He also had two goals called back, one offside and the other tipped in with a high stick, while entering clear of the penalty box.

Muirhead's linemates also had a big night. Centre Grant Hagerman had the type goal "hat trick" plus one assist. Jim Rutherford scored two goals and helped on five, giving the line 19 points in all.

Bob Boyle played well to earn a goal and three assists while Gerry Jones got one and one each for Ron Ethier second on the goal. Glen Hagerman and Jo Marchand each drew one assist and Fred Tweed had bagged a pair.

Trenton goals went to Mike Sharrand and Jack Donnan, with two apiece. Wally McDonald had the other. Jerry St. Denis, Bob Fellows and Gary Falkingham one apiece.

The "B"s scored in every period. Smith made a number of good stops despite the heavy shots. He saved 10 more 2-0 at 8.02 of the first and the remaining 11 minutes and 56 seconds were played at the start of the second period.

The "B"s carried the play most of the time, scoring twice while up a man, three times while playing five aside and once with Trenton enjoying a two-minute edge. The losers also got a powerplay marker and took advantage of carless play by the "B"s to register a couple of other goals.

Muirhead and Hagerman each scored twice in the first heat while in the second, Muirhead added two more, Hagerman, Ethier and Boyle one each. Rutherford got his pair just after the second start in the third and Jones jammed home the final marker at 19.35.

Trenton started the game with 12 players but that number had shrunk to eight by the game's end.

Trenton — Szabo, McDonald, O'Donnell, Donnan, St Denis, Richards, St. Amour, Fellows, Sharrard, St. Pierre, Fellows, Lenahan, F. Smith.

Caldwell is the leading U.S. college rusher and has signed with Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League.

Senior Bowl Play Today

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The passing and kicking combination of George Mira and Billy Ashbrook established the South as a seven-point favorite to win the annual Senior Bowl football game today.

The South leads 9-5 in the series which began in 1950.

South coach Tom Landry, head coach of the NFL Dallas Cowboys, seeks his first victory in the classic. He coached the North in 1962 and 1963 and was defeated both times.

This year's North coach, George Wilson of the NFL's Detroit Lions, making his first Senior Bowl appearance, hopes to snap the string of three straight South victories.

Wilson's upper ride on Jack Concannon, Boston College's passer, who opposed Mira in what may prove to be a replay of the recent North-South game at Miami. Mira led the south to a 23-14 victory.

If the South attack bogs down, Landry could call on the accurate toe of Lothrop, who led the U.S. in field goals this season with 12.

Winnipeg Rink Suffers First Defeat

None Unbeaten

TORONTO (CP)—Doug Camron's rink from Charlottetown became the giant killers Friday night edging the previously unbeaten Norm Houck rink from Winnipeg 8-7 in the sixth round of the round-robin tournament of champions bonspiel.

But despite the loss, the Manitoba foursome still has a chance to win the tournament. They clash with Hector Gervais' rink—which also sports one deafest —in today's final round at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Moose Jaw, Sask., boasts the largest crowd of the four-day bonspiel—saw Skip Houck draw shot on his first stone of the final end and strike a guard with his second shot.

A lone Cameron rock sitting near the edge of the circle behind a maze of guards proved to be the winner for the Prince Edward Island quartet. It was their second win of the tournament, the first coming in Friday's fifth round, an 11-7 victory over Matt Baldwin's Edmonton rink.

Although the United States national champions, led Gervais 7-6 after nine ends, the Alberta squad counted doubles in the final three frames to preserve their crack at winning the tournament.

Mann drew the most controversy of the fifth round when in the final end of his game with Baldwin, and with the score 6-6, he tickled the first stone out of the circle after it had slithered between two guards.

Mann said he thought the stone had been "thrown" knocked off course by a broom as it was being swept into the circle). But Baldwin and officials said the rock was knocked slightly off course when it clicked a guard.

Baldwin gave Mann his shot over again and this time he slipped through the same hole, remaining in the circle. The front of the house was shocked when Mann rolled his last perfect delivery around the outside by Baldwin knocked out the opposition stone to give the Edmonton rink the game by an 8-6 count.

Ron Joslin Richardson's rink, world champions from Regina, have also won three and six games with Gray Grant's Unionville, Ont., crew.

Gray Richardsons winning their third game of the tournament scored four points in the second end to take a triple in the fifth and two doubles in the seventh and eighth frames.

'Subs Only If Injuries'-Bauer

Selke Will Help Olympics If Asked

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank J. Selke, managing director of Montreal Canadiens Hockey Club, indicated Friday the club would help the Canadian Olympic team if asked.

"Father (David) Bauer (Olympic team coach) knows me personally ... and he knows that we would be happy to hear from him and discuss his problems with him if he feels we can be of any help," said Mr. Selke.

In a statement, Mr. Selke said:

"Some days ago, in reply to a published newspaper report, our director of farm personnel, Sam Pollock, stated that Yvon Cournoyer (sterry right-winger with Montreal Junior Canadiens) was available to the Canadian Olympic team as a result of Montreal's elimination club pulled forward after the 1960 games in Squaw Valley.

"We had loaned players Bob Rousseau (now with the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League) and Cliff Pennington (now playing for Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League) to the Olympic team for the 1960 games which were won by the United States.

"We were later advised by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association that they would not use inexperienced junior players in future Olympic or world hockey tourneys.

"We then decided we would not offer any of our boys in the future."

Mr. Selke said the Canadiens have not been approached by Father Bauer for assistance, nor has the CAHA indicated a policy change since 1960.

Mr. Selke said he was told by a close friend of Father Bauer that the Olympic coach was reluctant to approach the Canadiens "because of morale problems with his team."

"Father Bauer felt bringing in an outsider at this date may disrupt the team. The boys he has had together for so many months," said Mr. Selke.

Los Angeles Open

Darkhorses Tie For Top

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James Black finished in the dark and complete obscurity Friday to tie another dark-horse, Roger Ginsberg, and throw the $30,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament into confusion.

Both embarkided 25 - year - old Ginsberg, from New York, had finished more than an hour earlier and been acclaimed by all concerned — including tournament officials — as the first co-round leaders.

The word reached the clubhouse that "a player named Black" had shot an 80-yard approach shot for an eagle three on the final hole.

Black then a round of 33-34 —67 for the par 36-35—71.

San Diego vs Boston

AFL Title Up For Grabs

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Coach Mike Holovak said Friday he's glad the American Football League title game will be played here instead of in Boston even though he'd have a better chance of winning at home.

"I'm sure it would be tougher in the San Diego area for Buffalo a warm climate to a cold one than it is for us to come out here," Holovak said. "Frankly, I think we'd have a better chance back there. But I'd still rather play here. It's a truer test of football."

The game begins at 4:30 p.m. EST Sunday and San Diego is favored by six points.

The game will be televised in the U.S. by ABC.

San Diego Chargers belted Boston Patriots 50-17 in a preseason game and beat them twice during the regular season but by much closer scores—27-24 and 24-21.

It's asking a lot for our fellas to hold them the way they did in the last two games," Holovak said. "What we've got to do is score rather than just trying to hold them."

Asked how many points he'll need to beat the Chargers, Holovak said:

"I'll take 24. Of course, we didn't get many against them in the last two games combined."

Holovak says the Patriots are adjusting fairly well to a warm weather here.

"The main thing is timing," he said. "Everything changes on a frozen field. The receivers can't cut, the defenders have trouble keeping their feet, and the passer has a hard time with his footing."

San Diego won all eight of its games with Eastern Division teams this season, and finished with a 10-4 record in the Western Division.

San Diego led the league in total offence, averaging 368.5 yards a game. Boston ranked first in total defence, allowing an average of 262.3 yards a game.

Cracked Rib, Bruises

Johnny Longden Injured

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Johnny Longden, the 56-year-old jockey who has booted home more winners than any other rider, suffered a fractured rib and numerous bruises but escaped serious injury Friday when his mount reared in a race and collapsed in a race at Santa Anita.

His mount, Arachnid, a three-year-old colt, fell on the stretch turn and Longden was thrown to the track.

The veteran rider was checked at the track's first-aid station and then rushed to hospital. Doctors said he had suffered many bruises but escaped serious injury.

Arachnid was destroyed.

Longden was trying for his 9,778th win in the fourth race. The colt was running fifth in the race.

Seven horses behind him were running to the outside and managed to clear Longden as he hit the track and rolled for the rail.

He lay still as his field chased by, then Bill Shoemaker taking Chas Me across the line for the victory. The crowd watched quietly as an ambulance picked up Longden.

Spills are no novelty for the venerable jockey.

In 1960 he survived a spectacular fall at Del Mar when his mount stepped in a sprinkler and set off a gusher of water.

In 1958 he broke his right leg at Del Mar when his mount collapsed and died during a workout, throwing him against a rail.

Over the years he has had many other accidents with spills, dating back to his first in 1925. During one 18-month period he broke a leg on three times, his arm broken, besides both legs, his ribs, collarbone and back. He has had several brain concussions and been knocked unconscious countless times.

Longden, an Englishman, was brought up in Taber, in southern Alberta, and first started riding in Western Canada.

Minor Hockey

The Generals, Maroons and Frontenacs posted wins last night when three games were played in the Belleville Minor Hockey Association Bantam "A" division last night.

Frontenacs topped the Canadiens 3-1. Heaven scored twice for the winners while Jim Bennett potted the other goal and drew two assists. R. Woodley was the loss Canadiens marker.

Maroons copped a 4-1 decision over the Hawks. G. White, Kevin Asher, Bo Storey and G. Jefferies scored a goal each while Storms, J. Cochrane and G. Bowen earned assists. L. Newton scored for the Hawks, aided by P. McKenzie.

Generals defeated the Rangers 3-1, paced by H. Williamson's two goals. D. Lougheed triggered the other goal and J. Albert got one helper. J. Toy scored for the Rangers, helped by G. Rodgers.

33 Penalties Assessed

Olympics Blank Czechs 4-0

SUDBURY (CP) — Canada's Olympic hockey team defeated the Czechoslovakian Nationals 4-0 Friday Day in the ruled match between the two clubs.

Len Broderick picked up the shutout.

A goal by Ross Morrison stood up for two periods. Then in the final 20-minutes the Canadian club completely outplayed the Czechs and sent in three goals—by Jay Cadieux, Bob Forhan and Gary Begg.

The game was a rough affair from the beginning. Referee Hugh McLean handed out a total of 33 penalties, including the two misconducts and a major. The misconducts went to Jiri Dorsak and Rudolf Potsch, both of the Czech team. Jaroslav Veltr picked up the major for cross-checking.

A crowd of 6,731 fans saw the game, second highest of the Canadians' tour.

The Canadian team now has a record of two wins and one loss against the touring Czechoslovakian team.

The Czechs have a tour record of four wins, three losses and three ties. They wind up their tour Sunday in Toronto when they meet Sweden.

Despite the high penalty total, there were no actual fights in the game. Almost all the penalties called were for infractions dealing with the misuse of sticks —high sticking, tripping, slashing and cross checking.

Right after Morrison's goal the Canadians refused to allow the Czechs a face-off during play and the game slowed down until the last 20-minutes when the Canadians scored three power-play goals.

The first period goal was scored while both teams were playing one man short.

The Czechs took the worst of the penalties with 18 minors, one major and two misconducts, while the Canadians were tabbed for 12 minors.

The major penalty was given to Veltr in the last minute of play for cross checking Rod Selling. Selling fell to the ice but left after a few seconds under his own steam.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY

By GORDIE HOWE

Because of the constant shifting pattern of play in hockey, you have to play the power play by ear. But there are a few plays that are standard for exploiting an advantage.

The main objective, naturally, is to get the puck in their zone and keep possession. You throw it around until you get an open man and a shot on net. Anyway you do this is fine.

Speaking of plays, here's one what we call a delayed man. If you can get organized and come out of your end, you have one of the defencemen or point man turn up late.

For instance, if I'm coming up the right side late, the right winger carrying the puck will go within five feet of the blueline then swing in towards the middle as he and puck are in full. As anchor man, I'll continue on and he'll throw the puck to me.

On occasion, I'll checker forward as well as the defenceman behind him, will both pull over towards the right winger. It leaves me a clear trail to move in and shoot.

If the manoeuvre doesn't fool them, it still gives me enough working room to get the puck in closer and try to throw it around and keep an open man.

The whole idea is to get them running. And the minute you get them running there has to be an open man. Because you can pass the puck faster than they can move.

We don't care where the goaltender is, as long as we've got an open man in front, he stands a pretty good chance of scoring.

When you get them running, you can get a cross fire barrage going on the goalie. Because the puck is moving from one side to the other to make the stops, he doesn't have as much chance to remember to watch the puck. And the rebounds often will come right to you.

Flags Blank Bulldogs 4-0; Blades Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toledo Blades, once atop the international hockey, are determined to stay within striking distance.

They walloped Muskegon Lumberjacks 5-1 Friday to keep that distance to one point behind Fort Wayne Komets, who were idle.

Meanwhile, Chatham Maroons battled to a 4-4 tie with Des Moines Oak Leafs to take over fourth place in standings while the third - place Fort Huron Flags blanked Windsor 4-0, whowing the Bulldogs into fifth place.

The Flags, with 56 points, are five behind Toledo and nine ahead of Chatham. The Bulldogs are one point ahead of the Maroons and tied with Des Moines but they've played fewer games this season.

Windsor meets the last-place Zephyrs tonight and the Komets play host to Muskegon while the Blades take on Chatham.

Wayne North and Moe Morin each scored two goals apiece to pace the Blades' home victory. Phil Hilton, Ralph Balmas, Don Currie, Walt Bradley and Don Westbrook chipped in singles. Pat Grimaldi and Joe Cimarusti scored one each.

Nor Jacques blocked 34 shots in getting the shutout for he Flags in a penalty-riddled game which saw three misconduct penalties handed out in the second period.

Jose Torres Outpoints Gonzalez

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres scored a knockdown on a bold gamble Friday night by outpolning rough, wild - swinging Jose Gonzalez in a bruising, foul - packed 10 - round boxing match at Madison Square Garden.

The 27-year-old Torres was awarded unanimous decision. The Associated Press scorecard had Torres ahead 6-4.

The battle was billed for the Puerto Rican middleweight title that Torres holds, but both were over the class limit of 160 pounds. Torres weighed 161 and Gonzalez 160.

Packers Meet Cleveland

MIAMI (AP) — Jim Brown of Cleveland Browns outrushed Jim Taylor of Green Bay Packers by a huge margin during the National Football League season, but the odds still favor the Packers in Sunday's battle of the fullbacks.

Green Bay, (11-3-1) is a touchdown choice to beat Cleveland, (10-4) in the National pro playoff bowl matching the runners - up of the Western and Eastern divisions.

The game will mark the first time Packers have competed in the bowl. During the three years the game has been played, the Packers were 0-3. Cleveland is making its second appearance.

Brown, first NFL back to gain more than a mile on the ground when he ran 1,863 yards last season, and Taylor, who charged for 1,018 in exceeding the 1,000 - yard mark for the fourth straight year.

Knights Stretch Loop Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Brilliant goaltending by Ernie Wakely gave Omaha a 3-0 shutout over St. Paul Rangers and enabled the Knights to stretch their lead in the Central Professional Hockey League to nine points.

Omaha is tops with 46 points with Minneapolis Bruins and St. Louis Braves tied for second place. The Braves thumped the Bruins 9-3 Friday to clinch the tie.

St. Paul's loss left them one point back of second place but holding a comfortable 10-point lead over the Cincinnati Wings.

The standings could experience a minor shuffle tonight when St. Paul visits the Braves and Omaha plays host to the Bruins. On Sunday Omaha travels to St. Paul and St. Louis meets the Wings in Cincinnati.

Wakely made 25 saves in chalking up his second shutout of the season—both against the Rangers. Rookie centre Billie English put the game far out of reach with two goals in the third period.

Bruins' playing-coach Harry Sinden and Gary Dornhoefer scored the two Minneapolis goals.

LIFTS BAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Lockhart, president of the Eastern Hockey League, said Friday he had temporarily lifted a suspension imposed on Nashville goalie Don Edwards on a charge of assaulting a referee. Lockhart said the reports on the incident had not reached him as soon as expected and as a result the Nashville team might be penalized unduly before the investigation could be completed.

Referee Gets R.C.M.P. Escort

CAMPBELLTON, N.B. (CP) Referee Wally Guitard of Dalhousie needed a police escort to leave the arena here Friday night after a wild North Shore Hockey League game between Dalhousie Rangers and Campbellton Tigers.

Dalhousie won the game 4-3.

A brawl erupted in the final seconds of the game, the result of a second - period battle in which a game misconduct penalty, a misconduct and a pair of majors were handed out. The final 30 seconds of the game were not played.

After Charlie Picard of the Tigers was given a minor penalty, coach Robbie Robinson tossed a towel at Guitard. He was given a match penalty. Then Tiger players began scuffling with the official.

Mike Mahoney of Tigers and Mike Tremblay of Dalhousie exchanged blows in the second period. And Paul Picard and Steve Hicks battled at the end of the third period.

Woodstock Lengthens Sr. Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A 24 dumping of Port Colborne Sailors Friday night gave Woodstock Athletics breathing room atop the Ontario Hockey Association Senior standings—but it may be temporary.

Bait Hurtets, who trail Woodstock's 29 points by three, can tighten the margin again tonight when they meet Welland Burl oaks. A Welland victory would move them into a tie with Galt.

Woodstock Friday actually Vilt Oaks won 5-2 over Guelph Regals to continue the see-saw battle for second place. Oaks, with 18 points, now lead the Regals by one and can stretch their margin to three Sunday when they play host to Galt.

The Sailors, alone in the cellar with six points, visit Welland Sunday.

THOWS WAY

Gord Sampson showed the way for the Athletics with a three-goal outburst in Woodstock. Gerry Stringle and playing-coach Ted Power each fired a pair while single goals went to Bobby Robinson and Toby Black.

Ken Hodgkins, Fraser Kilpatrick, Lyle Sherron and Bill McGowan replied for the Sailors, who dressed only 11 players for the Woodstock game.

An impressive goal-tending display by Ludger Doucet and a three-goal effort by Larry Shuker paced the Oaks' win in Guelph.

Doucet kicked out all but two of 50 shots and was particularly brilliant in the first period, turning aside five Guelph breakaways.

Bob Bishop and Charlie Mitchell were the other Oakville scorers. Lloyd Mercer and Rick Hay accounted for the Regals' goals.

Sixth Time Fischer Wins U.S. Chess Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Fischers 20, of Brooklyn, New York, won the United States chess championship Friday for the sixth time in the last seven years. He set a national record with a clean sweep score of 11-0.

Twelve of the best rated players in the U.S. compete annually for $5,000 in prizes offered by the American Chess Foundation and the U.S. Chess Federation.

Fischer won first prize of $2,000 and second prize of $1,000 went to Larry Evans of Las Vegas, Nev., who scored 7½ points to 3½ for his opponents.

Fischer, a contender for world chess honors, won his final match in a 12-round tournament that began Dec. 15 from Dr. Anthony Saidy of Puerto Rico.

Marlboros Clip Flyers' Wings 4-2

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) Toronto Marlboros ended a three unanswered goals in the third period Friday night to defeat Niagara Falls Flyers 4-2 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game and halt the Flyers' home unbeaten streak at 10 straight games.

A crowd of 4,006 largest of the season was on hand to see the Flyers beaten.

Ron Ellis was the hero for the Marlies, scoring three goals, including the tying and winning goals. His last two markers were within the space of 45 seconds early in the final period to give Toronto a 3-2 lead.

Paul Laurence added an insurance tally for Toronto with Ellis setting up the play. Flyer scorers were Brian Cornell and Bud Debrodyk.

Niagara Falls outplayed the circuit leaders and outshot them by a 37-24 margin but Gary Smith in goal for the Marlboros came up with a splendid evening in net.

HICKEY COMES BACK

MONTREAL (CP) — Winger Billy Hicke of Montreal Canadiens, out of action since Nov. 20 with a bruised knee, will dress for Saturday night's National Hockey League game against Boston Bruins, it was announced Friday. VANCOUVER (CP)—A Cinderella team will help represent Canada at the Olympic figure skating championships in Austria starting Jan. 29.

Faye Strutt, 16, and Jim Watters, 17, will be making their first bid in international skating — in the pairs competition — after being together only a few months. They made the Olympic team by coming third in the Olympic trials at Toronto last November.

They will compete for the first time in national or international events—not counting the trials—at the Canadian championships at North Bay, Ont., Jan. 16, in a bid to gain a place on Canada's team for the world championships.

Their showing at the Olympic trials surprised the experts, including Dr. Hellmut May, their own coach and a former Olympic competitor.

"We just went there to get our names in front of the judges in the East," said Jim.

"We just wanted to see what we could do," said Faye.

CAME UP FAST

Only Jim had previous experience in national competition. He and Wendy Warne came second in the national junior pairs in 1961 and 1962, and in the British Columbia senior pairs in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

Last summer Wendy dropped out, and May recommended that Jim team up with Faye Strutt, top female skater at suburban Kerrisdale Figure Skating Club where he is the professional.

In the Olympic trials, the North American champion pair of Guy Revell and Debby Wilkes of Unionville, Ont., paced first, and Nell Carpenter and Lynda Ward—who had been skating together for years—came second. Jim and Faye were only 1.7 points behind them in third place.

Both Jim and Faye are Grade 11 students and are determined to finish their schooling. To get as much practice time as possible, Faye moved in with Jim's family, and they attend the same school.

HARD PRACTICE

They practise 17 hours a week, with skating sessions before school, in the afternoons and sometimes the evenings. Four afternoons a week they skip school to practise, and their teachers put in extra time helping them in their school work.

The coach says the skaters and their parents are paying up to $125 a month renting ice and paying other expenses to permit practices. "They will have to buy their own way to North Bay," he added.

May is going with them to Austria—a country for which he competed in two Olympics—at his own expense.

He competed in 1956 and 1948 in the singles, and 10 years ago moved to Moncton, N.B., as a club professional. He came here the following year.

The young skaters will compete in both junior and senior pairs at North Bay. If they make second place in the seniors they will be on the Canadian team in the world championships, to be held shortly after the Olympics.

PATTERSON MAY QUIT

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Floyd Patterson's publicity man said Friday the former world heavyweight champion may retire from the ring if he is defeated by Italy's Sante Amonti on Monday. Ted Hansen, who handles publicity at Patterson's training camp, said Floyd had told him: "If I'm defeated, I may load up my gloves because then I may feel that I don't have it any more."

Manitoba's Black Bears Now Off Protected List

By IRA DREYDALE

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba government has crossed the black bear off its list of protected animals. He will be fair game for hunters and trappers this year.

G. H. (Buck) Witney, natural resources minister, said in announcing the move that in some areas of the province bears are becoming a nuisance.

The bear was put on the protected list by an order-in-council more than three years ago. Hunting was allowed in only three predator control areas. Previously anyone with trap or gun could hunt bear.

G. W. Malaher, provincial game director, says the protection served as a crack-down on "truffle in bear cubs." They had been caught and sold to pet shops or as commercial attractions.

Now an increase has been noted and bears have been depredating bee hives and summer home dwellers. In some cases they have eaten between from honey, pears and made general nuisances of themselves along the traplines.

At summer resorts, for example in the Whiteshell area of eastern Manitoba, they have become a problem, Mr. Witney says. They go after garbage, especially in dry years when the berry crop is thin in their normal haunts.

HOMING INSTINCT

Some have been killed or caught live in traps and transplanted to less-populated areas. But this hasn't always worked. Mr. Malaher tells of one bear moved 35 miles but 10 days later back at the same place again. He was identified by his yellow-painted rump.

The new game-bird regulation will permit registered trappers to take black bear on their registered traplines during the period in which beaver trapping is permitted on the lines.

Mr. Malaher says a bear pelt may bring about $30. He figures some will probably end up as hats for British Guards regiments.

The hunting season will be in effect only before the tourist season begins, with the length of the season depending on the area.

North of the 53rd parallel, or in approximately the northern two-thirds of Manitoba, the season will run from May 11 to May 30 inclusive. South of that, except in the Whiteshell Provincial Forest Reserve, the season will be from April 27 to May 16. The Whiteshell season will be April 27-May 9.

Bear-hunting licences will cost residents $5.25, non - residents $10.25. A sports hunter will be limited to one bear. Females with cubs will still be protected, and so will polar bears, found in far northern parts of Manitoba. Hunting with dogs won't be allowed.

AT THE BELLE — Last Day — Troy Donahue heads the college basketball team which invades Palm Springs for a period of fun and romance in "Palm Springs Weekend", new Warner Bros. comedy in Technicolor, playing today for the last times at the Belle Theatre. Connie Stevens, Ty Hardin, Robert Conrad and Stefanie Powers are co-starred.

'I Just Love All the Girls,' Says Bachelor Hugh O'Brian

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hugh O'Brian is still among the town's eligible bachelors. How does he do it?

"I just love all the girls," says Hugh. "There's safety in large groups."

For a time, it looked as though the former Queen Soraya of Iran would wed Hugh. That was the year he stayed away from large groups and travelled the world with the shy-eyed Soraya.

"We were in love," Hugh admits. "And maybe something would have happened but we live in two different worlds.

"As a queen and now a princess, Soraya wants a husband who can play all the time—a full-fledged member of the international set. The Riviera in summer—Switzerland in winter —Paris in the spring, et cetera.

"An American husband, if he's worth anything at all, can't do that. He must work. He must be the breadwinner. I like to play as well as anyone, but not all the time."

There are other reasons why Hugh is not in a marrying mood.

"I come from parents who have been married 39 years. When I marry I want the same. It's hard to come by in Hollywood."

Then, too, his career is going well. He's about to co-star with Lana Turner in Love Has Many Faces. He's in demand for most of the television drama shows and he still collects sizable royalties from his Wyatt Earp television series.

But he has a cute blonde girl friend by the name of Chris Noel who may change his bachelor status. Hugh gave a big party at his Benedict Canyon home the other night and Chris acted as hostess.

Said the West Palm Beach, Fla., beauty, an ex-drum majorette:

"I'm working on destroying Hugh's bachelor status. I feel that I'm farther along than Soraya—and I don't care if he works. In fact, I'd rather."

ART EXHIBITION

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Fine lunar aspect coincides with chance for advancement, travel, greater knowledge. Excellent day for telephoning friends, renewing contacts. Ready out — expand.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your mood is your bond. Know this and act accordingly. Don't rationalize. Say what you mean — mean what you say. Don't let associate "talk you into" questionable scheme.

If today is your birthday . . . you are dynamic, have plenty of personal appeal and creative ability.

For January 6

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Pleasure gained through friends, social gathering. No "serious" accompaniment indicated now. Many obstacles must be overcome, instead of pushing — relax. Your cycle moving up!

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Many are now favorably inclined toward you, but don't push decisions. Be diplomatic, tactful, tolerant of those who appear wrong. This is a lesson good for you. Show confidence.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Don't over-estimate your position. Applies in personal as well as business life. You are to be paid numerous compliments. Keep your head. Remain practical — otherwise, you could arouse resentment.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Lack of flexibility. Details will be thrust upon your shoulders. Superiors keep eye on results. Dig in and show your worth! Added responsibility your key to success.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Your work due to be appreciated. Stress efficiency, energy, but don't push — take quiet approach. Those who work with you may need advice. Give it — be co-operative.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Others will take active interest in your plans, efforts. Spotlight shines your way. Watch personal appearance. Be sure others know when you are spoiling, when serious. Be specific.

Libra (Sept. 22 to Oct. 22): If you put too much trust in emotions — you pay the piper. Means, be practical. Know what you're doing — be aware of consequences. Favorable for changes based on consideration.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Key is dynamic approach. Whatever you do — do it with style, verve. Step out of the ordinary into the extraordinary. Day to display abilities, flair for showmanship.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Gain indicated from teachers or those in service professions. Could include doctors, nurses. Social encounter with member of these professions could prove significant.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Conflict due between opposite views. Decision should be based on research. Be thorough, logical. Avoid superficial judgments. Key is being responsible.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your personality will attract favorable comment. Applies especially in dealings with members of opposite sex. Natural charm sparkles to forefront. Flash that Aquarius smile!

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Exchange of thought, ideas, will benefit you. Investigate — be versatile. Avoid "fixed" attitude. Key is enlarging scope, expanding activities. Get started today!

If today is your birthday . . . you possess charm, are capable of being an innovator, especially where music, art or design are concerned.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Libra, Scorpio, Sagittarius. Special word to Aries: Not day to press for answers. Wait and see.

MUSIC FATTENS

FAILSWORTH, England (CP) David Adams, a Lancashire farmer, is using music to keep his pigs happy so they will eat less and grow fatter. All day long he listens to the grunts of approval and squeals of delight as the pigs' favorite programs come on. He claims that because of this method his pigs are ready for the bacon slicer within 30 weeks.

TEACH SAFETY

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Society for the Prevention of Accidents is distributing millions of Christmas novelties designed to teach children sidewalk safety. An official to the society said, "We feel these novelties are a good way of impressing upon children the need for care on the roads."

ask Henry

DEAR HENRY — Why do most people think that they are better in some ways than everybody else? Do you think it's a good thing? MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST KNOW — If people didn't think that they were better than other people in some ways, people would be jumping off the Empire State Building, talented and struggling artists freaking their favorite subjects would give up, students would be and the world would be slowed to a sluggish, long and never ending pace.
HENRY

DEAR HENRY—I am a girl of 15 who has a boy friend. He doesn't pay much attention to me and my girl friends tell me I should leave him, but I don't want to because I think a lot of him. What should I do?
MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED UP — Adopt the qualities that make you like him and perhaps he'll begin to notice you. One method of getting "instant respect" is to do well at school.

Don't flirt, don't be aggressive or loud, dress neatly and keep a clean personality. These last a little, see how he reacts to a smile, perhaps even ask him to dance.

You can sense what he thinks of you. If he still is indifferent to you, drop him. But don't fret, there are plenty of boys that will admire and like a mature young lady!
HENRY

DEAR HENRY — What is your pet complaint about teachers?
CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS —
The teacher is a queer creature
Who has some funny features,
He continuously claims he is not a priest,
But he still remains a preacher!
HENRY

DEAR HENRY — I have a problem. I love cats and we have a dog. We used to have a cat but it ran away. I asked my father, but he refused. Please tell my father that we should get a cat.
CAT LOVER

DEAR CAT LOVER —
There is an important rule in life
A rule that must be taught
Whether it's cats, dogs or teddy bears
Be happy with what you've got!
HENRY

DEAR HENRY — I look in a locked in a cage. I'm 14 and still have to report everything I do to my parents. I have to tell them where I'm going, I'm told where to go and when to be home. Don't you think a boy of 14 should have his freedom?
FED UP

DEAR FED UP — For reasons that you know better than I, your parents have become concerned over your ability to take care of yourself and stay out of trouble. So follow the restrictions and perhaps when you get older Mom and Pop will get more confidence in you. Don't try to break the rules or pretty soon you'll need a visa to leave the house!
HENRY

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League

Question—We are planning a trip to Florida this winter. Could you give us the temperatures for Florida in January, February and March? Also the population area, etc. — Mrs. Belleville.

Answer—Using Miami as an example, the mean temperatures are as follows: December —Av. Max. 75, Av. Min. 64; January — Av. Max. 74, Av. Min. 62; February — Av. Max. 75, Av. Min. 62; March — Av. Max. 77, Av. Min. 63.

These figures are taken from the U.S. Weather Bureau: Population: 4,951,560 ranks 10th. Area: 58,560 sq. miles of which 4,298 square miles are water. Origin of "cypress": Tallahassee, Nicknames: "Land of Flowers," "Sunshine State." Flower: Orange Blossom. Motto: "In God We Trust." Speed Limit: 65 miles per hour or as posted. Minimum Age for Drivers: 16 years.

Question—We are driving to Windsor and would like to visit Toronto, Hamilton and London on the way. Where can we acquire city maps for these cities so we can look them over before our trip? — Mrs. C. W., Frankford.

Answer—If you contact the Chamber of Commerce or the local office of the Ontario Motor League they will be glad to provide you with one of these areas or you can write to the Chamber of Commerce of each city and they will send you the most satisfactory of their own city.

Question—How do we find First Aid Posts if needed on our Highways.

Answer—If you will consult a map of Ontario, obtainable at the Chamber of Commerce or the O.M.L. office, you will see pictured on the back of the map. "What to do at the scene of an accident." This will tell you what to look for. To be shown on the map is a mark like a cross like a German Cross. Also there are signs posted on

Bulletins From Birdland

BIRDS BY MILLIONS

One man will tell you that except for English sparrows, no bird of any kind has been near his home. A neighbor has a window ledge, the birdwatcher will tell you, a different story. Starlings continually pour in and out of a hole under his eaves, crows can be heard cawing early mornings, a hairy woodpecker hammers out a tattoo on a maple across the street, a sparrow hawk has a home over his garage, screech owls may be found in the garden every fifty minutes walk-away, and a flock of evening grosbeaks have been around for the past fortnight.

MANY VARIETIES

Though comparatively few birds remain in Canada the whole twelve months, millions of them at least part of the year here, or frequent Canada's coastal waters. And do not imagine that these millions (out of America's estimated fifteen billion) belong to only a dozen or so kinds. Something like 223 varieties occur more or less regularly in Eastern Canada, America, while another 175 or so appear as occasional visitors.

The 1953 discovery by ornithologist, Roger Tory Peterson, who has done so much to introduce us to bird life, that Lesser James Fisher, an English naturalist, on a birding trip which took them from Newfoundland, via Mexico, to Alaska. Their bird list then came to 372 species.

Some 40 kinds of warblers are to be found in Canada. In Ontario's district alone are found 19 kinds of birds, and within a 50 mile radius of Montreal nearly 280 species have been identified.

"600 CLUB"

Two year ago the editor of Audubon Magazine expressed surprise that Stuart Keith of the American Museum of Natural History had a "life list of more than 600 varieties, many wondered—is this were a modest little Mr. Peterson, who has already listed over 600, entitled to publish the fact in the magazine. Soon letters came in from other birders saying that 600 was too, had, in America, identified over 800 birds from the American Ornithologists' Union check-list. Thus the mythical "600 Club" came into being, and the names of the 19 members were published in the Nov.-Dec. 1963 issue of Audubon Magazine.

If b i r d i n g is new to you, or where are included (and it must be remembered that birds sometimes leave their breeding areas and get to far-away places) the result is staggering. Out of a possible 906 on the A.O.U. check-list Peterson has seen 726, Ira Gabrielson 700, Ben King 696, Stuart Keith 693, and Allan and Peugh 691.

Good luck with your own life list. Begin counting up now as the New Year starts.

Hydro Area Amalgamation Completed at New Year's As Name Change Made Here

A change in name for Ontario Hydro's Belleville office came with the arrival of the New Year. As of January 1, the area of the province from Port Hope, north to and including Mattawa, and from Port Hope to the Quebec border, is now known as Eastern Region. Headquarters for the 21,000 square mile region is Hydro's office at 620 Dundas Street in Belleville.

This section of Ontario was formerly two Hydro regions — Eastern, with headquarters in Ottawa and East Central, headquartered here in Belleville. A. M. Pedersen of Ottawa was named regional manager of the merged regions.

Steps to complete the amalgamation of the two sections were taken during 1963, following the announcement in March that Belleville had been selected as the location of the regional headquarters. Plans were immediately initiated to handle the many complicated changeovers of equipment and location. Several major moves, involving staff and equipment, were carried out as the year progressed.

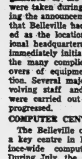
COMPUTER CENTRE

The Belleville office became a key centre in Hydro's province-wide computer network. During July, the switch of all 20 transmission points throughout the regions, with termination points in Belleville, was completed. Billing for more than 124,000 rural electrical customers and payroll data for more than 3,500 employees is processed through the communication section in the Belleville office and transmitted directly to Hydro's electronic computer in Toronto.

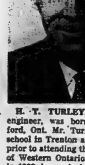
A second major change took place in September with the consolidation of the operating departments and the establishment of the regional operators at Belleville. Major changes in the communications network were necessary to complete the changeover. The supervisory control of 20 hydro-electric generating stations and 27 manned and semi-manned transformer and switching stations is now centred in the Belleville office on a 24-hour a day schedule.

35 FAMILIES MOVE HERE

The transfer of staff members and their families continued throughout the year and to date, approximately 35 families and seven single persons have moved into the city. Several of those transferred are still commuting to Ottawa on the weekends while a few, still based in Ottawa, will likely be moved during 1964.

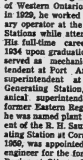


A. M. Pedersen, regional manager, announced the appointment of five department heads to date—H. T. Turley of Ottawa as operations engineer, K. D. Taylor of Belleville as consumer service and sales engineer, C. A. Campbell of Belleville as regional accountant, D. A. Weskett of Ottawa as organization and methods officer, and W. J. Killough of Ottawa as public relations officer.

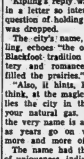


H. T. TURLEY, operations engineer, born in Ingersoll, Ont. Mr. Turley attended school in Trenton and Belleville prior to attending the University of Western Ontario. Beginning in 1929, he worked as a temporary operator at the Trent River Stations while attending school. His full-time career began in 1934 upon graduation. He has served as mechanical superintendent at Port Arthur, plant superintendent at Chats Falls Generating Station, and mechanical superintendent for the former Eastern Region. In 1957, he was named plant superintendent of the R. H. Saunders Generating Station at Cornwall and, in 1960, was appointed operations engineer for the former Eastern Region at Ottawa. Mr. and Mrs. Turley have one daughter and now reside on Hastings Drive.

The new region is the largest in area of Hydro's five southern Ontario regions. (Other regional headquarters are: London, Hamilton, Toronto and Niagara.) The two Northern Ontario regions are headquartered at North Bay and Port Arthur.) It is subdivided into 18 rural operating areas which directly serve all classes of customers outside of municipalities. Its 30 generating stations range in size from the Robert H. Saunders—St. Lawrence station at Cornwall, to the tiny Galetta generating station near Arnprior, Ont. Total installed capacity of these Eastern Region stations total 1,850,665 KW.



A large portion of the work in the regional office is done in connection with the services provided for the 75 municipally owned hydro systems and public utilities within the regional boundaries. The varied clientele, including engineering, rate studies, accounting and audit services, advertising and public relations. The 75 municipalities serve a combined total of approximately 197,000 electrical customers.



K. D. TAYLOR, consumer service and sales engineer, has been a resident of Belleville since 1957. Mr. Taylor's career with Hydro began in 1939 following graduation from the University of Toronto. His first posting was to Simcoe. In 1941, he was transferred to the staff of Ontario Hydro's Welland office and was later named manager of the Woodridge office. In 1946, he was transferred to Hydro's head office in Toronto as supervisor of the municipal staff and, two years later, was appointed consumer service engineer in Hamilton. In 1957, he was appointed consumer service engineer in Belleville. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their three children reside on MacDonald Avenue.

C. A. CAMPBELL is regional accountant. Mr. Campbell's Hydro career began in 1940 when he joined the Commission's accounting staff at Ogoki Diversion project in northern Ontario. He transferred to Dee Cew Falls near St. Catharines, the Des Joachims project in 1947, and the Niagara development in 1951. In 1957, he was appointed regional accountant in Belleville. He and Mrs. Campbell and their three children live on Hastings Drive.

D. A. WESKETT, organization and methods officer, is a graduate of the University of Toronto, Mr. Weskett's Hydro career began in 1940 upon graduation. One of his first appointments was statistics manager of Hydro's Ferth office. He was later named a line maintenance supervisor for the former Eastern Region in Ottawa. In 1958, he was appointed Organization and Methods Officer for that region and has now been named to the same post in the new eastern Ontario region. Mr. and Mrs. Weskett and their three sons now reside on Edgehill Road.

W. J. KILLOUGH, public relations officer, following a seven-year career in radio broadcasting, joined Ontario Hydro in 1953 at Niagara Falls. In 1955, he was transferred to the St. Lawrence Power Project at Cornwall and worked in the house-moving phase of that development. In 1958, he was posted to Toronto and, in 1960, was appointed public relations officer at Ottawa. During the same period he was named press officer for the St Lawrence portion of the 1958 Royal Tour. Mr. and Mrs. Killough and their four children reside on Plaza Square.

of bushels of surplus U.S. wheat and other foods.

Russian agents have indicated they are seeking more than 150,000,000 bushels of wheat in America and when the late President John F. Kennedy announced his approval last October of wheat sales to Russia there were predictions that sales might total 250,000,000 to 400,000,000.

This would give a boost to farm income, help ease the U.S. balance of payments problem and also provide a partial solution for U.S. surplus commodity problems, Kennedy said.

Rudyard Kipling Favored Name Of Medicine Hat

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP) This southern Alberta city is still called Medicine Hat because Rudyard Kipling favored the name.

A leaf from the history of Canadians, it goes this way:

In 1910, newcomers to the booming centre started a move to change the city's name and succeeded in obtaining approval for a plebiscite.

Oldtimers felt it would be absurd to change the city's distinctive name, a translation from the Cree word for the district.

"I wish that Rudyard Kipling knew of this," said one of them. "He would flay the hide off these blighters."

So Francis F. Fatt, postmaster, was selected to write to the famous British author, who had visited here three years earlier.

Kipling's reply was contained in a letter so intense that the question of holding a plebiscite was dropped.

"The city's name, wrote Kipling, echoes "the old Cree and Blackfoot tradition of red mystery and romance that once filled the prairies."

"Also, if Mintz, I venture to think, at the magic that underlies the city in the shape of your natural gas. Believe me, the very name is an asset, and as years go on will become more and more of an asset."

The name had the "qualities of uniqueness, individuality, assortment and euphony."

"Above all, it is the lawful, original, sweat-and - dust-worn name of the city, and to change it would be to risk the luck of the city, to disgust and dispirit its citizens, old-timers and the city alone, but all over the world, and to advertise abroad the city's lack of faith in itself."

Prof. Haumont Cleared of Capital Murder

MONTREAL (CP) — Professor-Roland Haumont was freed Friday after the court cleared him of one capital murder charge and the Crown withdrew two others.

The 42-year-old foreign language professor at Harpur College in Binghampton, N.Y., had faced three capital murder charges arising from the deaths of his wife and two daughters in an explosion last Oct. 20.

Judge Claude Wagner freed him of the charge of murdering his wife Sheila, 43. In a decision based on a study of evidence presented during a preliminary hearing of the charge, Judge Wagner ruled there was insufficient grounds to send Prof. Haumont to trial.

He said evidence presented by the Crown was "circumstantial and entirely inadequate, but does not lead this court to the irresistible conclusion that the accused person is the author of the crime charged to him."

"After having considered the proof in the light of the law which was guided solely by the law, the proof and my conscience I find the difficulty or hesitation in declaring that the evidence does not constitute sufficient proof in law permit to send the accused to trial."

WITHDRAWS CHARGES

Crown Prosecutor Jacques Ducros then announced the withdrawal of two charges arising from the deaths of Prof. Haumont's other children, Nicole Roland, 17, and Leslie Catherine, 10.

A court source said the charges could be revived if new evidence comes to light.

Prof. Haumont put his head in his hands and sobbed when Judge Wagner read his five-page written judgment. He sat in the wheel-chair he has used since the explosion in his west end Montreal home. His son, Marc, 13, was also wounded in the blast.

Judge Wagner mentioned what he described as the "double life" of the professor. This referred to evidence of a young student of the professor's at Binghampton who came to Montreal to testify that the professor had given her two rings and promised to marry her in five years after children grew up.

A friend of the family later testified that the professor and his wife had been reconciled and were living happily together before the explosion. They had planned to move to the United States.

An 11-day fire commission-er's inquiry, said by legal observers to have been the longest ever held here, found the explosion was caused by a mixture of propane gas and air. Evidence showed that someone had tampered with pipes leading into the home from propane gas tanks left at the rear of the home by a previous tenant.

AN OLD HOSTELRY

"Because (history) really happened, it gathers round it all the inscrutable mysteries of life and death and time." — George Macaulay Trevelyan.

Little did we dream that almost one month to the day after our visit to Noranda, home of Canada's famed copper mine, with its large smelter, that we'd be passing through Anaconda in Montana. It is noted for its copper and smelter, which smelts the ore from a 86-foot-wide copper seam discovery in a worn-out silver mine bought by Marcus Daly in 1872, soon to be labelled "the richest hill on earth", and thus founded an empire named after the mine, the Anaconda.

Much as we were delighted to pass through this famed mining town, a typical western town, gay with flower baskets hanging from the street lamp posts, we were most thrilled to see the equally famous hotel built in 1903-4 by the fabulous able copper magnate Marcus Daly, as a weapon in a million dollar struggle with his enemies in the state. The struggle was finally settled by William Clark, Montana Senator who kept Helena the Capital. (Needless to say, Daly lost this battle, though the Anaconda Standard, the newspaper Daly founded in 1889 to help in the Daly wars, afterward stubbornly referred to Helena as the "temporary capital", and was the last such battle in the state.)

Daly's sumptuous hotel costing $300,000 its Gothic "pepper-pot" towers was a show-place in which Daly hoped to entertain state legislators, the finest hotel, in fact, in the West. And though the date 1898 is inscribed in the stone-work over its entrance, the grand ball which opened it did not take place until July 1, 1899, the year Monta became a state.

Thus it seems most appropriate that the hotel be named The Montana.

It's bar was the pride and joy of its owner. The floor was laid with alternating tiles of maple and redwood. In the centre was a mosaic of the head of Tammany, Daly's favorite race horse, and none other designed the cutlay but Tiffany's at a cost of $3,000. One legend of the many about Daly and his hotel is that he refused to allow anyone to step on Tammany's head.

Today, local citizens are endeavoring to raise $200,000 to save this historic relic, now named the Hotel Marcus, both as a monument to Montana's turbulent past and as a tourist attraction. For years it was operated by the Anaconda Company at yearly losses of more than $30,000. In 1958 it was sold for $1. A year later the new owners said it would have to be razed and the site sold.

A "save-the-hotel" group of citizens was formed and bought the place. Modest remodelling was begun, a few rooms made modern, the dining room renovated and a new coffee shop installed in the northeast corner, previously occupied by the Anaconda Club, whose members, according to old menus, enjoyed bear, buffalo, deer, antelope, elk and other wild game.

The bar and adjoining parlor, with its large gold-framed mirrors, fringed sofas and chairs, heavy red draperies, its red and cream wallpaper, is truly elegant. The triple-arched mirror behind the bar, the glittering chandeliers all add to the Victorian atmosphere. Being he only hotel in town, many local functions are held here and on Sundays a smorgasbord meal is served from 2:30 to 10 p.m.

However loaves are still preserved though a board of directors operate without pay and the employees work for a nominal wage. It has been advised that the building be completely overhauled, and that a 20th-century motel be added. Various civic groups along with the local bank agree to invest in this plan — if the citizens of Anaconda can raise the necessary $200,000. This is the crucial year. We wish them well.

The Golden Years

Engineer and School Teacher Set up Retirement Business

By THOMAS COLLINS.

Money can be made in retirement. It is being made all the time. And in some cases, unlikely men and women who are cast off the inhibitions of their working years are building some dramatic second careers.

Mr. Winifred Jones and Miss Margeline Smith are doing this. In fact, they are on their way to becoming tycoons in the construction industry.

Mr. Jones and Miss Smith (these aren't their real names) have formed a retirement partnership. He is 68, a mechanical engineer by trade, and retired last year from a supervisory job in the auto manufacturing business. Miss Smith, 64, was a high school teacher and retired two years ago.

By different paths, Miss Smith and then Mr. Jones and his wife a year later, settled in the same Southern town. Miss Smith became a church friend of Mrs. Jones, which is how Mr. Jones met her.

But not at first. "When Mrs. Jones and I arrived here," he says, "I had enough income to live comfortably and I had some savings. But I was determined to go to work — at something where I could use my hands, and preferably at carpentry. I could lay brick. I could do electrical work. But I was a fair expert at carpentry. All of this going back to projects in my basement at home . . ."

BUSINESS BOOMING

"I love tools," he says. "I wanted to be out among them. I wanted to make sure I was doing something with my retirement besides watching TV . . ." And with a tolerant smile for his wife and some head-shaking by old friends back home, he went to work.

In three weeks he had an idea. His boss and all the other contractors in town were hiring an excavator from a city 16 miles away. Nobody in town had the big yellow excavating machine that was needed. Nobody appeared to want to put up the $24,000 needed to buy one.

"It was easy to check the idea out," says Mr. Jones. "The machine could be had for $6,00 down, with the remaining $18,000 financed at 8 percent. There was enough building on the boards to keep the machine busy for two years."

He talked his boss into putting up $2000 of the down-payment, took $2,000 of his own savings, and then had a talk with Miss Smith. She had savings she didn't know how to invest, and she wanted a job. She was also interested in putting up $2,000 then taking over the job of scheduling the machine, keeping in touch with the contractors, and sending out the bills. She could get $3.75 an hour for this, while Mr. Jones, after a week of training, would operate the machine, for $1.75 an hour. Miss Smith joined up.

PARTNERSHIP BORN

A three-way partnership thus was born, and the business prospered. "All profits are going to pay off our loan now," Mr. Jones says, "and we are doing very well at it. I'm making about $70 a week, and Miss Smith is averaging about $45. But she has turned out to be our key to success. She has set up a chart for the machine that keeps it busy every day, and makes it available on almost any building site on short notice whenever a contractor calls. . ."

Mr. Jones has now contracted for the partnership to buy a small ditch-digging machine, also in demand with the building boom. It will be financed, and is expected also to pay for itself. Mr. Jones, having had his fling with the excavator, will hire a younger man to operate it, while he takes over the ditch digger.

Asphalt is also in demand, and has to come from 28 miles away. The partnership will digest the ditch - digger, then buy a powered asphalt machine. After that will come a powered post-hole digger.

And eventually, who knows? — we may buy a steam shovel," Mr. Jones opines.

In retirement, as in all of life, one thing invariably leads into another, and many a retired man would have to take only that initial step into some activity to make something happen in his life.

St. Ola

ST. OLA — Miss Sandra Wood of the Peterborough Hospital nursing staff was at home for a few days during the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Weller, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Weller, Gordon, Grenie and Debbie of Rochester, Mrs. Mrs. Donald Weller, Donald and Patti of Philadelphia motored to the cottage on Salmon Lake on Friday and returned to Rochester on Tuesday. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Weller and Mrs. Gordon King who will be up went to the cottage by boat and Mrs. Wilfred Hyatt's cottage, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dillard of Newmarket are spending a few days at their cottage here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Van Allen and children of Belleville were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Phillips and Gale.

Fun on Skis Now Enjoyed as Family Sport

Families who enjoy doing things together are discovering the fun of family skiing as a winter past time. On Sunday afternoons mom, dad and the kids load into the car and head for their favorite snow-covered slope to enjoy the healthful outdoor sport together.

The popularity of skiing in this area has been steadily growing and nearby locations such as Mountain View, Uxbridge, Napanee, Batawa and Collingwood all offer excellent facilities within easy driving distance of Belleville. For a weekend jaunt, families are heading farther afield to Mount St. Ottawa, Huntsville, Lake Placid and the Blue Mountains.

Modern ski equipment has made skiing safer and easier than ever, which accounts for its "family" appeal — from the youngest members up.

One of Belleville's most complete selection of ski equipment for all ages is available at Booth Radio and Television Limited. Skis, ski boots, poles, ski clothing — everything for the skier from the beginner to the seasoned pro.

Get the family started now in this popular sport! You can outfit every member for no money down and as little as $1 a week at Booth Radio and Television Limited, 170 Front St. (Opp. City Hall), Dial WO 8-5785.

Plan To Incorporate Industrial Board

Council To Have Only Two Main Committees

Ellis Wants Welfare Programs Co-ordinated

Reduction of the number of council committees to two main committees, — finance and public works; the formation of a separate industrial commission, and the establishment of an organization to co-ordinate all welfare services in the city are three of the changes in municipal government to be undertaken by city council this year.

These were the highlights of the inaugural address given by Mayor Jack Ellis at the inaugural meeting of council held at city hall this morning.

Mayor Ellis said the public works committee would now take into its scope matters formerly handled by the traffic and light committee and the special sewage committee, while the finance committee in addition to its customary role would handle all matters pertaining to personnel.

Although by municipal resolution a personnel committee will be appointed for the work of the arena and recreation committee, the board of parks management and the community centre, the same council committee will sit on all three committees.

COUNCIL MEMBERS

Members of the 1964 council are:

Aldermen Jack Allin, Reg Bailey, Ben Corke, Enos Diehl, John Deacon, Frank Murray, Joseph Raycroft, George Wishart, Eugene Harrison, Don Joss, Douglas Boyle, William Jarvah, Don Whalen, Don Wilson.

Alderman George Wishart, who is ill in hospital, did not attend the inaugural meeting.

The council chambers were filled almost to capacity for the inaugular meeting of the year, with the city's new first lady, Mrs. Ellis, and the three children, having front row seats. The Ellis children are daughters Faye and Connie, and son, John Raymond.

One of the highlights of the inaugural session was the pre-

New Kind Politics Needed

-- Pearson

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday an "outburst of provincial and sectional feeling" constitutes the greatest test facing Canadian statesmanship in 1964.

In an unprecedented bilingual chat with the people over a nation - wide television - radio hookup, he said a new kind of politics is needed to reconcile unity with diversity.

Mr. Pearson also said that Canada's nuclear arsenal will be diminished eventually — this only six days after the first nuclear warheads on Canadian soil were stored at the Bomarc base at North Bay.

He announced that the second session of Parliament called by his minority Liberal government will open Tuesday, Feb. 18, and virtually ruled out the possibility of a general election in 1964.

The prime minister looked ahead in a 30-minute interview program broadcast by the CBC English and French television and radio networks. He spoke off-the-cuff in both languages and his comments were translated by off-camers interpreters.

WAR RECORDED

The prime minister devoted considerable time to federal-provincial relations and bicultauralism, obviously thinking of the crucial federal - provincial first ministers' conference set for Quebec City in March.

"There is a kind of an outburst of provincial and sectional feeling in the country. It's not confined to Quebec, but it is expressed in its most dramatic form in Quebec."

The federal government must have the power to discharge its obligations to Canada, and at the same time the provinces must have the resources to fulfill their constitutional responsibilities, he said.

"And we must recognize that there is a necessity to respect in not a province like the others but a homeland of a people.

"Reconciliation of these two concepts—unity and diversity—is the most important task and the greatest test of Canadian statesmanship and maturity that we will have to face in 1964."

Mr. Pearson said the test will require a new kind of politics and statesmanship that would rise above special regional and partisan interest.

REFERS TO QUESTIONS

After a brief opening statement, the prime minister fielded questions from Charles Lynch of the Canadian News Services, and Claude Ryan, editorial writer for Montreal Le Devoir.

He had a feeling that Mr. Ryan and a good many people did not think much of the government's decision to acquire nuclear arms, but he was sure the decision had had the right one.

"We were part of an alliance and we thought we should play our part in the alliance until that would be altered.

But after signing a nuclear arms custody agreement with the United States last August, the government had begun "renegotiation of a Canadian defence policy."

Canada would make an effective contribution to NATO and to the United Nations peacekeeping machinery, but the nuclear role would not be extended beyond the scope of commitments made by the former Conservative government.

"I would think, and perhaps I shouldn't say this, that the role for Canada in the future is side NATO, inside continental defence and certainly inside the United Nations, will not require any enlargement, in fact would require a diminution of any kind of nuclear arms and equipment."

HISTORIC MEETING — Pope Paul VI, right, extends his arms in a gesture of embrace as he greets Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul) at their historic meeting on the Mount of Olives in Jerusalem. It was the first such meeting between the spiritual leaders of 700 million Christians since the great schism of 1439. The meeting lasted for 29 minutes.

E. Germany Closed Wall On Sunday

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communists closed the holiday - season gaps in their wall at midnight Sunday night and Berlin once more became the city of heartbreak. It divided residents embroiled in the struggle between freedom and communism.

More than a quarter of a million West Berliners crossed into East Berlin Sunday on official passes.

The passes were given by the East German regime, each good for three visits during the holiday season, after unprecedented negotiations initiated by the West Berlin government of Mayor Willy Brandt. Official sources have announced the Western Allies, who occupy West Berlin, cautiously have given Brandt permission to negotiate with the East German regime for a renewed passes through the wall. East Berliners have not been allowed to travel to the western sector of the city at all since the wall was completed Aug. 13, 1961.

Although Communist rules were that all West Berliners had to be out of Communist territory by midnight, the crush was so great that tens of thou-

At Bethlehem Pope Paul Pleads For Peace and Christian Unity

BETHLEHEM (AP) — In a stirring appeal from the birth place of Christ, Pope Paul today called on chiefs of state of the world to press for peace and asked Christians to unite and bring to all believers the "supreme blessing and honor of a united church."

In his historic three-day pilgrimage into the Holy Land geared its end, the 66-year-old pontiff issued greetings of good will to all men—Christian and non-believer.

Then departing from his prepared text, the Pope called on the world leaders to avoid war. "The Pope then returned to Jerusalem and joined with Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras I of Constantinople (Istanbul) in praying that their meetings will be "a prelude of things to come for the glory of God." It was their second meeting of the weekend. Later Pope Paul left Amman, Jordan, by air for Rome.

The appeals for peace and Christian unity were made shortly after the pope, first Roman pontiff ever known to have visited this little hillside town, celebrated mass in the ancient place that marks the spot of nativity.

The Pope voiced his appeal for unity in a formal address at adjoining St. Catherine's Church after a mass and later added his words of appeal to the chiefs of state for world harmony. His words to world leaders did not appear in the original copies of his prepared address but apparently were added in Bethlehem.

He said:

"At this time when I leave Bethlehem, this place of purity and calm where was born 20 centuries ago He in whom we pray today as the Prince of Peace, we feel the great duty to renew to all chiefs of state and to all those who carry the responsibility of the people our pressing appeal for world peace.

"The governments must hear this cry from our heart and let them generously follow their efforts to assure humanity the peace to which it earnestly aspires.

"Let them get from the Almighty and from their inmost human conscience a most clear intelligence, a most ardent wish and a new spirit of concord and a generosity so as to eliminate at whatever cost the anguish and suffering to the world of a new world war whose consequences would be unscalculable. . . ."

The pontiff earlier urged Roman Catholics to do all they can to revitalize their church in the quest for unity and appealed to non-Catholic Christians to join in the cause.

"Today the will of Christ is pressing upon us and obliging us to do all that we can, with love and wisdom, to bring to all Christians the supreme blessing the honor of a united church," he said.

Turkish Cypriot Militants Greeks Plan New Attack

Mystery Surrounds Slaying

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Police today investigated the slaying of multi-millionaire William W. Bartholomae, seeking to unravel the chain of events that left him stabbed to death in the blood - spattered kitchen of his luxurious bayfront home.

Booked on suspicion of murdering the 70-year-old yachtsman was his brother's wife, Carmen Gallardo Bartholomae, 25, a former Spanish dancer.

In hospital with a severely cut hand was Carmen's sister, Mirnola Gallardo, 32.

Bartholomae, whose cattle, oil and mining fortune was estimated at $11,000,000, was found Sunday with two stab wounds in his abdomen.

On the floor beside him was his sister-in-law, who later told police she had fainted.

KNIFE ON FLOOR

Between them lay the blood smeared blade of an eight-inch butcher knife.

Police said Carmen gave this account:

When Bartholomae, wearing a bathrobe and pyjamas, entered the kitchen, Carmen was standing at the kitchen sink preparing breakfast.

She said she remembers holding two knives and seeing Bartholomae "tumbling" before she fainted. She remembers nothing

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Tension rose again on this strife-torn island today in the wake of a charge by the head of the Turkish community that Greek-Cypriots were preparing an imminent attack against the minority group.

Turkish-Cypriot Vice - President Fazil Kutchuk Sunday night appealed to world heads of state to support the Turkish community, outnumbered four to one by the Greeks, "in their struggle for survival."

His statement said "reliable reports reaching us indicate that even now the Greeks are planning and preparing another onslaught."

British troops, aided by forces from Greece and Turkey, now are engaged in peace-keeping activities on this Mediterranean island amid a shaky truce agreed Christmas Day. The truce — first followed communal fighting which claimed an estimated 200 to 300 lives.

Kutchuk accused President Makarios, a Greek archbishop, of having an ulterior motive in wanting to end the island's 1960 treaty of independence which freed it from British colonial rule.

He said Makarios wanted to prevent Turkey from coming to the rescue if the Turkish community wished "the ultimate Greek design of complete demolition or exterminiation of Cypriot Turks is finally put into execution."

Kutchuk previously has referred to partition as the "shortest way" to solving the island republic's conflict. But Makarios has said that the mutual proximity of both groups depends on an independent and unified Cyprus free from "any form of outside interference."

Man Sets Million-Dollar Blaze In New York Hotel, Evades Shower

NEW YORK (AP) — An arsonist set a fire that swept the Astor Hotel's grand ballroom today, then fled when aroused by hotel employees, officials said.

About 200 guests left their rooms as heavy smoke poured through the 11-storey hotel, attracting a large crowd outside the Times Square area landmark. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

"Thank God nobody was hurt," said William Zeckendorf, Jr., an official of the Zeckendorf Hotel Corporation chain of which the Astor is part.

Zeckendorf said the heavily damaged ballroom was renovated about two years ago at a cost of nearly $1,000,000.

Fire Commissioner Edward Thompson said the fire was definitely set.

"We have two witnesses who actually saw the man start the fire, and we have a good description of him," Thompson said. "These witnesses chased the man but they lost him."

The fire apparently began in draperies along the empty ballroom's lower balcony. It spread quickly to the second and third tiers, which at one point threatened to collapse.

A hotel employee, Earl Kinlaw, 32, said he and others heard a "whoosh" as they approached the door, got a fire extinguisher, and that was followed by flames leaping wildly to other furnishings.

Thompson said the arsonist apparently used "a device to spread the flames." He did not elaborate.

As smoke filtered through air-shafts, guests left their rooms. Some, still wearing nightclothes, began lining up in the lobby. They were allowed to return to their quarters about two hours after the fire broke out.

The hotel, which faces Broadway between 44th and 45th Streets, was built in 1904 and is the site of numerous social events.

The $1,000,000 damage estimate was made by Anthony M. Rey, the hotel's vice-president and general manager.

All Employed Must Carry One Says Govt.

Registration to Begin In Country April 1

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP) All employed persons are to be issued with federal "social insurance" cards.

One use for them will be in the proposed Canada Pension Plan—the contributory, wage-related retirement pension system now expected to be introduced in 1965.

The announcement today by Labor Minister MacEachen's office said plans are underway to begin by April 1 the registration of all employed persons in Canada.

No details were given on how the registration will be conducted, how long it will take or how many people will be covered. The labor force numbers more than 6,000,000 men and women.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission already keeps a register of all those working in — called "insured employment."

But the new cards will be issued to all employed persons—regardless of whether they are covered by unemployment insurance.

WILL HAVE NUMBER

Today's statement said the registration is part of setting up a new system under which each individual will be identified in Ottawa's records by a single number.

This would replace the present multiplicity of records kept by various federal departments. Such a step was recommended last year by the Glassco royal commission on government organization.

Starting point in the new numbering system will come with the annual renewal of unemployment insurance books to take place this spring.

Said the statement:

"The new system includes issuance of a social insurance card to all employed persons, whether they contribute to unemployment-insurance or not.

"It will be broad enough and flexible enough to be adapted to the record-keeping required for the proposed pension plan and for other social security measures."

The original timetable for the Canada Pension Plan was pegged to this spring's re-numbering and re-issuing of the unemployment-insurance books. The government intended to use this same machinery to regis-

CMA Wants One Tax

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Manufacturers' Association suggested today that the federal sales and excise taxes and provincial retail sales taxes be grouped into one national sales tax, applied as goods reach the final consumer.

Services would be taxed at the same rate as goods.

The association said in a brief to the Carter royal commission on taxation that Canada should derive a greater proportion of its revenue from sales taxes—as opposed to corporation and personal income taxes — and this could best be done through a new national sales tax.

Such a move would provide a broader base for indirect taxes.

The existing federal sales tax, applied at the manufacturers' level, has too narrow a base, it is not uniform and it is difficult to administer, said the submission.

A national sales tax at the retail level, would eliminate tax pyramiding — taxes being included in subsequent percentage markups—and also eliminate inequities between the tax treatment of domestic and imported goods. Under the association's proposals, all special excise taxes would disappear.

Machinery and supplies used in the production of goods should be tax-free, the commission was told.

If ideally, corporation taxes should be eliminated. This, said the brief, would solve the problem of double taxation — taxes paid by the corporation on profit and personal taxes paid by shareholders when the profit is distributed.

"If, however, by reason of revenue needs, it is not immediately possible to provide this complete relief from double taxation, it is recommended that corporation taxes should be eliminated in respect of profits paid in the form of dividends to Canadian resident shareholders in an amount of the personal income tax should be payable on dividends received by Canadian resident shareholders."

Roy Thomson Says He Is Still, And Will Stay, Canadian Citizen

TORONTO (CP) — Publisher Roy Thomson, saying he considers himself a Canadian despite an apparent loss of his citizenship over his elevation to the British peerage, flew into Canada for Saturday and promised a "comprehensive" statement on the issue shortly.

The 69-year-old press baron, designate told reporters he was born a Canadian, is one and will die one, though Prime Minister Pearson has referred to him as an "honorary" Canadian since his acquisition of British citizenship to clear the way for entry to the House of Lords.

But Toronto-born Mr. Thomson—as he still is until his appointment appears in the Royal Gazette—declined to go into detail on the citizenship question or to indicate whether he was travelling on a Canadian or British passport.

"I don't want to discuss it in bits and pieces—it will all be in the statement," the multi-millionaire publishing and broadcasting executive said as he lugged a heavy briefcase from a British airliner to the immigration desk at Malton Airport.

But he was his blunt and forthright self on discussing subjects as far apart as his delight over the Queen's New Year list barony "be honest, wouldn't you like to have one?") and his revulsion at the prospect of legislation to bar foreign interests from control of Canadian newspapers.

"That would be a great disaster," said Mr. Thomson, who is reported in the vicinity of more than 100 newspapers in countries around the world. "I don't think it's wrong in any sense of the word. It's not done elsewhere, and surely Canadians can stand on their own feet."

Mr. Pearson told the Commons recently the government is considering the desirability of such legislation.

"I think it's a good well. That should be valuable. I know a lot of the emerging nations. I can make a contribution that way. I would hope also that I could do something and finance and economics. I think I can be helpful."

Around the Tee

A distinct honor in schoolboy curling was brought to Hastings County on Saturday in Trenton-ough, when the North Hastings High School rink of Bancroft won the district playoff at the Peterborough Curling Club rink on Charlotte Street and will compete in the Ontario finals at Sarnia on Saturday, January 18. The personnel of the winning rink was Ted Hewitt, lead, Ralph Bullis, second, Richard Stinson, vice skip and Roger Beckley, skip. The rink was coached by F. S. Beckley, principal of the high school.

There were 12 rinks in competition from Peterborough, Belleville, Lindsay, Bancroft, Haliburton, Crestwood and Frankford Falls, and the winning rink had to play an extra game to win the district. At the end of three games Haliburton and Bancroft were tied with three wins each and an eight-end game was played to break the tie which Bancroft won by a 10-8 score. In their march to the title the winning rink defeated Lakefield 22-3, Lindsay 12-8 and another Lindsay rink 15-4. This is a great honor for the Bancroft school and the boys will certainly be pulling for the students to bring home the big prize from Sarnia. Curling fans meet only eight rinks will be in competition, one from each district in the Province.

The Belleville rink of Rick Moffatt, lead, Mac Ward, second John Lonnan, vice skip and Brian Watkins, skip, did not fare as well as the rink that was in last year and defeated Gordon Pinder, but this was their first trip to stiff competition and they have a year of learn left. The rink was from Moira Secondary School and although failing to win any of the games they did give an excellent account of themselves and will be heard from in future. The Belleville curling has taken a firm grip in the province and certainly from these boys will come the future greats of curling in the province. In the formative years is the time to take up the game and it is a game that will give many years of healthy recreation and good fellowship.

The big event for the local club is coming up on Saturday next, when the Sportsmen's bonspiel will be staged for the Steve Flintoft trophy and the accompanying prizes. This spiel is purely local, no outsiders are allowed, the women for one day are banned from the club house and the men curlers let their hair down and besides good, stiff competition, have a "ball" in good fellowship and enjoyment. Ends Association With Commission

Member of the Belleville Transit Commission since its inception in 1930 and chairman for two years, Mr. Ted Schwab, Front street businessman, ends his association with that body.

Mr. Schwab's term of office on the commission was up December 31st, and he has asked city council not to consider his name for re-appointment. Present plans are to be given by Mr. Schwab as his reason for quitting the commission.

Strangler Has Claimed 11th Woman Victim

BOSTON (AP)—A strangler has claimed the 11th woman victim in eastern Massachusetts in 19 months—the latest a 19-year-old girl whose body was found Saturday night in her apartment at the foot of Beacon Hill.

Police said the brutal death of Miss Mary Sullivan bore many similarities to the other 10 unsolved stranglings of women since June, 1962.

Miss Sullivan was strangled with her own nylon stocking and two nylon scarves. Medical examiner Michael Luongo said she had been sexually molested.

In the 10 previous unsolved strangulings, nylon stockings were used to throttle seven of the victims. A brassiere was used in the eighth case. A shoelace was used in one and the ninth victim was strangled manually.

YMCA Plans West Hill Activities

Prince Charles' School field and play room is to be used for the Y.M.C.A. activities for the boys and girls of the West Hill area. Special arrangements have been made with the Public School Board to extend the Y. program, with classes to start for boys on January 7th, and for girls January 8th. Physical Director, Mr. Graham Geldart will have direct supervision of the classes. On Tuesday, there will be swimming at the Y. with alternate weeks for the classes.

Gym suits and a limited amount of gym suit and running shoes for girls, and blue shorts, T-shirts and gym shoes for boys. The fee is $3, but no person will be refused membership for lack of finances. There will be a skill run through May, and the program will provide games and activities and the learning of various skills.

Each class will be able to handle about 30 boys or girls. The first class at 4.15 p.m. will be for 9 and 10 year olds; the second class at 5 p.m. will be for 11 and 12 year olds.

This will cost the Y a considerable sum and the reduced fee will pay only a portion of the expense. Rent for the Prince Charles playground is $5 a session, which will amount to approximately $200 for the season; equipment will cost $200; leadership for classes, $80, plus supplies, travelling, promotion, additional liability coverage and additional time for professional Y staff.

No Leadership Contest at Convention

WINNIPEG (CP) Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Saturday there will be no leadership contest at the annual Conservative party convention next month at Ottawa.

The former prime minister, in an interview here during a brief stopover en route to a vacation on Vancouver Island, said: "I've settled these (conventions) from time to time as leader."

He described next month's convention as "an annual meeting," not a leadership convention.

Mr. Diefenbaker declined comment on the moves of some Quebec and Ontario Conservative groups which advocate a secret ballot during the convention on party support for his leadership.

Four Treated For Injuries After Accident

TRENTON — Four persons were treated in the emergency ward at Trenton Hospital last night, following a crash between two moving cars and a third, parked car, on Front Street. Garnet Wayne Mayers, 18, the driver of one car, suffered a cut mouth and passengers in his car, Sandra Snider, 17 and Nadine Sanuchak, 19, were treated for minor lacerations. The car driven by Mrs. Margaret Snider, 31 Catherine Street, and received front end damage to the extent of $1,000.

The driver of the third car was owned by James Harold Morey of 345 Dundas Ave., Belleville and was damaged to the extent of $150.

The injured were taken to the hospital by Rushnell Ambulance.

WANT MORE HELP

Saturday out - of - town newspapers carried advertisements for certified nursing assistants to supplement the staff at Trenton Memorial Hospital. Meanwhile, 41 of the 74 member local of the Building Services Employees' International Union employed at the hospital and on strike since Dec. 2, continues to picket the institution. The strikers include nursing assistants, nurses' aides, housekeepers, kitchen help, laundry workers and orderlies. The picketers are reported in high spirits and intent on fighting for a new contract that no spar settlement of their dispute with the hospital board seems imminent.

Many Birds Share Food at Feed Station

TRENTON — "Birds of a feather flock together," but when there's snow on the ground, they aren't too fussy about whether their feathers match or not.

Mrs. Austin's backyard feeding station in Wooler, nuthatches, sparrows, woodpeckers, chickadees, cardinals and bluejays can be seen sharing the sunflower seeds, suet and mixed seeds on a perfect harmony.

The only "fly in the ointment", from birds' point of view is the periodic presence of starlings, which, because of their size, crowd out the smaller birds. Mr. Austin, a bird lover from away back, says a bee-bee gun handy for the "pesky" starlings.

Mr. Austin, who has collected a formidable array of medals for his shutter work, says he gets a "competition" picture out of roughly every 400 snaps of his shutter.

Member Will Be Speaker

TRENTON — Dr. Pauline Jewett, MP for Northumberland, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the John Howard Society of Trenton, Wednesday night in the Trenton Legion Hall. Dr. Jewett, will outline plans for the new minimum security prison to be built at Warkworth.

A. M. Kirkpatrick, executive director of the John Howard Society of Canada, Conservative groups which advocate a secret ballot during the convention on party support for his leadership.

- Wednesday night, the inaugural meeting of the 1964 Board of Education, will be held in the board office at North Trenton school. The meeting is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. and sworn in will be T. S. Ketchenson, James Bowman, Douglas Whitley and E. D. Topping.

C. R. Johnston, Druggist in Madoc, Dies

Proprietor of the Johnston Pharmacy in Madoc for the past 34 years, and a well known and highly respected resident of that village, Charles Ray Johnston, B.S., died unexpectedly in Belleville General Hospital on Saturday evening. He was in his 59th year.

Born in Oshawa, Mr. Johnston was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston and attended Oshawa schools before entering the Ontario College of Pharmacy at Toronto where he was an honor graduate in 1929.

He took an active interest in community work and with his brothers, Gordon and Bill, lead word for all was well liked in the village.

Mr. Johnston served on the Madoc Public School Board for six years, serving two years as chairman. He took a keen interest in education by presenting prizes and providing scholarships for students.

SERVED AS ELDER

He was a member of Trinity United Church and took a very active interest in the work of the church. He was church treasurer for 29 years and had served as an elder for 11 years.

He was a past president of the Madoc Kinsmen Club and was a member and past master of Madoc Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 48; Madoc Chapter R.A.M., No. 161; King Baldwin Preceptory, No. 6, Belleville, and Rameses Shrine in Toronto. He was also a member of Madoc Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 179.

He is survived by his wife, the former Katharine Yule; two sons, Charles Johnston and Charles W. Johnston, both of Madoc, and two daughters, Elizabeth Johnston of Toronto, and Marilyn C. Johnston of Madoc.

Also surviving are a brother, William J. Johnston of Hastings, and four sisters, Mrs. W. (Marie) Johnston of Cobourg; Mrs. A. (Edna) Trenear of Colborne, Mrs. R. (Mildred) Jewell of Oshawa, and Mrs. D. (Nellie) Crombie of Pietermaritzburg, South Africa.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at Trinity United Church.

PUBLISHER DIES

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Millard Cope, 58, publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times and a director of The Associated Press, died Saturday after suffering a stroke at his home. Cope had been publisher of the San Angelo newspaper since September, 1962.

Y's Activities

The special Christmas program was presented on Boxing Day night with the Fun Night and dance sponsored by the Y's Girls' Group over the holidays.

Many thanks are extended to the downtown merchants who made donations and to others who gave their support, contributing to the success of the evening. Over 200 boys and girls enjoyed the games and refreshments.

The marathon swim was won by Michael Allore, who swam 200 lengths of the "Y" pool during the holidays.

Hayman, Sandy Clarke and Richard Cherry worked together in their pursuit of second place, although over 600 lengths separated them from the number one man.

The Leaders' Corps volleyball team on Saturday was a decisive victory for the boys. The teams were then mixed and a much better competition resulted.

Now that the holidays are over all the regular programs are back on schedule at the Y.M.C.A.

Open House To Be Held At Moira School

In keeping with a general policy throughout the province "parents' night will be held this week at Moira Secondary School. On Tuesday evening from 7:00 until 9:30 parents will be able to interview the teachers of grades nine and ten; on Thursday evening the teachers of grades eleven, twelve and thirteen will be available for interview.

Principal W. J. Musgrove stressed that these conversations between parent and teacher are extremely valuable in assisting students to achieve their utmost at secondary school. "The open house evenings are being held as early as possible in the new Year," he said, "since Christmas examination results are still fresh in the parents' memories. We are thus able to talk intelligently of a students' progress to date and plan together how we can help him to organize and work toward greater achievement in this next and most important term."

The staff is hoping for a record turnout of interested parents.

Council to Have Two Committees

sentation of a sheepskin scroll to ex-Mayor A. M. Haig in appreciation to his lengthy service to the city, both as mayor and as alderman.

Mayor Ellis presented ex-Mayor Haig with a color air picture of the city, while in turn ex-Mayor Haig presented council with a color picture of himself in mayor's robes to hang with other former chief magistrates in the council chambers.

OATH ADMINISTERED

Inaugural session proceedings at city hall this morning saw city manager J. R. Reynolds invite the 1906 council members within the bar, following which jibe oath of office was administered to Mayor-Elect Jack Ellis by city clerk Adam Stalker.

The mayor's chain and insignia of office were presented Mayor Ellis by Aldermen Ben Corke and Don Whalen.

Invocation was by Rev. R. G. Fleming while Divine blessing was given by Monsignor Bullivan.

The vote of thanks to Mayor Ellis for his inaugural address was by Alderman Ben Corke who said that the new mayor had won the respect of his colleagues in office and also that of the citizens as had been indicted by his majority at the polls.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

The inaugural session saw appointments to the various city boards and commissions, and also the passage of several by-laws including one for the acquisition and expropriation of land and the selling or leasing of lands as industrial sites. The by-law also gave authority for borrowing up to $200,000 for this purpose.

The by-law saw one dissenter, however — Alderman Don Jose, who asked whether the by-law would give the city the right to buy Industrial land on speculation or whether there had to be a buyer before the purchase was made.

He said this was a matter of great importance as he felt Belleville citizens would not want another property purchase on speculation alone.

He proposed an amendment to the by-law which would require a purchaser in view before any property was purchased.

Alderman Don Whalen seconded the motion for amendment "to get the motion before council for discussion."

HAS TO BE APPROVED

Alderman Enos David said his understanding was that the by-law only gave authority to purchase and that actual purchases had to be approved by council.

This was substantiated by Mayor Ellis who at the same time, however, said that in many instances the city could not afford to wait until industries were knocking on the door before purchasing industrial land.

He said the only way that the city was able to get the new Smith Airport building for Belleville was to have land available when the request was made.

In the past two weeks he said there had been two industries looking at land or buildings were available. When the answer was in the negative the industries had shown no further interest.

With the mayor's explanation Alderman Whalen withdrew as seconder of the amendment motion and the original by-law was carried.

NO BINDING AGREEMENT

Under enquiries Alderman Whalen asked if the city last year had given a firm commitment to purchase the YMCA building as a police headquarters. He said he was opposed to the proposal.

Mayor Ellis said the city had made an offer of purchase but the "Y" but no agreement had been signed.

Alderman Ross Bailey said that as the city had no money for the purchase there was no binding agreement and would have to be dealt with by the 1906 council.

Council gave the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment the "freedom of the city" giving them the right to parade fully armed through the streets on all ceremonial occasions.

The request to council was made to the 1903 Mayor A. M. Haig prior to today's inaugural session.

Appointments to the various boards and commissions are as follows:

Text of Mayor's Address

The text of Mayor Ellis' inaugural address to the city council this morning was as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I intend this morning to depart from the usual procedure slightly, in that, as my first official function, I wish to honor my predecessor in office, A. McLean Haig.

On New Year's Day in a message to the people of Belleville, I took the liberty of paraphrasing the words of the late John F. Kennedy, and suggested that we as citizens, ask not what Belleville can do for us, but rather what we can do for Belleville.

McLean Haig is a living example of this spirit!

In his parting address to council, on December 18th last, he outlined briefly some of the achievements of the councils under his direction. To begin to repeat them again today would take far too long, but I assure those of you who heard the address, or read about it in the press, that the list of personal accomplishments and plain hard work that, through modesty, was left out, by far exceeds that which was mentioned. Today I will note only two.

This summer should see the removal of the C.N.R. Railway tracks from Pinnacle Street, the fruition of almost three years of personal endeavour on the part of Mr. Haig.

His work to date on the hospital board are outstanding. The close co-operation and the participation in the initial cost of our new hospital by the county of Hastings, are milestones in the history of Belleville which can be largely attributed to this gentleman.

I do not feel, that I am in any way out of order, when I tell you that in the regular meetings that will follow I will have the pleasure of placing before council a formal motion to appoint Mr. Haig to the Hospital Board of Governors for a three year term.

I am pleased to learn also, that Mr. Haig has been elected to the directorate of the Chamber of Commerce. I would seem to me that to completely lose the experience of one so dedicated to public service, would be an error not easily corrected.

Words alone cannot express our appreciation, and the usual plaque presented to a retiring mayor also did not seem to be adequate in this case.

PRESENTS SCROLL

We have therefore prepared a scroll of lambskin which I will now read, and which will come forward and receive, together with a gift.

I am very pleased to-day that we have had both Monsignor Sullivan of St. Michael's and Rev. R. G. Fleming, who is my minister, take part in our opening session, and a parishioner of each to participate in the actual invocation. I extend my thanks to each of them for their help and kind words of encouragement. I am proud that we in this friendly city of Belleville truly enjoy brotherhood between religious. It speaks well for our future progress in 1906, and in years to come.

May I congratulate Aldermen Corke and Whalen on their re-election to council. It is significant that as well as receiving the highest acclamation, they have received the confidence of their colleagues, and will be appointed, later in the meeting, as chairmen, of our two most important committees.

I extend a "welcome back" to Aldermen Whalen, Jarvah and Harrison. Their services have been valuable in the past and I am pleased to have the benefit of their experience for the whole of my term.

To Aldermen Boyle, Joss and Williams I offer not only my congratulations but I am sure gentlemen, those of your new colleagues. We look forward to your assistance in our deliberations for the next two years.

Much could be said about the fine staff we have on the hall from the manager through all the department heads but I will only mention at this time our two new men. They are Mr. Allen our Welfare Administrator and the new Planning Director of the Belleville Suburban Planning Board, Mr. John Bearis. We welcome them to what we feel is the finest municipal civil service in Ontario and from their contributions already I am sure we have once again chosen well.

REDUCE COMMITTEES

Our format in council will be changed somewhat this year. We have reduced the number of committees considerably. The public works committee will now take into its scope the matters formerly handled by the traffic and light committee and the special sewage committee.

The finance committee will handle, in addition to its regular duties all matters pertaining to personnel.

In the past there has been a committee formed under the appropriate act to handle the management of the arena and recreation in general. At the same time we have in Belleville a position of recreation director appointed by city council. To eliminate a duplication of services and to eliminate where possible these groups have agreed to operate under one director with an assistant in each particular field. This does not mean an enlargement of staff.

To enable this to work satisfactorily we are appointing one group of seven men, five of whom are members of council and three citizens at large, who will act in the dual capacity of parks board and arena and recreation committee.

With two five-man committees and one four-man appointment, this means that no one alderman has to sit on more than one council committee. This is I feel in keeping with our city manager form of government and should make for a better informed council in all matters, since each alderman will have more time to devote to his particular committee and it will allow me, as mayor, to sit in on most committee meetings, which is not always the case at present matters can be properly dealt with by these groups. The resulting recommendations put before council can be dealt with more quickly and allow for proper debate which is essential in our democratic form of government. There is also so many advantages in administrative detail which are self-evident.

NO DEPUTY MAYOR

The post of Deputy Mayor has been discontinued. The Municipal Act makes specific procedure for the appointing of an acting head of council in the absence of the mayor at council meetings. This will be followed! The many social functions which require a representative of the city will be attended by the mayor or by an alderman who is best qualified under the particular circumstances.

It has been decided that our meetings will continue to be at 4.30 in the afternoon, each second Monday, but in case there is any doubt we will write into the by-law the fact that we receive delegations of the public at various times up to the adjournment of council, which is usually after 6 p.m., and sometimes as late as 7 p.m., which should allow each and every citizen an opportunity to attend and address council, if he so desires.

I do not intend this to sound like an "off with the old and on with the new" type of an address. However I would like to take a few moments and outline some of the programs I expect to place before council this term.

During the early months of office I intend to initiate a closer relationship between the various policy-making boards and commissions. I intend to invite the school boards, the transit and parking authorities and others to sit down with the finance committee and City Hall staff and discuss their capital and operating budgets in detail.

I also intend to invite a spokesman from each of these boards and commissions to attend the Ontario Municipal Ball. It is my intention to bring these people in closer contact with the public and to show that we, as a council, are responsible and I am sure that once the small financial picture is presented fully to all interested parties, co-operation will be automatic. So often we as a council have little or no communication with the boards who spend so much of the tax dollar. I am sure if we can improve this situation our economy can only benefit.

WOULD ABOLISH WARDS

Partially for the cost savings advantages, but more especially to streamline our electoral system and relieve our staff of weeks of work that would be more productive otherwise, I intend to ask council to consider legislation to alter all our elections to a two year basis. This would include the election of aldermen, public utilities commissioners and school trustees. I shall also ask council to completely abolish the ward system. There is no place in our community for a person who wishes to serve only a small portion of the community. In these days of increasing costs and shrinking dollar value, any spending must be studied in the light of its value to the whole.

Further I intend to ask council to study the uniting of common interests under one authority such as we are attempting to do in the parks, recreation and arena. Any amalgamation along these lines which will produce a better working unit and therefore economy, must be studied.

I intend to ask the chairman of the public works committee for help and that of his committee and the city engineer in attempting to let out for contract all work for which specifications can be provided. It has been proven in other cities and indeed here at home, that contracting work with specialized equipment can and usually do tender on public works projects in amounts less than the cost would be if the work were to be attempted by city staff.

We have proof of this in the placing of the sewer to the hospital contracting firm and the new sidewalks in the Bridge, Farley and Victoria Avenue areas. These contracts were completed for sums less than the engineering department's original estimates.

We must affect these and other economies.

PLAN FOR LARGE COUNCIL

I shall strongly advocate the establishing of an organization to provide co-ordination of welfare services. The name does not matter. What does matter is that last year some seven million dollars was spent in this community in welfare services. The executive of the Community Welfare Bureau estimate that one-half million dollars of this distributed annually was for the one-half percent of the population.

In 1963-the United Appeal, despite its efforts, not only missed its objective but was actually no better off. Throughout this distribution of money and help, there are virtually no controls and the rehabilitation is almost entirely lacking. We have second and third generation families on welfare roles and yet proper co-ordination between administration and philology could have over sixty percent of the children caught in the awful trap of welfare.

I suggest that we as one of the few groups with staff trained in sociology.

I suggest that we must aproach with determination and good will the problem of developing a true and practical means of co-operation between public and volunteer agencies in the framework of a united plan to bring about the advancement of the individual instead of just handing out welfare.

During my election campaign I made a number of promises all of which I intend to keep. The most important of these was a new approach to the acquisition of industry for our city.

I am pleased to announce that this is already under way.

I have unfolded very briefly, and in rough detail only, a plan which I feel will be the answer to our industrial development needs in Belleville. I have presented this privately to members of council at an informal gathering and I intend to call a formal council meeting within one week and ask for the adoption of this plan by by-law. With the council's co-operation I feel that in a short time we can be embarked on an intense program of industrial expansion under an entirely new industrial commission.

PLAN COMMISSION

Briefly the commission will consist of seven persons, made up of a nucleus of four well qualified men plus the president of the Chamber of Commerce or his appointee and the mayor and one member of council. One of the first acts of the commission, I suggest will be the hiring of a qualified full time industrial commissioner. Letters and staff can be provided within the city hall and within existing budgets. The commission would be a separate body from the Chamber of Commerce entirely. I have discussed this phase of the plan with some of the directors of the chamber and they are in agreement on this point. We would, however, make use of the facilities of this group as we would also the local real estate board and banks in the district. I feel assured of their full co-operation in this venture.

The chief difference is that the commission will be incorporated under the laws of the Province of Ontario. Incorporation will allow a much broader scope. The commission if necessary can acquire or buy and sell land, build and lease or sell factories and warehouses. In short it will have the power needed to make our city grow industrially. While incorporation will remove the commission from the day to day politics of council, and this is the intention, the council will still have control of the money expended in that under section 411 of the Municipal Act the industrial commission corporation can be granted only one mill on the first ten million dollars of assessment and one-tenth of a mill thereafter.

The decision to establish this type of commission was made after extensive discussions with the Department of Municipal and Development, industrial representatives from various banks and railways and with local industrialists. I am convinced that this program will bring results.

This then, ladies and gentlemen is a brief outline of some of the work we had that will be placed before your council this HIGH OFFICIALS OF ALL SAINTS' CHURCH pose in front of altar adorned with gift of silver dedicated to the church on Sunday by Bishop K. Evans of the Diocese of Ontario.

Communion Silver Dedicated At Indian Reserve Church

All Saints' Church, a quaint little church standing high on a hill overlooking the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve, was filled to capacity on Sunday morning when a dedication of communion silver, a gift from the New England Company of London, England, was made by Bishop Kenneth Evans of the Diocese of Ontario from Kingston.

Back during the days of Her Majesty Queen Anne's reign, a tribe of Mohawk Indians were presented with a gift of silver by Her Majesty for their loyalty to her, and most of these pieces of silver are in the possession of Chief John R. Brant on the reserve today.

When the first Mohawks settled on the Grand River in 1784, this same silver was brought with them, and on Sunday, the presentation made by Bishop Evans was an addition to this original silver.

The communal set dedicated by the Bishop consisted of two altar candles, a chalice, a cup and a plate. The silver pieces were produced by the same company, which had been formed over 300 years ago by Oliver Cromwell and was designed by an artist by the name of Durbin.

Engraved on a stone plaque overhanging the front entrance to the church, an inscription reads in part, "The tower of this church was erected on December 15th, 1954 in memory of the late Captain John Deseronto, former chief of the Mohawks on the Mohawk Reserve in the state of New York.

And so, 110 years later, a presentation of silver was made to a band of Mohawk Indians, similar to that made to their forefathers, by Queen Anne.

Meaningless Offer

Soviet Russia has proposed an international agreement under which nations would renounce the use of force in settling territorial and frontier issues.

The United States has described the proposal as "disappointing."

The U.S. judgment appears essentially sound, but expressed in unfortunate language. For the proposal to be "disappointing" in the true sense of the word, there would have to have been some existing hopes for a more helpful suggestion, and it is difficult to conceive what form could have taken. Yet the U.S. view that the Russian plan is of little real value appears sound.

To renounce the use of force is simple. To devise some methods by which such a renunciation could be enforced is extremely difficult.

It seems extremely unlikely that the Russians are willing to agree that force should not be used by rebellious groups within regard the ruling clique in their land as imposing its will by force on an enslaved population. By almost imperceptible stages, such an exception could be broadened, through permission for exiles to use force in seeking to overthrow the government of their homeland, to the point where it would cover cases as those being waged in South Viet Nam and threatening in Borneo.

Indeed, the Russians even mentioned Formosa as an example of the indefensible use of force, so that one would suppose that they would consider the use of force by the Chinese Reds to oust Chiang Kai-shek's "invaders" as legitimate. Almost certainly Mr. Khrushchev would be unable to see anything wrong with Castro giving shelter and training to revolutionaries from South American lands, but would regard U.S. policy in providing a base of operations for anti-Castro Cubans as a wicked sin.

One of the major benefits which Russia may hope to derive from such a treaty is a guarantee that the U.S. will not invade Cuba. If the U.S. refuses to sign such a treaty, her hostility to Castro will be cited as a reason.

Meaningless though such a treaty might prove, it would appear questionable politics to refuse to sign it. There seems little hope of its achieving much good, but it can hardly do any harm. If it helps at all to ease world tensions, some progress will have been made, at no cost to the West.

Shave and a Hair-Cut

One of the extra dividends to be derived from the holiday season—by a man—is some assurance from the toll of shaving.

This is particularly relished by those not fortunate enough to be enjoying the modern five-day week. Holidays often provide such men with their only opportunities to go unshaven, on purpose. It is the deliberate choice which is the key to enjoyment. The late-riser may find himself going to work with yesterday's stubble itching away below his sleep-bleared eyes. Far from spreading contentment, this just adds to nagging day-long discomfort to the hasty-morning feeling of guilt. Every time the boss looks at the laggard, the latter can hear his superior's brain turning over, putting two and two together and getting a couple of dozen. A man who is late, a man who is so careless about his appearance that he does not bother to shave, can such a man really be a reliable worker? By noon, the urge to shave is keener than the urge to eat.

But to arise late without any need to hurry, to scowl at the razor and leave it in the shelf, to content oneself with a couple of rubs with a damp face-cloth, to linger one's breakfast comfortably and then to enjoy the luxury of disregarding it—such a morning sequence sets a man up for the day. Never mind if an evening date will make an appointment with the razor necessary later in the day—for the moment one is freed from shaving and, as a free man, is fit to hob-nob with the great.

It is no disgrace for an unshaven man on a holiday to mingle with his peers, shaven though they may be. He has every right to show his face abroad.

At least we think so. This sudden hesitancy has been generated by the sight of a woman with her hair in curlers. Hair curlers in the home are a pleasant sign of domesticity preparing for festivity—it is evident to any male that the present pleasant is destined to become the future beautiful. But hair curlers parading abroad, making their way amongst the sleek heads of those with better sense and higher pride—what a dismal sight!

There ought to be a law, there really ought. It would even be worth foregoing the shaveless days to banish those hair curlers from public view.

Principles of Nuclear War

Speech by Grant Deachman, Liberal MP for Vancouver South, as Reported in Hansard

Mr. Chairman, on the evening of November 11 last 9 went with several of the members of the defence committee to the Arc de Triomphe.

As you know, sir, France's unknown soldier is buried underneath that arch and an eternal flame burns there. De Gaulle had gone there in the afternoon to place a wreath on the grave.

When we arrived we could see in the gloom of the floodlights the flag of France, the tri-color, filling the whole of the arch. One almost felt that de Gaulle himself had called on the wind to fill out this symbol of the glory of France.

• • •

In the next three days we were never permitted to forget the presence of de Gaulle or the glory of France.

De Gaulle is by nature an intellectual, rather like the late John Kennedy, and he tends to surround himself with men of been intellect and tough fibre.

The men who briefed us were incisive, tough and confident. All were men of considerable achievement. All felt the same intense loyalty to de Gaulle and to France. They understood their national policy; they believed in it. They knew where they were going and they felt sure that they knew how to get there.

• • •

This is what they told us. With the end of the TNT age and the advent of the nuclear age, the principles that govern warfare have changed. We have bothered to recognize that a new and clearly defined body of logic applies to the subject of war and peace in the nuclear age.

First whereas it was possible for a nation to engage in war of limited risk in the TNT age, it is no longer possible today among nuclear nations.

War is no longer, as Clausewitz said, an extension of diplomacy by other means, for in conducting nuclear war it is not possible to limit or control the extent of the destruction of national wealth which either or both sides may suffer.

In Clausewitz' day in eighteenth century Europe, it was possible to employ a small mercenary army against a neighboring principality and to capture it. This, by risking the loss of the mercenaries, a valuable and experienced undamaged territory might be won.

In the First and Second World Wars, the United States risked its expenditionary forces in Europe, but it was also available and limited risks on behalf of their allies and in the interest of restoring peace with all its benefits.

Nuclear arms now nullify the validity of all such military alliances. They are no longer valid to the French, no longer valid or tenable, for the law of limited risk no longer applies. The nation which goes to the support of its neighbor may be exposing itself to complete or virtually complete destruction.

If a beggar asks you for a franc, say the French, you may give it. If he asks you to risk your life for him you will quickly pass him by.

What country could persuade its people to wage war on behalf of an ally knowing that such an ally could be wiped out 10 or 20 or 100 Hiroshimas on its own soil? What country with presidential urge such a course upon his people? Would any people follow such a leader who promised, not a flood tide of blood, sweat and tears, but total war and eternal oblivion?

France does not believe that it should ask an ally to undertake a suicidal mission on its behalf.

Hence, the first principle to be observed in the new logic of the nuclear age is that military alliances are no longer valid.

Collective security has little meaning for nations facing each other with nuclear weapons in their hands. If a nation wishes to guarantee the existence age it must have its own nuclear deterrent and a delivery system capable of surviving and retaliating, say the French.

That is why, we were told, France has established its own force de frappe and why it will have within a few years a delivery system of supersonic bombers, missiles and nuclear submarines of its own.

Moreover, they assure us, no committee of allies will weaken the credibility of their deterrent. France's enemies will know that there is only one will behind the force de frappe, one finger on the trigger.

The second principle of war in the nuclear age is that armies are virtually obsolete in the face of nuclear weapons. An army has strength only when it massed with the power of its individual members.

But, when an army is massed or concentrated it forms a narrow front in order to obtain maximum firepower, it also becomes an excellent target for nuclear bombs. Thus, the more it concentrates its power the more it invites nuclear attack and total destruction.

An army is cumbersome and inefficient way of concentrating firepower compared with nuclear bombs the missiles. Armies, therefore, will not hold the same importance as they once did.

In support of their theories the French told us that they were applying 50 per cent of their military budget on new equipment while cutting back on the land numbers in their armed forces.

France's army of the future will be a small mobile one of only five divisions but dependent on the force de frappe if an enemy should attack the flesh of France.

The third principle to observe is that the deterrent power of nuclear power like France can deter the attack of a much larger nuclear power like Russia.

These arguments lead step by logical step to the conclusion that there will be no nuclear war. The world of the future will be divided into power blocs in balance and non-nuclear powers in ferment.

If these ideas seem strange to members of this house — remember, it is not the first time that de Gaulle has put forward new military theories.

He is one of the most brilliant of modern military theoreticians. In the thirties he outlined the principles involved in blitzkrieg warfare and created their adoption. The French ignored him but the Germans read the book and applied it to France.

He warned against dependence on the Maginot line and upon the theory of a static front. Again he was ignored.

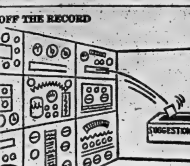
And when the blitzkrieg the Germans went around the Maginot line, and France was overrun by the panzer divisions who had learned what France refused to learn from de Gaulle.

Sell Books By Machine

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Literature, as everybody knows, always strives to reflect the times. And as everybody may guess, those concerned with it always strive for more realism. Had the Shakespeare had to eat, didn't he? Never before had the two goals been so happily combined it seemed, as when the paperback came into its own a decade or so ago. The kind of books had the market of the comics. But maybe the really big sales are yet to be registered.

Two New Yorkers have run on to a stock of obsolete cigarette-vending machines, obsolete because of the appearance of the king-size cigarette. All that's needed to make them work is a penny, not a dime, a coin. So why not make books of a size the machines can handle, and spread the joys and blessings of literature even more widely? Considering the profits, why not? So in the East, as a starter, books soon will be offered by the machines.



What could be better suited to the times in which machines dispense not only gum and cigarettes, but also food and drinks —even martinis and manhattans? Probably some MIT graduate already has perfected a machine for getting War and Peace down to manageable size. The modern Omar will need only a few coins for the slot to get his books, his jug of wine and — Well, only the old fashioned want everything.

Efforts of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association to obtain a better price, for Canadian farmers when they negotiated with the British Food Ministry for next season's cheese were recounted by its president, Mr. W. H. Montgomery of Prince Edward County, as he addressed the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association convention. Mr. Montgomery outlined in detail the efforts of his organization to acquire a better price, intimating his feeling that the Producers' Association had close enough contact. The higher price for cheese had not been realized he stated.

Some members or persons broke and entered two local places of business some time during the night. The entrances were discovered as employees returned to work Wednesday morning.

At the Belle cleaners' plant on Coleman Street robbers forced entrance by means of loosening a rear window and crawling into the premises. From the plant office $15.00 was taken from a desk. Nothing else of value was reported missing.

At the upstairs offices of Thompson, Sprague and Folwell, Front Street, entrance was gained by cutting a hole in the thin panel of a door, reaching inside and releasing the lock. Strangely enough nothing of value was reported missing during this break-in, police learned during investigation. However, apparently a search was made for money.

Belleville Intermediates defeated the Kingston Frontenacs in a hockey match here. Wise and Frechette were the stars for the local team with plenty of credit to Dunn in the goal tender. For the visitors Lloyd Brown was effective, but he spent too much time in the "pen" for his "bad man" tactics. Joe Smith is now on the map and was also dangerous, and MacNeill, their net guardian, deserves a large share of the credit going to the enemy camp. Rink manager Gerfield Arnott had a nice sheet of ice for the boys, and popular aire were played by the band. The

The Quinte Male Quartet, the members of which are also members of the Tabernacle Church choir, is worthy of much praise. The church is fortunate in securing men who can do such excellent work as was shown in their rendition of "Glorious Things" at the Sunday evening service. At this service Dr. Heffner and Mr. Sanford Burrows also rendered vocal solos in splendid voice. The quartet is composed of Messrs. A. F. Stillman, Harry R. Moorman, Fred Burks and Ira Hoffman and soloists are Mrs. Duff, the organist, in getting together such an excellent choir, and Elsie Wilson, who showed himself quite as capable in directing a choir as he is in directing a band.

Dutch Prove Best Farmers

Saint John Telegraph-Journal

Dutch farmers are among the world's best. The intensive methods they have developed produced an amazing agricultural output from their tiny area of land and never fail to impress Canadian experts.

One reason was pointed up at the recent meetings of the Soil Research Institute of Agriculture in Fredericton. With a total area only one-third that of New Brunswick, the Netherlands uses more fertilizer than the whole of Canada.

This information was supplied by Dr. F. Waldo Walsh at Kentville, former Nova Scotia deputy minister of agriculture who is director of the Co-operative Advisory Service and just back from an 11-country tour of Europe.

Agriculture in all eastern provinces is shrinking, he says. The area of cultivated land has decreased, less acreage is devoted to grain.

In Europe, he found agriculture had been revitalized by extensive government assistance and close joint efforts by farm organizations, co-operatives and government agencies.

We often think of Canada as an agricultural giant, breadbasket of the western world and what-have-you, and blandly assume our methods and achievements are models for world agriculture.

This completely overlooks the fact that, as Dr. Walsh pointed out, many European countries far surpass our farm output, including France, England, Germany and Italy. We have much to learn from them; they have made tremendous strides since the war.

To Your Good Health
Rheumatism Not Connected To "Rheumatic Heart"

By JOSEPH C. HOLMER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molmer: What is a rheumatic heart? How does it differ from other heart trouble? — P. S.

Rheumatic heart, belying its name, hasn't much of anything to do with rheumatism or arthritis.

There are two major categories of heart trouble, plus a number of others which aren't as frequent. The two are these:

1 — blood circulation to the heart muscle is impaired, so the organ can't work as vigorously as it should. This is what causes the "heart attack" type of case.

2 — The heart muscle may be essentially all right, but there is trouble in the heart itself. The valves may not be functioning properly.

Rheumatic heart is in the second category. The patient gets a streptococcus infection. The germ, before it is thrown off, may (not always does) inflame one or more of the valves in the heart. It may affect the muscle as well, at times.

Then, as the inflamed areas heal, scar tissue forms. This, in turn, prevents the valves from opening and closing as they should. In order to pump as much blood as is needed, the heart has to work harder. In time the heart tires because of the extra load.

The damage may be small or great. The consequences of rheumatic heart may be slight or they may be fatal. Or anything in between.

Rheumatic heart usually begins in childhood or in early life possibly because some people are more liable to this type of infection. But most certainly repeated attacks by the germ, repeated cases of rheumatic fever, multiply the damage.

The other main type of heart to the heart muscle itself are the coronary arteries (hence the term "coronary" for a sudden heart attack) is usually confined to older people.

I'll add this simile. Compare the heart to a pump supplying water to a farmhouse in the country. If the water supplies are defective, the motor of the pump has to work overtime to push enough water through the leaky system. That's rheumatic heart disease.

On the other hand, the pump itself may be good, but the electric motor which runs it has a defective winding or faulty contacts, and can't run strongly enough. That is the second type.

Dear Dr. Molmer: Do you approve of women having excess hair on the face and chin removed by electrolysis? Does this cause breaking down of the facial tissue? — Mrs. T. T.

There is no reason to believe that removal of hair by electrolysis harms the tissues of the skin, only pure, permanent method.

Dear Dr. Molmer: My daughter had a cancer of the breast removed at the age of 42. Now the doctor says the cyst move her ovaries, but she feels that this is too much. Will she still recovering from the first operation. Is there a greater chance of cancer in the other breast if the ovaries are not removed? — A. K. S.

Removal of the ovaries reduces the hormone secretion — and while the sex hormones do not cause cancer, they may speed the growth if it does occur. It comes down to a matter of rather delicate judgment on the physician's part, but, yes, removal of the ovaries is a wise precaution in appropriate cases. In this instance, your daughter is probably not too far from menopause age anyway, so there is less reason for a removing the ovaries now.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molmer in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Murray Hill, enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Antics with Semantics:

I am "stating a principle," but you mean just "taking a generalization."

When I return an evil for an evil, it is "retribution"; when you return an evil for an evil, it is "retaliation"; when he returns an evil for an evil, it is "revenge."

"Temporary insanity" is a term we use only when we have committed some permanent act of injury; just as a man says he was "beside himself" when he was most within himself.

The pretty girl I find appealing is "charmingly innocent"; the one I am indifferent to is simply "naive"; the one who irritates me is "simple-minded."

My dog is "frisky"; yours is "mischievous"; his is an "untrained nuisance."

I proffered the inspector an "expression of gratitude"; you made a "payoff"; he gave a "bribe."

My boy has "behavior problems"; your boy "needs help"; his boy is a "delinquent."

When I flush a red light, I always "started through on the yellow"; when I am stopped for speeding, I was just "keeping up with traffic"; and when I was always "pushed by the man behind me" — any policeman can compile a long list of semantic dodges by otherwise defective windshield citizens.

Speaking of the law, our ambivalent attitude is reflected in the fact that when legal restrictions prevent us from getting as much as we want we complain bitterly about "the law," but when we are taken advantage of by the shrewdness or rapidity of others, we are loudly call for a new law, another law, and stricter law, to prevent such abuses.

I am trying to "persuade"; you are trying to "convince"; he is trying to "manipulate."

Female costumes of foreign lands are "quaint"; I find them attractive, and "outlandish" when I do not.

I am not at all fond of saying that his "time is money" has got hold of the wrong end of the stick — that the true value of money is the time it may buy.

I am confident; you are self-assured; he is cocky.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—A moderate increase in industrial prices and a strengthening among western oils helped push the 77-stock industrial index to its highest recorded level while the 108-stock exchange index set a high for 1963-64 in heavy morning trading on the stock market today.

The industrial index rose .52 to 139.28 and the exchange index .05 to 130.19, just over a point short of the peak 131.30 touched in December, 1961.

On the industrial board, Harding Carpets rose ½, MacMillan-Bloedel and Great Lakes Power ⅛ each and Dominion Electric and Toronto-Dominion Bank ¼ each.

Falconbridge and International Nickel both advanced ¼ in sector base metals.

Consolidated Mining declined 40 cents to $4.80 among speculative issues.

On index, western oils were ahead .74 to 82.89, base metals were unchanged at 39.39 and golds dipped .05 to 131.41. Volumes at 11 a.m. was 1,277,000 shares compared with 1,598,000 at the same time Friday.

Above is small European car in which a 69-year-old Madoc woman, Mrs. Gordon Alvey, was killed on Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Highway No. 14 and the new Madoc County Road. Bottom right is car which struck the McIntosh vehicle, driven by Mr. Ephraim Ray of 8 North Park Gardens, Belleville. The McIntosh vehicle was northbound on the Madoc County Road, when it was struck broadside by the westbound Ray vehicle. Mrs. Gordon Alvey, Madoc Killed in 2-Car Crash

The first fatality of 1964 in the Bay of Quinte District took the life of a 69-year-old Madoc woman, Mrs. George Alvey, on Saturday afternoon in a two-car collision which sent four other persons to hospital.

The accident occurred about 4.00 o'clock at the intersection of highway No. 14 and the new Madoc County Road, west of Foxboro, about 5 miles north of here.

Mrs. Alvey, a passenger in a car being driven by 69-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth McIntosh, also of Madoc, was pronounced dead at the scene.

Mrs. McIntosh was taken to hospital suffering a fractured right leg and forehead lacerations.

A second passenger in the McIntosh vehicle, Mrs. Corey Lewis, also of Madoc, was taken to hospital with chest injuries.

Driver of the second car involved, Mr. Ephriam Ray, 53, of 8 North Park Gardens, Belleville and his 55-year-old wife, Bertha, were also taken to hospital. Mr. Ray was said to have been suffering from lacerations, abrasions, minor concussion and possible chest injuries, while his wife was believed suffering from a fractured right arm. She was released from hospital after receiving treatment.

Police say the westbound Ray vehicle failed to observe a stop sign and struck the second northbound vehicle, broadside.

Belleville OPP are investigating and say charges are pending.

Damage was considered extensive. The injured persons were taken to hospital by La Salt Ambulance.

An otherwise quiet weekend was reported by the city's police and fire departments.

sands were still waiting to get back to West Berlin when the passes expired.

TRAFFIC JAMS

Thousands of the 27,000 West Berlin cars that crossed the border Sunday were jammed up at the control points as Red guards examined trunks and looked under seats for any East Berliners trying to escape.

The guards confiscated all farewell scene photographs taken by Associated Press photographers.

Elevated trains coming from East Berlin were packed so tightly some of the doors barely closed.

The closing scenes at the five crossing points through the concrete barricade were more heart-rending than those of the reunions between West Berliners and their relatives in the Soviet sector after the holiday visitlic period began 19 days ago.

"If wish I had not gone over there," cried a 43-year-old West Berlin optician when he came back across the Oberbaum Bridge control point. "The parting from my wife was horrible. We don't know when we will see each other again."

The man went to West Berlin in the summer of 1961, leaving his wife behind in East Berlin to follow later. She was trapped when the wall was built.

Authorities said 698,124 West Berliners received wall permits, many of them going through several times since Dec. 19, so that a total of 1,318,000 permits were issued.

With the permits, parents met children again, husbands and wives were united for a short while and scenes of grandparents kissing a grandchild born since the construction of the wall were seen hundreds of times.

"Enough tears flowed during these days to wash the wall away," said one West Berliner. East German border guards had orders to smile and be friendly to West Berliners crossing through the wall.

The usually grim Vopo (people police) officers transformed themselves into good Samaritans helping old ladies and pushing wheelchairs of the infirm through the entry points.

BONN (AP) — Konrad Adenauer, who retired last October as West Germany's chancellor after 14 years in office, marked his 88th birthday Sunday with an all-day celebration.

Standing erect and sipping champagne, Adenauer received congratulations from hundreds of well-wishers at the Redoute, a building in nearby Bad Godesberg used for formal government affairs.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard was foremost among the political figures, diplomats and friends honoring Der Alte (the old man), as Adenauer has long been called.

In a birthday interview Saturday Adenauer, warning against "capitalistic stupidity," said the West must demand that Premier Khrushchev make an agreement on disarmament in exchange for economic aid.

"Western capitalists are ready to help Khrushchev without any real evidence of peaceful intentions, and that is capitalistic stupidity.

"Everybody is talking about peace but the world is more heavily armed than it has ever been. The arms are what we should get rid of first."

Around Industrial Circuit

Plans call for a ten per cent increase in production this year at the Vagden Mills, according to company manager John Denton. The firm is operating 39 knitting machines now, of varying date and manufacture and four more are on order, in England. They should arrive next month. The new machines produce about eight dozen pair of socks per shift.

Expansion is nothing new to the firm. It had fourteen employees six years ago, when Mr. Denton took over, and it has about sixty now. Size of the building was doubled last summer and the latest major investment, (an automatic drier, to dry socks as they come from the dye vats), is only a few months old. Denton expects to have 100 employees and sixty knitting machines within ten years. The firm now produces about 30 styles of men's socks and sells them coast to coast. About ten stores in Belleville handle the Vagden line.

Things are happening elsewhere in the city, too. Stephens-Adamson Manufacturing Co. of Canada Ltd., has acquired control of Stephens-Adamson de Mexico S.A., during the past few months. The Belleville firm took over the smaller Mexican plant from Stephens-Adamson International in Fribourg, Switzerland. The Mexican firm makes the same line of materials, handling equipment as produced in Belleville, but on a smaller scale, and with only 100 employees.

New Operations Manager at Lake Ontario Portland Cement in Picton, William T. Barron, formerly of Wind Gap, Pa. has all sorts of experience in cement manufacture. Jack Fawkes, of The Ontario Intelligencer's Picton office, covered the story for last Friday's paper.

At Point Anne, Canada Cement plans to resume normal production as soon as construction work is done this spring. Superintendent J. M. Legate hopes the plant will employ about 150 hourly-rated men by the peak of the summer season—July and August. All these will be old hands with the firm, he says.

Only trial runs so far, on Union Carbide's new polyurethane-laminate production line. No bites yet, according to plant manager Wilbur Cannitt, but full-scale production won't start until he's sure soon will develop. It might be running by the end of the week.

And Trent Truck Leasing will not go into operation just yet. Sidney Spiegel, the man behind the scheme is setting up the operation in the old Cash factory, vacated last year when the name-tape-makers consolidated their manufacturing facilities in Montreal.

KNITTING MACHINE OPERATOR Mrs. Angela Kulcsar of Belleville checks one of the 39 automatic machines now in use at Vagden Mills. Four new machines on order from an English firm are expected to boost production by ten per-cent during the coming year.

Siren of '64 HasReplaced Sweet Young Thing of '63

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Setting the tender trap was the subject of study Sunday by more than 300 leap year-minded fashion writers here for the opening sessions of Press Week.

The varied program of manlures included big flirtatious hats, siren hairpieces, shadowy black stockings, fast track shoes, and a web of intrigue costumes woven by romantic little silk worms.

The New York couture group and the American designers group are conducting competing spring previews for the writers. But somehow everybody got enough of the messages to pass them along to the girls back home.

Stylist Lilly Dache explained that the siren of '64 has replaced the sweet young thing of 1963.

To prove it, one sweet young thing in a basic straight haircut just below the ear lob was transformed into a half-dozen different types of seductress with pin-on pieces of hair.

DISDAIN WIGS

Not wigs, the pieces included false bangs, a cluster of back curls, southern style; long guiche sidebums; and puffed-up pillow chignons.

Miss Dache's bat lures are big black mesh cartwheels festooned with black roses, or glistening black patent leather turbans, of blinding turned - down brims withpeek-a-boo holes; or flow-entwined straw snoods.

The 1964 siren will spoil taste at all costs, says Miss Dache. Her skin will be as pale in contrast to strong eye shadow and bright lips. Black and brown stockings will create the smoky, tantalizing leg effect under black dresses with tch-tch-n ch-Nose and fluttery short skirts.

The less nose-like effect is the trend on foot for spring, the fashion writers learned. Lace effects, lattice-work, and cut-outs will reduce the shoe to little more than its sole.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL:

Question: A friend of mine, a widow, came to dinner the other night. It was around midnight when she left and she insisted my husband get out the car and drive her home. She lives a good half-hour away on the outskirts of town and could have taken a cab. She took one to our house, which is out in the suburbs. Since she "requested" my husband to take her home rather pointedly, there was little he could do under the circumstances but get out the car and comply. By the time he drove in both directions, it was well after 1:30 a.m. when he got back home. And he had to get up to catch a commuter train early the next morning. When an unattached female is a guest, is it part of prescribed etiquette for the host to take her all the way home? To my way of thinking, she displayed very poor manners by putting my husband to such inconvenience. — Mrs. E. L., Stamford, Conn.

Answer: A host should make every possible attempt to make sure an unescorted woman guest gets home safely. If a reliable cab service was available then his obligation would have been fulfilled by handing her fare to it at his door and instructing the driver where to take her. It was very inconsiderate of your guest to insist on a lift home in the host's car. When an invitation is accepted, a guest also accepts the responsibility of providing transportation to and from the party. If there were no other guests who could easily have dropped her off without going out of their way, then your lady friend should have settled for a cab without putting the host on the spot and putting him to such inconvenience.

Slithery and Beltless Silhouettes Favored by Big Name Couturiers

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—As pretty as they are, the spring fashions are bewildering to the more than 200 out-of-town reporters here for a week of previews.

Women only have to wear them. Men only have to pay for them. But the fashion writers must describe them, and with no more to work with than an archaic glossary of euphemisms and descriptive labels.

When an actor brazenly mentioned the word "shift" in 1907, he scuttled Dublin theatre audience broke up in wild disorder. Fortunately, fashion editors today won't shock anyone when using the word to describe the slithery, beltless silhouettes still favored by many big name couturiers.

But the decent and proper word for the feminine version of trousers is panta. Writers will cope with it in describing Norman Norell's travel suits. Maurice Rentner's and Donald Brook's at-home costumes and John Weitz's and Ben Fogarty's sports clothes.

Because the word seems to have the same effect on men as "shift" had on that Dublin audience, 37 Mays and Gaydies' sportswear firm is considering either a campaign of enlightenment or a contest to choose a more acceptable name.

Hemlines have wandered so far away from the waist during the ups and downs of fashion that there is no reason to mean no more than a horizontal seam anywhere between the shoulder and hem. The waist line was generally tucked under the bosom during the last two seasons, but now it is usually wrapped around the hipbone, emphasizing the long - torsoed silhouette a few couture gamedesigners have, however, actually put the so-called waistline between the hip and waist.

Today a jacket means anything worn over a skirt. So long and skirt—that tells you what's out a programme or a commentator, a fashion writer can't tell one from a coat or bottom-down tunic dress.

For that matter the writer is faced with a period of middle-jacket as a sweater, or blouse, or even a vest, since sleeves and neck openings are old-fashioned prerequisites.

Accurately describing a cocktail, a after-five, at-one-10, and after - the-ball-was - over costumes without raising too many eyebrows is even more difficult, for this is leap year and fashion is emphasizing sex appeal.

Among the first of the approaches taken by American designers is the see-through, or generous use of gossamer yardage in either angelic pastel hues, or in wicked black, flutfery with ruffled bows and lace. Although many of these look startlingly like nightgowns, they remain conservatively tagged "evening" gowns.

Another approach is the clinging-to-slinky, wrap-up crepes which cover from neck to toes and yet show every curve.

The most talked-about of the season is the peek-a-boo or the so-called plunging neckline. Recently, fashion writers were taken to task by one New York columnist for sloppily applying the word decolletage to gowns that really have no necklines at all.

Yet, until somebody coins a word for the barely-a-bodice-with-gown, we are stuck with decolletage, as we are with the rest of fashion's inaccurate terms.

Queen of Iran Joins List of Best-Dressed

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Two members of royalty, two actresses who are princesses and two other social figures bounced to the top of the annual best-dressed list announced Saturday night.

All but diminutive, dark-haired Queen Farah Pahlavi, third wife of the Shah of Iran, have been on the list or have hovered near it before.

In deference to her mourning for her husband, victim of an assassin, Jacqueline Kennedy, the most powerful fashion personality in a generation in the United States, was not considered.

Mrs. T. Charlton Henry of Philadelphia, listed as "worthy of citation" last year, made the fashion front ranks this year. Born Julia Rush Biddle, the snow-haired Philadelphian is a veteran social lioness.

Princess Alexandra of Kent, daughter of the late Duke of Kent and Princess Marina of Greece, made the list again this year. The princess now is married to wealthy businessman Angus Ogilvy.

BLONDES ON LIST

Dina Merrill, born Nedenia Hutton, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Post Hutton Davies May, is one of two blondes on the list.

Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt of New York, the former Jean Harvey of the restaurant clan, also often cited, is a first-timer on the main best-dressed list this year. She, too, is a slender blonde.

Mrs. Loel Guinness, Mexican-born Gloria Rubio until her marriage to the international banker 12 years ago, heads the list this year. The others are:

Princess Lee Radziwill of London, sister of Mrs. Kennedy, and a veteran member of the list.

Gloria Vanderbilt, recently wed to television director Wyatt Cooper. She made the list last year, too.

Baroness Henry Thyssen-Bornemisza, the former London fashion model Fiona Campbell-Walters.

Mrs. Walther Moreira-Salles, the former Elizabeth Cavendish Concalves, a young, witty and popular international hostess.

Mrs. David Bruce, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Britain, another repeater.

Mrs. Charles Wrightsman, wife of an oil millionaire and girlhood friend and Palm Beach neighbor of Mrs. Kennedy. She is another list regular.

Three perennial members of the "annual best - dressed list" were given permanent status in the hall of fame. They are Signore Gianna Agnelli, Turin, Italy, wife of the Fiat Motors executive; Mrs. Herve Alphand, wife of the U.S. ambassador of France to the United States; and Mrs. John Barry Ryan III, a former fashion magazine editor.

Included in a separate list of best-dressed women in the fashion world (or related to it by marriage) were a number of top designers in the U.S. and abroad, fashion editors and others. The list also included Mrs. Stanley Marcus of Dallas, wife of the department store executive, Mrs. S. I. Newhouse, wife of the newspaper and magazine publisher.

Ladybird With U.S. First Lady It's "Husband First"

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Close friends and associates say Mrs. Lyndon Johnson is much more of a personality than her soft Texas drawl implies.

They say the five-foot, four-inch brunette is a self - disciplined, strong-willed and dedicated person. For years she has managed two homes — a Washington residence and a Texas ranch — reared two daughters and built a lucrative business on her own.

From the day she borrowed $10,000 from her father to launch Lyndon's first campaign for Congress in 1937, she has placed her husband's future and welfare "first in her thinking."

She has been campaigner and confidante for the 36th president of the United States and is expected to continue in both roles now. Only 10 months remains in the term turned over to Johnson by a tragic moment in history. His wife will have only brief time to act as first lady before she again resumes active politicking with her husband.

She has pitched in through the years, holding a stop watch to Lyndon's speeches, gently easing him through thousands of handshakes, standing by in every crisis, ever applauding from the sidelines.

CAMPAIGNS WIDELY

In 1960 she flung herself into campaigning and -barnstormed through 30 states and 35,000 miles for the Democratic ticket.

Mrs. Johnson says she is "not deeply informed on politics" and leaves the discussion to Lyndon, but key Democrats confirm her impact on the voters.

Her friends say she's warm, intuitive, thoughtful, has a poetic way of speaking, never loses her temper—and never loses a friend.

Johnson, often commenting on her knack of saying the right thing at the right time, dubs his wife "my own Madison Avenue."

Mrs. Johnson, who inherited wealth from her mother's Alabama cotton landowner family, gets much of the credit for handling the Johnson financial interests.

OWNED TV BUSINESS

In addition, she was the owner of a $1,000,000 radio-television business in Texas. She has been interviewed over to trustees when her husband succeeded to the presidency.

After five years of building up her own broadcasting enterprise, Mrs. Johnson has settled down to operating a 300-acre domain where costs come to some $680,000 a year. Her 29 years of partnership in marriage and politics with Lyndon Johnson make her perhaps better prepared than any other first lady for the exacting demands of her role.

Mrs. Johnson, 51, has some credos of her own. One of them is that "in the space age, pas-

Secretary Speaks 4 Languages

OTTAWA (CP) — Svenyalava Izio, an attractive, 23-year-old secretary from Edmonton, is one up on the capital's civil servants who can boast that they are bilingual.

Known as Sylviane by her friends, the energetic brunette speaks English, French and Ukrainian, and is studying Russian at the University of Ottawa.

As secretary to Senator Paul Yuzyk of Winnipeg, the Senate's representative for the 473,000 Canadians of Ukrainian origin, she answers all Ukrainian correspondence on a specially-lettered typewriter, the only one of its kind on Parliament Hill.

Born in France, she settled in Edmonton with her Ukrainian parents in 1949. She couldn't speak a word of English at the time, but quickly developed an ear for languages.

"In the morning I attended an English elementary school, in the afternoon a French school and at night I went to a Ukrainian school to learn about the history and customs of my parents' homeland."

She joined the civil service after attending university and business college and transferred here more than a year ago. A university professor here recommended her to Senator Yuzyk last fall.

Sylviane, who does translation and secretarial work for at least three other senators, finds English is the easiest of her languages "because I grew up on it, more or less."

"The second language is always the hardest to learn, but after you've mastered it, others come easily."

After two or three more years of university, Sylviane hopes to become a full-time translator here or at the United Nations.

Artist Treats Her Paintings Like Babies

MONTREAL (CP) — Shizuye Takashima is a member of that young breed of Canadian artists who can be satisfied with nothing less than international recognition.

"I've always thought, if you reach for the moon, why not reach for the stars," says the pretty Vancouver native, now a resident of Toronto.

"One of the main reasons Canadian artists are not well known in Europe is because they don't push their work elsewhere," she said in an interview here at the opening of her first exhibition outside Ontario.

Miss Takashima's work is her life. She spends 10 hours a day in her Toronto studio. She treats her paintings "like my babies," becoming so attached to them that she makes friends with those who buy them or visit her exhibitions.

Motto of Merry Mayor: Deal With Problems You Can, Pigeon Hole Rest

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)Motto of a merry mayor: Deal with the problems you can, and pigeon-hole the rest.

"People who concern themselves too much about yesterday and tomorrow develop into real worriers," says Beth Wood.

"If I can't solve a problem today, I pigeon-hole it for hours, days or weeks, as long as necessary."

The philosophy has kept Mayor Wood, 56, with a face of youth save for a few laughter lines, and with a remarkable appetite for endeavor.

She was New Westminster's first woman alderman, its first woman mayor, and as of Jan. 1, the first woman president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

She has good health, good humor and good looks from the top of her long hair, waved back softly into a French roll, to the tips of her slim, high-heeled shoes.

ABILITY COUNTS

"I have never recognized that there is any difference between men and women in public office," she says. "It is a question of ability, not sex."

Mayor Wood has taken a few lessons on life from husband Jack, assistant city electrician and a former star athlete in several sports. But she says she owes her most profitable habits to her stock-buyer father, the late Tom Hanna, who emigrated from Ireland and homesteaded at Minitonas, Man.

"Trouble and tension couldn't get a seat at the dinner table when Beth Wood was a little girl.

"If I was upset about something, my father would say: 'Now Beth, you're just going to put that problem away in a pigeon hole. When the meal is over, when we've had some good talk and laughter, you can take it out and look at it again. It won't seem nearly as serious."

It works fine, she says.

"We have merry old battles in council. But they are all forgotten when we sit down afterwards and have coffee."

PLANS TO RETIRE

Her notions about politics and public duty also go back to dad.

"Dad always said: 'No matter what you do, remember you owe part of your life to your community. It is a privilege to live in this free country.'"

Mayor Wood is retiring this year—after 18 years in public office — because she believes someone has to step off at the top to make way for young people at the bottom.

Her husband joins her in retirement six months later and they hope to establish a small farm in the Fraser Valley.

"I'll be able to do a lot of reading again," she says. "And study Japanese. And sew—it's ages since I made myself a dress.

"And perhaps I'll go back to playing the piano. And I'll take pictures—I'm a 35 - millimetre addict, you know.

"And I may do a bit of writing. And then there are the grandchildren. . . ."

Season(ing) For Leftovers

by Mary Moore

In some mean suggestions a month or so ago I listed Ham Upside Down Loaf. Subsequently I received a request for that recipe. My secretary, Eleanor, said that her sister, Evelyn had a beauty. So we wrote to her in Montreal and asked her to give us her tested and enjoyed recipe.

In her reply Evelyn said "I'm afraid I'm one of those people who find it hard to put down on paper just what some of my recipes consist of, but I'll try and do this in an orderly fashion for you" —

NOTE:

You will have to decide whether you will chop or grind the turkey. We ground ours but thought it should have been chopped. But our guests came back for second and third helpings.

4 cups chopped (or ground) cooked turkey meat, 1 cup raw elbow macaroni (measured before cooking), one 15-oz. can tomatoes, 1 cup hot turkey stock or water, 1 or 2 chicken bouillon cubes, 2 cups loosely packed old Cheddar cheese.

Spread turkey in bottom of casserole. Cook the macaroni in 2 cups boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Turn into casserole. Spread in a layer over turkey meat. Pour tomatoes over. Dissolve the chicken bouillon cube or cubes in the hot stock or water. Pour over. With a fork, lift solids up so liquids will seep through. Sprinkle cheese over top. Bake 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr.

Peady says the cheese is indispensable to the success of this dish.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Chicken Liver Omelette; Potato Pancakes; Creamed Sprouts; Sliced Tomatoes and Spanish Onion Vinaigrette; Fruit Jelly; Christmas Cake; Coffee.

HAM UPSIDE DOWN LOAF (courtesy Evelyn deM.):

Butter, 2 tablespoons, brown sugar, ¼ cup, canned pineapple rings or wedges, 8 (or enough to cover bottom of loaf pan closely), cooked ham, ground, 4 cups (packed), dry mustard, ½ teaspoon, bread crumbs, 1 cup, pineapple juice, ½ cup, eggs, slightly beaten, 2, parsley, dried or fresh, 1 tablespoon, dash of cayenne, or pepper to taste.

Gently melt the butter in the bottom of a greased loaf pan or casserole; sprinkle with the brown sugar. Arrange the pineapple rings or wedges on top of the sugar. Combine ham and remaining ingredients and pack into pan on top of pineapple. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 45 minutes, then turn upside down on a hot platter to serve.

This is a very tasty way to use up leftover ham, and it looks quite pretty too. I somehow like the maraschino cherries instead of the pineapple and decorate it with cherries as you would a fruit upside down cake. Evelyn deM.

Gunmen Slug Eva Gabor, Take Jewelry

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two gunmen slugged actress Eva Gabor and robbed her of a $25,000 diamond ring, other jewelry and cash today, police reported.

The 43 - year - old beauty, youngest of the three Gabor sisters, was taken to hospital suffering from shock, concussion and multiple bruises.

Miss Gabor screamed and was struck with a gun on the forehead and face and one of her earrings was ripped off, patrolman Joe Pannili reported.

She and her husband, Richard Brown, found the bandits waiting when they returned to their vacation apartment at the Racquet Club shortly after midnight.

Pannili said the robbers tied the couple with venetian blind cords, gagged them with men's socks and then ransacked the apartment.

The bandits untied Brown and sent him to the Racquet Club safe, to get the ring, a 15-carat square cut diamond surrounded by 30 smaller diamonds. They held Miss Gabor hostage and told Brown "if anybody but you comes back, we'll blow her head off," Pannili said.

When Brown returned, he was bound and gagged again, with the robbers fled with the ring, a wedding band, a man's gold watch and $150.

Brown later freed himself and called police.

World Situation Reviewed by Prime Minister

OTTAWA (CP)Prime Minister Pearson said Monday East-West relations have improved in recent months but we certainly shouldn't read too much into it."

"We'll be very foolish if we mistook an improvement for a fundamental change," he said in a 30-minute interview broadcast Sunday on all CBC networks.

The signing of the nuclear test ban treaty last August and other developments had given the West a chance to work out with more chances of success than previously some of the disputes with the Communist world.

"Whether we can do that successfully or not is too early to say," he told interviewer Charles Lynch, chief of Southam News Services. Mr. Lynch had asked if the current thaw in the cold war had been overrated.

Mr. Pearson recalled with a smile that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko applauded one of his many United Nations speeches for the first time last September.

SEES MORE TROUBLE

Turning to Canada's relations with the United States the prime minister said: "We're going to have our troubles."

But he said his government is trying to anticipate problems and maintain a friendly atmosphere in discussions with the U.S.

"What we can do in government and this is the sort of glib phrase we all use now—is to keep the dialogue going between the two governments, try to meet our problems before they become crises."

Canada-U.S. relations in 1963 had been difficult because of new taxes on both sides of the border, and other factors.

He said it would be a mistake for Canada to treat American investors unfairly. The degree of American control over Canadian industry would decrease, but not in the way desired by Canadians.

The question of investment had created very serious problems" last year in Canada-U.S. relations.

"They didn't like some of the provisions of our budget, they didn't quarrel with our objective, but they certainly quarreled with some of the methods we adopted to reach that objective.

"By the same token, we certainly didn't like some of the things they did in their tax changes."

ORDERS NEW EFFORT

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) President Johnson has ordered a new effort to correct physical and mental flaws found among young men eligible for U.S. military service. Johnson directed that most men reaching 18 be given physical and mental tests, starting July 1. And he said those who fail will be allowed to enter new, voluntary rehabilitation programs.

ter contributors to the pension plan.

MET DELAYS

However, the scheme was delayed by a variety of factors including Quebec's decision to proceed with its own contributory plan, the Ontario government's hesitancy to commit the province to the federal system and questions raised at last November's federal - provincial conference.

As it now stands, the plan is being modified by the federal government — though in what way has not yet been disclosed.

As originally mapped out by the government, the plan was based on joint employer - employee contributions of two per cent of a salary limit, fixed at the outset at the first $4,000 of annual income. This limit would rise proportionately to increases in the national average income.

When in full operation, the plan would provide a retirement pension equal to 30 per cent of the earnings limit at age 70—at present $1,200—modified at this would be in addition to the flat-rate $75 monthly pension payable to everyone at age 70.

Tippitt Family Gets $500,000 In Donations

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. J. D. Tippitt has received almost $500,000 in gifts. But she says she wants to live as she did when her husband made slightly more than $100 a week.

The slight, dark - haired woman has sought privacy since her husband was slain as he tried to arrest President Kennedy's accused assassin.

"There's really nothing I can say," said the Dallas widow. "My only concern is plan to stay here in the same house, and try to live as normally as possible."

Mrs. Tippitt pays no attention to the daily newspaper count of donations to a fund for her and her children, Charles, 13, Brenda Kay, 10, and Curtis Glen, 5.

"God doesn't call,as . . . I'm quite sure she probably reads the totals in the newspapers," said Police Lieut. Verne Hipskind.

Funds for Mrs. Tippitt amounted to $508,139 Friday. Besides money, Hipskind said, she has received two gingerbread houses and a dozen Green Geese of several Shetland ponies, as well as many religious articles and miscellaneous.

NO TAX TO PAY

Because contributions to Mrs. Tippitt are considered gifts, they are not taxable. A bank official has estimated that investment of $500,000 in a diversified trust fund would yield an annual income of $18,000 to $20,000.

Meanwhile, a Dallas club has offered the ,two Tippitt boys scholarships to Texas A. and M. University when they reach college age.

A Philadelphia publisher and banker, Walter Annenberg, has paid the $12,217.04 mortgage on the Tippitt home, a modest, one-story house.

Khrushchev Left Poland On Sunday

Khrushchev arrived Thursday for talks with Wladyslaw Gomulka and other Polish Communist leaders at a hunting lodge.

The announcement did not say how or where he had gone.

At his astvet weekend talks, the Soviet premier is believed to have exchanged views with Polish leaders on moves to maintain the momentum of the Soviet "peace offensive."

The discussions were held in a remote country house in the snow-covered forests of Olsztyn Province, formerly East Prussia, some 200 miles north of Warsaw.

In between the talks the Soviet premier and Gomulka hunted wild boar.

Khrushchev is thought to value Gomulka's views on problems involving the United States, because Poland, of all Soviet bloc states, has the strongest links with the U.S.

WILL VISIT RUSSIA

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (Reuters)—Emperor Haile Selassie has accepted an invitation from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit Russia at an unspecified future date.

British Election Campaign To Start Within Few Days

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Douglas-Home's Conservative government faces the prospect of a two-pronged attack from the opposition Labor party on the start of Britain's general election year.

Whether the election is held in March, April or October—the three most likely months—the campaign will get seriously underway within the next few days.

Labor Leader Harold Wilson, determined to put Labor back to power after the party's 13 years out of office, will aim to keep the government on the defensive both in Parliament and in the country.

He and Douglas-Home start rival "meet the people" tours of the country shortly, with the prime minister due to hold preliminary meetings in his own Scottish constituency next week.

Wilson will have a different member of the Labor "shadow cabinet" with him on the platform at each of his meetings and will tackle a new aspect of his party's policy in each speech.

He wants to bring his colleagues into the spotlight as potential members of the next government, thus countering his theme that "it's time for a change" from the Conservatives.

Douglas-Home, who has already established his authority in Parliament since succeeding Harold Macmillan last October, now plans to build up his personal impact in the country as a whole.

He is likely to concentrate on domestic issues in his speeches, arguing that standards of living are rising and claiming that to switch the governing party now, just for the sake of change, might be damaging.

In Parliament, strong attacks are expected by Labor when the House of Commons resumes sitting Jan. 14 after the Christmas recess.

Among other points, Labor is likely to urge replacements by United Nations forces of British troops to "police" Cyprus.

Douglas-Home might call a March election if a mild winter keeps unemployment figures down and if there is clear evidence of a shift in last year's strong anti - government swing by voters.

A decision on polling in March would have to be taken in mid-February, probably on Douglas-Home's return from his Washington talks with President Johnson.

If the prime minister feels the risk of a March poll is still too high, then June is the favored month, with October later is thought to be against running the full constitutional term until October.

Business Ready To Start Anew In New Year

PICTON (Staff) — When the most important one-day holidays fall on a mid week day it seems that all business is disrupted from Christmas Eve to the Monday following New Year's Day.

At least, here in Picton this was the case, with many merchants reporting things have been fairly quiet since Dec. 24. A lot of exchanges, a few people spending their Christmas bonuses, but for the most part, people seem to be pausing — taking a breath — in preparation for the "back to normal" period.

Everything starts today, Monday the 6th.

Picton council will hold their first meeting of the new year at 8:00 p.m. There will be no new faces, as this council was elected for a two-year term, just one year ago.

Tonight at their regular weekly meeting, the Picton Kiwanis club will hold their annual installation of officers for the year.

Also tonight, the Picton Public Utilities will hold their first meeting of the new year.

The directors of the Prince Edward Yacht Club will hold their first meeting of 1964 tonight, at this meeting it is expected that approval will be given for the new additions and alterations to the clubhouse.

TO COST $20,000

Costing about $20,000 to complete, the majority of the board feel that the entire project should be done at one time, rather, than as one of them said, "taking two bites at the thing". This will mean closing the clubhouse for a short period of time, possibly three weeks, but normal activities will be continued during the construction, which is expected to be finished by June first.

The Prince Edward Yacht Club enjoys an available reputation wherever yachtmen meet, and when the alterations and additions have been completed, the club will be amongst the finest in Ontario.

On Tuesday afternoon, the Prince Edward County pets under way, with some new faces appearing. At this meeting, it is expected that the names of the men, who have been recommended for the positions of County Assessing Commissioner and of County Welfare Administrator will be announced.

Both councils will appoint committees that will deal with all aspects of running the town and the country at their first meeting.

In a complete reversal of form, "old man weather" came to the rescue of the Picton people this week. Last week, we had below zero temperatures, and lots of snow. This week, "old Sol" came out and shot the temperature up to an abnormal high of 35. The snow is melting, the streets are sloppy, but everyone is out, walking, and smiling.

Stirling

STIRLING—John Chard, Toronto spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard, Rive- Valley and visited other friends in the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker and their families attended a gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Caskey, Murray on the evening of Dec. 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Williams and family entertained at Christmas Mr. and Mrs. Murray Roy, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Williams, Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Will Bush and daughter Belle of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Johnson spent Sunday in Toronto owing Johnson Sargent, a former resident of Stockdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Irvine and Douglas, Hallowsy; Mrs. Janet Uiman, Stirling; Mr. Reg. Irvine and Miss Muriel Bean, Toronto, were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Irvine and Keith, Faller.

RANGERS DELIVER GIFTS

Mrs. Maurice Bell and her assistants Mrs. Harold Chamberlain and the members of Stirling Ranger guides delivered decorated miniature Christmas trees and other items of Christmas cheer to several senior citizens in the village.

Mr. Bill Barron, who is taking over at the local cement plant, said he had never seen the ice side of an ice arena. When he did and saw the hundreds of children in skates, he knew the fundamentals of hockey, our very own National Sport, he should his head in amazement.

"This without a doubt is the finest thing I have ever seen," he said. "I have three young lads of my own and when we get moved up here, I hope before the end of this winter, this is one of the first places I will bring the boys. They will want to learn the game too," he added.

Mr. Barron was assured by league officials that each and every boy who wants to learn is given equal ice time and lots of help in the game.

When the smoke of battle had cleared away, it was learned that in the scores league, the Aces and the Barons had played to a one-all draw; the Indians had defeated the Bears 2-0; the Beavers had dropped Bisons 3-1 and the Bobcats and Milfort were declared at one all.

In the Atom league, the Blades dropped the Quakers 2-0; the Bruins were 3-1 over the Canucks, and Milfort had white washed Waupoos by a 1-0 score.

In the Pee Wee league, the Canadiens dropped the Maple Leafs by a 2-1 score; the Black Hawks shut out the Bruins 2-0; Marlboros over the Terons 4-2 and Rangers kept their undefeated streak record intact as they dropped Milfort 3-0.

Stranger Gets Kick Out of Visit to Arena

PICTON (Staff) — The local arena resounded with the cheers of the teams as first one team would score, and then the other would tie it up. A total of 7 teams of the Peewee, Atom and Bantam leagues make up the Minor Hockey Association, which take over the rink on Saturday mornings.

A visitor to Canada, one who has made his home in the United States, where they simply do not have ice skating facilities, got a huge kick out of his first visit to a Canadian hockey arena last Saturday.

Ann Landers

Story of 12-Year Affair Has an Unusual Ending

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Whenever I read a letter in your column about middle-aged women having affairs with married men I have to smile.

I am 33 and I've been having an affair with a married man for 12 years. This is not a large city and we go everywhere together. I wouldn't give him up for the world. He is kind, generous, handsome and treats me with respect and consideration. He hands over his unesahed pay cheque every week.

No man, regardless of looks, wealth or social position could interest me. Nor could my lover be charmed away by another woman. He is the most important person in my life and I have dedicated myself to keeping him in love with me. I am secure, content and at peace — because the man is my husband. — SET FOR LIFE.

DEAR SET — Thank you for an unusual letter. Any woman who writes, "He is the most important person in my life and I have dedicated myself to keeping him in love with me," can't miss.

• • •

DEAR ANN LANDERS — You visited our city recently and in the newspaper writeup about you it was noted that you have a rare faculty for remembering names.

The inability to remember names has been a problem all my life and it has caused me a great deal of embarrassment. Do you have some sort of a secret system? If so, will you do a lot of people a big favor and pass it on? Thank you in advance for any help you can offer. — HOLES IN MY HEAD.

DEAR HEAD — The chief reason people are unable to remember names is because they fail to get the name right when they are introduced. Make it a point to ask that the name is Mr. Tallman and he happens to be a shrimp, well — will be offended. It's flattering, in fact, because it indicates you're interested.

Use the name in your first sentence to that person and associate the name with something about the individual. For example, if the woman's name is Mrs. Bekin and she has a pointed nose (like a beak), you're home free. If the man's name if Mr. Tallman and he happens to be a shrimp, well — make a mental note that Mr. Tallman is not tall at all and that his name doesn't fit.

Deliver me from the mental cripple who makes no effort to remember a name then tries to excuse himself by saying, "but I never forget a face."

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My husband and I moved back to this city after having left it as newlyweds 12 years ago. My mother and two sisters live here. They are "the problem."

The first week my mother and sisters virtually took over my house and family. I thought they were trying to be helpful but now I realize they are attempting to involve themselves in my daily life on a continuing basis.

They want my husband and me to visit them every evening or else they ask if they can come here. My mother and sisters have no friends and claim they don't need friends because they have each other.

I don't want that kind of life. I find my relatives thoroughly boring and so does my husband. How can we free ourselves from them without creating resentment? — HOG TIED?

• • •

DEAR TIED — Forget about working this out without resentment. It can't be done.

The only way to free yourself from the clutches of domineering relatives is to get busy with friends and activities. Tell your relatives when they call that you have plans for the evening. Before long they'll get the picture.

• • •

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ketcheson and Mr. George Ketcheson of Madoc were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Harry and children on New Year's night.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hale and family of Madoc were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp on New Year's eve.

HOLIDAY GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Clapp, and family spent New Year's day with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paul of Almonte and on their return they brought Beverley Clapp who had been visiting her sister, home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bush and family, Mr. Arther Bush were visitors of the latter's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McMasters of York Rd., Trenton on New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hollinger of Foxboro and their daughters, Marie and Joyce and their friends spent New Year's with another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Harry and children.

CHURCH PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Club of Johnstown United Church held a New Year's party with all the members and their families being present. Some guests were invited. At midnight they blew whistles, wore paper hats and had a great time. While waiting for 1964 they played games and towards the end had a sing song. There were two hosts and hostesses, Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Harder and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Harder, who received my thanks for opening their home and making an enjoyable time for all.

Canadian Business in '64

By GREG MacDONALD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Some hopes by th Canadian business community for 1964:

Economic expansion without inflation;

A merchandise trade surplus for the fourth consecutive year;

A sharp reduction in the balance - of - payments deficit;

A four-to-five per cent increase in gross national product;

A successful GATT negotiating conference at Geneva so that trade barriers may be considerably reduced;

An increase in exports;

An increase in company production and expansion, and

Greater Canadian participation in their country's development.

Studebaker last week exported its first Canadian-built automobile for the United States market.

Four highway carriers left Hamilton Thursday destined for Chicago, Dallas, Devon, Pa., and Kenore, N.Y.

Robert Orr, director of marketing, said 103 orders were received last week for models either available at the Hamilton plant or scheduled for production.

The first car produced in Hamilton specifically for a United States customer rolled off the assembly line Tuesday for delivery in Laconia, N.H.

AUTO OUTPUT HIGH

The automobile industry itself continues to roll along at a record-breaking pace.

E. H. Walker, president, General Motors of Canada Ltd., said that demand for cars and trucks in Canada has never been greater.

Confirming that his company's production in 1963 reached a record level, he said: "All present indications suggest that this demand will continue and that our production at Oshawa, Ont. during the next 18 months will equal or exceed the 1963 total."

The company produced 308,140 cars and trucks in 1963 — nearly 41,000 more vehicles than in the previous record year of 1962.

Total car and truck production by all companies in Canada as of Dec. 28 was a record 636,228 vehicles compared with total production of 307,472 in 1962.

Elsewhere on the business scene during the week, MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., Canada's largest forest products company, announced it has entered the corrugated container industry in the United Kingdom.

The company has purchased control of two English firms, interests in the industry. The firms, Hygrade Corrugated Cases Ltd. and Cook's Corrugated Cases Ltd., will continue to operate under present management as subsidiaries of MacMillan, Bloedel.

POWER POOL FORMING?

A possible move towards formation of a cross-the-border power pool was seen during the week when Manitoba Hydro became the first Canadian member of a prominent U.S. utilities group.

The Manitoba Membership in the Mid-Continent Power Planners brings to 23 the number of power companies in the organization. The American members are spread throughout 10 states close to the Canadian border.

MAPP officials said the agreement with Manitoba Hydro permits the exchange of ideas and the co-ordination of electrical planning by power suppliers on both sides of the international boundary.

Authorization and approval by the U.S. and Canadian governments would be necessary before any power transmission line construction is begun.

Ltd., of London, Ont., a plant food company, purchased control during the week of Na-Churs Plant Food Company Canada) Ltd. of that city and also of Na-Churs Plant Food Company of Marion, Ohio. Purchase price was not disclosed.

more until she awoke later in hospital.

Adding to the mystery was a coroner's report which said that Bartholomae, in addition to the stab wounds, had numerous scratches, "possibly from fingernails," on his neck, face, arms hands and chest.

FOUND BY SISTER

Minola, through an interpreter, said she cut her hand when she picked up the knife after entering the kitchen and finding Bartholomae and her sister on the floor.

She said she had left the room to attend to Carmen's three-months-old son.

Carmen was also in hospital under police guard in order that she could continue nursing her infant.

Bartholomae, president of the Bartholomae Oil Company of nearby Fullerton, settled a divorce suit last February with his former wife for an estimated $4,250,000.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The football division of the Bay of Quinte District of the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association has had problems.

One is the increasing difficulty to get well-trained officials. Also the cost of bringing officials from Kingston is very high and might, in some cases, rule out a team for a school.

Physical education directors of the schools of the district which enter teams in the league feel that something should be done to remedy the situation.

Football teams of the Quinte District of the COSSA have been a credit to themselves, their schools and their coaches and directors since the past few years. And this applies to other phases of sport.

Not a few championships have been brought to the district. This was very definitely indicated at the inaugural "Banquet of Champions" held last year, which I was privileged to attend.

Phys-Ed directors and coaches of the schools hope to maintain the high status the Quinte district enjoys within the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association.

As was mentioned their present concern is the securing of trained football officials.

As one physical director says, "invariably we get into arguments about officials at our meetings. This gets us nowhere. So we have decided to do something about it."

The decision was to appeal to former football players of the city and district, and others who are willing, to attend a school one night a week and learn or refresh themselves in football officiating.

Mr. Stan Barbour, phys-ed director at the Belleville Collegiate Institute, has suggested advertising for such men in city and district newspapers.

"One of the problems," he says, "is getting men who can take time off during the afternoon, therefore anyone considering this should have a flexible work schedule."

Letters will be sent to city and district industries that have irregular hours and the police and fire departments.

It is felt there are some ex-collegiate football players in the city and district who would be willing to step back into football character in an officiating capacity. These will be particularly welcomed.

As Mr. Barbour says: "We are fortunate in having Jack Simon in our area as he is currently refereeing in the Intercollegiate Football Union. Several of the Phys-Ed men in the area have had some experience in officiating and will take turns in instructing one night a week."

And he adds: "This could be a financially sound investment for some sports-minded persons with prior knowledge of the game."

As was indicated those who qualify for the positions will be financially reimbursed.

I understand that in the past competent men have been brought here from Kingston to officiate, particularly in district, and when the occasion warranted, COSSA championship games.

These people, I am told, "come high", what with mileage, etc. This means a severe drain on the finances of the local schools and, as was noted, might rule a team out of important competition.

Whip Wings; Hawks Dump Petes

Habs Shave Marlies Lead

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros, who appear to have hit a mid-season slump, had their lead over Montreal Junior Canadiens in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series cut to eight points as a result of Sunday action.

The Marlboros blew a 3-0 lead and watched as Kitchener Rangers climbed to a surprising 5-5 tie in Kitchener. Meanwhile, the Canadiens carved out a 7-2 home-ice victory over Hamilton Red Wings.

The tie left Toronto with 31 points while Montreal has 43. In other action St. Catharines Black Hawks dumped the third-place Peterborough Petes 8-3 in St. Catharines and Oshawa Generals downed Niagara Falls Flyers 4-2 in Bowmanville.

Peterborough remained in third place with 36 points, four up on the Flyers. The Black Hawks' win enabled them to close to within one point of Niagara Falls.

The Generals took a five-point lead over Hamilton in the race for final playoff position. Kitchener holds down the cellar spot with 12.

BEECHEY SCORES 2

Three goals by winger John Beechey in the second period sparked the Rangers to their comeback. Other Kitchener goals went to Randy Legge and Winter Trevor Fahrj. Ron El-

Ils led the visitors with a pair of goals while singles were credited to Pete Sternkowski, Jim McKenny and Wayne Carleton.

Jean-Claude Hebert counted two goals to pave the way for the Canadiens. Single goals came from Jacques Lemaire, Andre Boudrias, Yvan Cournoyer, Bob Charlebois and Bob Lemieux. Real Lemieux and Sandy Snow connected for Hamilton.

The Hawks fired three goals past Chuck Goddard of Peterborough in one minute and 45 seconds to clinch the victory before the 15-minute mark.

Tom Laidlaw showed the way with a three-goal effort. Scoring singles were Dennis Hull, Joe Kish, Graham Ferguson, Bob McAlpine, Chuck Kelly and Ron Hodge. Jim Paterson, Dale Watson and Ron Naud clicked for the losers.

WIN CONSOLATION

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Dave Kerr and Tom Bell scored third period goals as McGill University rallied and defeated Providence College 3-2 for the consolation title in the Brown University holiday hockey tournament Saturday night. Colorado College won the championship by edging host Brown 4-3.

Canadiens Gain Point On Hawks

Rangers Shade Leafs, Wallop Wings

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Collectively, New York Rangers probably rank as the disappointment of the season so far in the National Hockey League.

Somehow they've fallen far short of the promise of the pre-season. They still pass the puck too much, squandering scoring chances, and they play it tiro-cously in comparison with the other clubs, enabling the opposition to take liberties.

But no club made more profit on the weekend.

The schedule threw all six teams into action twice and Rangers were the only team to emerge with a full-value four points for a pair of wins.

They shaded Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 Sunday night and walloped Detroit Red Wings 5-2 in a Saturday afternoon game. Both were played in New York.

Montreal's surprising Canadiens picked up three points with a win and a tie, Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto two like each for a split, Red Wings one and Boston Bruins nothing.

TIME WINGS

Canadiens played a 3-3 sawoff with Red Wings in Detroit Sunday night after thumping Bruins 5-1 at home Saturday night.

In Chicago Sunday night, Hawks battled Bruins 3-3, gaining a measure of revenge against a club that has troubled them all season.

A 3-0 shoutout for Toronto's Johnny Bower over Hawks in Toronto Saturday night rounded out the weekend action.

The four-point performance gave Rangers 31 points for 28 and moved them to within three of the fourth-place Red Wings. But Detroit has a game in hand.

A second-period goal by newcomer Dave Richardson—his first in both NHL—stood up as New York's triumph over Maple Leafs.

It was the fourth win in their last five starts for Rangers.

Earl Ingarfield and defenceman Al Langlois were the other New York goal-getters before a crowd of 14,238. Frank Mahovlich and defenceman Carl Brewer clicked for Toronto.

Richardson, left winger was playing his third game for New York since being called up from Baltimore Clippers of the American Hockey League.

FONTEYNE HOT

Before another good crowd of 15,556 Saturday afternoon, Rangers got goals from defenceman Jim Neilson and Larry Cahan as well as others from Ingarfield, Phil Goyette and Don Marshall. Val Fonteyne, picked up in the draft by New York, collected three assists against his former Detroit teammates.

Parker MacDonald and Floyd Smith counted for Wings.

Norm Ullman's goal with less than six minutes to play gave Detroit the tie against Montreal before 12,538 fans in the Olympia at Detroit.

MacDonald and defenceman Bill Gadsby were the other scorers for Red Wings. Bernie Geoffrion, Jean Beliveau and Claude Provost hit for Montreal.

Gadsby struck his head on the glass after his first-period goal and suffered a possible concussion. There was no immediate word on his injury.

Before 13,901 fans in Montreal, Canadiens got two goals from Gilles Tremblay and defensors from Beliveau, Bobby Rousseau and Dave Balon to crush Bruins.

Leo Boivin, the Bruins' captain got his club's lone goal on a penalty shot in the second period. It was a low 20-foot shot.

Boivin appeared to force Charlie Hodge into making the first move.

GRABBED PUCK

Referee John Ashley awarded the shot to Hodge, who grabbed Jean-Guy Talbot grabbed the puck with his hand in his own goal crease in a scramble.

Black Hawks, snapping a two-game losing streak before a crowd of 14,000, pushed their edge on the second-place Canadiens to three points with the win over Bruins.

Kenny Wharram scored twice while Stan Mikita, Bobby Hull Ab McDonald got one each. Mikita also added a pair of assists. It was Hull's 23rd goal and Mikita and Wharram were left with 22 each.

Orland Kurtenbach, Tommy Williams and defenceman Ted Green were the other Chicago Hawks argued the puck went into the net off a player's glove on Green's goal but referee Bill Friday allowed it to stand.

In Toronto Saturday night, before 14,815, Bower scrutch drilled two goals for Leafs, defenceman Allan Stanley got the other and Bower got his third shutout in consecutive Saturday night appearances, at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Reg Fleming, Chicago hardrock, bounced back into the league's penalty spotlight by boosting his total to 108 minutes with a misconduct and game misconduct in an attempted assault against referee Red Hurley.

The whole affair started with a double penalty call against Fleming and Bob Haworth.

Play resumes Tuesday night in Boston when Bruins meet Red Wings in a postponed game. The Boston management set it back from Nov. 24 after the slaying of President Kennedy.

'Conduct Detrimental - - Overseas'

Suspend Manager Windsor 'Dogs'

TORONTO (CP) — Sam Fox, president and manager of the Windsor Bulldogs hockey team, was suspended indefinitely by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association Saturday for what the CAHA termed "conduct detrimental to the good of hockey as a representative of a Canadian team overseas."

The Bulldogs made a tour of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Germany and Switzerland last November and December.

The Windsor club is a member of the International Hockey League. The suspension of Fox will be automatically recognized by the Amateur Hockey Association of the United States and all other hockey associations of the world.

Cecil Duncan of Ottawa, a life member and past president of the CAHA, said he could not recall in his 52-year association with the CAHA a team official's being suspended by the national body.

Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask., secretary-manager of the CAHA, said after Saturday's executive meeting of the association that "the refusal of Fox to fulfil his obligations in Europe was the crux of the CAHA's suspension."

ASKED $500

Juckes said Fox phoned him Dec. 3, the day of the final 11-game Russian tour, saying that the Bulldogs "would not go on the ice that night in Geneva unless they received $500 provided by the CAHA."

Juckes said that all expenses of the club were guaranteed by the CAHA. "Fox was given a $1,000 grant to handle excess baggage and expenses," Juckes added.

"On Dec. 3 Fox phoned me and said the club did not have enough money to cover excess baggage from Prague to London and Geneva to London and unless an estimated amount of $700 was provided by the CAHA his team would not play that night.

"In order that we fulfil our contract with the people in Geneva and not leave the club stranded, we had to authorize payment of $500 to CAHA. To this date, we have not been reimbursed."

The Bulldogs lost eight of their 11 games in Europe. They lost all six contests played in Russia, two of three in Czechoslovakia and won one game in Germany and one in Switzerland.

WINDSOR (CP) — Sam Fox, president and manager of the Windsor Bulldogs hockey team, said Sunday he hoped he would be granted a hearing before he is suspended from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

"I have been told I have been suspended from the association only from press releases," he said in a telephone interview at Windsor Arena.

"I consider these charges very serious and I want to look into them more fully and check the authenticity of the reports before I make a statement," he said.

"If this is true and I have already been suspended, then the news comes to me as a shock and I am very concerned."

Fox said he believed the cause of his suspension had to do with "a matter of some $500 I have never been asked to return to the association.

"Today I sent them by mail a statement of accounts from that tour. I personally lost in excess of $6,000," Fox said. "Maybe this is their way of telling me they won't pay that money back."

Fox said he would make a full statement and rebuttal of CAHA charges when he received official information from that body that he has been suspended.

Says Russ Better Than We Think

TORONTO (CP) — The Russians could play Canadian-style hockey "tomorrow, or sooner if they changed to our rules," Muzz Patrick, general manager of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League said here during a weekend visit.

"Our players aren't as good as we think they are and the Russians are better than we think they are," Patrick confended in an interview. He also said the Russian national team, currently touring the United States, is better than some professionals in either the Western or American Hockey Leagues.

"I rate the Russians better than both the Czechs and Swedes," said Patrick. "The Canadians are the only team with a chance to beat them in the Olympic tournament."

He admitted, however, there was little chance of the good Russian players being lured to North American professional ism.

"The only way you can get them is if they defect to the West and the U.S. state department doesn't encourage us to get players that way."

Eighth Loss In 33 Marlies Nip Olympics

LONDON (CP) — Toronto Marlboros showed why many consider them the best bet to take the Canadian junior championship this season when they defeated Canada's Olympic hockey entry 5-4 here Saturday night.

The Marlies, league - leaders in the Ontario Hockey Association, took a 3-0 lead in the first period, stretched it to 4-2 after two, and weathered an all - out Olympic attack in the third to post their victory.

The loss was only the eighth in 33 starts for Rev. David Bauer's young squad and it completed their cross - country tour before departure to the winter games at Innsbruck, Austria. The Olympians are due to leave for Paris Monday.

The Canadian representatives will play 10 games prior to the Olympic tournament, three in Germany, one in Geneva, two in Moscow, and four in Czechoslovakia.

Wayne Carleton scored two goals for the Marlboros. Pete Sternkowski, Andre Champagne and Ron, Ellis collected the others. Carleton's second marker, at 4:49 of the finale, was the winner.

Only Sadleux scored two goals for the Olympians, both coming in the third period when they carried a wide edge in the play.

Brian Conacher and Roger Bourbonnais, perhaps the two most excellent players on Canada's national squad, scored the other goals.

Only six minor penalties were called by referees Hugh McLean and Lou Maschio, three against each side.

The game, played under international rules, drew a crowd of 4,727.

N.H.L. Stars

Dave Richardson of New York, whose first NHL goal gave the Rangers a 3-2 win over Toronto.

Kenny Wharram, whose two goals paced Chicago Black Hawks to a 4-3 victory against Boston.

Johnny Bower of Toronto, who blanked Chicago Black Hawks with 25 saves as the Leafs defeated the league-leaders 3-0.

Norm Ullman of Detroit, who scored with less than five minutes remaining in the game as the Wings salvaged a 3-3 tie with Montreal.

Gilles Tremblay, whose two goals carried the Canadiens to a 5-1 win against Boston.

Houck Rink Wins 'Champions' Spiel

Defeats Gervais

By ALLAN BAILEY

TORONTO (CP) — It took Norm Houck and his Winnipeg crew almost two years to get revenge for a defeat in the 1962 Canadian curling championship.

The Houck rink captured the Tournament of Champions bonspiel at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday against Hector Gervais of Edmonton.

It was Gervais who, in 1962 at Kitchener, defeated Houck in the final end of a semi-final playoff round. The playoff was called when Ernie Richardson, Houck and Gervais wound up regular play in a three-way tie at the top. Richardson dumped Gervais in the final game.

In Saturday's action here, Houck soared to a 12-5 victory over the Alberta squad in the seventh round. Both were tied for top spot with one loss and five wins going into the final match.

OVERPOWERS CHAMP

Houck overpowered the world champion Ernie Richardson rink 16-5 in the second round of the tournament last Wednesday.

"This is a great personal victory for me," the 29-year-old Winnipeg high school teacher said as he clutched the Curl-Master Trophy.

Houck and his rink of Jim Urwin, Harley Underhill and Ross Murdock lost their only game—an 8 - 7 squeaker — to Doug Charlesworth's Charlottetown rink. Cameron, although losing his first four games, came back strongly to win all the next three.

There were two disappointments at the first Tournament of Champions — the sparse crowds and the Richardsons.

Skip Ernie, his brother Garnet and cousins Arnold and Wes lost their first game 11-6 to Gervais and their second to Houck.

They made a brief comeback, edging Thurston 8-7 and Bill Mann's Ontario championship rink from Hanover 14-11. But Wes Richardson's fourth-end miss in the stop the International Hockey League standings.

The second - place Toledo Blades slipped past Chatham 1-0 in Toledo Saturday but were idle Sunday while Fort Wayne pushed their total to 43 points.

Fort Huron Komets dueled to a 3-3 overtime tie with Des Moines Sunday in their only weekend game to boost their third-place tally to 33 points. The Oak Leafs' one-point pickup moved them into a deadlock with Chatham for fifth spot both showing 23 points.

Windsor Bulldogs split a pair with Muskegon Zephyrs—losing 5-3 in Muskegon Saturday and winning 6-3 at home Sunday—to stay one point up on Des Moines and Chatham in the battle for fourth. Muskegon holds down the cellar slot with 20 points.

Len Thornson, Bob Bailey, Bob Rivard and Ted Wright led Fort Wayne Sunday. Bob Begin and Reg Mullholland counted for Chatham.

Fort Wayne Pushes Into Lead

Fort Wayne Komets parlayed a 7-4 Saturday win over Des Moines Oak Leafs and a 4-2 Sunday win over Chatham Maroons into a three-point lead stop the International Hockey League standings.

Starr Paces 40-23 Win

Packers Roll Over Browns

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Bart Starr broke the pro football playoff bowl record with three touchdown passes in the first half Sunday and Green Bay Packers rolled over Cleveland Browns, 40-23, to win third place in the National Football League.

A crowd of 54,921, a record for the bowl contests, born four years ago, failed to see the ground battle they had anticipated between the two great fullbacks, Jim Brown of the Browns and Jim Taylor of the Packers, No. 1 and 3 rushers of the NFL.

Instead, Starr and Cleveland's Frank Ryan hooked up in an aerial duel.

Ryan, although subjected to a fierce rush by the Packers, set a playoff bowl record for completed passes and aerial yards gained, but Starr put the final points on the scoreboard with his fine first-half show.

PASS GETS 99 YARDS

One of Starr's shots, from behind his own goal line, hit Tom Moore in the clear and launched him on a 99-yard scoring play, longest of the series. He hit Ron Kramer for 18 and Max McGee for 15 for more touchdowns and passed the Packers into position for another score—by Taylor on a one-yard smash—as Green Bay grabbed a 26-10 halftime lead.

The Packers were romping along on a 33-10 lead when Ryan's aerials began to close the gap.

The Browns were denied two touchdowns by the Packer goal line defense and the clock.

Starr's three touchdown passes in the first half broke the old playoff bowl mark held by Milt Plum of Cleveland and Jim Ninowski and Earl Morrall of Detroit.

The Big Seven

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Johnny Bower kept Stan Mikita in check Saturday night but he couldn't be silenced Sunday evening.

Mikita scored once and picked up two assists to maintain his one-point lead over Montreal's Jean Beliveau in the individual scoring race. Beliveau stayed within reach, picking up two goals and an assist.

Mikita's Chicago teammate, Bobby Hull, became the league's leading scorer with 33 as he tallied once. Mikita and another Black Hawk, Kenny Wharram, are runners-up with 32.

Toronto's Frank Mahovlich and Montreal's Bobby Rousseau moved into the ranks of the top seven for the first time this season. Mahovlich topped off a six-point week with a three-goal weekend.

Juniors Lose Stu Muirhead For 6 Weeks

The Belleville Junior "B"'s were dealt a shocking blow over the week-end when it was learned that the club's leading scorer, Stu Muirhead, will be lost to the team for at least six weeks.

Muirhead is reported to have suffered a torn ligament and a bruised cartilage of the knee in Friday's game here. He was operated on Saturday afternoon, to have the cartilage removed.

The doctor said it will be at least six weeks before he will be able to play hockey again so we don't expect to have him back much before the playoffs," team manager Mal Richards said this morning.

"We have also lost Bill Lang for a short period. He has a badly bruised arm muscle, also picked up Friday," Richards said.

The injuries will be damaging ones to the local club. Muirhead, leading the league's lead in the leading scorer with 14 goals and 19 assists, has set a club record in Friday's 12-4 win here over Truxton by scoring four goals and adding six assists for ten points

Lang, who joined the club after the season started, has also been playing well.

It is expected efforts will be made to secure a replacement for Muirhead. Lang's injury will keep him out of this Friday's game at least.

Made $100 Weekly On Puck Lottery

TORONTO (CP)—Police have summoned the owner and printer in connection with the printing of 30,000 lottery tickets on National Hockey League games.

Police said the tickets were sold for 25 cents each and that the lottery operator made a profit of $100 a week. The 30,000 tickets were seized Thursday in a Toronto apartment. About 600 were sold in each game, with a prize of $50.

Alden Berndt, 29, a truck driver, has been charged with keeping a common betting house, registering and recording bets and possession of lottery tickets.

His wife, Doris, was charged with keeping common betting house and with registering and recording bets.

Police said the printer told them he didn't think he was doing anything wrong by printing the tickets. He told them there was a space for the time of the first and last goals of each game.

SKIER INJURED

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Skier Paul Katz of Montreal suffered multiple fractures of both legs at Whiteface Mountain Friday. Katz, 53, was experimenting with ski-rescue techniques in the area when he was injured.

Sets Record In 51-10 Rout

'Thunderbolt' Fullback Leads Chargers

By JERRY LISKA

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Keith Lincoln, a thunderbolt fullback, stunned Boston Patriots Sunday with two spectacular first-quarter runs and then blitzed to a record individual performance in leading San Diego Chargers to a 51-10 rout of the Patriots and the American Football League championship.

It was the highest scoring title game in the AFL's four - year history.

But Lincoln, three-season veteran from Washington State, didn't let up after his first quarter fireworks to secure a record of 30,127 in sun-swatched Balboa Stadium.

COVERS 349 YARDS

He kept pounding away for a title-game record of 349 yards — by rushing, receiving and passing—to get the unanimous vote as the game's outstanding player.

The only time the Patriots, beaten by San Diego in regular season play 17-14 and 7-6, were in the game was when Larry Garron smashed seven yards for a touchdown which trimmed the Charger lead to 14-7 with the first quarter eight minutes old.

But when San Diego halfback Paul Lowe uncorked another 68-yard scoring run two minutes later against the Boston blitz, that made it 21-7 for the Chargers and the game was locked up.

Boston, AFL defensive leader despite the 8-6-1 win-loss-tie record it carried into the game, was left with a sour red-dog going too hard on San Diego's opening plays.

That left Lincoln's sweep around end for 56 yards on his first carry and enabled Rote's forward aerial for a touchdown with the game 80 seconds old.

GOES 87 YARDS

The red-dogging Patriots also saw Lincoln run a Rote pitchout on his second carry of the game and explode 87 yards down the sidelines for a 14-0 San Diego lead.

Almost the same thing happened Lowe's 58-yard scoring sprint.

Tom Cappelletti, Boston's Kicker and pass-catching end who once starred for Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, kicked a second-quarter field goal and converted Sunday touchdown passes.

Forty - eight seconds before halftime, Rote, who threw two touchdown passes and directed a withering Charger attack, connected on a 14-yard pass to Don Norton.

That made it 31-10 and Boston might as well have started in the dressing room after the half.

Lincoln averaged more than 15 yards in 23 carries during his for 206 rushing yards and had 123 yards on his seven pass catches.

San Diego's title conquest followed two previous future tries. In the 1960 playoff, as the Los Angeles entry, the Chargers lost to Houston's Oilers 24-16. In the battle for the 1961 crown, they lost to Houston again 10-3.

The 1963 AFL title went to Dallas, now Kansas City, over Houston 20-17.

Sailors Scuttle Welland

Oaks Snap Hornet String

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Galt Hornets ruined their chances of finishing second in the stock Athletics in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A division Saturday night by only one a possible four points in weekend action.

Saturday night in Galt the Hornets battled to a 5-5 overtime tie with Welland Burloaks. Sunday night they had their 13-game unbeaten string snapped by losing 5-4 to Oakville Oaks.

The Athletics, who were idle over the weekend, lead the series with 28 points. Galt, two points back, can move into a tie when they play host to Guelph Royals tonight.

In the only other Sunday game, the cellar-dwelling Port Colborne Sailors kept Welland from moving into a second-place tie with Galt by dumping the Burloaks 5-2 in Welland.

Oaks snapped their string of seven straight victories with a 5-4 win over Hornets. Dave Brown, Wayne Brown and Gerald Pugh getting helpers.

Quinte trounced the Tee Pees 9-1 with Wayne Muir scoring four goals, Bill Janitsch three and Bob Carter the other two. John Burley and Paul Barrett obtained a pair of assists each. Allan Ray scored for the Tee Pees, aided by Brian James.

Marc slipped the Canadiens 3-2. Clifford Scott scored two Mac goals, Doug Thompson one, while Lorne Blatchford earned two helpers. Wayne Storms got four assists and Brian Harder helping on one.

Frontenacs clobbered the Bruins 10-3 as led by Ron Mitchell's four-goal effort. Allan Hutchinson, Peter Fleming and Dave Mitchell got one apiece. Wayne Sutherland and Ray Dumbie were the Bruins marksmen, Tom Sheppard getting an assist.

PEEWEE

Barons downed Quinte 8-1 with J. Drummond scoring three goals, Bill Buchanan and Gary Edwards one. Peter Hunt and B. Lettimer had assists. Craig Adams scored for Quinte, aided by Jim Cassin.

Tee Pees and Leafs played to a 3-3 stalemate. John Vance scored two and D. Wiegand one for the Tee Pees. T. Lynch notched a Leaf pair and D. Demers got a goal and assist. Hawkins also had an assist.

Bees trounced the Browns 4-2 with three goals by D. McCormack and one by S. Reid. C. Powell had two assists and D. Roblin one. B. Storms fired both Browns' goals, G. Andrews helping on one.

Bruins copped a 5-1 victory over the Wings. Fred Stickle bagged a goal and two assists while S. Moore had one of each for Bruins. B. Yearwood, D. Rodgers and C. Morton got the other goals, A. Neill and R. Hewson an assist each. Tom Woodburn served the Wings from being shutout.

King of the Hill

Ron Saylor, always a strong contender, came up with the big win that retained the crown, surviving a close contest with Don Elliott this week to run his score to five consecutive weeks.

But with all the big winners, Pat Cole for eight consecutive strikes, worth $60, still remains unclaimed, with the best attempts this week going to Charlie Baker and Ron Saylor, each with five in a row.

Confer With College Coaches

CFL Moguls Meet In NY

By JIM PEACOCK

NEW YORK (CP) — The managers of Canada's nine professional football teams, in New York to do some public relations work among U.S. college football coaches, took stock of a few of their own problems Sunday.

They decided, among other things, to:

1. Recommend to the Canadian Football League that rosters be trimmed to 33—with a maximum of 18 imports—two days before each team's first league game.

2. Refer to the CFL's annual meeting next month in Edmonton the question of the propriety of British Columbia Lions' sharing the spoils of a first-place finish and a conference championship with players and officers on the staff.

3. Sent back to each conference for reconsideration the possibilities of a uniform playoff system in Eastern and Western Conferences.

STUDY SCHEDULE

The Canadian team managers also gave preliminary consideration to a 1964 CFL schedule, but didn't get far with this and were not expected to come to any final arrangement during their sessions here, which continue today.

They are here, along with the league commissioner, Sidney Hall or Winnipeg, and secretary Bob Gillies of Regina, to act as hosts at a CFL buffet dinner tonight for United States college coaches attending the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The dinner will be the sixth put on by the CFL for NCAA coaches in a program that Halter said is intended as a "thank-you to the American coaches for the assistance they have given us in producing so many fine football players who participate in our game."

DISCUSS PROBLEMS

For the last four years, the CFL managers have taken the opportunity of the NCAA gathering to hold private meetings to discuss their own problems. Their decisions are not binding on the CFL, but go as recommendations to the annual meeting. Most can be expected to be adopted, however.

Halter said that the managers decided Sunday they would recommend the roster change, which means that each team will have to trim to 15 imports before their first league game and to 14 imports after their first year, rosters had to be trimmed to 34, including 16 imports, before the first league game, and to 33, including 15 imports, before the fourth league game.

As for the uniform playoff system, Halter said he believed there is little hope of any change, but the matter remains open. At present, the second- and third-place teams in the Eastern Conference meet in a sudden-death semi-final with the winner meeting the first-place team in a two-game total-points final. In the West, the semi-final is a two-game affair, the final of a best-of-three series.

U.S. College Football

NEW YORK (CP-AP) — Ode Burrell; Billy Lothridge and Gene Mingo and the South to a 26-21 victory over the North in the annual Senior Bowl football game at Mobile, Ala., Saturday.

At Corpus Christi, Tex., George Bork, George Byrd and Matt Snell combined to account for 10 touchdowns as the Nationals walloped the Southwest 66-14 in the Challenge Bowl.

And at Honolulu, the North All-Stars slogged to an upset 20-14 victory over South All-Stars in the Hula Bowl, which was played in a tropical downpour.

Burrell, the Mississippi State halfback, scored two touchdowns on short runs for the South. Quarterbacks Mira of Miami and Lothridge of Georgia Tech passed for touchdown each and Lothridge kicked all four extra points.

The South attack was hard pressed to stop a North rally led by Bill Munson of Utah State in the final quarter.

SCORES ODD ONE

Lothridge's touchdown pass came on one of the most unusual plays in Senior Bowl history. The Tech All-America was attempting to score the Senior Bowl's first field goal in the second quarter when his holder, Larry Rakestraw of Georgia, fumbled the snap.

Lothride picked it up and threw a 45-yard pass to end Bill Martin for the South's third touchdown.

Munson led the North from a 26-7 deficit with two touchdown passes in the final quarter and kept the crown on edge with his passing up to the final gun.

Palmer Three Strokes Back
Harney Leads Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Long-hitting Paul Harney surged from far back to take the lead in the third round of the $50,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament Sunday as a ninth-hole jinx again struck Arnold Palmer.

The 34-year-old Harney shot a five-under par 66 for a 54-hole score of 209 in the day's finest round as the leaders going into the third day play faltered. The tournament will end with a fourth round today.

Palmer, with most of a record gallery of 27,000 tagging at his heels, finished with a 72. A two-over-par seven on the ninth almost ruined his afternoon.

It left Palmer just three shots behind Harney, the same margin he faced going into the final round of the 1963 Los Angeles Open which he won by three strokes.

Young Bobby Nichols and veteran Jimmy Clark, two of the three co-leaders going into this third round at the par 36-35—71 Rancho Golf Club, finished with 72s.

ALONE AT 211

Alone at 211 was Jay Hebert, whose 67 ushered him into the fifth spot.

Tied with Palmer at 212 were Al Geiberger, with a 72, and Al Balding of Toronto with a 73.

George Knudson of Toronto with 71-75-75—221 just qualified for remaining par but Al Johnston of Montreal, who had 75-72-75—222, failed to survive the 36-hole cutoff point.

Saturday, Jerry Magee of Toronto and Jack Bissegger of Val Morin, Quebec, fired 74s to join 149 cutoff mark. Magee had 76-75—151 and Bissegger 76-78—154.

Clippers, Barons Tops In A.H.L.

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Baltimore Clippers of the East and Cleveland Barons of the West each collected a pair of victories over the weekend to latch on to a share of first place in their respective divisions in the American Hockey League.

The Clippers shaded Springfield Indians 4-3 Saturday and slipped past Pittsburgh Hornets 5-4 Sunday to tie Hershey Bears with 40 points. The Bears nipped Quebec Aces 3-2 Saturday but were blanked 4-0 by Rochester Americans the following night.

Cleveland's 3-2 Saturday win over Providence Reds and Sunday's 4-1 triumph over Buffalo Bisons deadlocked them with Pittsburgh, both showing 44 points. The Hornets opened their weekend action with a 3-1 win over Buffalo.

The only other game on the schedule saw Providence win-ning over Springfield 5-3, leaving the Reds two points back of Hershey and Baltimore. Quebec trails Providence by one while holding a commanding seven-point margin over the Indians.

The Americans are a good eight points behind the Hornets and Barons while Buffalo is last with 22.

Score Was 8-5
Czechs Defeat Swedes

TORONTO (CP)—The Czechoslovakian national hockey team ended its 14-game exhibition tour of Canada Sunday afternoon by scrambling to an 8-5 win over the Swedish national team in a fast-skating but sometimes sloppy contest here.

Ten players with two goals led the peppy Czechs to the win, giving them a record of five victories, three losses and three ties in their cross-Canada tour.

The Czechs outskated the bigger Swedes and took advantage of defensive lapses to score twice in the first period and three times in the last two periods.

Other Czech goals were scored by Jaroslav Cerny, Josef Golonka; Stanislav Sventek, Jerslav Valne, Jaroslav Holik and Vlastimil Bubnik.

Ulf Sterner and Sven (Tumba) Johansson each scored twice for the Swedes, Sterner's both in the first period and Johansson's in the second and third. Lars-Eric Lundvall added the fifth for Sweden.

Attendance was 2,721 at Maple Leaf Gardens, which has a seating capacity of 13,722. The Czechs drew the smallest of the exhibition tour.

Period scores were 2-2 at the end of the first and 3-3 for the Czechs at the end of the second.

The game was cleanly played with body-checking conspicuous by its absence for fans used to previous meetings of the two teams. The two referees handed out only 10 minor penalties, six of them to the Czechs.

In their series with the Canadian Olympic team, the Czechs won three games, lost two. The Swedes split a two-game series with the Canadian team.

Dolores Del Rio, Now 58, Is Not Fighting Old Age

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The ones who worry about growing old—they are the people who age.

This bit of wisdom comes from Dolores Del Rio, whose classic Latin beauty seems little touched by her 58 years. Her face remains unlined, her figure trim—the attitude toward her work as enthusiastic as a starlet's.

"Oh, there was a time when I worried about growing old," she said. "I was fighting it all the time. But little by little I decided it was no use. Now I am content to be my age. And why shouldn't I? The best roles are written for mature actresses, not young girls."

Miss Del Rio is making one of her periodic returns to Hollywood where she starred for 15 years. This time she is playing an Indian woman in John Ford's big western, Cheyenne Autumn. It marks a return to Warner Brothers, who she was under contract in the 1930s.

REMEMBERS COSTUMES

"I did so many pictures here, but I can remember the names of only a few," she recalled. "There was Madame Dubarry, but I don't remember for the beautiful costumes. And Wonder Bar with Al Jolson, Kay Francis and Dick Powell.

"Most of the others I have forgotten. The memory is kind that way. The pictures were very bad."

Miss Del Rio's Hollywood career goes back to 1926, a vintage year for the star makers.

"A lot of us started in 1926—Joan Crawford, Constance Bennett, Norma Shearer, Gary Cooper," she said. "Those were the days of silents, and I wouldn't speak a word of English. I spoke Spanish and French —because I had been educated in a French convent. All my instructions had to be relayed from the director to an interpreter.

"I did such films as What Price Glory, Ramona and Resurrection speaking Spanish. In Evangeline with four languages, but there was no sound dialogue.

"Then it was in trouble. Sound came in and my English was horrible. I worked for two years with Oliver Hinsdell, a coach MGM had brought out from New York to teach actors diction, and then I was able to get by."

Swiss Wins World Slalom

HINDELAND, Germany (AP) Edmund Bruggmann of Switzerland, starting long after another later and already been congratulated as the winner, won the men's international giant slalom event against the world's best Sunday.

Bruggmann, in the field of 80 skiers from 16 countries, raced down the course in one minute and 58.48 seconds. The 1,850-metre course had 56 gates and a drop of 400 metres.

That was a shade faster than that 1:58.80 by Austria's Egon Zimmermann, who finished in second place after being congratulated as the winner.

Jim Heuga, 20-year-old member of the U.S. Olympic ski team, was third at 1:58.86.

Canadian entries finished well down the list with Roddy Heebron of Vancouver leading in 36th position in 2:08.29.

Hollywood Palace Fine Replacement for Lewis

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The first serious contender in years for Ed Sullivan's position as king of television's vaudeville turned up Saturday night on ABC. The Hollywood Palace as the new series is called, is a vast improvement on the Jerry Lewis program, which it replaced.

ABC sweetened the premier with some big names — Bob Newhart, Mickey Roon y and Bing Crosby as host.

There was an acrobatic team of a father and three young daughters, a dandy magician and some nice singing, including a duet by Bing and his 3-1 boy, Gary.

The most attractive number, however, was the Andre Tehon puppets, little marionettes in nuns habits, which went through some paces close to dancing to the tune of Dominique.

Sullivan on Sunday night CBS show had a trump, however. He showed a tape made in Belgium of the singing Dominican sisters with Soeur Sourire herself playing guitar and singing Dominique, a smash hit record.

The special salute to Jackie Gleason on CBS Saturday night consisted primarily of clips from Gleason movies, television shows and interviews. The most amusing portion showed Gleason as a young drummer boy launching a complicated game show and then the following week carefully explaining it was "the biggest bomb ever laid."

California's 'Mickey' Wright
Woman Athlete Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Kathryn (Mickey) Wright, a tall, blonde girl from California and Texas who possibly plays golf better than any woman in the history of the game, is the Woman Athlete of the Year for 1963.

Miss Wright won this honor in the annual Associated Press poll where she was named by 2,408 sports writers and broadcasters participating in The Associated Press poll were asked to name the athlete deserving the outstanding female athlete but many of them stopped after writing in Miss Wright's name. She received 87 first place votes, 81 seconds and eight thirds out of 534 ballots. On a 3-2-1 point scoring basis, Mickey drew 311 points.

Writers and broadcasters participating in The Associated Press poll were asked to name their choice for the outstanding female athlete but many of them stopped after writing in Miss Wright's name.

Central Pro League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Omaha and St. Louis both registered double victories over the weekend and the Knight's lead over the Braves remained at nine points in the Central Professional Hockey League standings.

Omaha dumped Minneapolis Bruins 3-1 Saturday and easily defeated St. Paul Rangers 4-1 Sunday to push their total to 50 points. The Braves edged the Rangers 4-2 Saturday and whipped Cincinnati Wings 7-3 Sunday to show 41 points.

Minneapolis, with 37 points, has a slim one-point margin over St. Paul. The Wings are 20 points back of the Rangers. A win for the Bruins over Cincinnati at home Wednesday would enable them to open up a three-point edge over St. Paul.

Norm Dennis sandwiched a goal between a pair by Jim Roberts for Omaha's win over the Rangers. Paul Andre's first-period goal gave St. Paul a brief tie.

The Tracks

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage won Santa Anita Park's spring championship Saturday, taking the $59,100 San Carlos Handicap by a length over favored Cyane at the Arcadia, Calif., track.

Time for the seven furlongs was 1:22.

Jockey Braulio Baeza brought the five-year-old Kentucky-bred horse to the front in the stretch after starting near the back of the eight-horse field.

A crowd of 51,009, largest of the winter meeting that began Dec. 26, made Admiral's Voyage the second-money choice at post time.

EARNS $36,000

The victory earned $36,600 for the Hooper stable. Admiral's Voyage paid $13.40, $5.40 and $2.60.

Greentree Stable's Cyrano returned $3.40 and $2.60, and Native Diver $4.20.

At Miami's Tropical Park Arbor View Farm's Morry E. took the lead soon after the start and barely lasted for a victory in the $18,500 Dade Metropolitan Handicap. Morry E. beat fast-closing Sunrise Flight in a photo finish. Tollway, favorite with a crowd of 13,206, was third and Key Issue fourth in the 10-horse field.

Morry E., making his first start since Nov. 22, paid $24, $9.80 and $4.80. Sunrise Flight paid $8.40 and $4.20, while Tollway returned $3.20.

Astrological Forecast

For January 7

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Pace should be slower. Avoid legal, business disputes. Side your time. Permit experience to see your guide — especially in cases or efforts to "sell yourself."

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Gifted individual may offer help. Maintain attitude of acceptance. Don't permit false pride to stand in way of progress. Fine evening for attending club meeting.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Key is service, self-expression. Overcome restless feeling by reaching up on most getting details out of way early. Fine time to utilize capabilities.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Good lunar aspect encourages romance, creative endeavors. Time to make basic changes. Discuss loves. Study programs for advancement. Check details with higher-ups.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): You may bear from "competition." Be charming, diplomatic. But don't commit yourself. Key is maturity, sophistication. Pay heed to needs of family members.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Avoid scattering forces. Make bold, direct proposal. Aim now for the top. There is room for you. Make plain that you intend to receive credit that's due.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): Share spotlight. Resist tendency to over-emphasize objectives. A smile will win over reluctant family member. An argument does the opposite.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Personal cycle high. Level of awareness unpitilled. Be optimistic, confident. Now is time to contact important people. Present ideas for projects. Others are ready to listen."

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Stress originality, independence. Many simply do not want to be bothered with details. You will have to take initiative "on your own." Aid due from unexpected source.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Results due from previous decision. Key is action. Best for you to look both ways. Don't let details be grandeed. They could trip you up!

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Plans will solidify. What appeared nebulous due to become a practical manner. Perform duties with enthusiasm. One who means much to you . . . observes and appreciates.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Recent pressures relieved. More freedom of action due. Outline plans. Check possibility of enrolling in night classes, or of joining group which promotes your interests.

If today is your birthday . . . you are regarded as intriguing and, at times, "mysterious," but actually, you are affectionate. And your standards are sky-high. It is not easy for others to completely understand you.

General Tendencies: Spotlight on Libra and Scorpio. Special word to Taurus: Reach out for new contacts. Make friends realize you are sincere.

"Room 205 should be 'Tweedy.' Go in and see if you can talk him into changing his name."

"It's amazing! She can start criticising my photography in 60 seconds instead of having to wait the usual two days!"

BILL DELINE'S HOME

When Bill Deline had a home built to his specifications on Lot 1 Carlaton, 18 years ago it was with the express purpose of building all the things this successful business man wanted in a home. Because of the way of modern design exactly as he wanted it. Now in the prime of retired health, well to do and broadminded and a mere 40 x 24 recreation room, the envy of the world for entertainment. A garage of course. Now you have a chance to own a home that has been designed with the best in mind by all schools, churches, and downtown.

83 SELINA — this unique Amerikan Elm Bungalow with its charming room sun flooded with a riot of rainbow flowers, is the ideal for the family that likes breathing space.

191 ANN — a solid brick bungalow having 3 bedrooms, one apartment has three bedrooms. Just steps to Public School, bus, high school, churches, and downtown.

Successful Living

Rumor Spreader Causing Havoc in High School Class

DEAR DORIS — There is a certain girl in our high school room who is sexy, selfish, conceited and only out to please the boys. Spreading rumors is her worst habit. They are not only about us but our families.

Although she was not elected to anything in our room, she tries to take over everything. We would like to know what to do. We have tried to help her but nothing works. — TROUBLED TEENS.

DEAR TROUBLED — Ignore the rumors. The boys will soon get her number. DORIS CLARE.

As for taking over, where is the elected president? If those in office learn their jobs well, they can neatly overrule her when she is out of order.

DEAR DORIS — My husband and I just bought a new home and have broadloom on the floors, etc. and are very proud and happy to have it after working hard for it.

Every week my husband's mother comes to spend an evening with him. His clothes and shoes are filthy. He does not give our furniture, carpet or us any consideration as to being clean. I have taught our children to take off their dirty shoes before entering and now they are asking questions about why their uncle does not have to.

How can I teach him to be more considerate? I told my husband I'll tell him but he says if I do he won't come to our house again. This is ruining my furniture and is not good for our children. — ANONYMOUS.

DEAR ANON — You could: (1) Get Hubby to talk to him man to man. (2) Serve your brother-in-law a late snack of something you know he loves. When he admires it say: "When you come next week I'll make your favorite pie, if you're a good boy and help us keep our broadloom clean by wiping your shoes or taking them off!" (3) Train the youngsters to take his coat from him and hang it up as part of your welcome. But be sure they don't see this as a way of correcting their uncle. They'll learn from you, not him.

DEAR DORIS — My folks are poor. I would like to know what I can do to have nice clothes to wear. Can I receive help from the social welfare?

What should I do when I see people talking about my clothes? I wear clean clothes to school but I wear the same ones day after day. — RAGGEDY ANNE.

DEAR ANNE — There art teen-agers who run errands for money, or baby sit, or shovel snow, or help in a store on weekends. There are girls of your age who are handy enough with a needle to make a skirt for that sweater out of a remnant. How about it?

Welfare is not for you, if your father is working.

If you bathe, groom well, keep hair and face clean and cared for, you don't need a cupboard full of clothes. Forget yourself enough to do a friendly act for a schoolmate. Are you sure you don't imagine those whispers?

(Doris can give you a new slant on your dilemma. Write to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for private reply.)

Says Socreds Married to Liberal Govt.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP) John Diefenbaker said Sunday the federal Social Credit group in the House of Commons is "married . . . in bed with the Liberal government.

Mr. Diefenbaker, former prime minister and now opposition leader in Parliament, made the statement in an interview as the train carrying him to a vacation on Vancouver Island stopped in this southeastern Alberta city.

"As far as the Thompson (Robert Thomson, National Social Credit party leader and member for Red Deer) party is concerned," Mr. Diefenbaker said, "they seem to be married not in body but actually in soul with the government and having decided to support the government through thick and thin, regardless of what the circumstances may be."

The opposition leader made the comment in reply to a question whether he expects an early general election.

"I don't know," he said, "that will depend a great deal on the attitude taken by the Social Credit and other opposition parties. . . . "Naturally I have no predictions to make."

IGNORE POPE

MOSCOW—The Soviet press and radio so far has made no mention of Pope Paul's pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Only the English-language service of the Tass news agency—for distribution abroad — reported from Rome on the Pope's departure Saturday.

THE POINT IS ADENAUER IS 88 YEARS OLD — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, left, points a finger in direction of his predecessor, Konrad Adenauer, right, as the latter celebrates his 88th birthday in Bonn. Adenauer retired last October as chancellor after 14 years in office. He commented that an 88th birth-day is a serious day in a man's life.

2nd Sidney

A.N.A.F. Weekly News

Upwards of one hundred couples were on hand to greet the young New Year and say farewell to the old in the gaily decorated ballroom of Unit 201 on Front St. It was, as promised, the biggest and best yet and the comrades and their guests certainly enjoyed every minute of the gala ball.

The main clubroom on the ground floor was reserved for the dancing, while the auditorium was available for those who wished to relax and visit with their friends in comparative peace.

The Ladies' Auxiliary really excelled themselves in the bounteous buffet lunch that they served. President Marion Dracup and her gracious ladies are certainly deserving of all the compliments that were passed about the lunch and there were certainly plenty of them. That grand old comrade Charlotte Clark, was with the ladies to celebrate once again the advent of a new year. It was her eighty-sixth birthday and, as usual, she was the senior member at this festive occasion and one of the most welcome.

Around midnight, at a given signal over the microphone, all lights were released from the ceiling and as it had been rumored that there were prizes for quite a number of them, for awhile it sounded like the opening barrage on Vimy Ridge on the first morning of the duck season.

Among those who won prizes, was that charming couple, Mr. and Mrs. Brodie in a spot dance, the husband remarking that all he needed now to complete the accessories for his prize was a portable bar. The door prize, donated by a member, who wishes to remain anonymous, was a very lovely and elegant hair drier and the Vern Whittles were the lucky recipients and the lady was very pleased with the gift.

The president, house chairman, beverage chairman and the entertainment chairman wish to express their great appreciation to the Ladies' Auxiliary and members who worked so hard to help make the affair the huge success it was and were delighted that such a good time was had by all. The next very important date is Thursday, so that is the night that the members elect their new executive for 1964 and install them. The president sincerely hopes that the comrades will make every effort to turn out.

Notification of meeting cards will be sent out and the membership chairman asks that every member who does not receive one will notify either the steward's or any member of the executive and it would be appreciated if you would give them your name and address. Many of the members have moved and their new address is not on the roster yet, while others have had their names on the roster at all. Thanks for this co-operation.

It is very good to see that Comrade Ab Brenton was able to come down and help us welcome in the New Year. His wife and he sat on the sidelines, quietly enjoying the company with happy smiles for everyone.

The Sick Chairman reports the following members are still in hospital: Elgin Crawford No. 224, Elmer Scott No. 235, and Frankish No. 340, and Gerry Percy No. 207. They were all looked after over the New Year. The members were pleased to see Bob Totten was able to leave hospital.

On Saturday afternoon there was a very pleasant interlude in the clubroom. A very big birthday cake was escorted into the club and set up in a place of honor and Cpl. Ralph Hodgson was invited to cut it. It was the occasion of his eighty-sixth birthday and he invited the members to enjoy the cake with him and it was eaten to the last piece. Numerous wishes for the future were extended him from all sides and everyone felt a little better for this delightful interlude.

Just one date to remember at present and that is the general meeting night when the new slate of officers will be elected and installed. The advance polls, for those unable to attend because of their employment, will be from 12:00 Wednesday until 6.30 p.m. Thursday. It is hoped a representative will be on hand for the election itself and make it a real contest.

It is a very enjoyable experience writing this weekly news and-it is hoped that it has helped the readers to pass a few pleasant minutes reading it and that it has been informative as well as interesting. After Thursday a new year starts for the club and there will be new slates of committees elected including publicity. He may rest assured that he has helped the readers if he is on request. So until next week when once again it will be a pleasure to give the comrades whatever news is available a very Happy New Year to all.

Frankford

FRANKFORD—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pierak are holidaying with New Year's guests with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pavlica and family of Toronto.

26 Fatalities Across Canada During Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Weekend accidents in Canada claimed at least 26 lives, 22 of them in traffic mishaps.

There also were two accidental shootings, a drowning and the death of a boy in Alberta when he was attacked by five sled dogs.

Quebec led all provinces with seven fatalities—six on the road and one shooting—in a Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times.

Alberta and Ontario followed with six deaths each. In Ontario, they were all traffic mishaps.

The survey does not include slayings, known suicides or industrial deaths.

ONTARIO DEAD

Sunday

Wilfred Raymond Nyers, 19, Injuries suffered Friday in traffic accident.

Saturday

William James Gray, 68, Oshawa, when his car rolled on Highway 401.

Mrs. Ralph Becker, 19, and daughter Wendy, 2, in car-train collision near Barden.

Mrs. Margaret Alvey, 58, Madoc, in two-car collision near Belleville.

Robert van Fleet, 37, Wallford, when his car collided with a transport truck near Espanola.

How Green Is His Valley --It Sprouted Mazooma

By DOU GMARSHALL

CARDIFF, Wales (CP) — Larry Ryan, as all south Wales knows, is "that Canadian lumberjack who made a million out of muck."

Back in 1947 the burly, 49-year - old Newfoundlander paddled over the dreary tips or slag heaps that had turned Glamorgamshire's green valleys grey and decided they contained a fortune in coal.

Waishmen have been hicking themselves ever since.

Today Ryan figures he is worth something between $12,-000,000 and $15,000,000." That makes him the fourth richest Canadian in Britain after the "trio of tycoons" — baker Garfield Weston and publishers Roy Thomson and Lord Beaverbrook.

Ryan is no boardroom tycoon. Clad in an old windbreaker and rubber boots—everybody's private image of a true backwoodsman — he spends eight to 10 hours a day in the field helping a foreman's eye on operations and often driving bull - dozers himself.

"I don't want anyone to take the shovel away from me," he says. "I like work and I know about coal and I want it to go on that way."

RARELY IN OFFICE

Hired managers tend the executive side of his diversified business. Such now includes contracting and road haulage, and the boss himself is never in the office more than a few hours a week.

Ryan is a down - to - earth, blunt - talking member of the new rich. But this coats him no loss of respect in an area where some of old rich are left and ordinary miners see nothing unusual in forming a bunt and riding in bounds.

In fact his alchemistic success in turning dross to gold has fired the imagination of this tough industrial hinterland where expansion has been hindered by memories of the depression and 50-per-cent unemployment.

The Welsh, who revere poets and rugby players, see Ryan as a sort of champion quarterback of industry or a Dylan Thomas of the tip heaps.

But their admiration is tinged with chagrin. Everybody knew there was good coal mixed with the abandoned slag. Most adults can remember scrabbling for it in the cold 1930s for enough fuel to keep family hearths warm.

BIRTH OF IDEA

Yet it took Ryan, an inexperienced foreigner, to perceive that the coal could be extracted on a commercial scale and sold at a high profit for burning in modern steam-powered electrical generating plants.

Few men can point to a moment in time and say "that is where it all began." Ryan believes it was the knowledge of rivers gained during his early logging experience that gave him the key to his extraction process.

He was born in Port Saunders, a village north of Corner Brook, and began lumberjacking at 15. He came to Britain in 1940 with the Newfoundland Forestry Corps and settled down after the war in Cardiff with his Welsh wife.

His interest in coal began when he started shovelling coal sludge from river, banks into barges. On his first day out he loaded 70 tons in 12 hours working stripped to the waist in a December wind.

TIED UP SLAG

"I remember looking up once and seeing my under shirt frozen to the side of the barge. I had an advantage over my rivals. I was in peak condition and could throw a shovelful farther than anybody else."

Ryan soon realized that the natural process by which coal-ay sludge filtered up through the river mud could be reproduced artificially. He sold the idea to a bank, raised some capital and had 30 years' supply of apparently worthless slag tied up before anybody knew what had happened.

He now has leases on or owns freehold most of the major slag heaps in south Wales. His biggest coup came early last year when he purchased a lease on a tip heap for £10,000.

"The fellow was asking £30,-000 but I waved the cheque under his nose and he soon gave in. I figure there's £10,000,000 worth of coal in that tip and after my costs and overhead have been covered I'll have a clear profit of £4,000,000."

Ryan deals directly with the Central Electricity Generating Board, by-passing the National Coal Board, and his delivered price of 65 shillings a ton is 15 shillings cheaper than the NBC's product.

BRIGHT FUTURE

With nuclear power stations still a long way in the future and an economic depression, Ryan sees nothing but expansion ahead. Business circles agree with him. When L. Ryan Holdings Ltd. opened for business on the Cardiff stock market the shilling ordinary shares closed on the first day at more than 44 shillings.

Although still a Canadian citizen—his father was born in Ottawa—Ryan has no plans for returning to Canada. Eventually he hopes one of his five sons will take over the business. He also has two daughters.

The family live in a redecorated mock-Tudor mansion on the hills behind Cardiff. Ryan is essentially a family man who entertains rarely and would rather talk about teething problems than politics.

He plays an occasional round of golf with a close business friend but is shy when mixing with his financial peers.

His two material luxuries are a maroon Rolls-Royce, which he drives himself, and a 60 - foot launch moored on the nearby Bristol Channel.

U. of N. B. Takes Distance Running Lessons by Mail

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Correspondence courses include just about everything, but who ever heard of taking distance running lessons through the mail?

Chris Williamson, a 19-year-old University of New Brunswick student—that's who.

Williamson, who specializes in the two and three miles, receives his training instructions by mail or telephone from Toronto's Don Clark Track Club.

In a letter to Fred Foot, coach of the club, Williamson told himself and was invited to join the club's runners in Toronto last summer. He created something of a sensation when he cracked the Canadian junior two-mile record at Waterloo, Ont. The mark has been set by Bruce Kidd, another member of the same club.

Later Williamson defeated Kidd in an international race at the Canadian National Exhibition Labor Day meet in Toronto, before returning to New Brunswick.

City and country students alike should be taught something about agriculture, says Edward Dalgliesh of St. Margaret, Man., past-president of the Manitoba School Trustees Association.

"Most schoolkids don't know at what end to milk a cow," he told a trustees' convention. "I want my children to be educated so they will return to the farm. City students should be taught agriculture as well, so they'll be able to understand people in rural areas."

The only Canadian in the international-style famous Columbus Boys' School Choir of Princeton, N.J., is a young New Brunswick boy, 14 - year - old Mark Leonard of Fredericton.

Chosen at a private audition in Fredericton last year to join the 70-voice choir, he was one of 10 from the group who appeared in A City of Angels, an hour - long television show in mid - December depicting the life of the composer Handel. And he sang with the 50 members of the school's touring choir on a nationally televised Christmas Eve program from New York.

Donald Bryan, director of the choir, has described Mark's as a remarkable talent, and the boy's father says he plans to pursue a musical career after he leaves the choir at the end of this school year.

Student pranks at the University of Waterloo have just about disappeared since House-Hon-Jet, a German shepherd dog, was brought in to help police the 1,200-acre campus last year. Jet is treated with utmost respect by the students as he walks the campus warning his masters of anything suspicious. McMaster University in Hamilton has followed Waterloo's example, acquiring a police dog.

Old One-Armed Bandit Still Paying the Rent

By DAVID FARRER

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Las Vegas is famous as a centre for roulette, blackjack, craps baccarat and other exotic and risky pastimes. But the really busy of the gamblers' rent is the lowly slot machine.

Las Vegas and surrounding Clark County, with nearly 10,000 slot machines, is the undisputed one-armed-bandit capital of the world.

Slot machines now are against the law in San Francisco, where they were believed invented by a mechanic named Charles Fey in 1895.

Las Vegas rakes in about $36,-000,000 a year in gross winnings from slot machines. The gaudy metallic money-eaters are the bread - and - butter money-winners, and here's why:

In all of Nevada, such varied enterpreneurs as casinos, grocery stores and airports grossed $87,000,000 on slot machines in 1952. This was out of $675,000,000 in coins taken in the machines.

Craps brought the casinos a big gross—$77,000,000. But they had to handle $3,080,000,000 to come up with that.

The owners took an average of 12 per cent of the money plunked into slot machines, which ough to about 25 per cent of the gamblers' annual gross winnings.

ATTRACT PEOPLE

If slot machine victims pay the rent, what do they bother to play against machines they can't beat? Ben Goffstein, fan-ager of the Pioneer Club in downtown Las Vegas, tells why:

"Slot machines have a psychological appeal. They're simple to play. They draw people who don't understand 21, or the chance of getting something back."

There are screams of joy when a slot machine pays off from five cents to $5,000. Some machines offer $10,000 for two simultaneous jackpots on two $1 machines. The odds against this are only 64,000,000 to one.

Inventor Fey whomped up the classic Liberty Bell slot machine so that busy bartenders wouldn't have to shake dice with customers or drinks.

The Liberty Bell offered up to 10 free drinks. It paid off in nickels.

IMPROVED MACHINE

Then, about 1907, Herbert S. Mills of Chicago came along with an improvement—for slot owners. His machine had a big-gur window, showing three rows or symbols at a time.

This let the hopeful player see that the combination he wanted had stopped just above or below the pay line.

Ever wonder how slot machines work? Basically, they all nibble nickels, dimes, quarters, half-dollars or "cartwheels" the same way. (A penny machine is a rarity, as is a left-handed slot.)

You put in your coin and that unlocks the hand lever. Pull the lever, and the three wheels spin. Then a clutch at the end of each wheel lets the wheels whirl for a couple of seconds.

Then a lever hovers over a set of notches for each wheel, ask- drops into one of them, stopping the wheel in a certain symbol. The wheels click to a halt one at a time, left to right.

Slot machines are legal in five states—Nevada, Maryland with regulations, Idaho by local option and Montana and Washington in private clubs.

The machines cost from $650 to $1,200, but they can be bought for less only in states where they are legal. In Nevada, various governments tax them to the tune of $400 each a year.

STATE'S TAKE

But the state's 20,000 slot gross $4,050 each annually.

Many Las Vegas slots are set to keep about 2% or 30 per cent of the coins fed them. The big downtown "slot supermarkets" have more liberal machines.

They give back all but 10 or 15 of every 100 coins.

Interested in the odds against you? Here's one calculation: A three-wheel slot has 20 symbols on each wheel. If there are two bars on each of the first two wheels and one on the third, it's a 2,000-to-one shot against getting you a jackpot on three bars. Las Vegas slots don't pay only the big jackpots. They dish out a certain number of coins that also follow certain conditions. You may get 18 coins for two bells and a bar, and so on.

Helping to move the goods that mean so much to so many Canadians is an every-day service of the chartered banks. Manufacturers, producers and shippers increasingly use the local bank—not only to help finance the movement of goods in and out of the country but for assistance in overcoming problems of distance, currency and regulation.

Today the chartered banks are able, through their network of branches across Canada and their foreign branches, agents and representatives, to provide traders and travellers with the facilities of one of the world's largest international banking systems. This world of service is available to customers of any branch in any town or city. It provides quick business communications, speeds delivery of goods, helps Canadian companies to compete in markets everywhere.

Pope Reported Working On First Encyclical

Million Romans Welcome Pontiff Home

CP from AP-Reuters

VATICAN CITY—Pope Paul returned to his Vatican desk today after his historic Holy Land pilgrimage and began work on the first encyclical of his seven-month reign.

The 66-year-old pontiff, who shattered Roman Catholic precedent with his flying pilgrimage, was said to have in mind an entirely new type of encyclical devoted to scientific and technological research.

Informants said experts would help draw up the encyclical timed apparently to coincide with the 400th anniversary this year of the birth of Galileo Galilei, 16th-century Italian astronomer and experimental philosopher.

Galileo was condemned by the Roman Catholic hierarchy for his theories on the solar system. Examined by the Inquisition under threat of torture, he recanted and spent the remainder of his life in partial custody.

Past encyclicals have touched on controversial issues only in passing. The last, Pope John's Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth) last April, cited the potential benefits of science but it dwelt also on disarmament, world unity and a number of other matters.

Encyclical letters are usually addressed to the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church and generally pertain to Catholic teaching and social problems. Pope John's final letter contained an unprecedented greeting to "all men of goodwill"—Catholics and non-Catholics as well.

SPECULATE ON MORE TRIPS

In the wake of Pope Paul's resounding welcome home by more than 1,000,000 cheering Romans, his trip continued to generate speculation of more travel abroad.

Indian sources said previously the pontiff has accepted an invitation to visit India and it's all fall for an international eucharistic congress. There also is a standing invitation, extended earlier to Pius XII and John XXIII, to visit the shrine of Mary at Lourdes, France.

There also is talk of a trip to Portugal which Pope Paul visited in 1962 while a cardinal.

The pontiff appeared deeply moved by the tremendous reclaim Rome gave him after his 62-hour absence during which he

Deductions To Be Made This Month

OTTAWA (CP)—About 6,500,000 Canadians will find an extra 20 to 60 cents a week deducted from their pay cheques starting this month.

Employers have been instructed by the national revenue department to make the extra deduction as a result of the Jan. 1 increase in the old age security tax paid by individuals.

Parliament approved the tax increase last fall to finance the $10 increase to $75 monthly in the old age pension, payable to everyone at age 70. The higher pensions began last October.

The tax increase was to four per cent, from three, in the old age security tax which is applied to the first $5,000 of an individual's taxable income. The yearly maximum tax was raised to $120 from $90.

By law, all employers have to deduct income tax from their employees' pay cheques on a weekly, twice-monthly, monthly or annual basis—however their employees are paid. Tax deducted in one month has to be paid to the national revenue department by the 15th of the next month.

HINT FIX FORM

After the year-end, the employer has to prepare a summary of the income and deductions for each employee and send it to the national revenue department—the deadline is the last day of February. The employer also gives each employee the familiar T4 slip.

Taxpayers use the income and deduction figures shown on the T4 slip to calculate their tax. If they owe less tax than the employer deducted over the year, they get a government refund. If they owe more, they have to pay the government the difference.

Employers make the deductions on the basis of each employee's formal declaration of personal income tax exemptions —made on the TD1 form. The deduction also assumes that the employee's salary for the next 62-hour absence during which he

Sukarno Seeks Help of Philippines For His Campaign Against Malaysia

MANILA (Reuters) — President Sukarno of Indonesia flew into Manila today — and two newspapers reported telephone threats to assassinate him.

Sukarno, here for high-level talks which observers believed could have a major effect on the future of British - backed Malaysia federation, landed two hours and 30 minutes late from Jakarta, setting off a wave of rumors.

Two jet fighters and a reasco plane rushed out to check reports that Sukarno's private jetliner had cracked up in the ocean 100 miles from this capital.

The two newspapers said an unidentified man telephoned them, threatening to murder the Indonesian leader during his five - day "working vacation" here.

Indonesian Foreign Minister Subandrio, who accompanied Sukarno, told reporters after their arrival that security precautions against the British forced the plans to make a lengthy detour through East Indonesia.

Subandrio said the aircraft landed for an hour at Macapati field in central Java.

Earlier, it was reported in Jakarta that Sukarno made a last-minute switch of planes for "security reasons" before leaving for Manila. He took off from Halim Air Force Base outside Jakarta instead of leaving from the capital's Kemajoran Airport where government officials and foreign diplomats had gathered to see him off.

Sukarno in his talks with Philippines President Diosdado Macapagal beginning Wednesday is expected to urge the Philippines to join his "confrontation" of Malaysia.

Meanwhile, it was understood that Britain had appealed to Macapagal to use his influence to try to moderate Indonesian policy toward Malaysia.

While Sukarno was vowed to smash Malaysia, his foreign minister told reporters the two presidents will try to find some way out of this impasse.

"We are not warmongers," Subandrio said.

Although the Philippines refuses to recognize the British-sponsored federation because of its claim on the Malaysian state of Sabah, Macapagal has been trying to steer a middle Indonesian hopes of mediating between them.

Sukarno also wants increased trade with the Philippines to make up for losses resulting from his economic boycott of Malaysia, aimed chiefly at its principal port, Singapore.

Before Sukarno arrived, Vice-President Emmanuel Pelaez told reporters he did not believe the Indonesian leader's visit would make it appear the Philippines was condoning Indonesia's policy of "confrontation" against Malaysia.

"This," he added, "is a friendly visit between the heads of two friendly nations. Questions, who will try to find a solution to problems of security in the area."

Medicare Plan Attacked

By CARL MOLLINS

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario government plan for medical care insurance came under heavy attack today from provincial social workers on the ground that it does not achieve the government's avowed aim of universal, adequate coverage.

"In our opinion the proposed legislation does not provide a significant stage toward the achievement of adequate health services for the people of Ontario, nor is it designed as part of a comprehensive plan," said the Ontario Association of Social Workers in a brief to the government-appointed Medical Services Insurance Inquiry.

The association of more than 1,000 professional social workers criticized draft legislation because of "definite weaknesses and limitations" that would likely prove costly cumbersome and virtually useless in greatly extending protection against medical expense.

COMMITTEE ESTABLISHED

The legislation, introduced by the government last April, is under examination by the 18-member inquiry committee appointed by Premier Robarts to advise "how to provide the best medical services insurance plan ... that will be universally available to all."

The draft act, Bill 161, provides for both commercial and non-profit insurers to offer standard protection plans under maximum premiums which have not yet been set. The government has said it would pay the premiums of an estimated 30 per cent of the population who now receive public welfare assistance and meet part of the premiums of another group to be identified possibly by an income means test.

SUGGEST TAX FINANCING

The social workers called for "comprehensive, truly universal health service that would eventually, if not at once, be a government - administered plan financed from taxes. The brief also called for a change in regulations to include representatives of the consumers in policy making and administration.

The brief, noting that the publicly assisted segment of the population already receives free medical care, said the suggested means test to provide partial help for others would not necessarily discover those in real need.

"It is the low and moderate income family or individual not dependent on public welfare

Labor Tries to Blister Ulster For Lenient View About Fraud

LONDON (CP)—The case of the "smelly smell from Ulster" may come up in the British House of Commons next week.

Labor members of Parliament say they are trying to table a question concerning use of British exchequer funds supplied to the Northern Ireland government. The Commons reassembles next Tuesday after the holiday recess.

The prime minister of Northern Ireland, Capt. Terence O'Neill, announced last week that a parliamentary committee will make an inquiry into the affairs of Secondary Industries of Northern Ireland.

Two company officials, Leslie Williams and Richard Wilson, earlier pleaded guilty in Belfast to defrauding the Northern Ireland government of commissions. They were given three years in which to pay back a total of £30,000 ($80,000) received by government aid.

Announcement of the parliamentary investigation came after the London magazine Newsday Thursday published an article headed A Navy Smell From Ulster, referred scornfully to what it described as Ulster's difficulty in accepting "British standards of public propriety."

The New Statesman noted that the directors had pleaded guilty to defrauding the commerce ministry of £34,438 by claims for non-existent machinery and of attempting to obtain a further £3,438 by similar means. Other money also was involved.

"As a rule, the Ulster authorities take a serious view of fraud. On the same day, a clerk who had defrauded his employers of £140, and who had surrendered voluntarily, was sent to prison for nine months.

"But in this case the court decided to be merciful. The two men were fined £500 each and sent to prison for three months."

The Manchester Guardian, discussing the possibility of action by the Parliament in Westminister, says the "Seemsp affair" may result in a review of financial relations between the two governments.

Labor Launches Support For National Pension Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Organized labor is planning an all-out drive next month in support of a national pension plan to augment the present $75-a-month old age pension.

The Canadian Labor Congress will co-ordinate the campaign in all sections of the country, where the Quebec Federation of Labor will be left to support the Quebec government's own version of a pension scheme.

CLC President Claude Jodoin said in a statement Monday that a detailed program is being mapped out to enlist the co-operation of all sections of the labor movement behind the campaign.

The 1,080,000-member CLC is staging its pension promotion as its main endeavour during February—the month set aside by trade unionists as Citizenship Month. The idea of such a month was first launched last year and is being developed as an annual labor "tradition."

During the month, trade union officers in the 6,000 local unions affiliated with the CLC across Canada will be expected to use every means of promotion and persuasion at their disposal to foster support for a federal pension plan.

The CLC will provide script for radio, slide and TV programs, proposed texts for newspaper advertisements, leaflets and posters.

More than 200,000 postcards will be delivered across the country, addressed to pension members. Local unions will be asked to round up signatures on the cards supporting a national pension scheme and to help mail them to their Members of Parliament and provincial legislatures.

A drive will be launched to get more than 100,000 names on a petition favoring pension for all. The petition is to be delivered to the federal government in March.

In announcing the program, Mr. Jodoin said pensions now represent one of the weakest areas in social legislation.

"There is need for improvement in the basic old age pensions," he said. "At the same time there is need for a broader contributory and portable plan enabling workers to carry benefits from job to job and providing new opportunities for other groups, particularly farmers."

Pearson Seeks European View On Tariff Cuts

Will Query de Gaulle About 'Kennedy Round'

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson's visit to President de Gaulle next week may give Canada a clear idea of the line the six-nation European Economic Community will take at the "Kennedy round" of tariff-cut negotiations next spring.

Informants here say the current impression is that the EEC countries favored the, way late last month for substantial progress in removing barriers on international trade among members of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

This impression stems from agreement between France and Germany on an agricultural policy to apply to the EEC Common Market which includes those two nations, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Italy.

France had wanted the agricultural policy settled along the lines of free movement of agricultural products within the Common Market.

In bargaining, Germany wanted prior French agreement that the EEC nations' approach to the Kennedy round should be "outward looking" — a willingness to go along with general international reductions in trade barriers rather than a desire to insulate the EEC behind the Common Market tariff wall.

APPEAR HOPEFUL

Since Canadian authorities appear optimistic about the prospects for the Kennedy round, both objectives may have been achieved by the December agreement, at least in part.

At the Kennedy round, Canada will be pressing for a sizable reduction in trade barriers particularly non - tariff restrictions on agricultural products. The United States also has indicated it will insist on barriers to agricultural products be included in steps toward free trade among GATT countries.

The two leaders are expected to exchange views on the current review of North Atlantic Treaty Organization strategy involving the whole future of the Western alliance.

Canada has already served notice on the alliance that this country should have a new kind of contribution to defence spelled out in more detail in a defence white paper in Parliament this spring.

Mr. Pearson has said this policy would require a lesser number of men in the Canadian armed forces in Europe but would be equipped for a nuclear-carrying role. This was in contrast to what is in France is at present unable to fulfil this role because of French objections to providing it clear weapons on French soil.

Militia Cutback Opposed

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The assemblee of militia officers which will preside over the partial dismemberment of the militia likely will be appointed late this month, authorities say.

But not before the militia, as represented by the Conference of Defence Associations, meets here Jan. 16-18 to take an expected verbal swipe at Defence Minister Hellyer's Dec. 5 announcement of a reduction in the reserve army to 30,000 men from 51,000.

Chairman of the conference will be Lt.-Col. LeSuer Brodie of Toronto. The meeting, as usual, will be private.

Mr. Hellyer said a select group of militia officers would be asked to examine a major reorganization of the militia and make recommendations on the best way to carry it out.

Informed sources said it will be extremely difficult for these officers to make recommendations which will result in the carving up of their commands.

SAVE INFLUENCE

They also said Mr. Hellyer may have a tiger by the tail because the militia, especially the "socialite" regimental associations of big centres like Toronto, wields considerable political influence.

Mr. Hellyer, however, is said to be determined to go through with the reorganization.

One source said some 5,000 members of the militia are now classed as non-effectives—that is, their names appear on the mail-call but they seldom turn out for training.

This source said the army chief of staff, Gen. Allard, achieved more effective militia with 30,000 dedicated members than with the present strength.

The reorganization will necessitate changes in survival operations, the main role of the militia. The reserve army formed the core of the organized 210 mobile reserve columns.

More than 70,000 men were given special survival training in winter of 1961-62 at a cost of $27,815,000. This training now will be largely lost to the militia.

SCRAP AREAS

Authorities also said the 16 target area headquarters designed to direct rescue operations have been scrapped. Such operations would be directed instead from regular army commands across the country.

Target area headquarters included Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Windsor, Oni., and Niagara Falls.

May Send Canadians To Norway

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The possible transfer of the 6,500-man Canadian infantry brigade in West Germany to Norway is being canvassed in high NATO circles, an informed source said Monday.

The object of such a move would be more political than military, it was indicated. And any such transfer would mean that the brigade would have to give up its nuclear role.

Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday night that Canada's future military roles will require a "diminution" in nuclear arms.

In current review of NATO strategy, the United States is expected to be pressing its European partners for greater participation in conventional defence. This includes increasing available bases and installations for NATO forces.

BAN WEAPONS

Norway and Denmark, both members of NATO, have not permitted foreign troops or nuclear weapons on their soil.

In the meantime, NATO has been running short of troops in West Germany for the training of ground and air forces.

"It is understood that Norway has informed NATO it would have less objection to the presence of Canadian troops than to forces of any other NATO country."

The source was asked what that Canadian brigade could do in Norway that the Norwegians couldn't do for themselves.

The reply: "What does the brigade do in West Germany that the Germans couldn't do for themselves?"

MORE A SYMBOL

It has been recognized for some years that the Canadian brigade now is designed mainly as the physical embodiment of Canada's political support for the European members of NATO.

At the same time, the military here still feel that the only logical position for the brigade is on the Central Front, its main avenue for any Soviet assault.

But the military are also saying that Canada can't be expected to keep the brigade in Europe forever, regardless of the political developments in 1964 which would make possible with-

'Nonsense' Norway Says of Report It May Accept Canadian Troops

OSLO (AP) — A Norwegian government spokesman today termed as "utter nonsense" a report from Ottawa that the possible transfer of a Canadian infantry brigade from West Germany to Norway is being discussed in high NATO circles.

This was in comment from foreign ministry press service chief Tor Myklebost to the report.

A defence department spokesman also claimed that his department has been informed of any such discussions, as did Norwegian defence chief Vice-Admiral Pollar Haug. Former Canadian defence minister Brooks Pennesen and the northern European headquarters of NATO at Kolsas declined comment.

None of the spokesmen knew anything either about anybody having in forma d NATO it (Norway) would have less objection to the presence of Canadian troops than to forces of any other NATO country," as the Ottawa report said.

Admiral Hasser Johannessen is added, however, that "the ability to make large-scale troop movements quickly between any 2 countries within the alliance is an integral part of the NATO training program."

A defence department source also said that there is a possibility that the report may be a mixup with the NATO exercise Northern Express planned for June and when elements of the continental NATO fire brigade will be shifted to Norway.

"This would not, however, be a question of more than three battalions, and they would come from more than one country," the source said.

"Also, they would only be here for the period of the exercise, the first half of June.

"No decision has been made so far which nations are going to supply these troops. I suppose there will be some elements from the Canadian brigade in Germany should not be considered."

The Oslo newspaper Dagbladet said, however, that "the only intention (of the report) must be to influence public opinion in Norway towards a change in the traditional policy on bases."

Norway made it a condition for joining NATO that it would not accept foreign troops on Norwegian soil in peace time.

Fines Ordered To Be Paid Immediately

For driving a car he bought from a wrecker, 54-year-old Clarence Allan Eastman will serve 30 days in jail.

When stopped by city police he was found to have no driver's licence, or insurance and had failed to register the transfer of ownership.

Eastman, who was working a woodlot near Frankford, said he was driving the car into Belleville for repairs when he was stopped.

"The public knows there are serious laws about the operation of a motor vehicle", said Magistrate T. Y. Wills. "If for the sake of a few dollars he chooses to defy the law . . . he will just have to pay for it."

He levied fines and costs of $13.50 on the traffic fa'ure charge, $28.50 for having no licence and $53.50 on the insurance count.

Eastman asked for two days to pay the fines, but deputy chief J. Clark Hawes said police had not satisfactorily ascertained the accused residence.

"If you let him go now you will never see him again," said the magistrate.

He then ordered the fines paid immediately and added alternate jail sentences amounting to 30 days.

Council, Civic Officials Guests Of Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Belleville played host to the city fathers at their regular dinner meeting on Monday at the Hotel Quinte.

The council members, department heads and other officials of the city's government were introduced to the club by His Worship the Mayor, Jack R. Ellis.

Mayor Ellis was introduced to the group by ex-mayor, A. M. Haig. Mr. Haig spoke very highly of Mayor Ellis and recalled the presentation, which had been made to him by His Worship at the inauguration of council on Monday morning.

In his brief remarks to the club Mayor Ellis said he was deeply touched by the fact that two ex-mayors had taken part in the council session early. He said he was very grateful to Monsignor Sullivan and Rev. R. G. Flemming.

His Worship went on to discuss the new municipal elections act, passed by the province of Ontario which would give the commission authority to do certain things to enliven industry in our city. The Mayor said he had given the matter a great deal of research and said he felt such a commission is needed.

Those representing council at the meeting included Mayor Ellis, councillors Jack Allin, Ross Bailey, Jack Clarke, Enos David, John Deacon, Frank Murray, Joseph Raycroft, Eugene Harrison, Donald Joss, Douglas Boyle, William E. Jarvah, Donald Whalen and Donald Williams. Alderman G. Wishart was unable to attend due to ill health.

Also present were Fire Chief Gerald Vance and Police Chief J. R. McLauchlan as well as other city officials from the city.

Guests and visiting Rotarians were introduced by Rotarian D. McKinnon. A banner was presented to chairman Dr. J. Marshall by Rotarian Jim Marker. The banner was from Dayton, Ohio.

BARRED BY ICE

HALIFAX (CP) — Turned back by St. Lawrence River ice in a bid to reach Trois-Rivieres, Que., Capt. Kenneth Elkins of the British grain ship Beech Hill brought his 7,150-ton ship here during the weekend to load grain for the Soviet Union. Capt. Elkins, of London, Eng., said river ice jammed his freighter and pushed her 20 miles downstream in one hazardous night.

Laying Cable To Control Swing Span

Today was cable laying day for the new control circuits which next summer will control the operation of the swing span of the bay bridge between Belleville and Rossmore.

Extra control circuits had been built into the original cable when it was installed years ago but action of the elements had put all but one out of action and the new cable was found necessary.

Preparations for laying the 400 feet of multiple circuit cable were made last fall but the bay froze over too quickly and the installers had to wait until mild weather re-opened the channel at the bridge.

Installation of the cable is being done by Roland Belanger (Acme Electric) Camnilton Road.

15 Divorce Actions Will Be Heard

Once again, divorce petitions make up the bulk of cases to be heard when the Ontario Supreme Court assizes in Belleville next week.

Of the 29 cases to be heard before Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly, 15 are divorce actions.

This maintains the court record of recent years where divorces have headed the list.

Damages arising from automobile accidents make up most of the remainder of the assizes — 12 cases in all to be heard before His Lordship.

The assizes open at 2:00 p.m. Monday.

Bench Warrant Issued for Kingston Man

A warrant was issued yesterday in Belleville for a Kingston man who failed to show for his trial on an indecent assault charge.

David Ivan Roberts was charged more than a year ago and was committed last fall to stand trial. He was placed on $100 cash bail.

Yesterday, when the trial opened before Judge J. C. Anderson, Roberts did not appear.

Judge Anderson issued the warrant for the accused's arrest but reserved a decision on forfeiture of the bail.

Mayor's Office Moved Back To Second Floor

After being on the first floor for several years, the mayor's office at city hall this year has been moved back to its former second floor location.

The former mayor A. M. Haig was head of council his office was moved downstairs out of consideration for his health which precluded him climbing stairs any more than necessary and at the same time the city manager took over the mayor's former office.

Now the situation is reversed with Mayor Ellis taking over the office originally intended for the council head and City Manager J. R. Reynolds has moved downstairs.

Painters Planning Centennial Project

A number of Belleville painters are planning a public meeting in the Library at 7.30 on Monday, January 20, with a view to organizing a group which would endeavor to fittingly mark the centennial of Confederation. In October eight painters and two representatives of the Centennial Society met to exchange ideas. The group's first aim would be to record and preserve, with brush and knife, the Quinte district of a hundred years ago. It is hoped to be able to present large and extended showing of paintings to mark the start of the observance of the Centennial year in Belleville. The group is not being formed on an instruction basis but is for those already skilled in the art.

Sixteen Persons Left Homeless In House Fire

CAMPBELLFORD — Sixteen persons are homeless following a fire which destroyed a two-storey brick house here about noon Saturday. The two family dwelling was heavily damaged by fire on the upper floor and by water on the lower floor.

The fire started around an oil space heater in the upstairs of the home, occupied by Mrs. Patrick Laffan and seven of her eight children, aged 16 to five years.

Living in the downstairs were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Peters and their six children, ranging in age from 13 years to 15 months.

Mrs. Laffan told police and firemen she was talking on the telephone when one of her daughters ran to her saying one of the rooms was filled with smoke. On investigating, she found the wall, floor and ceiling around the oil space heater blazing fiercely. She shouted a warning to the Peters family downstairs, and all occupants of the house got out safely with only the clothing they were wearing at the time.

Firemen were hampered by dense clouds of thick black smoke which billowed from the upper floor windows and roof. The fire was finally subdued when firemen chopped holes in the roof and poured thousands of gallons of water into the flames. At the height of the blaze, fire chief Charles Cork ordered a second truck — the Seymour township fire pumper to the scene, to give firemen the advantage of two lines of high pressure hose from the truck's boosters.

Today, members of both families are staying with friends and relatives in the area. The Peters family is temporarily housed with William and Charles Peters in Canrobert Street, while members of the Laffan family are staying with several families, including the family of George Bibby and James Quinn.

BUILDING INSURED

It is reported that neither of the families carried insurance on the contents of the building, although the building itself, owned by an estate, is insured.

Members of the Laffan family, living on the upper floor, who lost all of their personal possessions, include Mrs. Margaret Laffan and her children, Larry 16, Colleen 14, Dennis 13, Brian 11, Joanne 8, John 6 and Bridget 3.

The downstairs, badly damaged by water had been the home of Leslie Peters, a local sign painter and his wife and six children: Unice 13, Barry 12, Tony 11, Stephen 10, Blake 8, Gordon 6 months.

A number of local organizations began providing the two families with shoes, clothing and food Saturday evening and Sunday, and temporary living quarters are being sought.

Mrs. Laffan, in whose portion of the home the fire started, said although the oil space heater appeared to be the cause of the blaze, the burned had been working satisfactorily and had been in use only two seasons. She said she was thankful the fire had not started during the night when some of her family would have been trapped in bedrooms on the second floor.

Sixteen persons were left homeless when fire gutted a Campbellford home. In the top picture are Mrs. Patrick Laffan and three of the seven children at home with her, Joanne, 8, John, 6, and Bridgett, 5. In the bottom picture are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Peters and their six children, Unice, 13, Barry, 12, Tony, 11, Stephen, 10, Blake, 8 and Gordon, 15 months.

Drunk Driving Charge Brings 9-Day Term

A Sunday afternoon chase by two police cars through north Belleville ended in a nine-day sentence for 23-year-old Lawrence Franz today.

Detective sergeant Harold Reid said Franz, who pleaded guilty to drunk driving, was spotted by two provincial police officers as they drove out of Belleville district headquarters.

They chased his car down North Front Street, finally halting him at Harriet Street. In the meantime, said the sergeant, Franz's automobile had forced serveral cars off the road and cut off the automobile driven by OPP constable Don Toms.

Calling it "a pretty glaring case" Magistrate T. Y. Wills dated the sentence from Sunday.

Diefenbaker Against Salary Hike for Ouimet

VICTORIA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Monday uncertainty and retreat by the Liberal government has led to "the greatest weakening of Canadian confederation in my lifetime."

He told a press conference the Pearson administration has departed from its single-Canada policy of Sir John A. Macdonald which his government had espoused.

The federal royal commission on bicuturalism would not be the answer to Canada's troubles in this field. It had been formed, he said, to determine what was wrong with confederation.

"But we know what the problem is," he said.

"We don't need people from all parts of Canada stirring up embers of discord by submission of briefs to the royal commission."

Under the Liberals federal-provincial relations had been "worst in all history." A dominion-provincial conference, a far better solution to the bicuturalism problem, will still be needed after the commission makes its report, he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker also termed "completely unjustified" a recent doubling of CBC President Alphonse Ouimet's salary to $40,000 a year.

Mr. Diefenbaker and his wife arrived here for a two-week vacation trip.

Two Officers Killed in Crash Of B-26 Fighter

SAIGON, South Viet Na (AP)—A B-26 fighter carrying two U.S. Air Force officers crashed on a test flight today and an American military spokesman said both were killed.

The spokesman said the plane, flying from the Bien Hoa air base, crashed about 15 miles east of Saigon.

The toll of American dead in Vit Nam rose to 166. Ninety-two of these will have been in combat against the Communist Viet Cong.

Meanwhile, ground forces, probing the region south of Saigon where paratroops engaged a big guerrilla force Sunday, found the graves of 44 guerrillas killed in the battle, American sources said.

Bandit Aids Customer in Liquor Store

TORONTO (CP)—A bandit stole $594 from a downtown Ontario Liquor Control Board store Monday night, but before leaving he returned a $10 bill to a customer who had said: "It's all I have."

The bandit fired three wild shots over the heads of the employees before taking the money from the cashier. He then walked over to Robert Walker, 33, who was at the counter with a $10 bill in his hand. He demanded his wallet.

"I told him I don't carry a wallet," Mr. Walker told police.

The bandit, his hands, already holding bills, snatched the money away from Walker's hand, hesitated and asked: "Is that all you've got?"

When Walker replied that it was, the robber grinned and said: "I like you; you'd better keep it."

Three Failed To Return to West Berlin

BERLIN (Reuters) — West Berlin officials said today three West Berliners failed to return to West Berlin after Yuletide pass visits to East Berlin.

West Berlin police were informed that one of them, Wolfgang Klempel, 24, was arrested by East German authorities for an unspecified crime, they added.

Another West Berliner, Detlev Swoboda,-21, disappeared without trace in East Berlin, it was said.

The third, Guenther Kirsch, 25, was apprehended by East Berlin border guards at a crossing point when he tried to smuggle his younger brother from East Berlin to West Berlin.

Two other West Berliners were released after East Berlin border guards were convinced that two East Berliners had hidden in their car without their knowledge. The East Berliners were arrested by the Communist guards.

Just a Slip Of Typewriter In Invitation

Due to a slip of the typewriter, Mayor James MacDonald and his "wives", have been asked to attend a local function.

Clerk-comptroller O. W. Larry read out the invitation at last night's meeting of town council and inadvertently included the plurality in the text of the letter.

"Tell 'em the Sultan wil try to make it," advised the mayor when the laughter in the council chamber died down.

NO PARKING

As a result of complaints received from a Catherine St. resident, H. M. Waldorf, council will cause to be posted "No Parking" signs on the west side of this street. "Winter and Summer," said Mr. Waldorf in complaint, "cars parked on both side of this street make going difficult for through traffic."

And as the result of an accident on Francis St. this week, which involved a parked car, council has ordered no parking on the south side of this street and no parking on the north side between Charles St. and Marmora St.

WINS TROPHY

Winner of the Dutch Mill Inn trophy for ladies' curling this year was the Trenton rink skipped by Mary Wilson, with Connie Chambers, third, Marion Smith second and Lorene Polset, lead.

Runner-up and winner of the Cory Trophy, was a rink skipped by Jean Condette with Haleen McClintock, third, Florence Adams second and Helen Embleton, lead.

The event was held Saturday last at the Trenton curling rink. Eight local ladies rinks took part.

High one-game winner was a rink skipped by Gertrude House, with Vera Cummings, third, Mary Gardy, second and Barbara Lester, lead.

TAKE JET RIDE

Council Asks Rescinding Of Appointment

TRENTON — Trenton council voted last night to ask the Attorney General's department to rescind the appointment of Magistrate W. R. Philp of Peterborough to the Trenton Police Commission and to appoint a local resident to replace Magistrate T. Y. Wills of Belleville. The switch in magistrates was announced late in December.

Council made it clear in its resolution last night that it "strongly opposed" the appointment of yet another "outside" man to the three-man commission. For a number of years, councils have felt that any suggestions concerning the running of the Trenton Police Department, made by the mayor, the only local commission member, were apt to be vetoed by the two members from Belleville, Magistrate Wills and Judge J. C. Anderson.

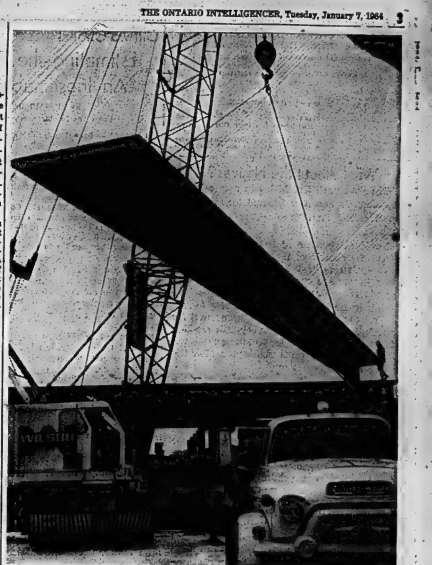
Council's resolution also made a point of the councillors' claim that police costs, per capita, in the Trenton are ninth highest in the province.

Council Asked To Delay Action On Closing Hours

TRENTON — At last night's meeting of Trenton council, Thomas Mimeault, speaking for nine of the 11 service station operators whose establishments came within the town's borders by annexation on Jan. 1, asked council to delay action on a by-law passed by the stations until the former out-of-towners could discuss the matter with the whole body. Around 24 operators are concerned. The proposed by-law would see the stations close early in the evening. Mr. Mimeault said that he would like to see the house regulated by each operator himself on a "free enterprise" basis. "Some operators," he said, "were luckier" than others and some would prefer to remain open late at night, or possibly run their business around the clock."

Council agreed to delay the passing of the by-law until the operators can come to some decision agreeable to all.

"But make it an orderly opening and closing" warned the mayor, "Don't be like the merchants and get it so mixed up that nobody knows when the hours are."



WILL STUDY BY-LAW

Councillor G. A. Weaver, as council chairman of Protection to Persons and Property, has been asked to make a study of the town's existing by-law to do with the matter of dogs running at large and the powers of a dog-catcher hired by the corporation.

In December, the 1963 dog catcher, T. Weedle, resigned. Now a J. Potter has offered to take his place but Mr. Potter wants to make the job a full-time job and wants $3,000 a year for it. Mr. Weedle, who was paid to pick up dogs in Murray township, worked for the town on a part time basis and was paid $1,800.

Councillor Edward Todd said he thought the dog-catcher's job was made more difficult by a ruling that he could not pick up dogs on private property and called for a study of the by-law.

Meanwhile, C. F. Johns of 37 Manor Crescent, Stanley Heights, has written to council complaining about "uncontrolled" canines running wild in the sub-division. "The dogs," said Mr. Johns, "make it their business to collect garbage from cans in the housing development and deposit it all on his backyard."

ROOF GOING ON — Pre-stressed concrete roof slabs are now going on at the new Elliott Motors building on North Front Street. One of the huge 82 foot long T-slabs, eight feet in width and weighing close to 25 tons each is seen being swung into place by huge Wilson Concrete crane. Size of slab is indicated by figure of man at far end. All roof slabs for main building will be in place by this evening.

Councillors Get Bad News On Cost of Reconstruction

TRENTON — Trenton councillors last night expressed the fear that they had another Division Street, (Golden Mile) on their hands. Council was told by J. Tomlinson of the consulting firm of Tomlinson and Associates that reconstruction work on parts of Dundas St. E., Dufferin Ave. and Sidney St. would cost upwards of $1,000,000 more than the contractor's original estimates for the job. "This was due," said Mr. Tomlinson, "to the different land conditions and unplanned for sanitary sewer installations." Department of Highways officials were by Mr. Tomlinson to have taken boring tests of the streets "outside" the road base, resulting in the engineers not taking a previous concrete road base into account in estimates. Bell Telephone and Lakeland Gas underground installations have been found to be buried too near the surface for safety in reconstruction excavations.

"It's a comedy of errors," opined Mayor MacDonald.

"We're in the same boat as we were on Division Street," was Councillor Burtt's comment. (Three years ago a three per cent supplementary tax was levied in the September of that year to make up for a $30,000 "error" in estimates of reconstruction costs on this street.)

"It goes to show you that the lowest tender isn't always the cheapest tender in the long run," said Councillor C. V. Graham.

The costs of widening and reconstructing the three streets now under discussion will be approximately $40,000 more than first estimated. Provincial grants and unexpected "savings" offered by the contractor, Rayner of Toronto, will bring the cost to the town down to half of this figure.

As for the Bell and Lakeland installations, council hopes to arrange for the companies concerned to bear this cost. Mr. Tomlinson said that shallow installations of these utilities were the order of the day all across the province.

What About the Natives?

The government of Malaysia may ask Britain, Australia and New Zealand for soldiers to help it defend its Borneo border with Indonesia.

President Sukarno of Indonesia has called on the armed forces of that country to step up the campaign against Malaysia, which would appear to presage more border incidents and increased guerrilla warfare.

It is ironic that the formation of a federation designed to speed full independence for former British colonies should stir this reaction from the rulers of one of the world's new nations, which shook off the white man's yoke after the Second Great War.

Geographically, though, Indonesia may appear to have a case. It seems absurd to divide even so big an island as Borneo between two different nations.

Since the peoples of Indonesia and Malaysia are largely of the same blood, one might hope that eventually they would unite into one large and prosperous nation. Indeed one may suspect that Sukarno may have hoped to achieve this result by absorbing much of the British territories now united into Malaysia, not merely the relatively small protectorate of Borneo but also territories on the Malay Peninsula. It may be the prospect of having eventually to deal with an equal which is at the bottom of Indonesian resentment.

What will happen if white troops get involved in the conflict is difficult to forecast, because we have little or no idea as to the feelings of the inhabitants of the territories under dispute. In the long run, it is probable that the outcome will depend on their reaction.

Even as Malaysia was reported considering an appeal for help, a senior U.S. military adviser in Viet Nam asserted that the only way to beat the communist Viet Cong was to fight the Viet Cong way, because these guerrillas are "probably the best fighting men in South Viet Nam." Similarly, one may guess, the natives in the disputed area of Borneo are likely to prove the best fighting men in that territory, if they believe in what they are fighting for. If they want their territory to be part of Malaysia, then aiding them will be rewarding and relatively easy. If, on the other hand, their sympathies are with Indonesia, then a war in the Borneo jungles would be costly and probably futile. The third possibility is that they may be indifferent, in which case a long and indecisive struggle would seem in prospect. It seems hardly likely that the dispute will develop into a full-scale war, involving the civilized and heavily-populated areas of the two contending nations.

Pearson on Nuclear Arms

Prime Minister Lester Pearson says that Canada's future defence role "will not require any enlargement, but would require a diminution of any kind of nuclear arms and equipment."

From the standpoint of practical politics, this makes it unanimous. The New Democratic Party has firmly opposed a nuclear role for Canadian forces. The Socreds, while characterizing as vacillating their attitude, are, at least in the main, reluctant to see foreign nuclear arms on our soil. The Progressive Conservatives' hesitancy in accepting nuclear warheads for the Bomarcs was what precipitated the fall of the last Diefenbaker Government.

There is no reason to accuse Prime Minister Pearson of inconsistency in his latest statement, which, indeed, was foreshadowed by earlier remarks. What distinguishes the Liberals from the other parties is not so much a difference in policy as a difference in approach.

The Liberal outlook fits well with the Prime Minister's record as a diplomat, scrupulously careful to honor commitments.

The judgment of many Canadians on this approach will be determined by results. In other words, if the Pearson Government manages to renegotiate defence arrangements with our allies so that we can get rid of nuclear arms, most Canadians will be satisfied. There are, of course, quite a number of Canadians, in both major political parties, who believe we should have nuclear arms as long as the international situation remains basically unchanged. These, however, appear to be in the minority.

I think we may be moving into a new stage of political sophistication where a politician doesn't actually have to bare his teeth at the enemy to show he means business. A smile can be as deadly as a snarl, and a compliment can be more lethal than an insult.—British Journalist Norman Shrapnel.

Estimating the Estimates
An Inestimable Chore

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Ever stop to think about what the Parliamentary trade knows as "The Estimates?"

They're those funds which, along towards the dying minutes of every Session of Parliament, you read are being jammed through the Commons at so-many-millions-of-dollars-a-minute by the MPs, impatient to have done with this tedious part of their chores and get home for holidays.

Every nickel and dime the Government spends must be okayed, theoretically, an item at a time, by the supposedly dollar-conscious MPs in the interests of the taxpayer who ponies up the just-about-seven billion dollars contained in these Estimates.

So the Commons grinds through between six and seven billion — sometimes at a bewildering hundred - million-a-minute rate — and the figures are so astronomically huge, who really gets to comprehend them?

Probably not even a goodly number of the very MPs who verbally stamp their okay on these Estimates.

So let us cut the Estimates somewhere nearly down to size — and discover, perhaps not unexpectedly, that those billions are made up of countless thousands of small items running from as little as $1 up into seven figures.

PM'S SPENDING MONEY

Like what small items?

Well, like the $250-a-year Parliament votes for the Prime Minister to uniform the small domestic staff that keeps the official residence, 24 Sussex Drive running, well and comfortably.

The prime minister's household staff draws total salaries of $30,000 (they just got a raise, five $570 pay raises this year), and among other duties prepares the $5,500 worth of food Parliament votes to stock the larder. Sounds like quite a grocery bill until you remember that the PM and his lady are official host and hostess at lunch or dinner for almost every visiting VIP who drops in on the well-travelled shuttle between the European capitals and Washington.

And since they must feed and water members of the Commons and Senate, the Parliamentary Corps, and at least once a year, the hungry, thirsty horde of some 1,200 newsmen from Parliament's press corps, not to mention friends and such Hill "tourists" as the provincial premiers, the prime minister and his hostess are voted an additional $3,000 by the Commons for purposes of entertainment. (And that probably covers little more than the cost of a year's "mixers.")

The Speakers of the Commons and Senate are voted better adjusted; even their vocabulary has gone a jump ahead.

If Burnaby's early success is borne out, there is no question that many boards in B.C. will give serious consideration to similar arrangements. There is a problem of obtaining male principals, experienced men are neither willing, nor trained, for work in the earliest grades. But success doesn't depend entirely on male teachers for all the obvious desirability of good manpower - mix there.

Women teachers, adjusting to the all-boy classes, should, in many instances, do very nicely.

Curriculum Girl-Oriented

Vancouver Sun

Educators have come increasingly to believe that co-educational schooling, especially at the primary level, discriminates against boys.

They suspect female teachers unconsciously favor the girls who are, as everyone knows, made of sugar and spices and everything nice. Besides that, girls start to school a couple of years more mature than boys right through the elementary and secondary school system.

Consequently, it's largely a girl curriculum that's stocking, pretty Puff" and "Jane wants a doll" isn't very red-blooded fare for a boy who's already cornered the market on Joe Kapp bubble-gum cards.

The result is that the bottom half of most primary classes is made up of boys. Special tutoring classes are mostly filled with boys. Social and academic counselling largely involves boys.

But for all the talk, almost nothing has been done to rectify this tragic sex state of affairs. An exception, which we're delighted to salute, is the Burnaby school system, third largest in B.C., and rapidly building a reputation as one of the most enlightened anywhere. World Fair Insignia

Sherbrooke Daily Record

With the decision of parliament that the emblem for the 1967 World's Fair be scuttled, the directors of that event are faced with the problem of creating a new design to interpret the purpose of the great show. Without professing a great knowledge of the arts, one local citizen has put forward a suggestion.

He would have the fair represented by a 90-ton truck stalled on a quagmire dumping a load of gold coins upon an individual engulfed in mud.

Several features of the fair to date would be covered by this insignia, he suggests.

The quagmire would indicate the uncertainty which has pervaded the planning or lack of planning which has featured development.

The dump truck would symbolize the massive amounts of $$ which have to be trucked long distances to create the artificial island which was planned as the home for the event.

The gold coins being dumped into the swamp would mark the millions of the taxpayer's hard money which are going into a seemingly bottomless pit.

And the individual being buried is none other than the poor taxpayer who foots the bills.

Lung Cancer Not Usually Found by TB Chest X-Ray

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would cancer of the lung be revealed by an ordinary mobile unit TB chest X-ray? If so, would the person so affected be notified by mail? — Mrs. C. B.

Good questions — one hard to answer, one easier.

TB chest x-rays often disclose the presence of conditions other than tuberculosis. Respiratory ailments, heart enlargement, or occasionally other things come to light.

The report from a mobile unit is not sent to the person. If nothing worthy of mention is found that's the end of the matter.

But if anything suspicious is found, this is communicated to whatever doctor has been designated by the person having the X-ray, or a statement to the patient to have the X-ray repeated for checking purposes.

This means that some "false alarms" will be sounded. There will be something which looks suspicious, or needs further investigation, yet in the end some of these will prove to be harmless. This may worry the patient, unnecessarily, but is a wise precaution. Better safe than sorry!

Now, will such an X-ray reveal cancer? Yes and no!

Extremely early in development (as we learned from the "Pap smear" technique), nothing less than microscopic examination will reveal the presence of the faulty cells which constitute cancer. Not even X-ray will show that.

Later, as the tumor begins to grow larger, the shape of it can be pictured by X-ray.

But even this does not necessarily mean cancer. It may be a benign growth, or even a calcified spot left from some previous illness, whether TB or histoplasmosis, or something else.

In some cases, skilled examination of the X-ray plate may give a reliable answer as to the condition. Again, it may afford a shrewd guess which then must be verified by some other means. Or, as is often the case, on the X-ray plate may require considerable investigation before its significance — or lack of it — can be determined.

Thus the TB chest X-ray does not often give a flat yes-or-no answer concerning lung cancer.

But it does give a clue as to whether something is wrong, and does let you know if there is reason for you to go to your doctor for more tests.

And if you hear nothing about your "chest X-ray," why, that's good news.

Dear Dr. Molner: Years ago my baby sister had asthma. It seemed that every time she was taken to Sunday school, she couldn't get her way, she would start coughing and carrying on, like she was having an attack. Then mother and father would give in.

Recently I read that some asthma is emotional. Would you comment on this?

Emotional tension can trigger an attack if the person is subject to asthma. My guess — and it's only that — is that your sister learned early in life that if she just uncork enough such things, she would trigger an attack. And that would result in getting her way.

Strictly Personal
Congregation And Ministry
Miles Apart

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

In the religious area of life, everyone knows about the gap between the believers and the non-believers. Everyone knows about the gap between the different denominations. But the modern gap is perhaps the most significant of all.

And that is the gap between the ministry and the congregation. It is widening every day, in nearly every church and sect. Even the members of differing faiths often find themselves closer together in thought and feeling than they do to their own congregations.

There has been a vast breakdown in communication between the clergy and the laity. The theological schools and divinity colleges have been turning out men whose general beliefs differ basically from those of their parishioners, and in the news they preach, the gospel they adhere to, is not the news that the congregations want to hear, or are prepared to accept.

I was insulted, as an Episcopal rector in an Eastern city not long ago, and he confessed that he had the same fear as I with his flock — except in the sphere of social events, charity affairs, and pastoral counselling.

"What I believe about God, man, and the world," he said, "has no relevance to my congregation. They want a religion that will make them comfortable, that will reassure that their way of life is right, and that will confirm their every assumptions of superiority. And the ministers of other denominations I have talked to all have the same reaction."

The Christian ministry in this country in the last two decades has become increasingly sophisticated in its grasp of man's nature and the human condition.

Except for a few primitive remnants of sects, there is I've been deeply affected by such men as Barth, Tillich, Bultman, Niebuhr, Neibuhr, Buber, by such Catholic and Jewish thinkers as Maritain and Suber. Their religion resides on a deep existential level.

But little, or none, of this has been transmitted to the congregations — which makes preaching almost as frustrated as teaching in our modern society. People attend church for consolation and comfort — but unless they are also challenged and enlarged and provoked into thought, the Testament prophets' revitalized their religion, then they merely wear their respectability as a cloak for apathy and self-satisfaction.

Our so-called "religious revival" has been superficial, not hermeneutic; it is sought for healing, not for explaining and clarifying. This is the task of the ministry now so unprepared for the racial crisis — and why the ministry finds it hard to separate the wolves from the flock.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—All sections of the stock market advanced with both the industrial and exchange indexes setting 1963-64 highs in heavy morning trading today.

On the industrial board, papers were strong, with Abitibi rising ¾ and Consolidated Paper and Price Brothers ¼ each.

Harding Carpets dipped½ to 36. Monday the issue gained strongly on rumors of a coming stock re-arrangement.

Croinor led speculative actives, trading nearly 300,000 shares for a gain of 2½ cents to 52 cents. Iso rose 13 cents to $2.37.

On index, the exchange index advanced .23 to 130.84, industrials .22 to 139.96, western oils .74 to $3.35, golds .20 to 122.21 and base metals .01 to 59.82. Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,468,000 shares compared with 1,271,000 at the same time Monday.

TRADED ACTIVELY

Harding Carpets was the major attraction Monday in active trading.

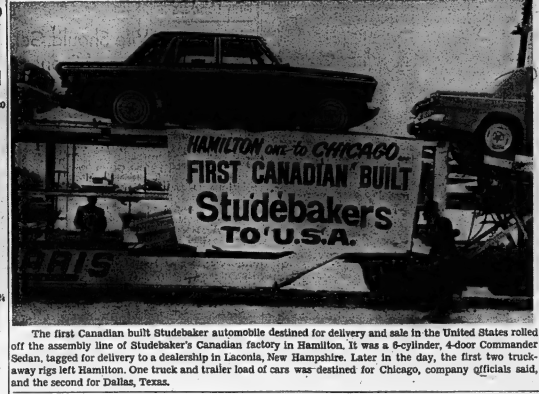
The carpet manufacturer rose 3¼ to close at 36½ after reaching a new high of 37 on 3,835 shares. Rumors suggest the company is contemplating a stock re-arrangement.

Meanwhile, the 107-stock industrial index closed up .47 at a 1963-64 high of 130.61—less than a point short of the recorded peak of 131.30 set in December, 1961.

The industrial index broke through to new ground three times during the day, closing ahead .50 at 139.76.

On the industrial board most sections made advances, with papers, steels, banks and financial issues showing strength, although isolated stocks bucked the trend. Automotive stocks were down, Chrysler dipping 1⅛ to 44 and Ford Canada two points to 176.

Falconbridge gained ¼ and International Nickel ¼ among senior base metals.



Speculative issues traded actively, Croinor leading the list with 629,027 shares for a gain of 7¼ cents to 49½ cents. Consolidated Mogul declined 15 cents to $5.05 on 350,718 shares.

Dome Petroleum advanced ¼ and Hudson Bay Oil and Gas ¼ in senior oils.

On index, golds rose .55 to 132.01, western oils .36 to 82.64 and base metals .22 to 59.61. Volume for the day was 2,190,000 shares compared with 2,541,000 Friday.

RAREST COIN

The rarest of all Canadian coins is the 1921 50-cent piece.

The first Canadian built Studebaker automobile destined for delivery and sale in the United States rolled off the assembly line of Studebaker's Canadian factory in Hamilton. It was a 6-cylinder, 4-door Commander Sedan, tagged for delivery to a dealership in Laconia, New Hampshire. Later in the day, the first two truck-away rigs left Hamilton. One truck and trailer load of cars was destined for Chicago, company officials said, and the second for Dallas, Texas.

Cheese Exchange

A total 8,584 boxes of regular cheese was offered on the Belleville Cheese Exchange last week. Also offered were 4,047 specials and 5,875 square cheese.

The average price for white raw milk regular cheese was 35¾ cents for November and 35¼ cents for December. The price for colored raw milk cheese was 36 1/16 cents for November and 35¼ cents for December.

Accused Given Month to Meet Court's Order

A 31-year-old man was hailed before Magistrate T. Y. Wills for failing to make restitution on dud cheques.

Robert Carr was placed on two year's suspended sentence last November, and ordered to repay $65 on two cheques cashed with local merchants.

Today Crown Attorney John Pringle said no restitution effort had been made since that time. Carr told the court he had been working steadily and asked if he could pay by installments.

"How much?" queried the magistrate "Two dollars?"

"No . . . four or five," answered Carr.

"No you can't. We're not running a finance company," retorted the magistrate

"How about $10?" the accused persisted.

"How about $20?" concluded the magistrate with finality, giving Carr a month to meet the restitution order or face the court for sentence.

This new motor oil can give you up to 10% better gasoline mileage

New B-A Durafilm surpasses all car manufacturers' requirements

Should you use B-A Durafilm in your car engine? If you own a late model car or are planning the purchase of a new one, B-A Durafilm is the motor oil for your car. B-A Durafilm was created for the high-powered engines of today's automobiles. These engines are harder on component parts. Valves, cams, bearings and spark plugs are subject to greater stresses; higher temperatures. And crankcases are getting smaller. This means that these more powerful engines have to be lubricated with less oil. Obviously, the oil must be a lot more efficient.

Surpasses all car manufacturers' requirements. New B-A Durafilm motor oil has been fully tested under conditions prescribed by the car manufacturers' themselves. In every case, B-A Durafilm surpassed by far the requirements of the most severe service tests. B-A Durafilm is not just a good motor oil, it is a vastly superior motor oil.

B-A Durafilm keeps engines clean. Newly developed and extremely powerful detergents and inhibitors have been used in new B-A Durafilm. The inhibitors prevent oil breakdown at high temperatures. The detergents keep the engine clean. This means no clogged oil screens, no stuck valve lifters, no draggy pistons, no stuck piston rings. B-A's new detergent combination also eliminates oil-induced pre-ignition as well as plug fouling and engine rumble. B-A Durafilm makes your car engine run better, last longer and cost less to operate and maintain.

Easy starting—greater fuel economy. New B-A Durafilm has a very high viscosity index. (Flows easily at extremely low temperatures and does not thin out at extremely high engine operating temperatures.) This means that extreme temperatures have less effect on viscosity than is the case with ordinary oils. This makes your engine start easier and gives you better valve-lifter performance. You will get better gasoline economy, (up to 10% better in city driving). You'll also use less oil and have lower piston ring wear.

B-A Durafilm absorbs contaminants. One of the functions of a motor oil is to "hold" contaminants such as soot, dirt and water and prevent them from depositing in your engine. When too many contaminants get into the oil, it breaks down and releases these contaminants throughout the engine. This clogs the engine with gummy deposits, sludge and rust. When this happens, you're faced with a big repair bill. New B-A Durafilm prevents this.

Two grades of B-A Durafilm. New B-A Durafilm is available in SAE 10W-30 for most driving conditions and SAE 5W-20 for extreme cold. B-A Durafilm Motor Oil is at your B-A dealer's now.

After-Christmas Cookies

by Mary Moore

Two days before Christmas all the cookies I had so carefully made were nearly gone and I had to make more. By coincidence on the same day that I discovered this, a letter came from a reader giving me her highly recommended recipe for shortbread. In an hour's time I was making them and they are excellent.

These Shortbreads and the recipe for Pecan Nuggets I am giving are highly recommended and keep well and will please our readers who are cookie connoisseurs.

TUESDAY

Dinner Menu

Peady's Turkey Casserole (see Monday); Green Beans; Carrot Coins in Parsley Butter; Celery Hearts; Rice Custard Pudding; Tea.

SHORTBREAD (courtesy Mrs. C.L.):

Thank you ever so much for these, Mrs. C. L.

(I am giving this exactly as Mrs. C.L. did, then adding my comments.)

1 lb. butter, 1 cup fruit sugar, 1 cup cornstarch, 1 cup rice flour, 3 cups sifted flour.

Combine all ingredients and bake on ungreased cookie sheet for 12 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Use fancy cutters. Decorate with red and green cherries or silver candies. Good for holidays. Color different colors.

NOTES:

I used sifted icing sugar instead of fruit sugar. I made half this recipe for a trial and made 43 round cookies 1½" in diameter about ¼" to ⅜" thick. I mixed all of the ingredients starting with hard butter which I cut up, in my Kenwood mixer at No. 1 setting for 5 minutes. It was mixed into fine crumbs. I turned it out on my lightly floured board and packed it together with my warm hands. I rolled it with a tightly floured rolling pin, pressing cracked edges in as I rolled until the sheet of dough was smooth and even at the edges and ¼" to ⅜" thick. I cut it out with lightly floured 1½" cutter and transferred cookies to unbuttered baking sheet and baked them exactly 12 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. as Mrs. C. L. directed. They are lovely.

PECAN NUGGETS (fast):

1 cup butter, ¼ or ½ cup sifted icing sugar, 1 tablespoon water (room temperature), 1 tablespoon vanilla (this is not an excessive amount), 2 cups unsifted all-purpose or pastry flour, 1 cup pecans pieces (not chopped up).

Cream butter and icing sugar together. Add water and vanilla. Mix in flour (used pastry) and nuts and shape into a big mound on large sheet of wax paper. Wrap up and chill until stiff. With a silver teaspoon dipped in hot water scoop off a wad of dough roughly shaped like a rounded teaspoonful and put on buttered cookie sheet. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 to 25 minutes. Do not brown these at all. Remove to large sheet of wax paper and shake icing sugar sparingly over them through the sieve.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MISS SECRETARY HAS A GRIPE

A secretary I know has a gripe which is fairly common and, as far as I'm concerned, certainly legitimate.

She has nothing adverse to say about her employer, who is kind, considerate, bright and personable. He also pays well. Shoebox have some cross words to say about his wife, though, who tends to be quite inconsiderate and keeps her hopping more than a whole corporation.

It seems that madam boss is more a victim of acute executivitis than her successful husband, and treats his secretary as if she won her in a trust fund.

Hardly a day goes by that she doesn't drop in the office with a batch of invitations to be addressed in Miss Secretary's crisp Spencerian, or a list longer than your arm of gifts that have to be purchased for various relatives' marriages, births, graduations or birthdays. Miss Secretary, of course, gets the job. Madam Executive would never dream of letting these little details cut into her busy day.

The way the boss' wife has taken over, it's a wonder the poor girl has enough time left over from handling domestic details to get any work done for the office.

Think she has a legitimate reason for combing the wants ads in search of a job that is not quite so dual-purpose? I certainly think she has more than one leg to stand on when trying to balance her regular job with her adopted one and still keep on an even keel. She admits she wouldn't mind the extra-curricular work half as much if only it weren't thrust upon her so imperiously and didn't force her to stay late to finish up the corporate business she originally was hired to do.

BOSS TO BLAME, TOO

While she's too loyal to blame her boss at all, Miss Secretary actually should put some of the blame for her double job on his shoulders. Madam Boss wouldn't be able to wield so much power if her husband had set her straight originally about executive etiquette in relation to his staff.

If he had done a good job of family indoctrination, his wife would long ago have learned it's bad manners to treat his secretary as if she were a slave, to be shared; that it's inconsiderate to give her chores that interfere with her office work and, in fact, have no relation whatsoever to the corporate business; and that in the office, she should never ask a secretary for even the smallest favor unless it is sanctioned by her husband and he does the asking.

A secretary very often is asked to pitch in with her executorial abilities for speed and organization on her chance for time when a son or daughter is being married and an involved guest list has to be compiled and referenced. The difference, though, is that her employer pulls his weight proportionate to that of a favor and does not permit his wife to accept it as a right by marriage.

True, a secretary occasionally does get called on to handle a few personal details for her employer, and those who have made a success of their jobs are considered indispensable do it with tact and understanding. Requests, though, should be issued with the proper decorum if both boss and boss' wife expects his secretary to rise to the occasion and respond in kind.

Question: When candies or nuts are set out on the coffee table, is it necessary for a guest to ask permission to help himself? Very often a hostess does not bother to pass these around and rarely does she even invite guests to take one. If one has a sweet tooth, as I do, is it permissible to help oneself without being asked? — S. R., Syracuse, N. Y.

Answer: The idea of putting candy and nuts around is to let guests help themselves. It's not necessary to wait for a specific invitation from the hostess, although one who is alert and considerate either passes the dish or asks guests if they'd care for any.

Actress Turns Down Career To Become Wife, Mother

By MARGARET NESS

LONDON (CP) — Canadians may remember Pegi Brown as Candida in a television production of the George Bernard Shaw play or as Rosalind in Shakespeare's As You Like It. Others may recall her in such theatrical roles as Katharina in The Taming of the Shrew or Regina in The Little Foxes.

One Toronto critic remembers Pegi as the Spring Thaw comedienne who reminded him of Beatrice Lillie, another expatriate Canadian.

Another thinks of her as the young actress who in 1951 "wrung tears from a Kingston audience" when she played Lady Isabel in the International Players' revival of East Lynn.

Fellow actors and actresses still remember her with awe as the girl who turned down a Broadway role because she wanted to complete her senior year at the University of Toronto.

And Pegi's drama teacher, Dora Mavor Moore, still a close friend, talks of her as the young girl who almost at the peak of a promising career "was smart enough to see her chance for happiness when it came along."

The Pegi Brown now is Mrs. Alan Maldens, a London housewife and mother with absolutely no longing for life on the stage.

FAMILY IS ALL

She finds enough satisfaction and challenge looking after her businessman husband, two sons, John, 4, and Philip 11 months, and running two homes—one in Surrey just outside London and a penthouse flat at the seaside in Eastbourne.

She met Alan Maldens on shipboard during a trip to England seven years ago. After they were married she missed the theatrical life in which she had been immersed since her parents encouraged her to try out for radio plays at the age of 15.

But Pegi soon turned her dramatic talent and creativity to other fields and today her flair for interior decorating is reflected in the severely functional but well lived-in Surrey that she turned into a showcase of Edwardian elegance.

The large living room combines pale green walls with a deeper green French antique rug and pale gold silk curtains. Chairs are upholstered in dusty rose and mauve.

The small dining room is done in blue. One entirely mirrored wall reflects the French blue clocked wallpaper, matching curtains of moire silk and the blue chandelier.

Pegi has chosen a modern theme for only one room—a patio opening on to a terraced garden. Its functional Scandinavian furniture is upholstered in white tweed and brightened with red accent cushions.

She has been working on the penthouse overlooking the promenade at Eastbourne since last spring.

Ann Landers

Important Wife Should Get Regular Change of Scenery

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — When I read that letter from the young mother who shrieked at her four children all day and was a nervous wreck, it made me feel better. I thought I was the only mother in the world who acted like that. I found myself wishing she was from Illinois so maybe we would wind up in the same mental hospital.

I, too, would like to have a spotless house and a lovely meal on the table when Frank comes home at night. But how can I with four little kids and an invalid mother-in-law to take care of? And then there's the washing, ironing, mending, marketing and cooking.

Last night I had to drop everything and iron a white shirt for Frank to wear to his lodge meeting. He called me a "disorganized nit-wit." He yelled it so loudly I'm sure the children heard him.

I'm a nervous wreck and can't even find time to take my tranquillizer pills. Please help me. — SKIN AND BONES.

DEAR SKIN — This advice is for Frank:

Hire a woman to come in at least one day a week so your wife can enjoy a change of scenery and repair her shattered nerves.

If you think you can't afford it, compare the cost with a full time housekeeper for your children after your wife breaks down completely.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am 49 years old, have been divorced for 10 years and share an apartment with my mother.

I usually bowl Saturday and Sunday afternoon with a friend but last Friday evening, on the spur of the moment, I decided to go over and bowl a few lines by myself. My mother really blew up. She said no respectable girl goes alone to a place that has a lounge and sells liquor.

I don't drink — in fact, I hate the smell of the stuff. And I am no lounger, either, if you know what I mean. Some girls undoubtedly get picked up at bowling alleys but these same girls get picked up in theatres, in restaurants or ball parks.

Will you please settle this? — JENNIE.

DEAR JENNIE — A 49-year-old woman who wishes to go bowling on a Friday evening doesn't need to check with her mother.

I do feel, however, that it makes a great deal more sense to go bowling with a friend rather than alone. You not only protect yourself from gossip but you have more fun.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I'm a working girl who just barely manages to support myself. I make a good salary but the cost of living in this city is sky-high and every penny counts.

Two co-workers in this office are nicked and diming me to death. One gal lives near me and we take the same bus to work. Twice last week she asked me to pay her bus fare and I did. I know I'll never see that money again.

The other girl is a coffee-break moocher. She never has change or she is flat broke. Her favorite line is, "I'll buy yours tomorrow." I have also bought cigarettes for her and chipped in for a shower gift when she didn't have the money.

Please tell me what to do. I just can't bring myself to ask a person to pay back a quarter or 50c. It seems so petty. Thank you. — POORHOUSE HERE I COME.

DEAR POORHOUSE — These girls have learned to outfumble, out-guts and out-smart you. They will continue to take advantage of you so long as you allow it.

Adopt a new phrase — "Sorry, I can't afford it." Use the phrase whenever you are asked to buy coffee, pay bus fare, chip in for a gift or what have you. Practice in front of the mirror until the words come easily. Before long they'll get the message.

Disappointing Year Says Secretary

TORONTO (CP)—The secretary of the Planned Parenthood Association of Toronto says that the organization's first year, 1963, was a disappointing one.

The organization, said Mrs. George Cadbury, was unable to get a charter from the provincial government, was unable to advertise, and was severely restricted in its operations.

And this was despite the fact that the association's executive is top-heavy with Anglican and United Church ministers, rabbis, professors and doctors, the secretary said in an interview.

Mrs. Cadbury said the Criminal Code of Canada makes it an offence to "offer to sell, advertise, publish an advertisement of, have for sale or disposal of any means, instructions, medicines, drug or article intended or represented as a method of preventing conception or causing abortion or miscarriage."

BILL PENDING

She said a bill is pending before the House of Commons to have the words "preventing conception or" removed from the section of the Criminal Code.

Mrs. Cadbury said the law means the Planned Parenthood Association unable to do more than bring public attention to the question of family planning.

"We have a telephone service for anyone who wants birth control advice," she continued. "I don't advise or suggest anything but refer them to doctors who might help them."

The association did not support any particular method of birth control but felt that every individual should have the right to information on the subject.

Canadian Fashion & Fad

WHAT IS COMING UP FOR SPRING?

Recently, I saw a presentation of new spring fashions in New York. These were the creations of top American designers, whose influence spreads down rapidly to the smallest manufacturer of dressmaker.

Color is bursting out all over, so much so, that no one seemed disappointed that there were no radical disturbing changes in the silhouette of things to come. We are still going to get comfort before everything else. "Easy fit" looks a lot more as though it is here to stay. Chemories will count more than they have for the past few seasons, as there is more of a suggestion of fit. While clothes do not hug the body, they show the shape to show through.

With the first snowdrop, fashion - conscious women will blossom out in white, pure and simple, or white sparked with cocoa, black or green. There will be some resemblance to a flower garden, with purples, blues and yellow mixed bloodied and toned. Coats look fresh and flattering in delicate pastels. There is a threatnat of white and black in checks ranging from the horse blanket size, all the way down to that of the tiniest hound's tooth. It looks as though navy alone, our spring perennial, is on the wane, but navy mixed with white or color, looks new in pencil stripes, checks and dots.

DESCENDING GIBMELINES

Skirts, either slim or delicately shaped and gored, have descended an important half inch to an inch. They look right because they give balance to a slightly wider look of the shoulder line. After the show, I walked up Fifth Avenue where a lot of the women are still wearing their skirts very short. Strangely, these lengths suddenly look old wrong and very ugly.

Part of the collection included hostess gowns, and patio dresses with skirts sweeping to the floor. These were coming up last spring, but this year, judged by the number included in the show, they have arrived.

Not one model in the show had the sharp-end, high-heeled pump! Every one, even those wearing formal clothes, favoured the low-cut heel with either an oval or elongated oval toe. Many of these lower heels are set back at the base of the heel, giving a completely new look to the silhouette and some completely new comfort to those of us who have been teetering around on stilts.

If you have a question on fashion, just write Pegg Rogers in care of this Paper.

Legion Branch Elects Officers At Meeting

The 1963 activities of the Col. Phay Wills Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion concluded with the election of officers following the annual potluck supper, which was held recently at the home of the president, Mrs. R. Kirby.

Zone Commander Jack Rebotto conducted the election with the following results:

Janet MacDonald, president; Hillie Kirby, past president; Ina Rollins, vice-president; "Kenny" Chambers, secretary; Dorothy Hartman returned as treasurer; Doreen Burney, sergeant-at-arms, and the executive body, Olive Schmidt, Kathy Smith and Joan Martin. Appointed as auditors were: Hilda Olano and Clara Jamieson.

An installation team from the Tweed Legion Branch will attend the January meeting to officially install the newly elected executive and at this time Mrs. R. Kirby will receive the first past president's pin to be presented by Branch 587.

The lucky winners of the "Pay-as-You-Pull" draw were: Catherine Cole, Bloomfield; Terry Chambers, Roy Johnson and Ethel Bowden, all of Belleville.

With the help of Clara Jamieson and her committee, Santa Claus visited the children of the members. Christmas films were shown by Laurie Smith.

Branch 587 will be host to a zone rally scheduled for the last Sunday in January at the Legion hall on Pinnacle St.

Sailors Feel Every Penny Well Spent

OTTAWA (CP) — An 18-year-old Greek girl is attending university, courtesy of HMCS Kootenay.

Ioanna Paghiati of Corfu, adopted by the Canadian destroyer's crew in 1959 under the Foster Parents' Plan, turned 18 last year and became ineligible for further assistance under the plan.

But administrators of the plan knew that Ioanna dreamed of a university education. After reviewing the girl's scholastic achievements, they told the Kootenay about the situation.

It didn't ake long for the ship's company to put the matter to a vote and unanimously agree that Ioanna would be sent to college by the ship.

The Kootenay has had an interest in Ioanna since she was 12. Many of the ship's company were on the HMCS Ontario based at Halifax when the girl was first adopted under the plan in 1957. When the Ontario went to the west coast in 1960, her company brought the HMCS Kootenay east and transferred Ioanna with them.

Now they'll be able to follow her progress all through college.

Plan C.G.I.T. Leadership Training Day

The Belleville Girls' Work Board has arranged a Leadership Training Day for all CGIT leaders of Belleville, and the surrounding district on Saturday, January 11th, at Bridge St. United Church. Leaders in Explorer groups are also cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Massey, of Oshawa, a member of the Provincial Girls' Work Board, will conduct a workshop on Bible Study methods in the morning, and Mrs. Thompson, from Toronto, a member of the National Girls' Work Board executive, will present the Mission Study for 1963-64, in the afternoon session. Registration, which is in charge of Mrs. R. C. Ellis, will commence at 9.15 a.m. Noon luncheon will be served by members of the Belleville Girls' Work Board. Following the lunch hour, Mrs. R. Jeffries, Christian Education Director of Bridge St. Church, will conduct a period on "Sharing Your Problems."

Charlotte Will Probably Run Next Dec.

OTTAWA (CP) — Fighting Mayor Charlotte Whitton, 67, indicated Monday night she wants to remain in office until the 1967 centennial at least.

She told city council in a 45-minute "inaugural address" that she "probably will run in municipal elections next December."

She added that the Ontario Legislature should be asked this year to extend the terms of office of the 25 council members to three years from two. Council is expected to support this move.

She said her 4,000-word address was a preliminary report on her performance since she won her last contest Dec. 4, 1962, with a 6,400-vote margin.

"That usual further accounting for my stewardship as head of council, I contemplate reserving for a later date—probably the nomination meeting 1964," she said in turning to other matters.

Her only election challenger in sight at the moment is Con. Don Reid, a prominent merchant and veteran of the city hall wars.

Mayor Whitton, who admitedly detests being called Miss Whitton, took over in 1951, retired in 1956 for an unsuccessful venture into federal politics and was returned to city hall in 1960.

Style Writers Applaud Move Of Designers

NEW YORK (AP) — Rhinestones taped to the clevage or glittering sequined bras are designer Geoffrey Beene's solution for fashion-conscious women too timid to wear their dresses cut or unbuttoned to the waist.

More than 200 style writers, attending rival designers' spring previews, applauded the move.

The most opulent bra any girl ever imagined winked wickedly from an open-to-the-waist shirt dress. The gems were a modesty veil over a silvery black number with an otherwise naughty neckline.

The hipster dress—a bat wing-sleeved blouson blouse that belts at the hipline—was the designer's theme. Sometimes it was the Roaring '20s version, another time a Japanese kimona idea.

LOOKED SEXY

In wide-striped, male - type suits, Beene's dolls looked sexy, thanks to flimsy ruffled blouses worn with them.

Dots broke out among all the collections previewed Monday. But this animiel were Beene's traffic-light dots — same size, same startling bluntness.

The Geoffrey Beene group's eye-opener was the Bill Glass collection with coin dots, crazy dots, spoked sunspots, combined and reversed. They were in linings, coats, turbans, anything.

Nobody needed 20-20 vision either to notice the soft suits and tailored blazers combining a riot of colors and prints. Yet woolly white was the daytime star, ruffled generously at the neckline, cuff or hem.

A pegnoir - like affair with flounces of black lace, and still another diaphonous black number over flesh pink, gave reporters plenty to write home about. The big question was: Would a policeman realize that the lady in her ballgown was not in her nightgown?

USED APRONS

Designer Jacques Tiffeau ran true to suit design form, with apron skirts, fitted fronts. Apron skirts, he says, hide ugly tummies. Checks and plaids were oversized and soft, as in the '40s, not and sharp.

Daytime dresses usually were two-piece, hip-long pullovers or with bloused fullness in back. Eventually unabashed models showed their bosoms in cloudy organza at-home robes—which seems a more appropriate place for decolletege without a sequined bra.

Pauline Trigere ignored the hue and cry for fit and mobity with an intricate and elegant line of easy-fitting clothes that hide figurue and figure mistakes.

The crisp silks, chiffons and linens, fitted close to the shoulders and bust, were slim at the hips but loose at the middle, and jacketed.

Coo.

It will cost Kootenay $300 a year instead of the $100 paid annually under the Foster Parents Plan, but the sailors feel that every penny is well spent.

Couple Find it Lots of Fun To Raise 11 Adopted Children

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Raising 11 adopted children on $65 a week isn't easy for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jansen but they find it a lot of fun.

The main thing, says Mrs. Jansen, is not to worry about every problem.

"We keep no budget. What would be the use? We'd only worry from week to week."

Instead, the happy Jansen family goes along from day to day making the best of what's available and hoping that things will work out.

Somehow, things keep working out fine for the Jansens and their adopted brood of five girls and six boys, ranging in age from three to 13.

Mr. Jansen is a mechanic at a veneer mill. Recently he was named Citizen of the Year for 1963 by a Pembroke service club with a citation that honored him for bringing "smiles in place of tears" to "the children he has brought under his roof."

Eleven years ago the Jansens, now both 42, were childless after eight years of marriage. Then one Sunday morning they heard a sermon at St. Columbia's Roman Catholic Church in which the priest appealed for foster homes for children of the Renfrew County Children's Aid Society.

BUT IN BULK

When Joseph, then two, arrived at the Jansen home they immediately decided on adoption. The others arrived, one a year to avoid the family circle.

To stay within their income, the Jansens soon turned to bulk buying and other economies. Mrs. Jansen bakes all the bread and cakes and also makes most of the children's clothing.

Where most families shop for a roast, Mrs. Jansen buys a half a cow at a time and has it backed for the freezer. Pork is purchased by the whole pig and flour by the 100-pound bag.

When they couldn't buy a table big enough to seat the whole family at mealtime, Mr. Jansen built one.

The family gets up at 6:30 a.m., finishing breakfast around 7:45 a.m. when Joseph, a Grade 10 student at St. Columbia High School, drives off with his father. The other youngsters walk a mile to Pine X Separate School.

Homework rules are rigidly enforced. Television is forbidden on week nights, except for a few specials, but is allowed all weekend. The children do not get allowances but there are gifts when one does something particularly well.

As if 11 children weren't enough of a problem, the parents now are looking forward to another project.

They've applied to the Children's Aid Society for twin infant girls.

TOLL HIGH

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A cold wave that drove temperatures down to 30 degrees in some areas left a toll of 15 deaths Monday. Ten of the deaths were in San Luis Potosi, in central Mexico, where the 30-degree reading was recorded. The five others were in Mexico City.

W.M.S. to Observe Two Anniversaries

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian church on Wednesday, January 8th a double anniversary will be celebrated when the Women's Missionary Society of the Kingston Presbyterial will observe the 100th founding of the society at Montreal, and the 50th anniversary of the reorganization of the society.

At the afternoon session the theme will be "Looking back — hitherto hath the Lord helped us." The Trenton Auxiliary will present a play, and a dinner will be served.

The evening service will stress the theme "Looking forward — be watchful and strengthen the things that remain." This meeting will be conducted by the ministers of the Presbytery. The guest speaker will be Miss Agnes Gollan of Kingston who is home on furlough from Nigeria. At this service communion will be celebrated by the Moderator, the Rev. Malcolm C. Gooding of Gananoque.

U.S. and W. Germany Seen Moving to Close Relationship

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The United States and West Germany, whose new leaders recently held their first official meeting, appear to be moving towards an intimate relationship that raises doubts about the exclusiveness of the so-called French-German entente.

When French President Charles de Gaulle a year ago signed a treaty with former German chancellor Konrad Adenauer, there was concern in the U.S. and other Western countries that the treaty, hailed as ending four centuries of French-German enmity, might also usher in a third force in Europe that would stand between the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

The treaty pledged the two neighbors to close and frequent consultation in the fields of diplomacy, defence, education, culture and youth programs. It also called for defence and education ministers were to meet every three months and the heads of state twice a year. The chiefs of staff of the two nations were to meet every other month.

This appeared to be the beginning of an interweaving of actions and decisions in areas that would unify the core of European strength in Paris and Bonn, raising the question if Britain would be held at the very periphery of Europe while France added to her own leadership under de Gaulle's nationalistic trappe.

LEADERSHIP CHANGED.

But German leadership has changed, as one day French troops parade in Paris with the new German chancellor, Ludwig Erhard, is a hard-headed businessman who is more prominent than the relaities of trade. While de Gaulle talks of building a European power bloc Erhard openly states he feels far more secure under the U.S. nuclear force than he would ever feel under any French force.

Other evidence of friction has been apparent. The French reported concerned because the Germans worked out a deal to buy U.S. arms jointly with the U.S., without consulting Paris. And the Germans were taken aback when a French secret agents apparently captured and spirited to Paris former Col. Mihlinka Dusko, who had been sentenced to life imprisonment for participating in the Algerian revolt against de Gaulle.

These may be small points in the relationship but they lead to the question of whether there is really a full harmony between Bonn and Paris.

Erhard now is reported to have invited the new French President Johnson about affairs in Europe in a manner which, again, underscores the power Erhard has taken de Gaulle's views into consideration.

JOINT STUDY

The 1961 "State Department has been quick to deny reports that the two leaders—Erhard and Johnson—would set up a special joint working committee on common market affairs but spokesmen in Paris and Bonn say leaders said in Texas that the leaders agreed that "the actual first point of the bruneau agreement" would be "studied by a joint U.S.-German group."

Dr. Gerhard Schroeder struggled to reduce U.S. influence in Europe. His German partner now may be seeking to protect and raise U.S. influence.

Bride Finds Nazi Hubby Just a Nobody

LONDON (AP) — The three month-long marriage of Colin Jordan, leader of Britain's Nazi party, and Francoise Dior is reported on the rocks.

The Paris Daily Mirror said Mrs. Jordan, niece of the late Christian Dior, as saying:

"I thought I was marrying a leader and a hero.

"Instead I found I had married a man who was a nobody."

The couple was married in a civil ceremony followed by a ritual mingling of their blood.

logged 3,100 air miles.

BLESSES THRONG

The Pope blessed hundreds of thousands of welcomers who filled St. Peter's Square.

"Thanks," he said, adding: "I did not want to bother anybody. I wanted to come back to Rome in a quiet way."

The crowd roared, realizing that tens of thousands had lined his route from the airport through Rome.

He took the papal motorcade almost as long to drive 12 miles from the airport to "the eternal city" as the 5,944-hour flight from Amman to Rome.

Torches, floodlights and vast throngs of cheering people were everywhere the Pope looked on the final miles to his Vatican apartment.

PREDICTS NEW EVENTS

The Pope described his visit to the Holy Land as the beginning of "many events which may be great and beneficial to the church and humanity."

After his return to the Vatican, the Pope told members of the College of Cardinals that his journey to Jerusalem with Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople, spiritual leader of the Eastern Orthodox Church, was "the beginning of a profound meditation."

Earlier he told crowds gathered in St. Peter's Square he had "the great fortune to embrace fraternally" the Patriarch of Constantinople and to exchange with him words of "sincere love" for the unity of union, harmony and love in Christ."

He said his journey was not just a religious pilgrimage but "an event which can have great historical importance."

In a speech at Ciampino Airport, the pontiff said his thoughts were turned to "all our brothers in the faith" with reference in holy places "sharpens our ardent desire for the hoped-for reunion."

Before leaving Jerusalem, the pontiff sent telegrams to 224 world leaders expressing hope for peace with justice and brotherhood.

He also sent telegrams to three non-Catholic church organizations—the Geneva, Switzerland—the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and the World Alliance of Reformed Churches.

drawal of the brigade next year.

"1964 could be an amazing year," a source close to the cabinet said.

Canada, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and The Netherlands appear determined to establish a United Nations for UN peacekeeping duties when called on.

WOULD BE TREATY

One authority said the even mentioned the possibility of a treaty or some kind of formal agreement among the Scandinavian and possibly an Asian nation—setting up such a force on which the UN could draw in emergency.

This source said it is not inconceivable that the UN might be asked to send peacekeeping missions to Cyprus and Malaysia.

The Canadian government last week renewed for an indefinite period its commitment to UN observer team in Yemen. Canada will supply the entire air component for the mission and about half the total personnel.

External Affairs Minister Martin has said that, for Canada, UN peacekeeping operations represent the military "chameleon" of the future.

In any transfer of the brigade in West Germany to Norway, part of the equipment could be earmarked for duty with the Nordic contingent which Denmark, Norway and Sweden have established for UN service.

Six of Family Perish in Fire

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Six members of a family died in a fire at their home late Monday night. A seventh, the mother, was in critical condition with severe burns over half her body.

Killed were Edward J. McMahon, 42; his children Kevin and Kathleen, 10, Eileen, 9, and Brian, 8, and his aunt, Margaret Smyth.

Mrs. Cecilia McMahon, 41, told police she and her husband awoke to find their room filled with steam. She said there was no explosion.

Mrs. McMahon said her husband carried her out of the burning house, then they went back to try and rescue the others.

Strong Hopes Missing Crew May Be Alive

HONOLULU (AP) — Weary airmen, some flying their fifth search mission, still expressed strong hope today that the crew and passenger of a missing U.S. Air Force cargo plane will be found alive.

"Hope and determination is what's keeping the men going—we don't think they're lost yet," said Maj. James Gibney, air force information officer, as the search entered its fourth day.

Some 70 planes and four ships have been combing the Pacific since Jan. 3, when the C124 Globemaster disappeared on a 2,300-mile flight from Wake Island to Hawaii.

Aboard were eight airmen and a navy passenger escorting a commander's body to the United States from Tokyo.

Reported signals from a "Gibson Girl" emergency transmitter, standard equipment aboard life rafts carried by all such planes, led searchers to believe that at least some of them survived a ditching at sea.

Additions and Alterations To Sewage Plant to Cost More Than Estimated Council Told

PICTON (Staff) — The new additions and alterations to the Picton sewage plant will cost more than the original estimate, according to Mr. Ben Davis of Crysler, Davis and Jorgenson, engineers in charge of the project.

Mr. Davis told council last night that unforeseen circumstances will force the price up, but he would not estimate just how much the increase would be. "It won't be too bad" was about all he would say.

He reported that the "dirt-last part" of the project was now completed. Fairing of the old parts has been completed, now they were starting to build. They ran into trouble when they started to put the pilings down for the chlorinator, they found that the rock fifteen inches thick, and testing showed that it would not take the building so they were forced to go deeper until they came to a shelf of rock which would support the building.

"We have a construction problem that is unforeseen now and it would appear that the building should be in operation by the first week of April," he added.

In the original estimates $4,000 had been set aside for contingencies, which is now all used up, and Mr. Davis warned that more unlooked for expenses would be forthcoming. He did however tell council that for the most part, most of the increase would qualify under the winter works program, of which the Government pays 75 per cent.

The contractor and company are doing everything in our power to keep the costs down, consistent with giving the completely operational and functional plant," he concluded.

START THIS YEAR

In answer to a letter from town council to the Minister of Highways in regard to the proposed bridge over the Bay of Quinte, a letter was tabled at last night's council meeting from the Honourable J. R. Mc-Naughton, Minister of Highways.

Mr. McNaughton advised the council that the pre-contract engineering has not as yet been completed, however the Dept. of Highways have scheduled this to start in early spring.

Construction of the bridge will start sometime in 1964, contingent on the funds being approved by the Legislature, the letter said.

According to the letter, purchase of the property on Highway 14 from Highway 401 to Cronk's Ferry, where the bridge will be erected, is already underway.

A letter from J. B. Cole, William St., advising that the town will have to pay him $1 per day for the use of a roadway leading to the town dump, which according to Mr. Cole, crosses his property, was turned over to the solicitor as to legality.

Council approved the sum of $17,409 for payment for the months of December.

For about 65 or 70, years, there has been a house and barn built in the allowance for road allowance and it did not come to light until recently.

Whitney Hagan, who owns property (or thought he did) on Washburn Street, tried to sell some of it, and found that his house and barn are actually built on what was to have been Washburn St. The road runs from Washburn St. to Downs Ave., just south of a new street that has recently been opened.

WANTS STREET CLOSED

Fred Ward advised council that he was acting for Mr. Dennett and that if the council would agree to close up this street, that all legal fees would be paid and it would not cost the town anything. The proposal was left with the Streets and Property committee for their recommendations at next council meeting.

Leonard Tripp, tax collector, told council that in 1963 $400,000 of the total of $312,467 in taxes had been collected. This is an increase over 1962 in taxes over and above that by about $50,000 by increased assessment.

He also reported as building inspector that building permits in 1963 were up as well, a high of $1,314,895, brought about by the $737,000 high school addition and the $300,000 sewage plant permit. "Taking these two large ones out we have still shead in collar value over 1962 by $271,978," he advised.

Reeve Ross Hepburn, served notice that, as chairman of Streets and Property, that he would like to see the west of the town and a new building in which to house the equipment owned by the town.

The Reeve was quite blunt when he said, "We are going to install new gutters and new curbities and you can like it or lump it. The idea of asking men to install new gutters on trucks while lying in three feet of snow, is ridiculous and anyone who has ever visited the town barn at the foot of the army camp hill, will agree that it is time we have a new one building. There is just no sense in our spending $5,000 for a new roof, we have to leave it outside," he added.

"OUT OF LINE"

Chairman of Finance Councillor James Bird, saying "tight man with a buck", admitted that the amounts they were spending on the old trucks were "away out of line."

Fire Chief J. Nelson Bell reported that his fire department were called seven times during December. The only damage reported in the seven calls was $800 to an apartment.

Council accepted the recommendation of the Fire Chief in promoting Mr. Reginald J. Mitchell to the rank of Captain with an annual increase each of $50.

Mr. Tripp was asked to submit the practicability of the town adopting the National Building Code in Picton, and to report to next meeting of council.

The Public Utilities in Picton had their collective knuckles rapped by council last night.

At the October 7th meeting last year, council passed a resolution that the PUC would not supply water to anyone outside the town limits until the proposed annexation was clarified and were informed that three people have been given water service.

A motion was passed that the PUC be given another copy of the resolution. "How do you expect we can have people want to be annexed into the town when they are getting town water now, one councillor asked.

Chi'dren Will Be Barred From Site

PICTON (Staff) — Mr. Ben Davis, of Crysler, Davis and Jorgenson, engineers charged with the responsibility of erecting the new sewage plant asked for the help of council in one of the biggest headaches we have."

Local school children persist in coming right through all the mess at the site. They even built two seven fences and walk in all that muck and are afraid that someone is going to be hurt," he added.

Council and James Bird, principal of Mary Street School, advised Mr. Davis that steps will be taken to correct the situation.

Council approved the week of January 25-31 as Minor Hockey Week in Picton.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Doctor Leroy Hall was installed as president of the Picton Kiwanis Club at the annual installation night of the club, held last night at the Royal Hotel. Over 85 members, their wives and guests attended.

Fred Jennings will be the secretary; Neil Lowe the treasurer and Carl Boyd is vice-president.

The directors for 1964 are: Fred Jennings, Ray Lennox, Bill Strachan, Arnold Besteman, Russ Alexander, Bill Lane, Jack LeHeup and John Syrett.

REDS MENTION VISIT

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow's press mentioned for the first time Monday Pope Paul's pilgrimage to the Holy Land. Izvestia, the Soviet government organ, carried a 150-word report on the Pope's meeting with Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras.

Medicare

who would be least served by this plan," the brief said.

In addition, premium charges are likely to be high that "a significant number of additional families (who have no medical insurance) would be unable to purchase insurance."

The fact that the legislation gives the government the power to alter maximum premium rates and assigns the Ontario Medical Association "monopolistic control" over medical fees is likely to keep private insurance out of the reach of the self-employed and those whose employers do not pay part of their premiums, NOT SO SEVERE

The legislation received milder criticism mainly on the ground that the proposed standard insurance plan limits benefits—from the Metropolitan Toronto Social Planning Council, a private organization enhracing public and private welfare and charitable bodies.

While agreeing with the plan's basic principle the council described it as only "a beginning, since it is restricted to basic physicians' and surgeons' services.

The plan's list of excluded benefits "limits the effectiveness of preventive services and early case-finding techniques." Specifically, the council called for at least partial coverage of dentistry, drugs, nursing, special appliances, newborn-infant care, periodic health checkups —all are excluded under the draft act.

The council also called for layman representation on a permanent committee to advise on implementation of the act.

D. K. Summerhayes of Brantford, director of the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, entered a special plea for coverage of the heavy cost of treating that disease of the respiratory and digestive systems.

MAY RAISE STANDARDS

EDMONTON (CP) — Harry Hays, federal agriculture minister, said Monday that Canadian farmers may have to meet new hog grading standards before the end of the year. Mr. Hays said in an interview the government is looking at hog grading standards and trying to find ways to improve them.

C of C Debates Increase in Bell Rates

PICTON (Staff) — The proposed increase in the rates of the Bell Telephone came up for further lengthy discussion at the regular meeting of the Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce held Monday noon at the Royal Hotel.

The increase will be forthcoming in the spring of 1964, and will mean 25c more per month for the individual residential line, but for this increase it will be possible to phone toll free to and from Wellington.

The D.O.T. answered the letter sent from the Chamber which was read at this meeting. The letter disclosed that in the Picton area there are, as of the end of December, 2,070 phones. They further stated that when this figure reaches 8,250, that a rate increase will be forthcomatic. But, they emphasized that if the town of Picton turned over the phone line to increase with the toll free deal now, they probably would never get it.

When the members heard this, for the most part, they were content to go along with the increase, and a motion was passed that a letter be written to the DOT explaining that now that the increase had been fully explained that the Chamber would not be against it.

Picton's reeve Barney Hepburn, however, was a little wishy-washy way of doing business, and you are embarrassing the council by writing a letter by voting against a thing one month and changing your views the next. The people will think you don't know what you are doing," he added.

DEFENDS S. G. OF C. MOVE

Chamber President Alan Allen defended the chamber's move by saying that they had moved too fast on the veto, and now that all facts were known, it was felt that the increase was warranted.

After much argument, an amendment to the motion was passed, that a committee be formed to investigate the feelings of the retail merchants in the area, and other persons who might be affected by the proposed increase."

The idea is that merchants who are not too progressive that are against this increase, but will be forced for the most part, the retail merchants in Picton would be in favor of both the back and forth to Wellington on a toll free basis," said Jack Coleman, prospective of the Canadian Tire Store here.

The Prince Edward Chamber of Commerce's next meeting will be held at the Royal Hotel on Saturday, January 18, at 6:15 p.m.

The chamber has been fortunate in securing the services of Dr. G. R. Weir, professor at the Western University of London. Dr. Plava has had extensive experience in annexation and planning and will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting. Anyone interested in annexation and planning and the after affects on town, would do well to attend this meeting.

Tickets, which are in short supply, are on sale at the desk of the Royal Hotel.

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It's a far cry from the horsy smells and the barsier chatter of the sheetrows at Belleville's "Little Greenwood" but winter snows and sub-zero weather do not deep-freeze the chatter and plans of the harness horsemen.

The sixteen-sheet program of the Quinte Driving and Racing Club met with the success it deserved and the Saturday night outings of harness buffs were thoroughly enjoyed.

Everybody connected with the sport, it seems, had a good time, "Seldomrite," the club's selector, had a good season, and shirt salesmen report a marked increase in business.

Again this agent failed to locate his "private eye," the mysterious grey-haired lady whose uncanny bangtail predictions would make the hero of "Three Men on a Horse" look like a Kentucky moonshiner.

Attendance last year at Belleville and district harness meets indicate an upsurgence in the popularity of the sport and rumors trickling in from outside points have it that the pacing-trotting fraternity is planning for one of the best years in some time to come.

The Belleville Fair Board followed its main attraction, the Mounties' Musical Ride last August with a special harness meeting that apparently met with the approval of race buffs in particular and fair patrons in general.

So much so that the Board is planning a special harness attraction this year which will be offered on August 29, the final day of the 1964 fair.

It will feature for the first time in harness Racing history here a special Stake Race, an event that should attract the best horses in the district eligible to compete.

The featured event will be known as the Black Diamond Cheese Stakes which carries a purse guarantee of $200 added.

Horses eligible for the Stakes are non-winners of $200 lifetime at any gate by January 1st, 1964.

A high-ranking Fair Board official told me that with the number of horses in the district eligible to compete, the estimated amount of the purse could be $1,500. Money divisions are 45-25-15-15 and five per cent. To the winner will also go a trophy with the stake name engraved on it.

The Black Diamond Cheese Company has taken a decided interest in the sport and is to be commended on its effor to promonote the special feature with the Fair Board.

The rules of the Stake Race calls for six separate interests to be represented, and the reservation of the Fair Board of the right to refund entry fees and cancel the race. Each horse must be named when nominated.

The nomination fees must be submitted by February 28, the sustaining fee by May 1st and the declaration to start fee by August 1st.

A veteran horseman informs me that in his opinion there are some twenty horses in the city and eastern district that will be eligible to compete. This would make for one of the finest races seen here in years. The Stakes will be the best of three heats.

Several horsemen have informed the Fair Board of their approval of the Black Diamond Cheese Stakes and their willingness to enter one or more horses.

The Quinte Riding and Driving Club is holding its annual meeting in the near future and no doubt will make plans for another successful season.

Olympics Warned To 'Watch Russia'

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Sports Editor

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Olympic hockey team left by plane late Monday for a 10-game exhibition swing in Europe before it gets down to cases in the Jan. 29-Feb. 9 Olympics in Austria with one clear warning: Watch out for the Russians.

Every responsible observer gathered in Toronto during the weekend for the executive meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association sounded the warning in interviews. All polled had seen the Reds in action in the last 13 months.

The Canadians may have to worry about the Reds but the team, youngest and possibly the best - conditioned club Canada has sent overseas in years, cleaned up—at least temporarily —a troublesome matter confronting the amateur status of its players. All have been declared eligible under Olympic rules by Canadian officials.

This was dealt with at a closed-door session early Monday between Rev. David Bauer, coach of the team, officers of the CAHA and Jim Worrall of Toronto, president of the Canadian Olympic Association. Worrall said he would back the CAHA if the eligibility of any player was questioned before the games.

HAVE TO QUALIFY

Due to the fourth-place finish of Trail Smoke Eaters in the world championships at Stockholm, the Canadians must meet Yugoslavia in a qualifying round Tuesday, Jan. 28, a day before the official opening of the games.

"A win—and this is simply a matter of the Canadians putting on their gear—will put Canada in the championship round with Russia, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, the United States and a couple more countries. A loss, and no one is considering such a horror, would dump Canada in a lower bracket and out of contention for the title.

Father Bauer, who gathered players from various colleges in Canada and the U.S. and has had them together since September, listened to people talk of his club's chances and said only:

"I have a world of respect for the Russians. I think they've got to finish either first or second and no worse than that with the opposition coming, of course, from Canada, the Czechs and Swedes.

"One or two little mistakes could cost us a game. We could have 10 real good scoring opportunities and not click against two or three by the other team but one or two errors and we're blown it. Of course, this works for the other teams, too. We'll just wait and see."

NOT FRIGHTENING

The Czechs and Swedes have just completed a tour of Canada and didn't scare many Canadians. The Czechs finished with five wins, three losses and a tie while the Swedes were 3-3. Canada met Czechoslovakia three times and won twice and split a pair against Sweden.

Lionel Fleury of Quebec City, first vice - president of the CAHA who saw the Russian team a month ago, said "Russia definitely is the team to beat" if Canada hopes to regain the title it surrendered to the Reds in the 1956 games and the U.S. in 1960.

"The Russians looked real good and they certainly have improved since their tour of Canada in the fall of 1962," Fleury said.

"They play positional hockey and the players seem to be where they should be at all times. They've leveled the art of power plays to the screened shot. They aim to keep control of the ice and they never stop skatin if they are five or six goals ahd, they go for it."

RATED CONTENDER

His sentiments wei echoed by Gordon Juckes odeville, Sask., general manager of the CAHA; past president Jack Kemp of Simcoe, Ont., and Art Potter of Edmont, CAHA president. But all ga Father Bauer's team a rightful chance.

Juckes accompanied the Czechs on their 11-gat tour of Canada and one gam in Calgary when they were kiss 6-4 by the U.S. team.

"The ice surfaces in Europe are about 100 feet wi, which is 15 feet wider thanisks in Canada. If our team c adopt to the wider surfaces ook for it to beat the CzechsSweden and Americans. The ee we have to worry about ithem is stan cish."

Potter, who accompied the club overseas, felt but if "everything goes, rightve can finish no worse than ahead".

"We can win it all, he added. "I'm not afraidof the Russians. We have good chance against any. The Russians are fast, anco are we."

'Step Toward New Chance'

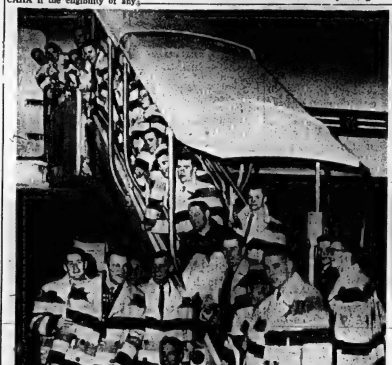
Patterson Whips Italian Champ

STOCHOLM (AP) — "I never give up my hope for a chance to meet Sonny Liston again but I realize that maybe I don't deserve it yet. I want some more matches here first."

That was Floyd Patterson's reaction to his Monday night victory over Sante Amonti, the first short step on his comeback campaign after failing to survive the first round in two title bouts with Liston.

"I consider the victory a step on the road toward a new chance at the world heavyweight title," said Patterson, who stopped Amonti in 2:25 of the eighth round of a 10-round match after knocking him down three times.

Although Amonti is the heavyweight champion of Italy he is unranked in world ratings. Patterson is the No. 8 contender.



The last knockdown in the eighth found Amonti reeling back and finally sitting on the bottom rope. He got up, tried to move and opened his arms wide in a gesture of resignation.

"I know I can do bettef," said Amonti. "I had great respect for Patterson whom I admire and I thought he would be better. In fact, I thought the match would end sooner, somewhere after the fourth round, and that Patterson would be more victorious."

Patterson was so fresh after the battle that he stopped at ringside, instead of returning to his dressing room, and sat in a chair, signing autographs while his kid brother, Raymond, was losing to Swedish heavyweight Lars Norling.

It was Floyd's first fight since he was knocked out by Liston in 2:10 of the first round at Las Vegas, Nev., on July 22. A year before in Chicago Liston finished him off in 2:06 of the first.

The bout drew a crowd of 11,700 fans and a gross gate of about $125,000.

Palmer Third At L.A.

Harney Grabs Golf Thriller

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Paul Harney, a stranger to the victory stand for almost five years, stood off the challenges of all rivals Monday to win the 32th annual $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament. He had a final par-71 round and a 72-hole score of 280.

Leaving favored Arnold Palmer trailing at 282 with a 70, the 34-year-old Harney, from Worcester, Mass., picked up his first triumph since he won the Pensacola, Fla., open in 1959.

Bobby Nichols holed a treacherous three-foot putt on the 18th hole to grab second place and avert failing into a log jam for third place with Palmer, Bob Goalby, with a 67, Dow Finsterwald, 68, and Al Geiberger, 70.

Nichols had a 71 for 281.

Harney gave his backers a slight scare on the final hole. His approach went into the bleachers. He dropped out and putted toward the cup, leaving himself a four-foot putt.

CAME CLOSE

He lipped the cup, then dropped in the final putt for his 71.

Harney, now a club pro at Sunset Oaks near Sacramento, Calif., went into the final round one stroke in front of Nichols and Jimmy Clark, two in front of Jay Hebert and three ahead of Palmer, Geiberger and Al Balding of Toronto.

Balding slumped to a 74 Monday and finished up with a 286 total which earned him $1,250. He was in 11th place, tied with three others.

George Knudson of Toronto, who shot 71-75-75-76—297, earned $43.

In Monday's final round, Geiberger first made a run at Harney and the gap was only one shot after nine holes, with Palmer still a three-two strokes back.

PALMER FOLDS

The Palmer threat, with Arnie seeking a second straight triumph here for the $7,500 top purse, all but collapsed at the turn. Palmer birdied the eight and ninth but on the 8th and 11th went one over par.

Palmer birdied the18th but Harney still was hanging on to the lead.

Finsterwald came o to challenge Harney, drawe within one shot midway onthe back nine. He birdied the13th and 14th but fell back onhe 16, going one over par.

Then came young Nichols. But he couldn't muster birdie on the final three hole Nichols' second place was wth $4,000, while the four tripped third with $2,725.

Harney has not ha exactly starving since his Pensola victory. Last June he stablished something of a new' also-man. He tied with Palmer in the $100,000 Thunderbird Classic at Akron, Ohio, at $26,500-000 for his loss is as $2,500.

In 12 starts in 13, Harney won $22,877.

U.S. Open champion Julius Boros shot a 66 for 225 total.

The two surprised the field round, James Blacked Roger Ginsberg, had varyg finishes. Black shot a final 67 for a worth $1,530. Ginsberg at 291 was just in the money, earning $43.

GORDIE HOWE'S HOCKEY
By GORDIE HOWE

I like to kill penalties, especially at the start of the season. I think you get in shape faster.

Killing penalties, you get keyed up, especially in a game where there are quite a few penalties called against your club.

If you were just taking a regular shift, you might sit there for a number of minutes and "cool out."

Generally, you perspire quite freely. And when you perspire you feel better - much better.

But if you get what we call a cold sweat - - you just don't sweat - then it's hard work to try to build up that perspiration again.

Another thing about killing penalties, there's always an opportunity if somebody gets careless to get a breakaway. In fact this happens quite often.

There are different types of penalty killers. You have the type that come in deep, almost like a drive bomber routine.

When you go behind the net, one will come in and delay you. The other will come in and either knock you down or try to get the puck away from you.

When Bobby Ivan was coaching the Wings, he said if two penalty killers come at you, throw the puck right across the rink, there should be somebody open on the left side.

I did that once. There was somebody there, all right. Only he was an opposing defenseman. And they scored a goal on my pass. So it never pays to guess, you should look.

When you're taking the puck behind your own net to get organized, if you've got the man advantage, if you see the two dive bombers coming in on you fast, just pull up.

If one comes behind the net, then it's just a matter of knowing where the other guy is. A lot of times you can shoot a body check. You can actually go to the ice with him and tie him up. Then that leaves only their three against your four. And you've got more room yet to manoeuvre in.

CFL Could Benefit From US Leagues War

By JIM PEACOCK

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian Football League, facing an increasingly difficult fight for United States college players as the National and American leagues wage a signing war treated more than 1,200 guests to a will-life buffet dinner here Monday night.

The purpose of the function, plainly, was public relations. And from the turnout it was a successful event.

The guests included representatives from many of the National and American league teams. But most of those dining on Canadian goose, mallard duck, moose stew and British Columbia salmon were football coaches from colleges across the U.S.

CFL commissioner G. Sydney Halter of Winnipeg told the guests in a 30-second speech that the dinner was one way his league used to say thanks to the college coaches for helping to develop the many fine U.S. athletes participating in the Canadian game.

HOPE FOR BENEFITS

Halter didn't say so but the CFL's nine teams also hope it will help them in their U.S. recruiting programs, more difficult this year than ever.

The dinner was staged here during the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, where football coaches from more than 600 U.S. colleges are among the delegates.

The guests also were shown the color film of the 1963 Grey Cup final in which Hamilton Tiger-Cats defeated British Columbia Lions 21-10.

It was the Lions who came out on by the CFL clubs, which rely to considerable degree on help from the college coaches in singling out good professional prospects who might be persuaded to play in Canada.

It isn't expected to make this year's recruiting much easier for the CFL, however, since the National League apparently is determined to outbid the American League for the leading college stars, whether they need them or not.

SPEND BUNDLE

"The NFL boys are spending money like it was going out of style," said manager Joe Ryan of Edmonton Eskimos, here along with managers and coaches of the other eight Canadian teams.

"They don't care if the Canadian league signs some of these boys." Ryan added, "but they don't want to let them go to the AFL."

Ryan and the managers of the other CFL teams have been discussing their own problems in private conferences here while they're coaches have been circulating to try and pick up any fresh information about possible prospects.

One subject that occupied most of Monday's managers' meeting was the question of limiting the number of naturalized U.S. players each team will be allowed to carry.

Halter told a reporter after the meeting:

"There was a long discussion on whether there should be a limitation on the number of naturalized Americans on each club and whether it should be introduced next season or the following year. This question was not resolved."

'Dogs' Boss Is In More Trouble

WINDSOR (CP) — Sam Fox, manager of Windsor Bulldogs of the International Hockey League Sunday was charged with having liquor in a place other than his residence.

The charge was laid after police entered Fox's office at the Windsor Arena. Also charged with the same offence was Kenneth Wilson, 40, coach of Toledo Mercuries.

The charges were read Monday in court and Fox and Wilson were remanded to Jan. 10 without plea.

Mikita Likes 'Hay' Over Headlines

Cash Over Credit

MONTREAL (CP)—Stan Mikita is one of the greatest players in the National Hockey League. His success at the game, he believes, will not be written in record books, but in his bank book.

"Prestige doesn't buy groceries," the Chicago Black Hawks centre is fond of saying. At 25, Mikita has realized early that the days of top physical strength and maximum earning power do not last forever.

So it doesn't concern him that while he has been the leading Chicago point-getter for two seasons the fans still idolize his more glamorous teammate, Bobby Hull. And his theory explains why Mikita was content to sit out the all-star game and dicker for a bigger salary while his fellow superstars basked in the warm glow of headlines.

MONEY TALKS

The hero-worshippers may be more him, but as long as Mikita scores goals and assists on others, the NHL will pay him recognition — in dollars and cents.

Mikita picked up his first grocery money of the season this week as the lone NHL player to have passed the 35-game mark, the halfway point in the schedule. His paycheck was for being awarded by the league to the leading scorer in the first half.

He barely edged out Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens, who earned $250. Both had 48 points, but Mikita held the upperhand in goals, 21 to 16.

Another of the cash prizes, forerunners to all-star and major awards bonuses soon to be announced, went to goalie Glenn Hall of Chicago, winner of $250 as the leading candidate for the Vezina Trophy presented to the netminder on the team least scored against.

BROKE DEADLOCK

Mikita soon broke the deadlock with Beliveau as the teams headed into the last half of the schedule, picking up a goal and three assists to lead the point parade with 52. The Canadiens centre is one point behind, tailing for two goals and an assist.

Hull holds down the third spot with 47 points and leads the goal-scorers with 29 markers, one more than Mikita and another Hawk, Kenny Wharram. Beliveau has the most assists with 33.

Hall holds a slim one-goal edge over Toronto's Johnny Bower in the Vezina competition. The Hawks have allowed 95 goals in 35 games while Toronto has given up 96 in 36 contests. Hall leads with five shutouts and Bower and Detroit's Terry Sawchuk are runnerup with three each.

Chicago's Reg Fleming is the most penalized player with 108 minutes and in team penalties it appears that the team highest in the standings spends the most time in the penalty box. The Hawks lead with 636 minutes and the Bruins trail with 369.

"Best Approach To Young People"

Jesuit Priest Operates Sports Centre

By ZOE DUPUIS

MONTREAL (CP)—In a renovated four-storey building in east-end Montreal a handsome man in open - necked shirt watches a group of girls at a gymnastic class.

He is Rev. Marcel de la Sablonniere, 45-year-old director of the Immaculate Conception Sports Centre on Papineau Street.

"Sports is the best way to approach young people," he says. Gymnastics is more important than all the others because it is a basic discipline."

Since his ordination as a Jesuit priest in 1949, Father de la Sablonniere has been trying to help youth cope with the pace of the jet age. And sports has been his primary means of doing it.

"When I was a young man we worked 80 hours a week," he says. "But the more this old world goes on, the less we work. What are the young people to do with all this leisure?"

Explaining the principle on which the centre is operated, he says "youth can learn not to abuse freedom through proper use of leisure time."

MUST START YOUNG

"It is important to teach boys good citizenship when they are young. If an older boy goes wrong, it is very difficult to make him a good citizen again. Rehabilitation is much more difficult than prevention."

Opened in September, 1951, the Roman Catholic sports centre, in a grubby section of the city, has become a $60,000-a-year operation.

On any Saturday 1,000 youngsters flood the $250,000 building. Another 10,000 persons bowl, there each week, and 150 volunteers come daily to bolster Father de la Sablonniere's regular staff of 22.

The centre plans holidays for whole families, individuals and even courting couples.

One of 13 children, Father de la Sablonniere, who has been a director of the centre since it opened, admits that in his youth he was particularly interested in sports.

"I was an intellectual. I always frequented reading and study to playing sports."

He attended St. Lawrence, St. Marie and St. Therese colleges in Montreal. In 1946, while at St. Marie, his organizational ability made its first impression on the athletic field. He organized an intercollegiate hockey league which still functions.

JOINS IN PLAY

Today he frequently discards his priest's collar, padding about the centre in shorts or swim trunks to join his flock in play.

"When people come here, I'm not always preaching to them," he explains.

A member of the National Fitness Council, he is a constant critic of the lack of physical training facilities in Canada.

"Why there are not more and bigger sports centres is incomprehensible to me."

Among his supporters, and frequent visitors to the centre, are Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, Archbishop of Montreal, and Maurice (Rocket) Richard, retired hockey great. Businessmen in the district give him $10,000 a year to help meet expenses.

FATHER HAS THE FLOOR — Rev. Marcel de la Sablonniere has the attention of these pint-sized members of Montreal's Immaculate Conception Sports Centre as he discusses their activities at a family night gathering. "We have a big, big system here. But we have only just begun. There are yet hundreds of young adults who still have no place to spend their leisure and nobody to show them how.

"I have no illusions, This centre doesn't guarantee that a boy won't go wrong. But I am convinced this is the only way to reach him, and to show him the way."

Leafs' Boss Files Protest

Howe Young Irks Smythe

TORONTO (CP) — Stafford Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said Monday he has filed an official protest with the National Hockey League over the conduct of Chicago defenceman Howie Young during Saturday night's NHL game between Leafs and Black Hawks in Toronto.

Smythe said Young used intemperate language and spat when he was penalized twice for major penalties during the second period of the game. The Leaf president said he had protested to referee-in-chief Carl Voss over Young's behavior in the penalty box.

"He was using filthy language and I object to this in the presence of women and children," Smythe said. "I told him to watch the language and some fan told him the same. He turned around and spat but I don't know if he was aiming at me."

The penalties, imposed against Young for successive skirmishes with Bruins Ted Green and George Armstrong of the Leafs, were accompanied by a minor penalty to Armstrong which subsequently were assessed an additional minor penalty for delaying the game and misconduct and game misconduct penalties against Reg Fleming for vehemently protesting the ruling.

Departmental Hockey

The Works clipped the Police Department by a narrow 6-5 score.

In the other game, Public Utilities and the Ontario Intelligencer Inkspots battled to a 6-6 deadlock.

Don Wood spearheaded the Intelligencer attack with three goals. Singletons were registered by Bill Bourette, Jeff Waling and Les Harvey.

Lewis starred for Utilities with four goals while Forgie and Smith bagged one apiece.

Brad Lee sparked Public Works with three goals while one each went to Semark, McInroy and Reid.

Police marksmen were McLinton, Ethier and Titterton.

Lightfoots Defeat Picton Army

Belleville Lightfoots hung onto a share of first place by whipping Picton Army 94-40 as the Bay of Quinte Basketball League resumed play at the air station last night.

Lightfoots caught the Picton squad on an off night and the winners actually scored more points in the first half than the losers did all night. It was a 42-21 score at half time.

The Lightfoots had no less than five players hit double figures on the scoreboard. Rick Donovan paced the club with 21 points, followed by Larry Campbell with 20 and Terry McCabe with 18. Doug Ross contributed 14 and Ian Houchin hit for 11.

Pete Sullivan was top man for the Army crew with 12 points. Junior Warington collected 10 and Roger Sullivan had nine.

PICTON ARMY (40): R. Sullivan 9, P. Sullivan 12, D. Gano 2, B. Goss 5, P. Tiller, MacDonald, M. Pearson, Beadle, Gunz 2, T. Warington 10.

BELLEVILLE LIGHTFOOTS (94): G. Smith 9, I. Houchin 11, T. Ewing 2, Reynolds 2, R. Donovan 21, T. McCabe 18, L. Campbell 20, G. Duggan 2, D. Ross 14.

TO WEAR HELMET

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings defenseman Bill Gadsby, who suffered a slight concussion in a Sunday night National Hockey League game with Montreal, will wear a helmet when the Wings play at Boston tonight. Gadsby was hit on the head by a puck in a Saturday game against New York and then hit his head on the glass in the Sunday game.

District Darts League

Legion and El Rancho won by seven-point margins in City and District Darts League action last night.

Legion whipped Don's Delivery while El Rancho thumped the Wildcats by scores of 9-2.

In other games, Bartlies topped Lucky Lager 8-3 and the Skyliners defeated Plaza A. and P. 7-4. Bobcats edged Bad Boys 6-5. ANDC won 8-3 over Ben's Dusters and Will's Cities Services copped a 7-4 win over Jim's Place.

Plans have been announced for an open darts tournament, for both men and women's teams, which will be held at the Legion on Saturday, January 25. The tourney gets under way at one o'clock.

Legion Annual Meet

Top Stars Will Compete

WINNIPEG (CP)—Organizers of the Royal Canadian Legion's annual Meet of Champions announced Monday night that Yuk Yeet of the New York Athletic Club will compete Jan. 25 in the shot put against Parry O'Brien of California.

The legion, which has sponsored the indoor track and field competitions in Winnipeg for five years, has joined this year with the Toronto Telegram in putting on a two-day cross-country championship. Most of those taking part at Winnipeg will compete the night before in Toronto.

O'Brien's top effort so far is a toss of 62 feet, 8¼ inches. Yeet has put the 16-pound ball 58 feet, 6½ inches.

Another major feature is expected to be the men's mile with the field headed by Siegfried Hermann of East Germany, who two years ago became the second man to break the four-minute mark indoors.

Hermann will compete against Ergas Leps of the Toronto Track Club, Dale Storry of Oregon State University, Jim Irons of Brampton, Ont., and Kip Carnien of Emporia State of Kansas.

The two-mile field has Ireland Sloan of Emporia State and Hyike van der Wal of Hamilton, Chris Williamson of the University of New Brunswick and Dave Ellis of Toronto.

The half mile has Bill Crothers of Toronto, George Kerr of Jamaica and Don Bertola of, Rossland, B.C.

'The Place' Newest Nightery And Swingingest Hangout

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP)The Place is Toronto's newest and swingingest hangout.

Sunday afternoon get-together sessions involve a hootenanny, a dance demonstration, dramatic sketches and earnest discussions on a variety of subjects ranging from sports and modern art to whether or not teenagers are "physical softies or intellectual vegetables."

Occasionally, regulars stage a satirical (though non - political) revue patterned on Establishment lines while others work on a gigantic mural, play chess or just clown around.

The Place, a studio set that looks like an old town house, is the setting for the new version of Time of Your Life—a CBC television program introduced last year as an Ed Sullivan-style variety show.

The new program, starting Jan. 5, lacks the precision and slickness of last season's shows. Its aim is more modest.

Peter Katner, a 20-year-old banjo-strumming University of Toronto student president and a natural ham, leads the 27 young entertainers — ranging in age from eight to 20—through the various activities.

YOUTH EXPERTS

Discussions and much of the dialogue are carried on without scripts.

Music is arranged and conducted by Bruce Johnston, 20, another U. of T. student who is majoring in mathematics and physics.

Dancing is under direction of 16-year-old Brian Foley, a student of jazz dancing.

"We've fired all the adults from the show," says producer Bill Davidson, explaining his attempt to get away from the classroom style of programs using adult lecturers and demonstrators.

The idea of the new show is to generate in young people a spirit and interest in doing things."

"We try to tell them they can have the time of their lives if they do things—if they are active participants."

And by combining a variety of experiences and activities, Davidson hopes, each youth there is no need to be embarrassed about any of their hobbies and hopes that the club, now incongruous, they may soon.

SCENES FROM MACBETH

"We want to show there is nothing wrong with a boy who likes both ballet dancing and football with a physical electronics engineer who also reads and writes poetry; with a classical pianist who reads MAD magazine."

Plans for the program include an interpretive dance version from Shakespeare's Macbeth followed by a discussion by the audience with a panel that finds Shakespeare difficult to understand; a pizza-baking session in the kitchen; a demonstration of the Charleston and other dances from the 1920s.

A Dave Clark Five hangout has arranged for alto sax, guitar and vibraphone by Paul Hoffert. Another of the regulars, 17-year-old Susan Conway, has written a 15-minute modern-day Cinderella play. A group from Upper Mary, which will be performed in the attic.

Time of Your Life will alternate weekly at The Place with full-length dramas for young people. The first play, The Boy King, will be televised Jan. 12 with 13-year-old George Allan in the lead role.

And while both programs are aimed primarily at a youthful audience, Davidson anticipates 50 per cent will be adult.

TALK OF FIGHT

BUDAPEST (AP) — Negotiations are under way for a bout between Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, formerly a ranking middleweight, and Laszlo Papp of Hungary, the European middleweight boxing champion, the Hungarian agency MTI reported Monday. Don Fullmer is a younger brother of Gene Fullmer, former world middleweight titleholder who has retired. Papp, three-time Olympic champion, is undefeated.

SAY DORIS TOPS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Motion picture exhibitors say actress Doris Day was the No. 1 drawing card at theatres in 1963, just as she was in 1962 and 1960. A poll conducted in Canada and the United States listed these other top box office stars, in order: John Wayne, Rock Hudson, Jack Lemmon, Cary Grant, Elizabeth Taylor, Elvis Presley, Sandra Dee, Paul Newman and Jerry Lewis.

"IT'S FAKED"

By Yvonne Mitchell

"It's Faked." How many times have you heard that statement from people who are discussing some dangerous exploit they have seen in motion pictures?

How could such-and-such a star do that dangerous stunt? Asks a seemingly naive filmgoer. Actors athletics inevitably replies, "Don't be silly —it's faked."

Actually, a movie star often has to spend a lot of time learning to do something he has never done before, then fakes whatever difficult situation that script demands.

In "The Main Attraction," showing tonight at the Bells Theatre, Pat Boone, Nancy Kwan and I play circus people and we all had to do some difficult things. You'll see Pat up-side down on a trapeze. He learned how to do it, or rather —and this was perhaps even harder—he learned how to do it badly as he was supposed to in the story.

And Nancy learned how to jump onto a moving circus horse's back. This is more difficult than it looks and, in order that the camera could shoot from various angles, she had to run and jump onto the horse's back all morning and till her muscles ached. Did she fail? Yes, many times, narrowly missing the circus ring curb and the horse's hooves another time.

Local Group To Purchase Maple Leafs

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Pollock, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, said Monday negotiations for sale of the baseball club to a Toronto group are almost complete.

Pollock said both he and owners of the club favored local ownership would do much to boost good feeling and attendance for the Leafs.

He said Cooke, who purchased the club in 1951 and has lived in Toronto ever since late 1961, feels absentee ownership is not in the best interest of the team.

Negotiations have been going on since last October after the Leafs' attendance dropped to 181,000 from 346,000 marking Cooke's ownership.

Although several groups have been negotiating with the club, Pollock said, it appears the new owners will be a Toronto group headed by Robert Hunter and Sam Starr. Hunter, an avid baseball fan in his youth, is with a brokerage firm and Starr is a manufacturer of children's clothing.

TEAM OF YEAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The world champion Los Angeles Dodgers have been chosen team of the year in The Associated Press year-end poll. Sports writers and broadcasters voting in the poll picked the baseball champions as team of the year by a huge margin over the professional and college champions in other major team sports. On 142 ballots, the Dodgers received 94 votes for first place, 21 for second and 11 for third.

Search for Something Fresh Presents Difficult Problem

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's constant search for something fresh and new presents a difficult problem: Suitable occupations for heroes of series.

To have a series rolling, a star must encounter new characters and situations each week. That explains the popularity of such occupations as doctor, lawyer, nurse or social worker. Their clients and patients have individual difficulties or diseases.

Teachers have the student body to draw on. Cowboys and the sporting tourists of Route 66 simply ride from one adventure to the next. Marshals, detectives and other policemen have new crimes. Reporters move from story to story.

Some heroes are composites. The Fulitive, is a doctor on the run, fleeing from one adventure to the next.

Many professions with some of the rigid qualifications don't fill the bill. Dentists have patients, but their professions and the life-and-death quality of the doctor's bedside manner station owners have employees — but their professions lack glamour.

Meanwhile, TV will continue to introduce the stock professions—doctors, lawyers, nurses —each with some special flavor.

NBC has been busily shooting material for a program on smoking and health—and will use it in a special broadcast tonight, 7:30-8:30 P.M. (pre-empting The Lieutenant). The program has been set for live presentation Saturday of a U.S. government report on smoking.

Recommended tonight: You Don't Say, premiere, NBC, 8:30-9 p.m. Quiz-panel series version of a day-time game show.

By LORNE BRUCE

EDMONTON (CP)—Canadian golf champion could be as good as Americans within three to five years, says Gino Fracas, who in the says, is that they start learning the game early and get good coaching at the high school level.

He's encouraged by the fact that five graduates of Canadian high schools made first string in their freshman year with the Golden Bears. What's more, Fracas says, four or five players with the 1963 team are good enough to graduate to the Canadian professional league.

The explanation? "We're getting better coaching now at a lower level."

Fracas, a native of Windsor, Ont., who played fullback with University of Western Ontario Mustangs, was converted to inside linebacker when he joined the Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference from 1955 to 1962.

He spent a year at the University of Alberta as an assistant professor teaching physical education.

EAST NO BETTER

Fracas says the calibre of Eastern intercollegiate football hasn't improved since he played at Western Ontario from 1951 to 1955 but the West has improved greatly.

He figures two teams—Alberta and the University of British Columbia—could play in the Eastern college circuit, and a third — Manitoba — is getting close to Eastern standards.

Fracas mentioned that St. Francis Xavier University of Antigonish, N.S., might challenge Alberta's claim to the unofficial national title by virtue of its post-season Atlantic Bowl victory over University of Toronto. But he draws attention to the fact that Queen's University, the Eastern champs and the team Alberta defeated 25-7 in the East-West game, had defeated Toronto twice in league play.

As for the possibility of setting up a formal post-season arrangement for determining a national champion, Fracas says it's complicated by the fact that only four or five intercollegiate leagues in Canada.

There could be two post-season playoffs in which the winners of four leagues would compete, then a third game could be held as a two survivors together. But it would involve a lot of expense and probably would further handicapped by bad weather.

Eligibility would be another problem. Fracas says a team could play football for Queen's for eight years and for Alberta only five years.

Bloc Will Veto Move Kansas A's

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Despite strong protests to his plan by other American League club owners, Charles O. Finley said today he is certain he will be permitted to transfer the Athletics from Kansas City to Louisville.

Finley said he would accept Governor Edward T. Breathitt's invitation to go before the Kentucky assembly opening today in Frankfort "to ask for their (the lawmakers') support."

"I think—no, I'm confident—the fans here will give as much support, if not more, to major league baseball as those in Kansas City."

Finley said he was looking forward to the Jan. 16 meeting of the club owners — knowing that three negative votes would defeat his plan.

"I'm confident after I have met with them and explained my problems, there will be no difficulty in getting the votes needed."

Finley signed a contract with the state of Kentucky Monday to bring the Athletics to Louisville for the baseball seasons. The owner and Kansas City officials have deadlocked over a new contract for lease of a stadium.

"Finley is a fool and his action is unbelievable," remarked Arthur C. Allyn, owner of Chicago White Sox. A strong vote bloc, composed of Chicago, New York, Boston, Baltimore and Detroit, is opposed to Kansas City moving.

No Decision on Sale Until Parliament Meets

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP) — Edward Heath, president of the board of trade department, told groups of protesting members of Parliament and film directors Monday that there will be no decision on the sale of the government - controlled Film Company until Parliament reconvenes Jan. 14.

The dispute involving British Lion, Britain's only dependent film-producing company, has been running continuously since early December.

It began when the government's National Film Finance Corporation decided to turn its majority share in the company over to private enterprise. It increased when it was learned that probably the buyer was producer Sidney Box.

Box has been closely associated with the Rank organization, one of the two huge British concerns that now make films but—control movie house circuits as well. The other giant is ABC—Associated British Corporation.

HAVE FEARS

Independent film producers, responsible for many of the recent critical successes in British movies, rely on British Lion for capital and are afraid that Rank and ABC want to squeeze British Lion out of business.

Since Box's name became public, the Film Finance Corporation has received offers from several other groups, including Sir Michael Balcon, the man behind the successful post - war Ealing Studios that launched the career of Sir Alec Guinness.

John Terry, managing director of the Film Finance Corporation, said he'll be announcing Monday's on weekend reprts that a new bidder, described only as a Canadian citizen living in the United States, had entered the fray.

Hornets Replace Players

GALT (CP)—Left winger Bob McKnight and defenceman Jim Randall, both of Kitchener have joined Galt Hornets of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

McKnight and Randall will replace Bob Abbott, Toronto and Pat Bester of Kitchener, dropped last week.

McKnight scored 63 goals and added 86 assists in three previous seasons with Galt.

He served as playing-coach with Galt Terriers part of last winter before competing in the world championships with the RCAF. He was also captain of the 1962 world representatives from Galt and played with the 1960 Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in the Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Randall, a university student in Waterloo, played briefly with Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers in the OHA last season. He had three assists in four games.

The Hornets are scheduled to duty left winger George Bardwell, out for two months with a broken ankle.

"FOR LOVE OF MONEY"

Opens Thursday

Says Romantic Comedy Far More Strenuous Than Action Pictures

Kirk Douglas is discovering that romantic comedy is even more strenuous than adventure drama.

In his current role with Mitzi Gaynor and Gig Young in Universal's boudoir frolic, "For Love Or Money," the star:

1—Gets flipped head over heels in a Judo set-to with statuesque Julie Newmar.

2—Is twice tossed overboard from a yacht into a temperature sea.

3—Gets involved in a madcap twist in which he has to outshake and outlast all his dance partners.

"After this," he compares, "old-fashioned action dramas will feel like a siesta."

"For Love Or Money" opens Thursday at the Park Theatre, for its first Belleville showings.

Astrological Forecast

By SYDNEY OMARR

For January 8

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Aspects point to achievement and accomplishment. You can now "dig in" and gain strong foothold. Act with confidence. Study financial situation carefully. Now is time to make needed adjustments.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Time is your ally. Don't rush or jump at first offer. Wait — analyze situation. Show consideration for your own needs. Others my not take time to think for you.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Tactical matters require attention. Attend to details. Check source material — find out the why and where. Applies especially to job, club or social duty.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Seek opportunity for change. Find out where mistakes are made — then correct them. Avoid being over-sentimental. Be thorough. Stress realistic approach.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Time for self-analysis. Find out if you really know what you desire. Don't do things merely to acquire a "status" symbol." Are you being true to yourself?

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Ideas can be made to "work." Devote time to testing, analyzing. You can excel in presentation of new projects. Time when you will gain attention. Very favorable!

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Time ripe to reach out and achieve goals. Don't be afraid of "costs." You are more than capable of success. Act accordingly. Above all, finish what you start.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Visits, gifts, pleasant surprises highlight day. Stress greater independence, inventiveness. Original ideas pay off. Avoid one who wants to bicker, quarrel.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Stress knowledge rather than emotion. Means be calm, cool. Study situation, offers, potential. Learn by teaching. Set example. Follow Golden Rule.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You will be made to realize that you're not alone. Show appreciation. Make fine, simple gesture. If socializing, be as good a guest as you are a host.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Don't be dominated — avoid trying to dominate others. Day when your natural keen judgment must be called into play. Great business opportunity if you are alert.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Good Moon aspect coincides with chance to learn, to display knowledge. Avoid temptation to act on impulse. Applies especially to communications.

If today's your birthday . . . you are a dedicated individual; you would always forgo profit in favor of principle.

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Scorpio, Sagittarius, Capricorn. Special word to Gemini: Best to consult with partner, marital or business — concerning financial matters.

FATALITIES DOWN

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Football fatalities in the United States dropped to 14 in 1963 from 19 each in 1961 and 1962, medical researcher said Monday. Dr. Floyd Eastwood said that of the 16 deaths directly associated with football, 11 occurred in High School and one each in sandlot, professional and college play. Eastwood is chairman of the injury and fatality committee of the American Football Coaches Association.

Bowler Set High Record; Play In Plane

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — The latest thing in air travel—for nine flight, anyway—is bowling alleys.

Two champion bowlers, Sylvia Wene and Dick Weber, played a game high in the sky at 500 miles an hour Monday. Their final scores were not exactly in keeping with the altitude.

A full-sized alley and pinsetting machine, weighing nearly four tons together, were installed in a new jet cargo plane for a trip between New York and Dallas.

The bowling alley flight was staged by American Airlines to demonstrate the size of its new jet freighters.

Weber rolled the first ball and hit a strike. A great cheer went up and somebody wisecracked: "That is the first spare strike in history."

Miss Wene scored a spare. Another roar.

WEATHER HALTS PLAY

Once the flight got a little rough because of weather conditions and play was halted.

"That's the first time a bowling match ever had to be called off on account of bumpy grounds," joked a newsman.

From over the intercom came the voice of Capt. Russell Sapp: "Wait a minute. I'll try to find a smoother level."

In a few moments, play was resumed and Miss Wene got stuck with a seven-pin split.

Again from Capt. Sapp, a bowling enthusiast himself: "Sylvia, let me know when you're ready and I'll tilt the plane for you."

"Never mind," Miss Wene shouted back, "I'll do the bowling and you keep your eye on the road."

The match wound up with Miss Wene winner with a score of 148. She got one strike and six spares. Weber was close behind with 144, three strikes and three spares.

Hornets Win Over Guelph

GALT (CP) — Jim Dahmer fired four goals, three of them in the final seven minutes of play, to lead Galt Hornets to a 6 - 4 comeback victory over Guelph Regals and a tie for first place with the idle Woodstock Athletics in the Ontario Hockey Association senior division.

Hornets, who scored four times in six minutes and 22 seconds late in the third period, launched a 27-shot assault at Guelph goalie Boat Harley in the final period to overcome a 4-2 deficit. Hurley was brilliant with 45 saves.

Ron Hergott and Carl Hatt were the other Hornet marksmen. Rick Hay, Bob Brown, Willem Menard and George Usitalo hit for Regals.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids . . . and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort and promotes speedy healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief was occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured tissue and eliminates dead tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded.

THANK YOU...

FOR PAYING YOUR CARRIER... PROMPTLY

Collections by your Ontario Intelligencer carrier are timed to provide you convenient service and best meet his school and study schedules. He may begin collections Thursday and complete his collections on Friday, so that he can pay for his papers on Saturday morning.

Your thoughtfulness in paying him the first time he calls to collect will encourage him in giving you prompt service. It will save him extra work for which he would receive no additional profit.

It will give him more time for school and other activities . . .

Viet Cong Guerrilla Life Begins at Birth in Delta

2nd Thurlow

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Life for the Communist Viet Cong guerrilla begins at birth in the Mekong River Delta, which the Communists have been organizing since 1940.

Many of the best troops in the Viet Cong 514th battalion were born of guerrilla parents.

For many, being a Viet Cong guerrilla is not merely fighting for a cause, it is a way of life.

There is no time limit for victory. The dedicated Viet Cong seems willing to fight a lifetime, if necessary. Or his sons will carry on the fight.

That is the Communist enemy the Saigon government and its American ally are trying to liquidate, spending $500,000,000 and 16,000 lives a year.

WHY CONTINUE?

Why does this enemy go on fighting, even in the face of modern weapons and bloody losses?

Part of the reason is economic. Under the Communist colonial regime, few peasants owned land. Most worked as tenant farmers, paying heavy taxes to landlords.

In 1955-56, after South Viet Nam was independent, the Ngo Dinh Diem government proclaimed major land reforms. But the Communists already had carried out land reforms of their own, long before the final defeat of the French. The new reforms came too late.

The Communists had done much more. They had an administrative system of provincial, district and village commissars. They had staffed schools with trained political cadres. They levied taxes and raised a guerrilla army—The People's Self-Defence Forces of the National Liberation Front.

The kind of socialist economic system proclaimed by the Communist cause naturally has Vietnamese peasants, provided they could keep some land of their own, free from the contrust outsiders, including "foreigners" from Saigon, and perfer helping themselves.

GOVERNMENT MOVES

In many areas, the government has set up low-interest loans and agricultural organizations, but the peasants still prefer borrowing money from cooperatives they organized, even at higher interest.

In the eyes of many peasants, the modern South Vietnamese army itself is a foreign army. It fights with American weapons and advisors, its officers were trained in France or in the U.S., its uniforms are foreign and it is commanded by officers remote in outlook and standard from the peasant.

Saigon commanders have been trying for years to improve army discipline to prevent the stealing of food from peasants but such stealing continues. Government raids on Viet Cong hamlets are dreaded, not welcomed as liberation.

In any case, government troops stay only a few hours. The Viet Cong will be back quickly, with brutal reprisals against anyone who collaborated with the Saigon troops.

Income Tax Explained

A column designed and written for the working persons, who are not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Department

A taxpayer who purchases bonds or other revenue producing assets in his wife's name, with the mistaken idea that he will not be subject to income tax on the revenue so earned will get quite a shock when he finds he is taxable on this as long as the assets are held by his wife.

One of the first questions asked in such cases by the income tax assessor is, "who supplied the capital to purchase the asset." The person who supplies the capital to purchase a revenue producing asset is the one that is responsible for the tax on the income earned by the asset. In short, you can't use your capital this way to escape income tax.

A taxpayer in business, where he employs his wife may not deduct as a business expense any salary he pays her. On the other hand, the wife need not file a return if her only income is from the salary she receives from her husband. If a son or daughter is employed by the father, the wages are allowable as a business expense. The taxpayer who is leaving employment to enter the business field, should check on all these points before he files an income tax return. My advice to such a person is to engage the services of a professional accountant to set up his bookkeeping system and prepare his first income tax returns. In many cases the accountant would save the embryo business man more in income taxes than the fee charges for his services.

If the taxpayer is in partnership on an equal basis with another person and the taxpayer's wife is employed by them, then the wife needs only to report one half of her salary. The other half must be added to her husband's return.

Question 1 — I buy bonds in my wife's name on the installment plan. I am told I have to pay the tax on the interest. Why?

Answer: The person supplying the capital to purchase bonds is liable for the interest on the bonds and it must be reported on his return. This is covered in Section 21 (1). of the Income Tax Act.

Question 2 — I am thinking of buying a business and employing my wife and two sons. Are their wages deductible profits as an expense?

Answer: The only deductible amount is the wages paid to your sons.

EAT CHEESE

Cheese is recommended as an ideal outdoor meal because it is easy to carry, easy to digest and an excellent form of nourishment.

Successful Living

Age Difference Big Cause Of Marital Incompatibility

DEAR DORIS — We have been married nine years. I am 43, my husband 50. We have three children. My husband seems to me to be very difficult. He works at a small business seven days a week. Could earn much more in less time, but will not. We live on very little — too little — and it shows.

He enters not into family or community life. I take the children to Sunday school. I am miserable and unhappy and getting more so. I have started selling cosmetics to try and make a bit more money and also to get out more.

I am concerned about the effect the poor home atmosphere will have on my children. — TERRIBLY UNHAPPY.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR UNHAPPY — Didn't you ask for trouble when you married a man nearly a generation older than you are? His idea of work and of prosperity are different from yours: he thinks he is doing fine.

In a way, he is. He's on the job; you can say that for him. Even if you can't say much for his rating as a father or provider!

Part time work has rescued many a woman from despair. Accept what's good about your stolid, elderly mate and provide the good cheer (and the extra cash) the whole family needs yourself.

DEAR DORIS — Could you send me some information on careers in biology? I have become very interested in this subject since I started the course in school. — PAM.

* * *

DEAR PAM — The field's a broad one; and well suited to women, with bur interest in detail and in careful research Possible careers include medicine, pharmacy, agriculture, forestry, pest control, wildlife management, food and nutrition and space travel!

Requires university studies — some very special ones. Write Miss Marion V. Boyce, Director of Women's Bureau, Department of Labor, Ottawa, for more information.

Confidential to MISS CAROL — If there is no teen-agers' group at your church, learn how to take the bus into town and join the "Y." You'll have to strike out to help yourself, so don't be too shy to try.

* * *

(Doris Clarke, Master of Social Work, is a graduate of McGill, Toronto and McMaster universities, and has had broad experience in social work. If you would like help with your problems, write to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Point Anne

POINT ANNE — Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bradshaw, and children of Almonte, spent the Christmas holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilmour, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bradshaw, Front Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Akey and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Reid at Rossmore.

New Mongolia Suffering Economically by Dispute with China and Russia

The Mongolian People's Republic, a land of 1 million between Siberia on the north and China on the south, is rarely visited by western reporters. The Associated Press reporter who filled the following dispatch went in from India, travelling via the Soviet Union.

By HENRY S. BRADSHER

ULAN BATOR, Mongolia (AP)—The main rail line from Russia to Red China, which passes through Mongolia, carries little traffic these days.

From the window of the main hotel in Ulan Bator, capital of the Mongolian People's Republic, one can see and hear only two or three trains a day, and a few days recently 150 Russian medium trucks passed through on flatcars but little else was going to China.

Until about six months ago, some 30 freight trains a day came through, according to one observer living here.

Chinese workers in Mongolia for transit traffic were a major prop under the economy of this Communist country. Now Mongolia is suffering economically as a result of the dispute between China and Russia.

With Mongolia supporting the Russian position, China has been tough rather than helpful toward this former Chinese possession. In addition to the decline in rail traffic, there is uncertainty whether China will continue to help with economic development here.

3 UNDERPOPULATED

With a population of only 1,020,000, Mongolia is underpopulated and has depended upon Chinese laborers for construction of economic development projects financed by aid from Communist countries.

From a peak of 12,000 imported Chinese laborers, the number was down to 6,000 when they were withdrawn last autumn ahead of the normal winter suspension of outdoor building.

Mongolian officials seem concerned whether the Chinese laborers will return in the spring.

Mongolia has been under the wing of Russia since 1921. It emerged as an accepted international entity in 1961 and joined the United Nations.

Mongolia had had to work at friendship with China. Until last Dec. 1 or so, Mongolia's 4,700-mile border with China was in dispute.

SIGNED TREATY

Then Peking summoned the Mongolian premier and Communist party boss, Yumzhagin Tsedenbal, to sign a border treaty. Officials here say that of 17,000 square kilometres in dispute, Mongolia got 12,000. The border has yet to be marked.

Chinese statements indicate a desire to reclaim some Siberian regions east of Mongolia that Russian expansion incorporated centuries ago.

A basic Chinese reason for wanting to move into Siberia or Mongolia could be the pressure of population in China.

Mongolia, the part of China suffering this country on the south and east, has been heavily colonized by Chinese. Outer Mongolia has a coverage of fewer than two persons a square mile.

Until its fall in 1911, the Manchu dynasty of China claimed full legal authority over Outer Mongolia and exercised loose control as China was trying to reassert its control when the foundations of the modern, Communist Mongolian state were laid by Mongolian partisans and Russian troops in 1921.

Hostile Factions In Cyprus Start Removing Lines

Still Are Many Signs Of Bitterness, Suspicion

By VERGIL BERGER

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Hostile Greek- and Turkish-Cypriots today slowly began removing barbed wire and roadblocks on both sides of a cease-fire line after three weeks of tension and bloodshed between the two communities.

Both factions had arranged to remove roadblocks and barricades starting this morning at 6 a.m. but by late morning, although the barricades were down, others were still in position guarded by armed men.

Despite a British - negotiated agreement between the two factions for the removal of the barricades, there still were many signs of mutual suspicion and bitterness.

Away from the immediate area of the cease-fire line—still deserted except for British troops—both quarters of the capital Nicosia returned to normal with stores doing a brisk trade.

BOTH SIDES AGREED

The agreement to remove the barricades was part of an accord negotiated by both sides through Britain's High Commissioner Sir Arthur Clark Tuesday.

Fear-stricken Greek- and Turkish - Cypriot armed police positions and the armed troops of both sides in the streets and the countryside, Clark said.

The one exception was the situation in the village of Lefka, where there were difficulties in communication and liaison.

Five thousand Turkish - Cypriots were surrounded by Greek-Cypriots in Lefka. Both were digging in facing each other.

Clark said he hoped normal transportation and communications would be restored in Nicosia by Thursday morning.

The pact also covered the restoration of postal services. Telephone lines on various parts

Doctors Losing Fight to Make Nehru Rest

CP from AP-Reuters

BHUBANESWAR, India — Prime Minister Nehru's doctors said his condition today was very satisfactory but revealed he had suffered a "slight weakness" in his left arm and leg.

The doctors said the weakness showed signs of improvement.

The report of weakness in his left limbs aroused speculation that the 74 - year - old Indian leader might have suffered a stroke. However, some medical experts—who have not examined Nehru — said there could be other explanations.

Nehru, here for the annual meeting of his ruling Congress party, ordered to bed Tuesday. His doctors said he was suffering from weakness and high blood pressure.

The first announcement of Nehru's illness Tuesday said his doctors had advised him to take a complete rest and accept no engagements for two weeks. But on Wednesday this was changed to "for the present."

But after visiting Nehru, Rumarswami Venkatarama Nahar, the Congress party president, indicated the prime minister might be back in the 500 by another day. He told a party session Nehru was "in excellent health and excellent spirits," and wanted to attend today's session, but the doctors advised "at least one more day's rest."

An official bulletin said Nehru who has almost single handedly carried the burdens of India since independence in 1947, had been under heavy strain because of a hectic round of official engagements during the last few weeks.

After his illness was announced, there was considerable speculation he might decide to give up power, at least temporarily, if his health failed to improve. In any case, it was felt certain he would be forced to miss several critical party debates during the Congress session, which drew some 3,000 delegates.

Since March, 1962, when he suffered a serious illness, Nehru has appeared to age by 10 or 20 years. Although officials insist there is nothing vitally wrong with him, outside medical men have speculated that he suffers from hardening of the arteries, common in men his age. His doctors have declined to comment.

Nehru had flown to this city 300 miles southeast of New Delhi after delivering a speech more rambling than usual to the International Congress of Orientalists Saturday.

Can Fidel Fight In a Bus?

By GEOFFREY WHITEHEAD

LONDON (Reuters) — The head of a British firm planning to sell 400 buses and spare parts to Cuba today challenged United States claims that the buses were strategic goods.

Donald Stokes, head of the Leyland Motor Corporation which has concluded a £4,000,000 ($12,000,000) bus deal with Cuba, declared: "These buses are not strategic war material —you would look damned silly going to war in a bus."

American officials in Washington Tuesday said they "regretted" the deal, saying it would not help U.S. efforts to isolate the regime of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Commerce Secretary Luther Hodges said the way sense Leslie Aandersen's firm sold buses "they were strategic."

DRAW LINE SOMEWHERE

But a board of trade spokesman said the line had to be drawn somewhere between strategic and non - strategic goods—and quoted Russian Premier Khrushchev as once saying that even trouser buttons could be considered strategic because they held up soldiers' trousers.

Stokes said today that first deliveries of the buses will start in April, with East German ships picking up 100 buses a month from a British port.

Stokes said: "We could not get any British shipowner to ship them."

The United States "blacklists" any shipping company carrying cargo to Cuba and prevents the line from carrying any government-financed cargoes.

Stokes said: "I am sorry to disapprove. But this is an English company doing a deal with Cuba. We did not have a press conference when they (the U.S.) did a deal with Russia. I have no knowledge of having to go to America for permission to sell buses. We have dealt with Cuba before."

He added: "We sold them $10,000,000 worth of buses in 1949 and about $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 worth in 1956. This is just a repeat order from a traditional customer of ours. . . . They want 1,400 buses altogether."

In criticizing the deal, Hodges suggested Britain should keep in mind its own trade history, including the British sale of certain ships to Germany after the First World War, only to find Germany using these products to hurt Britain in the Second World War.

Hear Evidence Concerning Finding of Human Remains

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) —Evidence aimed at establishing the identity of human remains discovered in an abandoned mine gravel pit was presented Tuesday at the opening session of a preliminary hearing into a charge of capital murder against Jack Cullen.

Marsi is charged in the death of Henry Merigaut, 20, a university student from Annecy, France, who disappeared in 1963 after coming to Canada to trace the footsteps of his grandfather, who disappeared in 1898, Klondike gold rush.

An RCMP dogmaster, Walter Joseph Regtling, told the hearing that tracking dogs uncovered certain remains, including bones in a gravel pit 220 miles southeast of Whitehorse last May. The remains included a partially-mummified left hand with a signet ring bearing the initials H. M. on one of the fingers.

Regtling said the dogs also uncovered worn socks, clothing bearing French labels, human bones and a piece of shoe.

Constable Lloyd Dunham, a fingerprint expert from the RCMP crime laboratory in Whitehorse, said a fingerprint impression of the index finger of the partially - mummified hand matched an impression on a French national identity card issued to Merigaut.

Merigaut, a student at the University of Grenoble, disappeared after writing his parents that he was hitchhiking across the north. He was last seen May 30, 1962, in a car at a service station 100 miles from the Alaska Highway, about 10 miles from where the human remains were found.

Inspector J. L. Vachon, officer commanding the RCMP's Yukon subdivision, told the hearing he had made an extensive search for Merigaut over an area from Dawson City, Y.T., 1,300 miles northwest of Edmonton, to the B.C.-Yukon border, about 500 miles southeast of Dawson City.

The approach of winter forced police to abandon the search temporarily Dec. 15, 1962. The search resumed in the spring and on May 27 the human remains were located.

Expect Pope Soon to Name New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Speculation mounted today that Pope Paul may soon hold the first consistory of his reign for the creation of new cardinals.

This consistory, which would strengthened since the pontiff's three-day pilgrimage to the Holy Land, Vatican sources said.

The five likely candidates mentioned include Archbishop John Heenan of Westminster, the leading Catholic prelate in Britain, and Archbishop William Conway of Armagh, primate of Ireland.

The others were said by the sources to be Archbishop Giovanni Colombo of Milan, Archbishop Ermenegildo Pizzi of Florence and Archbishop Enrico Dante, the Pope's 79-year-old master of ceremonies who accompanied him on his pilgrimage.

The sources said the likely time for the consistory would be during Lent, which begins with Ash Wednesday Feb. 12.

Pope Paul today likened his Holy Land pilgrimage to "a flash of a meteor" which revealed soil that had become barren and inert."

The pilgrimage, he said, created awareness of "thoughts and hidden designs buried but not extinguished in the providential historic experience which seems now to open up to prophetic voices."

The pontiff made the statement in a general audience in the Clementine and Consistorial Halls of Vatican Palace, two days after returning from the pilgrimage.

KHRUSHCHEV IS HOME

LONDON (Reuters) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev returned to Moscow Tuesday night from secret talks in Poland with Polish Communist Party leader Gomulka and other party leaders, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

GOP Bids To Avoid Split

WASHINGTON (CP - AP) — The Republican party high command begins four days of talks today aimed at smoothing the path toward the selection of a presidential nominee.

One of the main problems the party faces is to pick a nominee without going through bitter fights in forthcoming state primaries — or popularity polls—that would leave the party disunited for the November presidential election.

Some party leaders believe fear that Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the two announced candidates so far, will kill each other off in the campaigning leaving the field wide open to an outsider.

They feel this would weaken the party because the time comes to pick its candidate at the Republican convention in San Francisco early July.

The Republican National Committee did not have the question of party harmony on its formal agenda, but political leaders from Ohio and Wisconsin have expressed hope that Goldwater and other major candidates would keep out of their primaries in the interests of avoiding a "divisive" fight.

DEMOCRATS HAPPY

The Democratic National Committee, convening here Saturday, has no such worries about slugging matches for presidential nomination, since President Johnson is considered a sure bet to run. The question not likely to be publicly decided before the Democratic convention in Atlantic City, N.J., next August is:

Whom will Johnson choose as his running mate?

For this spot, the stock of Sargent Shriver, director of the U.S. peace corps, and Governor Rockefeller of the late President Kennedy is soaring.

That is because Johnson has showered Shriver with praise—calling him most brilliant, able and dedicated man he has met—and to deliver letters to Pope Paul from leaders of middle east countries.

ROMNEY AVAILABLE

Tuesday, Governor George Romney of Michigan announced to a National Press Club audience in Washington that he would be available to accept a genuine draft for the Republican presidential nomination.

But he is one more of a strategic political move than a tactical one.

The Communist government stirred up enthusiasm and caused the death of about one-third of Mongolia's then 22,000,000 livestock by an attempt at forced collectivization in 1929. A quarter-century later the benefits have begun to appear, and there to have won willing acceptance. There now are 24,000,000 livestock by official reckoning.

In addition to schools, the buildings of Dashdorji's co-operative include a hospital, veterinary station, cinemas and other facilities. This is the permanent core manned by 2,800 persons in the shifting system of pasturing the livestock by the other 2,000 co - operative members.

Plans To Slash Uranium Output For Weapons

'Unconditional War' Declared on Poverty

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today a surprise budget cut of $97,900,000, even below the current level. And he told Congress he will slash output of weapons-making uranium by 25 per cent —a move he challenged the Russians to match.

In an unusually brief yet meaty State-of-the Union message, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of Congress, Johnson also declared "unconditional war on poverty in America." He ticked off his specific policy ideas for the first time since he became president seven weeks ago following the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's proposals — many requiring action by Congress— were aimed at producing a range from the depths of poverty to the height of the moon.

For most taxpayers, the biggest surprise probably lay in the budget disclosures. At $97,900,000, the first Johnson spending plan would be $500,000,000 smaller than the latest estimate of spending under Kennedy's final, record-setting budget.

MAINTAINS STRENGTH

Johnson described his budget as "efficient, strong and frugal." And he said it will maintain "the full strength of our defences" while providing the most federal support in history for education, for health, for retraining the unemployed, and for helping the economically and physically handicapped.

Endorsing some two - dozen proposals in about 2,900 words, Johnson urged Congress to bring his programs "to a fair and final vote." He called for the strongest civil rights bill in 100 years, enactment of a massive tax cut by Feb. 1, new steps toward disarmament and selective increases in overtime pay rates.

Other Johnson programs — many inherited from Kennedy—

Eliminate Incentives Says Brief

By STEWART MacLEOD

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian economy could best be assisted by eliminating tax incentives and lowering corporation taxes, the Retail Council of Canada said today.

Recently-implemented tax incentives "are of little significance in stimulating economic activity," the council said in a brief to the Carter royal commission on taxation.

If incentives are to be offered, they should be available to all taxpayers. "Incentives which are discriminatory, unrelated to ability to pay, or are highly selective as among taxpayers, are to be deplored."

Most incentives had traditionally favored manufacturing and processing industries, and these industries were becoming less significant as employers. A greater portion of jobs was being provided by service industries.

The council said that industries who gain a tax holiday by establishing themselves in a depressed area are in need of assistance. "Industries which for the first few years after commencement of operations can expect very little income would, under this incentive, receive little or no benefit."

The incentives, the brief said, may cause only a redistribution of unemployment. "Measures which encourage industry to locate in uneconomic areas are contrary to what the long term objectives of sound economic planning should be."

The government's main concern should be in reducing the

Six Pounds of Dog Meat Sustain Couple Lost for Thirty Days

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. (CP)—Six pounds of dog food, scrounged from an empty trapper's cabin, helped sustain a Yukon couple through 30 days of hunger, rain and snowstorms while lost in rugged bush country east of here.

William Alexander McDiarmid, 43, a trapper, and his wife Maggie, 25, were reported in good condition Tuesday after their ordeal.

In an interview they told of leaving their Larsen Lake cabin Dec. 3 to return to Smith's River, 60 miles away. Within a few days of blizzards and deep snow they became lost.

"By that time my feet were frozen to the knees," the trapper said. "We had to turn back, but weren't sure how much further we had to go. We were kept bleeding; Maggie was fine.

"I was carrying 60 pounds; I had 32 martin, 20 mink, a few chet, blankets and my rifle. We just couldn't keep up.

"We had counted on Christmas Day. I had a sardine sandwich and Maggie had some canned sausage.

"Our New Year's dinner was marvellous—canned sweetbread. Our food ran out and we ate moss and snow. We found six pounds of dog food in a cabin and ate that."

Bush pilot Bob Harrison said he was supposed to meet the couple, but found a note on their cabin door saying they had "gone to get sleigh dogs."

"Twenty-six days later they had not returned and I checked into to see if they had arrived," he said.

Harrison said he notified the RCMP who sent a plane out New Year's Day when the search was called off. The man ground party the next day.

"While flying over the snow, I suddenly saw snowshoe tracks and I followed them. I saw a fire and a figure waving a blanket.

Maggie said she couldn't believe it when she saw the plane. "I ran out to get wood and threw it on the fire. I screamed to Bill to wave a blanket. He saving there was no trouble getting up with his frozen feet.

"We weren't really sure the people in the plane had seen us or intended we were in trouble. It flew around and left awful.

"They came about noon the next day and I felt wonderful."

The ground party gave the McDiarmids hamburger and stew and remained with the couple two days before they were brought here.

McDiarmid, a trapper all his life, says this was the "roughest experience" he has had.

"The only other bad time I was in 1935 when I was just a kid. Someone shot my brother and I had to break trail for 200 miles to get him to a hospital.

"We ran out of food and I shot two of our seven dogs so that we could eat."

McDiarmid was to go to Whitehorse today for medical attendance for his feet before returning to his 190-mile long trapline.

Automation of Everything Except Nurses in Hospitals of Future

MELNO PARK, Calif. (AP)—Automation of almost everything except nurses will mark the hospital of the future, says a health economist. And cheerful nurses, relieved of drudgery by electronic devices, will have more time for patients.

Each patient will have a small bed private room. His bed which may not resemble a bed at all, will supply an individual climate to his own liking and does for a premature baby.

Electronic devices will monitor his needs when awake. The sleeping pill will be replaced by a weak electric current flowing through his head at bedtime.

There'll be spray - on dressings, disposable garments and single-dose packed medications. The automated hospital of the future will house almost all patients under a doctor's care, further reducing bone strain.

This broad picture, with variations, was painted by Dr. Mark S. Blumberg, senior health economist of the Stanford Research Institute, in explaining why economist began research into hospital operation about five years ago.

"Our research teams are looking ahead only about five years, which is the indefinite future," Dr. Blumberg says.

Many of the devices that will automate the hospital would bolt down manpower requirements are at present available. Others are in the drawing board.

"Some already in use, such as those monitoring patients' temperature, pulse and respiration, need to be improved," Dr. Blumberg said.

Already, in post-operative recovery rooms, a monitor can automatically trigger an electric device to stimulate a faltering heart, for example. Others change the electrical control panel signals of patient agitation, vomiting, hemorrhage, changes in blood chemistry clues to impending surgical shock.

The bed," said Dr. Blumberg, "will be broken down into its functions, and some won't look like a bed at all."

Dr. Blumberg envisions the patient's body encased in a box-like tent of light, opaque material. The patient would have no upper sheet and blankets because circulating air would maintain desired temperature and humidity.

Dr. Blumberg says electricity has been used in the United States to induce anesthetic sleep, and work on electronic-narcosis for relatively normal sleep has been done by the Russians.

He sleeps in a metal-frame bed and listens to a battery-operated radio. His wife has a sewing machine. His 20-year-old son is studying geology in Moscow. Another son, 18, is preparing to be an engineer in Ulan Bator, the capital of the Mongolian People's Republic.

In four years his daughter, 16, will have home to attend school at the headquarters of a co-operative of which Dashdorji is a member.

The co-operative is about 25 miles west of Tsetserleg, a provincial capital of about 18,000 persons, and 225 miles west of Ulan Bator.

Dashdorji is currently camping in a mountain - rimmed meadow more than a mile high. Ten of the cows are owned by four families, the other 120 by the co-operative—part of the co-operative's 84,000 head of livestock on 1,225,900 acres. Dashdorji is paid for tending the cows.

He looks prosperous and happy with his outdoor life. He grew up before there was much education in Mongolia.

Despite increasing industrialization and agricultural development, Mongolia is still primarily based on livestock economy.

The government has organized all but 5 per cent of Mongolia's 1,020,000 population into about 200 co-operatives and 25 state farms.

Genghis Khan Makes Peace With Marx

TSETSERLEG, Mongolia (AP)—Dashdorji lives in a yurt.

In the spring he takes the canvas and then the felt off its wooden frame, dismantles the frame and in about 30 minutes is ready to move his home. He mounts his small, rugged Mongolian horse and drives 150 cows to summer pasture.

There, Dashdorji puts up the circular yurt about 16 feet across in about 40 minutes and moves in. When autumn comes, or maybe sooner if the pasture is poor, he moves again.

Sukarno Holds Meeting With Macapagal

MANILA (Reuters) — President Sukarno of Indonesia today held the first of a series of talks with President Diosdado Macapagal in which he was expected to press for Philippines assistance in his opposition to the Malaysian federation.

After emerging from the 2½-hour meeting, Sukarno replied to reporters who asked him if there had been progress: "There is always progress."

Officials said they expected Sukarno to pledge support for the Philippines' claim to Sabah (North Borneo), a part of the recently-formed Southeast Asia federation.

Philippines officials said they, on the other hand, would do their best to contribute to the easing of tension over the British-backed federation which Indonesia claims is an extension of imperialism in Asia.

Macapagal was expected to emphasize that his country's objection was to Britain's sponsorship of the federation, which also includes Singapore, Malaya and Sarawak, not to the alliance itself.

It was believed Britain has appealed to Macapagal to use his influence to moderate Indonesian claims.

Arrested for Car Theft

A 28-year-old Belleville man, arrested by Provincial Police at Shannon, Ont., will face charges of car theft Friday.

Howard Dean, also recently resident in Toronto, was arrested Monday after a car was reported stolen in Belleville.

The automobile was taken from outside the home of Phillip McCarthy, 108 George Street.

Dean was returned to Belleville today by city detectives.

Y's Activities

Tuesday was a momentous day as the YMCA launched out into the West Hill community. A total of 38 boys registered and took part in the first day's program. Each class has a capacity for about 40 young sters so there is still room for more boys to join.

The leaders who will be assisting the program secretary are the same programs as Richard Cherry and Terry Makely. They are both YMCA trained and have been in the regular program for several years.

Tomorrow the girls will get under way with their program. There will also be room for 40 girls in each of Thursday's classes. The 9 and 10 year olds start at 4.15 p.m. and the 11 and 12 year olds begin at 5.00 p.m.

Child Drinks Half Bottle Of Whisky

WALSALL, England (Reuters) — A two-year-old child died in hospital here four days after drinking nearly half a bottle of whisky at her home.

An inquest on Patricia Ann Sharratt was told Tuesday she suffered from an abnormal thirst ever since having pneumonia at the age of two months but she was never given alcohol.

Her father, Edward Sharratt, said that on Dec. 30 his elder daughter told him the child was drinking "beer" but he and his wife found she had drunk about half a bottle of whisky.

Patricia was taken to hospital but did not regain consciousness before she died four days later.

British Lion Dispute Reflects Sickness of Movie Industry

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — The British Lion dispute reflects the sickness of Britain's film industry.

The struggle basically is between independent producers and two big cinema chains that also make films, the Rank organization and Associated British Corporation.

Involved on the independent side are some of the most talented moviemakers in the country — Sidney Gilliat, Frank Launder, the Boulting brothers, Roy and John. All are directors of British Lion.

In the middle is a paradoxical story of full houses in central London and some of the biggest movie centres outside as Birmingham and Manchester, contrasted with empty cinemas in the smaller communities.

Bowling alleys and bingo halls are the new features of suburbia. The number of movie houses shrank last year to 2,500 for all of the United Kingdom, roughly comparable to the figure in Canada which has less than half the population. In 1936 these islands had 4,475 cinemas.

NEED MORE IMAGINATION

A film expert who knows the situation in both countries told a reporter he believes Canada's recent revival in movie-going results largely from an imaginative program policy.

In Britain, the independent producers say their chances of getting their good films into the cinemas is restricted by the quasi-monopoly position of the big distributing circuits.

So called free enterprise that take a chance on continental or international films are seldom seen outside such London areas as Chelsea, Kensington, Hampstead and Golders Green, which draw on a cosmopolitan audience.

Despite the crisis, Britain is making some outstanding films. Production wavers unevenly. Such hits as Tunes, Saturday Night and Sunday Morning, The L-Shaped Room, Taste of Honey, This Sporting Life, and I'm All Right, Jack balance the dead weight of innumerable B films.

The dispute over British Lion, a government-owned company, arises when it became known that government wanted to hand it over to private enterprise. First proposal rejected the successful bidder would be producer Sydney Box, but politics and union leaders interviewed Monday with the government exacted a promise that the decision will be taken until Parliament reassembles next week.

Meanwhile, the string of bidders for British Lion has mounted to six, including an unidentified Canadian and Star Tom O'Brien, president of the Federation of Film Unions, says the bidder he likes is that of British Lion, and of the film industry generally, may be turned into a public company assembly a general election, issue.

American Proposals Run Into Soviet Opposition

MOSCOW (AP)—Two American proposals to increase information among the Russians about western affairs ran into Soviet opposition Tuesday at the outset of talks on extension of the U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program.

U.S. officials said they will do their best to get permission for establishment of a chain of American - sponsored reading rooms in the Soviet Union.

The U.S. also wants to increase to at least 100,000 the copies of the state department picture magazine America sold on Soviet news stands. The Russians limit sales to 60,000.

Chief Soviet Delegate Sergei Romanovsky took note of both as side issues in a prepared speech. He said there will be no discussion about the establishment of American reading rooms. He also declared there will be no talk about increasing the circulation of U.S. publications in the Soviet Union.

The discussion was limited to handshaking and speechmaking.

Negotiating will begin today on the new agreement, intended to extend through 1964-65 the exchanges begun under a pact signed in 1958.

The negotiations were to have opened last Thursday. They were delayed by the Russians' arrest of Professor Frederick C. Barghoorn of Yale University on spy charges.

Slight Damage In House Fire

Damage was reported as being slight following a fire in a partition at the residence of E. L. Turner, 225 North Front Street about 7.30 p.m. Tuesday.

The blaze was quickly extinguished before causing extensive damage to the home.

This morning at 8.40 a.m. the fire department received a call to 92 Victoria Avenue to attend an overheated stove, at the residence of R. J. Burns.

No damage was reported.

Northern Will Double Ottawa Laboratory Size

Work will begin early in the year on a new building which will more than double the size of the Northern Electric Company's Research and Development facilities in Ottawa. Architects for the project are Bland-Lemoyne-Edwards-Shine and consulting engineers J. de Stein and Associates. The new building will have a floor space of 150,000 square feet, and will be completely air-conditioned.

The initial laboratory and the administration buildings were officially opened in November, 1961. With the completion of the new premises, three of the four originally planned buildings will have been completed, the overall project calling for a third laboratory building to be built some time in the future.

Northern Electric's scientific staff has been greatly extended the existing accommodation and is in temporary quarters in two locations in Ottawa.

One of the primary activities at Northern Electric's Research and Development Laboratories is to develop communications equipment for our telephone and telegraph systems which, because of population distribution, geography and climate differ from those in any other country.

Pioneering work in many fields is underway and to the manufacture of advanced pieces of equipment for both the telephone and telegraph is adding to the skill of the securing of a number of important export orders.

Police Chiefs Ask Crackdown On TV Films

QUEBEC (CP) — The Canadian Association of Police Chiefs has written the justice department shortly for a crackdown on television films that are shown before they have been censored by provincial censors as 25 minutes of brutality and immorality followed by the second commercial.

Police Chief J. Adrien Robert of Montreal, president of the association, announced Tuesday that it has formed a committee to examine the problem and hopes to discuss it with federal authorities.

He said the association feel "too many movie and television films are having a disastrous effect on the young, stressing banditry, violence, indecency and sex."

The association would urge federal authorities to seek a way of encouraging films that present "the beautiful and the good rather than the degrading."

Chief Robert said at a press conference the association has observed that many films "parallel the brutality and brutality in all forms for 20 or 25 minutes and follow with a moral of 30 or 40 seconds."

Thomson Will Make Choice for Title Jan. 17

TORONTO (CP) — Publisher Roy Thomson said a recognition in his honor Tuesday he will make a definite choice of a title in London Jan. 17.

The new baron, named in the New Year's honors list, was speaking to officers' mess of the Toronto Scottish Regiment, of which he is honorary colonel.

Sources said Mr. Thomson was considering the title, Lord Thomson of Mississauga, one of considerable Canadian flavor.

"When you are going to change your name, you must give great attention to the name you choose for yourself and those who come after you," Mr. Thompson said.

He would meet the Garter King of Arms two days after he returned to England Jan. 15 and study all possible guidance then, he said.

The publisher lives on Mississauga Road in nearby Port Credit and the Toronto Scottish was known for a brief period as the Mississauga Regiment.

RUE KENNEDY

CARTHAGE, Tunisia (AP)—A street on Tunisia was observed Tuesday when a street of this ancient town was named after the late president Kennedy. The Rue Eshmoun, the punic god of help and rescue, became Rue Kennedy.

Present Calendar Not Perfect

By FRANCIS STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP)—This is supposed to be 1964—but is it?

There has been so much tinkering with the calendar through the centuries that it might still be 1963, or it might be 1965, or almost anything.

Days, months and years have been added to and taken from the calendar during bygone ages. Even our present one isn't precisely perfect.

Once the calendar had only 10 months, totalling 304 days, and the year began on March 25. People just ignored the remaining 61 days, because they came in the winter and weren't fit for much anyway.

Later on, a couple more months were added in but the year kept coming out 10 days too short. That soon had the seasons foolishly but gaily.

Then somebody got the bright idea of adding still another month of 23 or 24 days every other year. That didn't work either.

Finally Julius Caesar got fed up with the situation and ordered a complete overhaul of the calendar. His year came out with 365 days, plus an extra every fourth year, and started Jan. 1.

It was necessary for him to put in 90 days that year to add days to get things back on the right track. This was called "The Year of Confusion," No wonder.

MORE JUGGLING

But people weren't content to let well enough alone, and after Caesar's death they began monkeying around with the calendar again. Naturally, they got it out of whack.

Through the centuries there was a continuous juggling process.

The present system of numbering years is based on the birth of Christ. However, the birth date wasn't calculated until 6 A.D. by a monk, and some biblical scholars believe it was several years before the start of the present calendar.

The present calendar was put into use in 1582 by Pope Gregory XIII, but it wasn't adopted by Britain and her possessions until the middle of the 18th century. In both cases, it days had to be skipped over to get it started.

It still isn't perfect because the solar year is not precisely 365¼ days long. It is 365.3422 days long.

That's 26 seconds a year difference, and in 3,323 years adds up to a whole day.

Thomson Regretfully Accepts Loss of Canadian Citizenship To Become British Baron

TORONTO (CP) — Publisher Roy Thomson said today he regretfully accepts the loss of his Canadian citizenship to become a British baron but hopes the law might be changed to restore it.

In any case, he told a press conference, he plans to return to Canada from Britain on retirement as active head of his communications empire and then would go through the legal procedure to become a citizen.

Mr. Thomson, whose citizenship was lost when he became a British citizen because the Queen does not confer titles on Canadians owing to long-standing Canadian government opposition, made a plea for allowing Canadians to accept lifetime non-hereditary titles. He said he feels it is "very narrow-minded and quite unrealistic" not to have "reasonable" titles awarded in deserving instances, and he suggested that a Canadian honors committee could screen candidates.

SERVICE TO COUNTRY

The new baron-designate said he could understand how a good case could be made out against hereditary titles for Canadians — "now that I've got one, I can say that" — but there should be no argument against lifetime honors for service to the country.

For his own part, he said that "it is with the greatest regret that I am now told that I must give up my Canadian citizenship."

"I find it difficult to understand why this should be so," he added in a formal statement. "I still consider myself a Canadian and always will. Now I have formalized my British citizenship, I am told I can no longer be a Canadian . . .

"I want to be called 'Canadian.' I am bound to ask what object is served by depriving me of my Canadian citizenship. In what way will this be of service to 'Canada? Indeed, will it not deprive Canada of important world prestige?

"I will, of course, accept with grace the decision by the Canadian government, and I shall work ever harder for Canada in the future."

'WON'T FIGHT IT'

Mr Thomson—his title has not been officially gazetted yet —told a battery of reporters and cameramen that he has no grievance against the Liberal government "in any shape or form" in making the title of lordship law in his case—he's a former Conservative politician.

"This is political and I won't fight it," he said under questioning.

"It's all legal formality and not in my opinion tremendously important," he added. "I think it's unduly restrictive and unnecessarily I think it's quite wrong. But that's the law.

"I would think that Canadian public opinion will eventually dictate that I keep my Canadian citizenship. He hoped that members of Parliament would bear enough from constituents to have the law changed.

Mr. Thomson said he had been aware for some time that the possibility of losing his Canadian citizenship existed. Only recently had the situation been clarified.

Prime Minister Pearson has referred to hi mas a "former" Canadian.

The publisher said he will always be a Canadian in his heart.

INTENTION CRITICIZED

Mr. Thomson, who has criticized the federal government's indicated intention of preventing foreign interests from gaining control of Canadian newspapers, said his attitude has nothing to do with the extensive Thomson holdings in Canadian newspapers.

"This doesn't affect our businesses in Canada in the slightest degree," he said. "It won't even if there is legislation for total exclusion of any foreign interest.'

He refused to elaborate but told reporters to "draw your own conclusions — you'll probably find out when I die.

The Thomson holdings in Canada are directed by Mr. Thomson's son Kenneth from Toronto.

ISSUE NOT DISCUSSED

While on the subject of relations with the federal government, he denied reports that he has had difficulties with the government over taxes and death duties.

"I have never discussed death duties or taxes with the Canadian or British government nor has anyone in my behalf, he said. "There has been no hassle.

Mr. Thomson said he has not chosen a title for his peerage, though his ideas were becoming "crystallized" He would suggest a name to the Garter King at Arms on his return—he was in Canada Jan. 3 and is going over. She either thought Bartholomew had harmed her or feared he would.

In a non-committal about a report that he has chosen Baron Thomson of Mississauga, Mr. Thomson said Mississauga Road near here, and the word is Indian for "Great Outlet," a name in keeping with his vast communications holdings.

14 Warships In Mothballs To Reduce Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The government today announced the mothballing of 14 warships to reduce naval operations and maintenance costs.

The three Second World War destroyers Nootka, Nootka, Cayuga and Micmac will be paid off and declared surplus.

The mothballing soundroom on the East and West coasts, comprising 10 ships in all, will be placed in reserve at Halifax and Esquimalt, B.C.

Personnel, maintenance ship Cape Breton will be placed in reserve on the West Coast."

TO SAVE $20M

It is intended to carry out this mothballing before the end of March.

A statement by Associate Defence Minister Cardin said the reductions were carried out on the part of the over all objective of enabling the armed forces to be maintained in readiness more effectively but, from the savings achieved, providing a substantial part of funds for the new equipment while holding defence expenditures at an acceptable level.

The resulting reduction in manpower would be achieved through normal attrition — deaths, discharges and so on—plus a "temporary slowdown" in recruiting.

The statement said that Canada's commitment in an emergency to the supreme allied commander Atlantic will remain at one aircraft carrier and 29 escorts.

Public Whipping Date Is Set

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Judge Stewart Lynch Tuesday set Jan. 28 for the public whipping of Talmadge R. Balsar, 40, but reduced the sentence from 20 lashes to 10.

The State Supreme Court, in November, ordered Lynch to re-sentence Balsar. The high court ruled that the original sentence was not valid because Lynch did not set a specific date for the whipping to take place, as the law requires.

Presumably, Balsar will appeal again.

Lynch, a Superior Court judge, originally ordered Balsar to be whipped on the first secular day after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled on an appeal by Franklin W. Jones from a whipping sentence imposed by Lynch. The State Supreme Court has ruled, in a separate brought by Cannon, that whipping is not unconstitutional under either state or federal law.

Balsar, convicted of a $4 robbery, was sentenced originally on March 17, 1963, to get the 20 lashes—plus 25 years in prison. The prison sentence was reduced Tuesday to 15 years.

Spanish-Born Woman Held In Slaying

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Spanish-born Manola Gallardo, unable to speak English, may have fatally stabbed multi - millionaire William Ahrnsbrester after mistakenly believing he had harmed her sister, Orange County District Attorney Kenneth Williams said.

The district attorney's office dropped murder charges Tuesday against Bartholomae's sister - in - law, Carmen, 25, and booked her sister, Manola, 32, on suspicion of murder.

Bartholomae, 70, a yachtsman who made an estimated $11,000,000 in ranching, oil and mining, died Sunday in the kitchen of his $500,000 mansion.

Williams said he died in a struggle with the knife which he was clawed and stabbed to death.

Williams said a lie detector test given Mrs. Bartholomae and further police investigation cleared her of any role in the slaying and the arrest of her sister.

The district attorney said investigation paints this picture of the fatal stabbing:

Manola had just left the kitchen to take care of her sister's three-months-old son. On her return, she saw her sister and Mr. Bartholomae locked in struggle over her. She either thought Bartholomae had harmed her sister or was about to.

A scuffle ensured. Bartholomae was stabbed. Manola's left the house and called police.

"She recalled that Bartholomae fell to the floor," Williams said.

The lie detector test confirmed Mrs. Bartholomae's story that Bartholomae died because of abdominal pains while her sister was out of the room, Williams said.

Miss Gallardo waived preliminary hearing and will be arraigned on Monday Jan. 13, Her lawyer, Paul Caruso, said she would plead not guilty.

Miss Gallardo came to the United States three months ago to become sister care for her new-born child.

Charles Bartholomae, brother of the dead man and Carmen's husband was working on his brother's $250,000 yacht nearby when the scuffle occurred, police said.

Planned Hike Of Postal Rates Under Fire

OTTAWA (CP) — A planned April 1 increase in postal rates on advertising matter came under fire Tuesday from the Printing and Graphic Arts Industries.

The increase could drive business out of Canada and should be revoked, the Graphic Arts Industries Association said in a brief presented to Deputy Postmaster-General W. H. Wilson.

David Jones, association general manager, told a press conference afterwards that the government is expected to by yield the post office an extra $1,000,000 a year. But it could cost the economy millions of dollars in terms of printing, sorting and paper used in production of printed advertising material for mailing.

"This could be the spark that burns the building down," he said.

He said the association's brief received a sympathetic hearing, but it involved government policy matters. In view of the approaching change in ministers with the move of Postmaster-General Emile Beaulne to the senate, "we will be back to see the new minister."

MAIL IS PRINTED

The April 1 change in third-class mailing rates will affect printed, addressed circulars and unaddressed "householder" mail. Rates for printed circulars are to rise to three cents from two cents on the first two ounces, with no change in the present rate for each additional two ounces. For householder mail, the rates would be two cents for the first two ounces and one cent for each additional two ounces, instead of the present 1½ cents for each two ounces.

The brief said there should be no increase in third-class rates until Canada gets "equalization" payments from the U.S. Canada has a deficit in mailings carrying U.S. second-class mail periodicals and newspapers.

It said that on a per-capita basis, Canada probably absorbs 30 or 40 times more printed imports than the U.S.

"The post office department serves and may encourage this huge and unparalleled flow of printed matter into Canada."

Sergeant George C. McQueen receives his Certificate of Service on retirement from Group Captain E. M. Butcher CD, Commanding Officer, RCAF Station Trenton. Sergeant McQueen, 7 Munroe Avenue, Belleville, has lived here since 1949. He plans to remain in Belleville on retirement and will be employed by the Co-operators' Insurance Association.

cost of Canadian products and stimulating consumer demand.

The council suggested that if the government removed the tax advantages now enjoyed by certain sectors of business — it named co - operatives among them—and repealed the tax incentive legislation, the corporation tax rate could be reduced by 10 per cent without a significant loss of revenue.

There was no justification for co-operatives paying taxes differently than other companies. "The special tax treatment [now] enjoyed by societies co-operatives with the equivalent of a huge subsidy paid by all the taxpayers of Canada."

Co-ops, which get a tax-holiday for their first three years of operation, can also deduct patronage dividends from taxable income. The council said they should not be given this advantage over competing investor-owned business, and if action is deferred indefinitely a "great many" businessmen will be unable to continue operating in competition with co-ops.

The brief opposed suggestions made earlier to the commission that reductions in personal and corporate taxes should be offset by increasing consumer taxes. Such suggestions were prompted by a desire for lower income taxes and not because commodity taxes had any advantage over direct taxation.

The council also called for a reduction in the top rates of personal income tax. Because of the limited availability of risk capital in Canada there has been a steady flow of talented Canadians to the United States, the council believes that many of these individuals would have remained in Canada if their after tax incomes were available."

Pussy Willows Found in Bloom

It is still only early January but can Spring be far away?

That is the question being asked by Andy Reddick, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reddick, 76 Maple Drive, following a snowshoe outing north of the city on Sunday.

During his trip to the open country Andy came across some pussy willows in bloom.

He brought a sample of them home to bolster a hope that Spring cannot be too far away.

Find Surgeon Was Strangled

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A coroner says an autopsy disclosed that San Diego neurosurgeon Dr. Alec S. Baunun, 40, was strangled before his body was dumped in a bathtub at his home in nearby Point Loma.

A neighbor and a maid discovered his body Tuesday. Baunun's brother, also a neurosurgeon at Montreal Neurosurgical Institute and at Bellevue Hospital in New York, will leave coming to San Diego on Jan 1958.

Trout Caught 1,350 Feet Under Surface

OTTAWA (CP) — The strange case of a lake trout caught 1,350 feet under the surface of Great Bear Lake in the Arctic was reported Tuesday to a meeting of fisheries scientists.

It is believed to be the deepest capture of a lake trout ever recorded.

The five - pound fish was caught in a gill net dropped by a research crew studying the lake's trout resources for the Fisheries Research Board of Canada.

A report read to the research board's annual meeting said it appears that like trout inhabit all parts of Great Bear Lake, fourth largest lake in North America. The scientists netted trout up to 40 pounds and one angler using spinning tackle caught four in an afternoon, the largest 30 pounds.

Prospects for a commercial fishery on Great Bear are not encouraging, the report said, but it "an angler's paradise" for lake trout devotees.

Two Fined In Town Court For Impairment

TRENTON — Ernest E. Sulpher of Peterborough, charged with driving while his ability was impaired, was fined $75 and ordered to pay court costs of $7.50 by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in court at Trenton yesterday.

Sgt. Walter Youmans told the court that upon arriving at the scene of a collision on West Street in the early morning hours of Dec. 8, he had found the accused standing beside his car, which had broken off a hydro pole, resulting in a heavy transformer being plummeted down upon the car at the rear. The pole itself was on top of the car, the officer said. Damages estimated at $500 had been done to the car and $400 to the pole.

Under cross examination by R. E. Nourse of Picton, Sgt. Youmans admitted that what he might have thought was a "drawl" used by the accused in answering questions on the night of the accident, could easily be the natural manner of speech for Mr. Sulphur. Sgt. Youmans also admitted that the roads had been slippery on the day of the accident and that the accident had occurred at the top of a slight incline.

Arthur William Johnson of the province of Quebec, was charged with impaired driving, fined $50 and ordered to pay $3.50 court costs. Constable John Graham, who had apprehended Johnson on the morning of Jan. 1, told the court he saw the car driven by the accused "veer" to the wrong side of the town bridge, agreed with defence solicitor Robert Rennie that the steel runway of the bridge was apt to be more slippery than asphalt if slippery conditions prevailed.

Toronto Lawyer To Represent Twp. in Hearing

TRENTON — A Toronto lawyer, an expert in annexation problems, H. E. Manning, will represent Murray township at a hearing before the Ontario Municipal Board in Toronto, Manning will present a claim from the township council, that the town of Trenton should pay $9,000 a year to compensate the township for a loss of road grants and assessment when the town of 353 acres of the township land on Jan. 1 of this year.

Trenton council has hired another annexation expert, John Weir, a town solicitor, also, to present a rebuttal of the township's claim.

Trenton has agreed, however to pay the township $7,000 for a loss of assessment, which would be applied to school costs. The money will be paid in over a 14-year period and on a graduating scale — $1,000 this year; $595 in 1965 and $370 for each of the twelve years thereafter.

Mich. Governor Not Seeking Nomination

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—Governor George Romney of Michigan, said Tuesday he would have a duty to accept a draft for nomination as Republican party candidate for the November U.S. presidential election.

But, he told a National Press Club luncheon audience: "I am not going to be an active candidate seeking the nomination."

Questioned about the possibility that the party convention meeting in July in Chicago, might call on him to be the standard-bearer, he replied: "I would, of course, have a duty to accept."

Governor Romney has often been spoken of as a possible dark horse should a deadlock develop between the officially declared candidates for the Republican nomination. Two men have so far entered the race. They are Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York and Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

GRIM STATISTICS

Statistics presented to the World Food Congress in 1963 show 10,000 people die of malnutrition or starvation every day.

RCAF Personnel in Europe Defended by Liberal M.P.

TRENTON — RCAF personnel in Europe were defended staunchly by Robert Temple, M.P. for Hastings South, and Liberal member of the special steering committee of the federal government's defence committee, speaking before the Rotary Club at Trenton on Monday night. Mr. Temple first referred to an article in a recent Toronto publication, in which the author, Modecai Richler, made light of the role of the RCAF in European defence, and in rebuttal, he called upon the special knowledge gained during a recent tour of NATO installations overseas.

"The article was not only incorrect, but it did a great disservice to the men of the RCAF," he said.

"These men are flying in both good and bad weather—risking their lives, and on occasion losing their lives—in defence of western freedom. They have been given a dirty job to do and they are doing it extremely well. We should be, and I'm sure we are, thankful for their high dedication and ability."

Mr. Temple welcomed the lessening in world tensions, making unnecessary the retention of all nuclear testing except underground tests. However, he warned, if disarmament was a two-way street and said that Canada and her allies must remain alert to possible danger. "Nuclear war in Europe," he said, "was highly unlikely, but it is due to the strength of the allies in both conventional and nuclear weapons."

In reference to Canada's new defence policies, and their concentration on maintaining a "mobile force, Mr. Temple said that the new policies would have a good effect on the economy of this area. He said that he believed there would be an expansion of facilities at the Trenton air station. The present payroll at RCAF Station and No. 6 Repair Depot amounted to a million-and-a-half per month and civilian employees receive another $400,000.

This amounts to 23 million dollars per year and a great deal of this payroll is furnished by the people of Mr. Temple. "This means vitality for the entire area."

The Belleville Intelligencer, said Mr. Temple, was comprised of members from all political parties in the country. The steering committee is patterned on the larger body. Mr. Temple said he found co-operation within the committees and an overall indication that political society was to be forgotten by all members in the consideration of national defence issues.

SISBEY, England (CP) — Members of the Lincolnshire local physical society want to restore an old windmill, said to be the finest in England, which has stood idle for years here. They are trying to raise £1,000 toward the cost of repairs.

18-Year-Old Pays Fine for Gasoline Theft

TRENTON — Carman Jenkins, 18, of Trenton was fined $25 and ordered to pay court costs of $3 at Trenton yesterday when he pleaded guilty to the theft of 10 gallons of gasoline from a truck parked on the Bill the Mover premises during the month of November.

As it was a first offence, Crown Attorney G. S. Robertson asked that a fine be levied.

ASK EXPLANATION

Trenton council Monday night considered a bill for $243 from the Ontario Water Resources Commission . . . the tail end of a bill for $515,000 for the 1962 installation of the sewage treatment system.

"Why so late in sending out this bill?" queried the councillors. The OWRC will be asked for an explanation before council parts with the $243.

BACK STAND

Councillor Joseph Gould chairman of public works, came under fire from two other councillors, Edward Todd and Duncan McDonald, Monday night when he refused to back down from a stand, that Eaton Trenton man should be hired as a stock control man for the town sheds, rather than advertise the position for tenders. Salary to be paid is $75 a week on town sheds, rather than on a three months' probation. If he doesn't pay off, he'll be let go. Councillors Jas. A. Weaver, Ross Burtt and C. V. Graham went along with Mr. Gould, a motion to accept the man will be hired.

An Attractive Program

Everybody knows that a mayor's inaugural address is window-dressing.

But too many people forget that the way windows are dressed gives one a valuable clue as to the type of service which may be expected inside the store.

Sometimes service inside does not live up to the promise of an attractively dressed window.

But nearly always if the window is cluttered or slovenly the service inside the store matches it.

Mayor Jack Ellis dressed an attractive window in his address to Belleville City Council Monday.

His record as an alderman is sufficient assurance that he hopes to make the service inside the store match the outside display.

Some may say that his major concern appears to be to make it easier and simpler for the council to transact business.

Of course. This is the way it should be. Good service is only possible when providing it is made as easy as possible.

The decision to place the greater part of Council's work in the hands of two main committees looks promising. It should simplify committee work. At the same time, it is to be hoped that Council members will not expect too much of it. Committee meetings should be short, but they will have to be considerably longer, though not as long as the aggregate of several committee meetings which one meeting can now replace.

Full benefits of the system will only be obtained if Council, in the main, is willing to accept the decisions of committees and refrain from attempting to use Council as a whole is the ultimate authority; it cannot shuff its authority off onto a committee and for this reason approval of committee decisions cannot become a mere process of rubber-stamping. The system, though new here, is not an innovation. It has been in use elsewhere, which is one and the same time gives assurance that it is workable but also gives warning that it is not an automatic cure-all for all problems arising out of the consideration of business in committee. Otherwise the system would long since have come into universal use.

The formation of a separate industrial commission is a wise move. In view of the ratepayers' authorization for the expenditure of tax money to procure and service land for use as industrial sites, it was necessary that the commission should be divorced from the Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Ellis shows a clear insight into Belleville's most pressing needs in the evident primacy which he gives to the task of securing new industries. It is to be hoped that the intensified efforts to expand our local economy, under his leadership, will meet with the success they deserve. No effort should be spared to give the new commission, with its free hand, every encouragement. Though Ellis Tweed will not be easy, since competition for new industries is keen, Belleville now will be able to give increased assurances of co-operation and assistance to prospective additions to our industrial complex.

Some caution seems advisable with respect to the decision to amalgamate, in practice though not in theory, the operations of the arena, recreational and parks bodies. The grouping is natural, but past experience has shown that this is a field in which individuals may have widely differing viewpoints. There have been some parks bodies which have regarded their work as the provision of beauty spots and some recreational committees which have considered sports as the only recreation worthy of the name. Fortunately the past record of local boards indicates that such views, which would make co-ordination of the work difficult, have not been popular here. Those in charge of our parks have been fully cognizant of their responsibility for providing adequate playground space for young and old, and the recreational committee has sponsored a wide range of activities. They should thus be able to work smoothly together, but a careful watch will need to be kept to make certain that, in the future, there is no swing away from this desirable middle-of-the-road outlook.

As for the desire of Mayor Ellis to co-ordinate the work of the various welfare organizations here, one can only say that it is a very good trick if one can do it, but it is also a trick which, in other places, has sometimes proven difficult, if not impossible. Much depends on personalities.

Of Mayor Ellis' expressed desire to get rid of the last vestiges of the ward system here, there will be two viewpoints and our viewpoint is best expressed by a cheer.

All in all, Mayor Ellis appears not only to have dressed an attractive window but to have swept out the store and got everything ready for the staff to get down to work.

Afraid to Be Footloose

By Jack Scott in the Vancouver Sun

I cannot unequivocably recommend the Cheruns picture Windjammer, a curious and frequently tedious wall-to-wall film, but some scenes it contains of the Caribbean had a predictably depressing effect on me that may interest you, the good Lord willing.

My companion at the picture was a man aged 56 who has been a close friend for 30-odd years. Some five years ago he'd a heart stab that scared the bejabers out of him, was warned by his doctor to slow down and began analyzing his life. I have often served as a sounding board for his unsystematic self-search. This happened again after Windjammer.

"That beach they showed in Trinidad," he said over coffee. "That's where I want to be, Jack. I don't want to be here. I want to be there. Could be, too, you know. If I packed everything up I could scrape together probably $60,000. I could live down there nicely for $3,000 a year. I'm 20 years! I'd be 75 years of age.

"If I keep on the way I am, I'll be lucky if I'm 65," he said, even if I do, I won't have enjoyed it. Do you ever feel that way? Do you ever feel trapped? Migawd, it would be so easy. I could be on my way in a month or two. What am I trying to make up my mind."

So he niggled on and I thought to myself, old buddy, I thought, you aint gonna go and you aint gonna do it. You'll have a nice, quick seizure at 65 and you'll have a swell funeral at Cedar Hill and a couple-three one will agree that you were a fine, sensible fellow.

I couldn't resist saying it aloud. He sighed and said he guessed I was right.

I think every man reaches some point in his life, early or late, when he feels footloose, a syndrome particularly of middle-age, expressed in the sentiment: "To hell with the World, I want to Get Off."

Perhaps I hear it more often than most, having written off to me a fair load of stuff about various paradises of escape and, indeed, at this red hot minute, there are a dozen or more men scattered on various idyllic strands whom I've fortified in making or ruining their lives.

These are rare exceptions.

Afloat With the SIU

Ottawa Journal

Some people seem to have come to the point that even to hear the word "seamen" makes them jump, and the full title of the "Seafarers' International Union brings on a bout of nerves.

It appears, though, that seamen are also people, and that even the ship-bus is a real kind of trouble-maker to other union, or office or home. Reading a recent issue of the "Canadian Sailor" — which is the Union's publication — under "Editor's Minutes," it appears that life in the Union is much like life anywhere else. It's full of ups and downs. The good ship MV Chicago Tribune, for instance, came this bulletin:

"Good and Welfare: Request change of cereal — need ice for Friday."

Here we were thinking the SIU was about to topple the Canadian Government with its works, but what's really on its mind is a lack of ice for breakfast, and a few other things!

On the SS Humberdoc, for example, the union meeting noted that "garbage bags were left out on the stern and were being used by someone "to wipe off beach after a rain or wash-ing down." From that the meeting turned to food and asked for "more variety of potatoes . . . instead of just mashed or boiled or pan fried."

On the SS Federal Pioneer the question of a cigarette issue in the Arctic was raised again. Sailors signing into the North feel they should have as much right as fishermen to get cigarette issues at bonded prices, and Chief Steward promised to look into the matter urgently.

On the SS George Washman a delegate was instructed to see the captain about a better brand of soap and more towels for the porter. On the SS Collingwood the crew members who had contributed to the Relief Fund agreed to the purchase of a cribbage board. On the SS Bulkaroc a delegate reported that the cook had twice ordered clams and twice they had been rejected and if he tried again — also the ice cream. Under the heading of "New Business" the Bulkaster stated that he thought that a disagreement between the second cook and the porter over the latter being in the galley at meal time had been settled to the satisfaction of both parties.

On the SS Tadoussac, efforts were to be made to see if new hot plate could be secured. In both messrooms as tea and coffee were often found to be cold. The SS Rosemount meeting was advised that the cook would like to see the screen doors closed to keep out flies.

On the MV Rockcliffe Hall it was felt something should be done about the refrigerator, which had been acting up, and on the SS Windoc the washing machine wringer still had to be repaired, although "all beefs were settled."

The SS Assaye meeting thought that the cook should change garments more often, but there were thanks to the 3 mates "for the good meals you now have — which comes in mighty handy."

On the SS Lacelliffe Hall a union brother complained of foul language used by someone in the dining room.

The SS Willowdale crew decided to buy a game of Romoli along with poker dice, and on the SS Willowdale it was felt that a kind of Mad, but usually an involunteer a variety of rationalizations.

All of us, I think, become so oriented to a sense of duty, so anxious about the inevitable prospect of being dispensable, that the prospect of stepping off the carousel of our daily lives, voluntarily, becomes as terrifying as the prospect of being shoved off against our will.

What we actually contribute may be pretty darn't useless in society and may offer a minimum of satisfaction to those around us, but we cling to it as a form of assurance that we're needed.

The subject came up when I talked recently with Eartha Kitt a woman whose perception is shattering.

We had discussed a wider field — why men will not or do not obey ennobling or rewarding impulses of the heart — and Miss Kitt had said, "I'm lonely. We would rather be miserably unhappy than feel guilty, even when we're innocent."

I think a lot of men must feel this without really isolating it. especially when, in the late years, they may develop a childlike hunger for a respite from responsibilities.

That is what my friend really has, you see. He is willing to long delayed appetite to live like the Swiss Family Robinson, absolutely carefree and with a sufficient and independent of the conventions and the rest. Nothing to be ashamed of at all happens to most men.

* * *

But we live in a civilization that frowns on sloth and worships industry, in which we're all pressured into marching shoulder to shoulder to a common goal, whatever it may be, instead of wandering off to pick hibiscus flowers or paddle in a blue lagoon.

So there's guilt, it seems, in any dream of escape and men put it aside, reluctantly and go to see pictures like Windjammer. It is all quite sad.

Today in History

The United States defeated the British in the battle of New Orleans—the final engagement of the War of 1812—150 years ago today—in 1815. The British set out for a showdown with the Americans with a fleet of 50 vessels and an army of nearly 10,000 veterans. The British lost about 2,000 men in the battle and the Americans, led by Andrew Jackson, 71 out of 4,000. Actually, peace had been concluded 15 days previously after signing of the treaty of Ghent, ending the conflict.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

January 8th, 1944.

The Kiwanis Club of Belleville, holding their annual installation meeting, installed the new President, Jack McVeigh, and the 1944 Board of Directors during a memorable dinner held in the main dining room of the Hotel Quinte on Friday night. Mr. McVeigh accepted the gavel and office of president with calm graciousness as his predecessor, Bruce Lattimer stepped down from the chair and became the immediate past-president.

The guest speaker was introduced to the Club members and their guests by "Bob" Pringle, and a most interesting and enlightening insight was given to them present on the accomplishments of engineering contractors on the Alaskan Highway, when F. J. Kennedy, J. C. Waddell, J. McNulty, and W. Harvey.

50 YEARS AGO

January 8th, 1914.

Dr. Edward Kidd has been elected mayor of Trenton, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunter returned to Toronto yesterday.

Dr. J. I. Green left today for Saint John, N. B., where he will enter the steamship service of the C.P.R. as a physician, sailing to the continent.

The members of the Knights of Columbus gave their third annual ball last evening in their spacious quarters in the east Robertson block. One hundred couples were present and the event was most enjoyable. The following composed the committee in charge of the arrangements: Walter N. Belair, J. G. Charles, L. P. Hughes, J. V. C. Trualsch and Dr. J. F. Dolan. Delightful music was furnished by O'Rourke's orchestra, and an elaborate supper was served by Ed F. Dickens and son.

Dr. Robert Palon of Buffalo, N. Y., is visiting friends here.

Endorses Complaint About Drug Prices

Editor
Ontario Intelligencer

I was glad to note in last night's edition of your paper that someone else feels as I do about drugs by prescription.

In November I paid nearly double for tablets which had cost ten cents a piece from my doctor. Ointment which I've had to use for five years never cost more than two dollars at the most but has recently doubled also.

Just after Christmas I had another prescription to be filled so decided to try another drug store. Result — thirty tablets costing $5.30 which up to now have been of little benefit to anyone other than the druggist.

Where is this business going to end? By the time we pay hospital insurance and medical insurance we surely are entitled to drugs without having to pay a ransom for them.

It isn't as if it were all the drug store sells to pull; we have hundreds of other items and surely there must be some profit in handling them.

Seems tis the working man who pays and pays and somehow never gets enough for that trip to Florida when the temperature drops!

Sincerely Ella Tupper.

Exact Process by Which Cancer Starts Is Unknown

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why is the mustard treatment used for cancer?

Do not keep the public in your public, in the dark. I am sure if people were to know the truth, they would work closer with the doctors . — Mrs. T. G. G.

This isn't a matter of keeping the public in the dark.

Rather, it involves a vast chemical problem that as yet has been only partially solved.

The mustard treatment is the use of nitrogen mustard and chemically similar compounds to combat cancer. Some of these chemicals are now being employed in other ways. Perhaps the most interesting is their use to enable animals to tolerate the transplantation of organs. Exactly how the chemicals work is not well understood, but medical researchers are slowly putting some of the pieces of the puzzle together.

There are several hundred chemicals, most but not all of them synthetic substances, which under certain circumstances can cause cancer.

Curiously, some of these also can combat cancer. But this is likewise true of X-ray, which is used to cure cancer. At the same time, under certain circumstances, too much X-ray exposure, over a long period of time, can cause cancer.

Why? We don't know, because, basically we don't know the exact process by which cancer starts. Viruses, heredity, chronic irritation, chemicals, all these things evidently have something to do with cancer. Or let's say they have something to do with some cancers. It remains possible that the final answer will be that several combinations of things will prove to be "the causes of cancer."

Cancer, after all, can best be described as a process in which cells begin multiplying at an excessively rapid rate, and the cells no longer maintain their proper form.

Nitrogen mustard and other such chemicals interfere with this rapid multiplication of cells. They are useful in such diseases as Hodgkin's Disease and leukemia, in which the multiplication of cells does not take place at some single point, as in the "cancer" thus cannot be removed surgically.

Likewise, techniques are being perfected whereby circulation to a certain affected area (say the body can be shut off temporarily (as in a leg) and the powerful chemicals infused in this area alone, to attack cancer cells.

True, these chemicals have a high toxicity, and must be used only in amounts small enough so they do not cause undue poisoning of the patient. They must be used with care and caution — but they do give us an added method of battling cancer.

Dear Dr. Molner: A neighbor has asthma and I notice that when people smoke around her the condition becomes worse. She seems very sensitive to it, but will not complain. Is it too much to expect her husband to give up smoking around her? You think her friends should be more considerate? — Mrs. H.

It's up to her to ask her to not smoke bothers her. After that, her husband and friends should, of course, be considerate. Unwittingly not smoking when with her or cutting down to a degree that does not satisfy them fully. But it seems to me that she ought to make the first move for the first comment.

Strictly Personal

Sudden Ups And Downs Disasterous

By Sydney J. Harris

The human organism resists change as much as possible; but once the change has been effected, it has a tendency to start returning to its previous state. Such resistance can explain a good deal of human behavior.

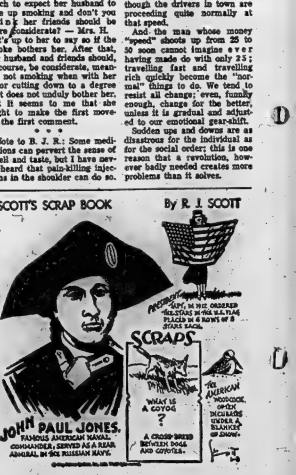
In police circles, for instance, traffic officers who change their jobs are aware of something called "velocitation," and another thing called "devolocitation."

"Devolocitation" is a common experience all motorists have had. We are barreling along a superhighway at 70 miles an hour for a considerable period of time. The highway ends, and a road sign says: "Speed Zone — 25 Miles and Hour."

We slow down to 30 miles an hour — and it seems as if we are standing still. It is almost impossible to creep along at 25 miles an hour after having gone 70 for so long; our bodies and minds rebel against such devolocitation. And, sometimes, we get a ticket for it.

"Velocitation," of course, operates in exactly the opposite fashion. We start out in town, carefully observing the 30 mile limit, which at the outskirts becomes 40 and then 50 — and finally we're zooming on the highway at 70.

Once we are up to that speed, it does not seem at all fast; indeed, after a few moments, here is no perceptible difference between our speed now and the time we were doing 35 mph in town. Once the change has been effected, we do not want to return to the previous state.



What is true of our mind and senses in the quite obvious and unquestioned area of driving a car is equally true in the area of other behavior. "Devolocitation," for instance, frequently takes place in terms of money, and is responsible for a great deal of misery.

Somebody making $50,000 a year who is suddenly forced to take a cut to $35,000 or $25,000 per year finds the unwelcoming rich quickly become the "normal" things to do. We tend to adjust all change; even, humbly enough, change for the better, unless it is gradual and distributed to our emotional gear-shift.

Sudden ups and downs are as disastrous for the individual as for the social order; this is one reason that a revolution, however badly needed, creates more problems than it solves.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials eased slightly on the first week since Dec. 26 in heavy morning trading on the stock market today.

The 77-stock industrial index slipped .08 to 140.25 and the 108-stock exchange index .06 to 131.08.

On the industrial board, banks led the decline. Nova Scotia was off ½ and Toronto-Dominion ¼ but Montreal gained ¼.

International Nickel dipped ½ and Labrador Mining ¼ in senior base metals.

Two special size transactions were recorded in the senior metal as Cdn. Export Gas Mines traded a bloc of 5,000 shares at $21 ¼ share for a loss of ¼ and McIntyre Porcupine fell ¼ to 56¾ on 3,770 shares including a special transaction of 3,000 shares at $56.50 a share.

Iso rose 21 cents to $2.79 among speculative issues.

On index, base metals declined .06 to 59.75, golds gained .07 to 132.12 and western oils 29 to 83.29. Volume at 11 a.m. was 1,442,000 shares compared with 1,458,000 at the same time Tuesday.

The market continued to move mildly ahead Tuesday.

Most sections of the industrial board made gains with a sprinkling of stocks easing slightly.

Algoma was the major gainer, rising 1¼ to 60½. Steel Co. of Canada was up ¼ and Dominion Steel and Coal dipped ¾ among other steel producers.

Elsewhere, Canadian General Investments advanced ½, and Aluminium and Toronto-Dominion Bank ¼ each while Canada Permanent Mortgage fell opposite to 77 and Royal Bank ½.

International Nickel rose ¼ and Falconbridge ¼ among senior base metals. Brunswick jumped 85 cents to $7.25 among junior metals.

The exchange index rose .33 to 121.14, Industrials .57 to 140.33, western oils .49 to 83.00 base metals .03 to 59.81 and golds .04 to 132.05. Volume for the day was 5,593,000 shares compared with 5,900,000 Monday.

RETURN PAY BOOST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Irked at receiving only a $100-a-year pay increase, some teachers in United States schools overseas are returning the raise in little instalments to Defence Secretary Robert McNamara. The protests were revealed Tuesday by E. L. Katzenbach Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defence. U.S. overseas teachers received an average of $4,720 this year against a national average of $5,963.

NATURAL GAS

The Groningen field in The Netherlands is estimated to hold enough natural gas to supply the entire present needs for five years.

Around the Tee

The rinks have been chosen and lines have been drawn and away we go with the Sportsmen's bonspiel. It will open with three draws on Friday, starting at 2.30 p.m. and continues all day Saturday. This is an event that is eagerly looked forward to by every member of the club and it is one day that the ones have the club house to themselves. There will be plenty of curling with beautiful prizes going to the winners but in between times there will be many bridge games and other games in progress especially "Cata".

At the end of the second draw the curlers will be served a dinner beyond compare. There will be turkey, ham and roast beef and who could want for more. There will be plenty of trimmings and excellent dessert. The committee have put an excellent job in selecting the rinks and the competition will be accordingly keen in all draws. Bill Holway Jr. was the winner of the Flintoff trophy last year and is ready to defend his laurels with a new rink. The "if" room will be a popular meeting place that night because every game will be replayed in the locker room.

Bill Holway Jr. was skip and innovated by Steve Flintoff, who donated the beautiful trophy and it is to be hoped the sponsor will be able to join the fellow curlers for a short time on Saturday. He has been in ill health for some time but is now on the mend. Come early and stay late and let this be the best of a long list of bonspiels in the club's history.

Following are the competing rinks and the time of the three draws on Friday.

5.30

Cec. Kirkwood skip; Don McCutcheon vice; Jack Tobe second; Tom McQuaid lead.

Murray Johnson skip; Art Bannon vice; John Wannamaker second; Frank Creeggan lead.

Dave Duffy skip; Ken Findlay vice; Tom Williams second; Murray Shepherd lead.

Mac White skip; Ed Lewis vice; Ed Wonnacott second; Bill Gault lead.

Claude Tice skip; Harold Mott vice; F. R. Sheffield second; Ken Monson lead.

Ernie Wilkinson skip; Gil Wamboldt vice; Jack McConnell second; Ron Buskard lead.

Steve Bray skip; H. J. Fuke vice; F. J. Barrett second; S. Binning lead.

8.30

Bill Holway skip; Stan Hall vice; Jim Nellies second; H. Thompson lead.

7.30

Bob Bastable skip; Ernie Jones vice; Dawson Boyd second; Vic Wills lead.

Ralph Graham skip; Ralph Ellis vice; John Black second; Bob Cummings lead.

Curt Miller skip; Ken Bull vice; Ernie Palmer second; Bill Kerr lead.

Gord Edwards skip; Wes Andrews vice; Frank Daniels second; Ed Collins lead.

Bill Holway skip; Bill Spinks vice; Will Weymark second; Bob Hunter lead.

Lloyd Shepard skip; Bud Drury vice; Fred Maund second; Pete Acton lead.

Ron Cass skip; Bob Alexander vice; Ed Fairman second; Bob Farquarson lead.

Stan Reston skip; Chas. Cox vice; Jack Partridge second; Dave Blair lead.

9.30

Hal Emerson skip; Ron Benn vice; Bill Meagher second; Neil Davidson lead.

Dave Brown skip; Dick Beare vice; Rod Prill second; Jack Diamond lead.

Ben Corke skip; Jack Lomas vice; Jack Preston second; Bill Nelson lead.

Al McCullam skip; Dan Cowley vice; Jim Durrant second; W. Henderson lead.

Joe McKay skip; Enos David vice; Cliff Neil second; Phil McCarthy lead.

Pat Houston skip; Jack Sills vice; Bill Beattie second; Al Shukster lead.

Chas. Lovett skip; Bruce McKenzie vice; Irv Lowen second; Ross Parks lead.

Three rinks from this district are competing in the Oshawa bonspiel and doing very well, according to the reports. Skip Frank Kirk of Coe Kingwood, Gordon Edwards, Ron Benn with T. A. Carruthers as skip, report their first game in the primary event to an Oshawa rink, but won their next game in the Fitzgerald trophy. The RCAF rink composed of Russ Bowdrey, Jack Spence, Jack Pettigrew and Spence, won their first game in the McLaughlin, beating Howard Brons of Oshawa 13-6 while a Trenton Curling Club rink of Stan Lilner, Clyde Mason, Dale Carr and W. J. Carruthers won over J. H. Pressy in the first event, 8-7. All good rinks of the province are on hand for this spiel and the boys are tired out from so much curling but luck is freely given at this spiel.

The finals will be played today and it would be worth a trip to the Motor City to see.

Opticians

loo because no opticians are registered to practice there.

Two groups at Tuesday's session attacked the principles on which the Ontario plan is based as being unlikely greatly to extend protection against medical expenses.

The Ontario Association of Social Workers and Associated Nursing Services of Ontario both predicted premiums rates would remain out of reach of the marginal group because dividents, who receive free medical care under welfare, and those who already can afford medical insurance.

Therefore, the plan would not meet its own aim of providing universally - available coverage, they said.

Some members of the government-appointed committee hit back at the criticism, challenging statements and data presented by some witnesses.

PLAN VOLUNTARY

The draft legislation provides for both commercial and non-profit insurers to offer the public standard medical plans under maximum premiums with doctors setting the fee schedule and a government organization adjusting the maximum premium rates. The government has said it would pay premiums for the indigent—an estimated 10 per cent of the population—and make the premiums of another, undefined marginal income group.

The 1,000-member Association of Social Workers stated that the draft plan "does not provide a significant step forward in the achievement of adequate health services for the people of Ontario, as it is presented as part of a comprehensive plan."

The association's brief called instead for a "universal and comprehensive health plan financed by taxes. The group's spokesman, Canadian Association President Dr. Elizabeth Govan, indicated this would thus be a compulsory plan.

Associated Nursing Homes, a group of about 100 licensed nursing establishments throughout the province, described the draft legislation as "a very meagre effort" and urged that instead to the success of government-run medical care in Saskatchewan.

DISLIKES APPROACH

The organization's general secretary, Rev. Edgar Gill of Chatham, near London, said Ontario's approach was "piecemeal" like Alberta's similar voluntary program, rather than integrated and comprehensive like Saskatchewan's.

He criticized the exclusion from coverage of dental care, drugs and nursing, noting that many old people are cumming to their way around and premature death earlier than necessary because they cannot afford dental care."

Inquiry members W. S. Major, general manager of Physical Fitness Directorate, and Carman Naylor of London Life Insurance Company and hotel owner Dalton Camp, will be the group challenged the nursing home association's comparisons with Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Mr. Major said the Saskatchewan plan does not provide full medical care, noting some services are excluded. Mr. Carwell said Saskatchewan was able to cut yearly premiums in half to $12 for a family—compared to about $160 as the governmentrun premiums in Alberta — because of oil revenues.

Mr. Naylor challenged a notation that Alberta doctors are not subscribing to their plan with any noticeable enthusiasm, saying that about 90 per cent of bertans have "some form of medical insurance."

Earlier, Mr. Major questioned Dr. Govan of the social workers closely. He denied her suggestion that the financing of medical care plan by payments would require collection by doctors.

NOT FOR COST

He asked her if she had any idea how much a tax-run medical plan would cost. It is $600,000,000 a year can the government afford it?

Mr. Major also questioned the Ontario Psychiatric Association claim that psychiatric treatment coverage should be put on much the same basis as any other medical treatment and could be for an estimated $12,500,000 a year—$2 per head of population.

He asked whether the lawyers should have to meet the cost of weekly psychiatric treatment for a person who needs it to carry on after "bringing stress on himself by climbing the fence of his client."

Dr. F. C. B. Chalks, chairman of the association, replied that many physically ill patients require frequent, regular treatments.

To Mr. Major's expression of concern about treating incurable psychotics, Dr. Chalks said physically incurable patients require comparably prolonged treatment.

Robt. Freestone New President Kiwanis Club

One of the most important meetings of the year was held by the Kiwanis Club of Belleville at their regular dinner meeting at the Kiwanis Centre at noon hour on Tuesday - the installation of the 1964 slate of officers.

New officers for the coming year were officially inducted by Lieutenant-Governor Carl Reid of Picton, Mr. Reid is successor to the position held past Lt. Governor G. Wishart of the Belleville Club.

It was the last meeting as President, for Ralph Graham, marking the closing of the year 1963 and the beginning of a new year - 1964.

Officers installed were: Immediate past-president, Ralph Graham; President, Robert Freestone; President, elect, Ken Bradley; secretary, Mac Moffatt; treasurer, Roy Dulmage; directors, Jack McKee, Fried Belliatdi, Donald Finkle, Milton Sweeney, Neil Davidson, Donald Hickson, John Trafford, and Richard Lumbers.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Before installing the new officers for the coming year, Lt. Governor Reid said it was with feelings of great anticipation that he stood before the club to install their officers, and added that it was his third induction meeting since Monday.

The Lt. Governor stated that he found it extremely difficult to stand before the club and follow the great example set by the 1963 Lt. Governor, G. Wishart, a member of the Belleville Club.

Following his remarks, Lt.-Governor Reid presented Ralph Graham with his past-president's pin and referred to him as being "Mr. Kiwanis".

President R. Freestone was presented with the president's pin and the president's gavel by Mr. Reid. The vice-president, secretary and treasurer were also presented with pins by Mr. Reid. He told members of the club, after inducting the new directors, that the club had made a wide choice in selecting three men as directors of their club.

Following the induction ceremony, president Freestone presented the past-president, Ralph Graham, with a plaque on behalf of the club in recognition of his past year as president.

of the island were cut during fighting before Christmas, including the village with Turkish-Cypriot quarter and between Nicosia and the north coastal town of Kyrenia.

WILL SHOW GOODWILL

Government sources said the Greek-Cypriots, who form four-fifths of the population, would begin dismantling their barricades first as a gesture of goodwill. The Turkish-Cypriots were expected to follow suit.

British troops and Turkish and Greek National Army contingents were to continue their patrols under British Maj. - Gen. Peter Young, head of the truce force set up on the island following a Christmas Day ceasefire.

Clark said Young would be free to keep his patrols in position, "removing them when he likes."

The talks on free movement and communications opened four days ago between the two diplomatically hostile groups with Britain as arbiter.

News of the decision to take down the barricades and restore normal conditions came after three weeks of strife in which the threat of civil war was warded off by the truce and establishment of a neutral buffer zone.

The conflict claimed an estimated 200 to 300 lives. British troops were flown from England to patrol the zone between the warring communities.

OFA Wants More Work Permits for Seasonal Jobs

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture plans to ask the National Employment Service to issue more work permits to attract foreign seasonal workers to Canada to help with fruit and vegetable harvests.

Delegates to the OFA meeting here voted for the proposal after hearing a report that substantial losses have been suffered by Niagara Peninsula fruit growers in recent years because of a shortage of pickers.

John Sandham of Vineland station, secretary of the Ontario Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Marketing Board, told the meeting seasonal workers might be brought in for the harvest from the West Indies or from Buffalo, N.Y.

Robert Carbert, OFA secretary-manager, said after the meeting that more seasonal workers could enter Canada if the National Employment Service issued more work permits. Some workers now enter Ontario under such permits.

COME FROM U.S.

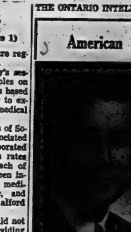
R. E. Bennett, an assistant deputy minister in the provincial agriculture department, said the only significant group of foreign seasonal workers to enter Ontario in recent years are about 2,000 Jamaican boys who come annually from the southern United States.

At the urging of tobacco farmer Sydney Kleiman of Simcoe, the meeting passed a resolution suggesting that animal fats companies be allowed to produce a second pipeline near areas where the first does not serve residents, particularly farmers who need natural gas to cure tobacco in kilns.

It also voted to ask the provincial government to remove the sales tax from farm supplies such as forks, steel posts and shovels.

However, a proposal urging legislation requiring the labelling of all garbage-fed pork products, known as soft pork, was defeated. Delegates felt the label would result in a sharp decline in consumer demand.

Cornwall Fire Damages Plant



CORNWALL (CP) — A $150,000 fire destroyed the warehouse and drum-cleaning shop of the Iroquois Industrial Chemical Limited plant here.

Firemen extinguished the blaze, of unknown origin after a three-hour battle.

Fire broke out shortly before 5 a.m. A series of explosions mushroomed some 300 feet in the air.

A company spokesman said operations would resume at the plant today. The company employs 30 persons.

American Optical Appointments

J. J. Marta, Sales and Distribution Manager of American Optical Company, announces the appointment of Mr. Charles Locatell as Ophthalmic Product Manager.

Mr. Locatell started with American Optical Company in 1956 and worked in the New York and Los Angeles areas. In 1962 he came to Canada as Area Manager in Toronto. In 1963 he transferred to Head Office in Belleville. As mentioned, he is now Ophthalmic Product Manager in charge of Lenses, Frames and Cases.

Prior to joining American Optical Company, Mr. Locatell was in the United States Navy for four years during the Korean War. On discharge from the Navy, he studied Marketing at St. John's University, Jamaica, Long Island.

Mr. Locatell is a married man with three children. His hobbies are fishing and golfing.

Henry J. Fitzgerald, Executive Vice President of the American Optical Company announces the appointment of Paul Poulin as Manager of the Specialty Division. As Manager of the Specialty Division, he will be responsible for the sales of and distribution of Polaroid Sunglasses, Anson Jewellery and Outdoor Calobar Sunglass lines.

Mr. Poulin started with the AO in 1961 as Regional Manager of Nova Scotia. In 1962 he was transferred to Belleville as Sunglass Sales Manager.

Mr. Poulin graduated from the University of Maine. He is married and has five children. His hobbies are boating and golfing.

DESERONTO

Education and Water Supply Chief Items for Consideration

John B. Neal Again Chairman School Board

DESERONTO — At the inaugural meeting of the Deseronto Board of Education John B. Neal was re-elected chairman with M. L. Detlor as vice chairman. The following committees were set up for 1964:

Management, E. Keech, chairman, D. Reid, Mrs. D. C. McVicker; Finance, M. L. Detlor, chairman, Mrs. D. C. McVicker, E. Keech; Public School Property, W. Sibbell, chairman, D. Reid, E. Keech; High School Property, Mrs. D. C. McVicker, chairman, D. Armitage, M. L. Detlor.

P. A. Morris was appointed as the representative of the Board on the Library Board and Mrs. Wakelin was also appointed to the Library Board.

The Board passed a motion to continue to buy education from the Napanee and District High School Board for the 1964-65 term.

The reports of the Inspector and the Public School Principal were read. Approval was also given to continue the supervised study periods at the High School until June 30th. Mr. Quirk, former principal of the local high school, advised the Board that he was willing to continue his assistance without remuneration.

The property committee were authorized to ascertain the true value of the high school building.

The Board also joined the Ontario Trustee Association for 1964.

A motion was also passed authorizing the chairman to secure legal advice on matters pertaining to school administration.

A motion to close off the upper two floors of the high school for the winter months was presented by E. Keech and was defeated.

DESERONTO — At the inaugural meeting of town council on Monday night Mayor Gerald Lloyd told council it would be difficult to propose any new business for the town as there remains a great deal to be completed from last year. He said that first would come the completion of arrangements for comprehensive education for all children.

Second would be the completion of the water filtration so that a clean and safe water supply would be available to residents. "Also," he said, "this year the council wishes to continue the improvement of sidewalks in the residential area." He felt that with adequate educational facilities and a good water supply industry could be induced to locate in Deseronto. In addition the Industrial and Publicity should increase their budget to interest industry to locate in town. He also referred to the piece of waterfront acquired with the old Ideal Vendor plant and suggested this should be turned into a park area.

The committees were set as follows: finance — Councillors Alfred, Colley, and Marks; property — Sharpe, Colley and P. Brooks; fire and police — Howard, Marks and C. Brooks; by-laws — Marks, Alfred and C. Brooks; industrial and publicity — Colley, Alford, Howard; welfare — C. Brooks, Sharpe and P. Brooks; streets — P. Brooks, Howard and Sharpe; court of revision — Alford, P. Brooks, Colley, Howard and Marks.

WILL ATTEND MEETING

Council decided to attend a meeting in the Thurlow Hall regarding a planning area separate from the Belleville area. The reeve wondered if it would be worth while but the reeve, councillor Howard and the clerk will attend.

A letter was received from the Victoria and Grey Trust Co. that this company still owns land and will continue to grant mortgages in the town.

Permission was granted Sandra Keech, chairman of the Heart Fund committee to canvass the town on Feb. 7th.

The reeve advised that he and councillor Colley had attended the last meeting of the finance committee of Lennox and Addington County Council and had clarified financial arrangements for joining the Napanee School area. Councillor Marks gave notice of motion for a by-law to conclude the unfinished business of joining Deseronto to the Napanee and District School Board area.

A by-law was passed authorizing the town to borrow up to $115,000 from the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The following appointments were made: Peter A. Morris to the Library Board for three years; Arthur Hill to the Board of Health for one year; Arthur E. Walker to the Cemetery Board for two years and Mrs. F. Sexsmith to the Library Board for three years.

An emergency measures committee was appointed consisting of the Mayor Lloyd, Reeve Alford, councillors J. Sharpe and C. Brooks.

Council passed a motion that the Provincial member Clarke Rollins be asked to meet with council regarding any aspects who might wish to make use of the old Ideal Venders plant.

WATER CLARIFICATION

Councillor Howard asked for clarification regarding which committee was responsible for the maintenance of the water holding the fire siren. This was pertinent in regard of the fire and police committee.

Councillor Brooks felt the method of giving fire alarms was poor and the fire committee were asked to return a report at the next meeting.

The mayor said that he would like the finance committee to consider a gasoline allowance for the chairman of the streets committee and asked for a recommendation to be given at the next meeting.

An inquiry regarding the agreement with the Drave corp. is to be on hand for consideration at the next meeting.

FORMING ARMY

TRADING TO END

The common shares of Dow Brewery will be removed from the trading list of the stock exchange at the close of business March 31. Canadian Breweries Ltd. made an offer last summer to purchase the outstanding common shares of Dow at $60 a share. The company now holds more than 99% per cent.

WILL KNOW PLANS

Manitoba Hydro officials will know later this month whether they want to continue their investigations into the proposed $200,000,000 Nelson River power development. D. M. Stephens, chairman of the government agency, said Tuesday a feasibility report on the Nelson River project should be completed toward the end of January.

REPORTS PAYMENTS

Dividend payments by Canadian companies for January total $89,924,069, J. S. Tinsmire and Co., stock brokers, reported Tuesday. The total was 2.2 per cent above the $87,113,179, paid in January last year and 15.7 per cent ahead of the $77,682,863 in January, 1962.

Plans

included broader minimum wage coverage, hospital insurance for the aged, an end to discriminatory immigration quotas, a bigger housing program and a determined effort—preferably by competition with the Soviet Union—to put a man on the moon by 1970.

Prosperity, peace and peace in the world were the broad goals cited by the president, who sought to balance conciliation and determination in discussing cold war problems:

"We intend to bury no one—and we do not intend to be buried. We can fight, if we must, as we have fought before —but we pray we will never have to fight again."

ELECTION YEAR

As for specific administration policies, Johnson made these major points in the U.S. election year address intended to set the tone for the 1964 congressional session:

—Federal spending in the 1965 fiscal year that begins July 1 is scheduled to total $97,900,000,000 — comfortably below Johnson's announced target of $100,000,000,000. Forecast revenues at $92,000,000,000 indicate a deficit of $4,900,000,000, or less than half the fiscal 1964 estimate.

—Production of enriched uranium, used in nuclear weapons and small reactors like those in nuclear submarines, will be slashed by 25 per cent by June 30—the first reduction since the invention of the atomic bomb in 1945. Said Johnson: "We call on our adversaries to do the same." And he justified the decision by declaring "we must not stockpile arms beyond our needs or seek an excess of military power that could be provocative as well as wasteful."

—"As far as the writ of federal law will run," said the president, "we must abolish not some but all racial discrimination." He emphasized that he wants a civil rights law that will include a ban on discrimination by private businesses serving the general public — the most controversial item in the measure now pending in the House of Representatives.

—"This administration here and now declares unconditional war on poverty in Aferica," Johnson declared. He said he will propose co-operative federa-state-local programs to promote "better schools, better health, better homes, better training and better job opportunities."

—He asked Congress to set up special committees empowered to increase the time-and-a-half overtime pay rate in industries "where consistently excessive use of overtime causes increased unemployment." He did not name any industries or suggest alternative overtime pay scales.

—The United States, Johnson announced, will make unspecified "new proposals" at Geneva disarmament talks later this month.

—He is determined to try to put a man on the moon by 1970 "and we will make sure we have the resources to meet this goal, whatever the costs may be, in full measure."

—Johnson said "our ultimate goal is a world without war." In this connection, he said the United States at Geneva will suggest new steps "toward the control and eventual abolition of arms."

But even in the absence of a disarmament agreement, he said, weapons must not be stockpiled on a wasteful and provocative scale.

"It is in this spirit that in this fiscal year we are cutting back our production of enriched uranium by 25 per cent, shutting down four plutonium piles and closing many non-essential military installations. And it is this spirit that we call on our adversaries to do the same."

USED IN ATOMIC ARMS

Enriched uranium is used in a broad variety of atomic weapons and small, specialized reactors, and in the triggering devices for hydrogen bombs. The plutonium piles are reactors that manufacture plutonium—a fissionable material with much the same uses as enriched uranium.

While Johnson did not say so specifically in his message, he implied that reduced output of uranium and plutonium would lead to reduced production of nuclear weapons.

Johnson's emphasis in the domestic field was on proposals to wage "all-out war on human poverty and unemployment in these United States." Most of the ideas he endorsed were generated during the Kennedy administration. Said Johnson:

"Let us carry forward the plans and programs of John Fitzgerald Kennedy — not because of our sorrow or sympathy—but because they are right."

And he followed up with a pointe that took note of the November presidential and congressional elections:

"This (Kennedy's) memory, I especially ask all members of my own political faith—in this election year—to put country ahead of party, and to debate principles, not personalities."

OPPOSES OVERTIME

At least one anti-poverty proposal—involving overtime pay—bore the Johnson stamp.

The president said that while he opposes the idea of a 35-hour week, he is equally opposed to the 45- or 50-hour week in those industries which consistently schedule overtime work.

Labor Secretary Wirtz said last week that elimination of overtime would create the equivalent of 919,000 fulltime jobs. The aim of higher overtime pay would be, of course, to encourage employers to hire additional workers rather than schedule overtime work.

In the area of economics, Johnson said greatest stress on the House-passed tax cut bill. Until the measure is enacted, he said, "its investment incentives cannot be deemed certain" and the basic rate for withholding taxes from wage-earners' pay cannot be cut from 15 per cent to 14 per cent. The latter move would give workers $2 billion of income by $200,000,000 a month — an amount that would be immediately available for spending or investment.

Because these factors, Johnson said, "I urge the Congress to take final action on this bill by the first of February."

The lower tax rates would be retroactive to Jan. 1.

BOOSTS CIVIL RIGHTS

In discussing civil rights, Johnson expressed hope that this year's Congress will be the one which "will move far more forward rights than the last hundred sessions combined."

—"In co - operation with other powers if possible, alone if necessary." This echoed a September statement by Kennedy for a joint American-Soviet moon program—an idea that got a cool reception in Moscow.

OUTLINES POLICY

Johnson's message is the most important State-of-the-Union report since 1934. The annual message outlines U.S. government policy for the coming year.

Johnson's report cited these broad goals of national policy:

"A nation that is free from want and a world that is free from hate, a world of peace and justice, of freedom and abundance, for our time and for all time to come."

Johnson said "our ultimate goal is a world without war." In this connection, he said the United States at Geneva will suggest new steps "toward the control and eventual abolition of arms."

But even in the absence of a disarmament agreement, he said, weapons must not be stockpiled on a wasteful and provocative scale.

"It is in this spirit that in this fiscal year we are cutting back our production of enriched uranium by 25 per cent, shutting down four plutonium piles and closing many non-essential military installations. And it is this spirit that we call on our adversaries to do the same."

USED IN ATOMIC ARMS

Enriched uranium is used in a broad variety of atomic weapons and small, specialized reactors, and in the triggering devices for hydrogen bombs. The plutonium piles are reactors that manufacture plutonium—a fissionable material with much the same uses as enriched uranium.

While Johnson did not say so specifically in his message, he implied that reduced output of uranium and plutonium would lead to reduced production of

Robarts Says Taxes Will Be Increased

TORONTO (CP) — Taxes will be increased when the provincial budget for 1964-65 is presented to the Legislature next month, Premier Robarts said Tuesday night.

The premier said he could not give details of the increases because the budget is not yet completed.

Mr. Robarts was speaking on a taped CBC television interview that will be broadcast tonight.

He said heavy estimated expenditures, particularly on education, were responsible for the increase. In 1963-64, the province budgeted a record $397,500,000 for education.

By 1970, Mr. Robarts said, Ontario will need three times as many schools as it had in 1960. Much of the increased taxation would be spent on grants to all forms of educational institutions.

The Telegram says there is speculation that the three per cent sales tax will be increased to five per cent or hospital insurance premiums will be doubled from the current $2.10 for a single person and $4.20 for families.

It said the sales tax increase would bring in an additional $130,000,000. Doubling the hospital premiums would mean an extra $80,000,000.

In the current fiscal year, ending March 31, increased taxation was forecast to add $150,000,000 to the provincial treasury. The net debt, however, was expected to increase $75,000,000 to $1,300,000,000.

When a newspaper is missing, more often than not, a man will say, "Where's my newspaper?" "My," not "the"! You've heard him say many times: "Now, my newspaper said . . ." "I read in my paper . . ."

A man's possessive about his newspaper. He takes pride in it. He gloats when his newspaper praises his favorite political candidate or sports team. Or he groans when his newspaper differs with his choice of personalities or issues. He'll even write the editor when he feels strongly about a difference of opinion. And, his wife feels just about the same. She looks forward to reading her pet features. Missing out on some ad or choice item of local news could "ruin" her shopping trip or leave her feeling left out during the chitchat over the bridge table.

Both men and women want their newspaper. In fact, they insist on it. They are sorely disappointed and disturbed when their newspaper isn't on the front step when they want it. Ask any carrier boy. He can tell you, because he hears about it if a delivery is late or missed.

This loyalty to a favorite newspaper didn't just happen. It came about because the newspaper is localized to meet a particular want and fill a definite need.

And, because the newspaper is viewed as a necessary companion and source of information, it makes a big difference in the lives of people of all ages, of all faiths and political preferences, of all levels of income and education.

Abandon Plans For New York Nuclear Plant

NEW YORK (CP) — Consolidated Edison Company has withdrawn its plans for immediate construction of a nuclear power plant in the heart of New York City and hopes to buy from Canada the additional power it requires.

Harland C. Forbes, chairman of the big New York electrical utility firm, said the nuclear plant plans were deferred because of "present prospects of securing large amounts of hydro-electric power from Canada on an economically favorable basis."

Company officials were quoted as saying privately that it was expected negotiations with the British Newfoundland Corporation, a privately-owned firm, would lead to the purchase of about 2,000,000 kilowatts of power. More power might also be bought from the publicly - owned Quebec Hydro-Electric Commission.

The power to be purchased from Canada would have to be available not later than 1970. It would be brought to New York on high - power transmission lines to be built from the Canadian border to the city.

WERE MANY PROTESTS

Consolidated Edison's plan for a nuclear power plant in Queens Borough drew strong protests from residents who would be its neighbors. Their committee claimed to have 5,000 signatures opposing the plant. Spokesmen cited possible radiation hazards.

SALMON GO TO SEA

OTTAWA (CP) — About 2,067,000 tiny British Columbia pink salmon have gone to sea in the Atlantic Ocean, ending successfully the first stage of a project to bring a new fishery to Newfoundland. If it's successful all the way, the fish will be back in the spring of 1965 as spawning adults weighing four or five pounds.

The Experts Say

Many Pressures Confront Children With High I.Q.

By BRENDA LARGE

OTTAWA (CP)—If your child displays above-average intelligence he may also have complex emotional problems, says a federal health department psychologist.

Dr. Craig M. Mooney of the department's mental health division says that although the special problems of bright youngsters have been studied extensively in the United States during the last five years, Canadians are not generally aware of the various pressures and conflicts confronting children with higher-than-average intelligence quotients.

"With most of these children the basic problem is coping with being a minority of one."

Many bright children are isolated from their fellow students in what is often a painfully felt intellectual "zoo."

Ten-year-olds who still read comic books don't understand their friend who reads historical novels.

"Oh, he's just a brain," is the scornful comment the school basketball hero directs towards the quiet boy with the glasses who stands on the sidelines at every game.

FORCED TO CONFORM

Intellectual isolation is all the more painful to the child or young person because it comes from the very group he wishes he impress most — his peer group, the people of his own age.

Besides this isolation, many intelligent children have to cope with the pressure to conform placed on them by friends, parents and teachers, says the Ottawa psychologist.

Since children with above-average intelligence are usually highly independent as well, their formative years often a continuous struggle to maintain their own autonomy in the face of their parents' wish to make them "like everybody else's children."

Teachers also sometimes contribute to this pressure to conform, says Dr. Mooney.

"A recent survey of teachers revealed that they ranked behavior problems that challenged their authority as the most serious they encountered," said Dr. Mooney.

"Forcing a child to change his or her handwriting to conform to a given pattern or style is a common mistake many teachers make."

OFTEN MISUNDERSTOOD

A further problem bright children face is the danger that their independence may be interpreted as defiant or aggressive. Because they usually prefer to learn "on their own" and fail to attempt difficult or dangerous tasks, they are often misunderstood by their friends and called "bookworms" or "oddballs."

Dr. Mooney agrees with many other psychologists that special educational programs for highly intelligent youngsters are badly needed in Canada.

"Although a great many enrichment and specially accelerated programs do exist, there is still much to be done to provide challenges for gifted children.

He suggests;

1. Adequate provision for testing intelligence accurately.
2. More in-service education to help teachers provide special courses for bright students.
3. Greater curriculum and methodological guidance for teachers.
4. Adequate public information on the relationship to general education of special education for the gifted.

CREIGHTON — ELGIE

In a Yuletide setting of white Christmas trees and blue bulbs, the marriage of Audrey Mae Elgie, daughter of Mrs. Fred Elgie, Belleville and the late Mr. F. Elgie, to William Douglas Creighton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Creighton, R.R. 2 Bath, Ontario, was solemnized in Holloway Street United Church on Saturday, December 21 at 3.30 p.m. The Rev. C. W. Coleman assisted by a cousin of the bride, the Rev. Elgie Joblin officiated at the ceremony.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by the church organist, Mr. Angus McLeod who also accompanied the soloist Miss Rosslyn Robertson.

The bride, given in marriage by the Rev. J. S. A. Spearman wore a floor-length bridal gown of white peau de soie highlighted with Chantilly lace appliques, featuring a scooped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves and bell-shape skirt. Her shoulder length veil flowed from a matching pillbox headdress with peau de soie bow at front. She carried a cascade bouquet of red Sweetheart roses mingled with white carnations and trailing ivy.

Miss Helen Spearman, Houghton, N.Y. as maid of honor and the bridesmaids Miss Pearl Tucker of Bowmanville and Miss Jane Townsend of Kingston were identically attired in white corded faille dresses featuring the "A" line skirts, highlighted with red velvet cummerbunds and enhanced with scoop necklines and short sleeves. Their headdresses were matching pillboxes and each carried a bouquet of red carnations and white 'mums.

Mr. Larry Creighton, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, while Mr. Wallace R. Parks, Bath R.R. 2 and Mr. William B. Cuthill of Napanee were the ushers.

The reception was held in the Sunday school auditorium of Holloway Street United Church where the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake and flanked with white candles in silver candelabra. The colorful bridal bouquets added to the attractive floral setting. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a dusty blue satin brocade dress with matching jacket, a blue tulle hat, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother who wore a cherry red double knit dress, red ostrich feather hat, black and white accessories and a corsage of white 'mums.

For the wedding trip to Florida the bride chose a sky blue flannel sheath, matching feathered hat and scarf, black coat and accessories and a solitaire orchid corsage.

Guests were present from Verona, Rochester, Kingston, Toronto, Houghton, N.Y., Belleville, Stirling, Bowmanville and Dearborn, Mich.

Previous to the marriage a miscellaneous shower was held by the bride's attendants at the home of Mrs. H. Townsend in Belleville and another at the home of the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Karl Gray in Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Creighton are residing at 130 Helen Street, Kingston.

C.A. SERVICE

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle held their weekly C.A. service on Friday evening, with president Keith Helm in charge. After the usual opening Mr. David Strome of E.P.B.C., Peterborough led the song service. Miss Mary Ella Grant of Peterborough sang a solo.

Miss Sandra Purvis of E.P.B.C. Peterborough brought the message, speaking on "In 1964 to love the Lord and do more for Him."

Mr. Murray Stacey and Mr. Calvin Watson received the evening offering. Rev. F. Spring gave the announcements.

Miss Lois Wright of E.P.B.C. Peterborough brought a message spoken on "For me to live is Christ and to die is gain".

The service closed in prayer.

Christ Church E. B. W. A. Lists Officers

Members of the Evening Branch of Christ Church W.A. met on Monday evening in the parish hall for their first business meeting of the new year.

The devotional service was in charge of Mrs. F. Burton and Mrs. H. Stevens.

Following the report of the secretary, Miss Frances Reid, correspondence was read, including a letter from the Deanery president, Mrs. C. Slatter thank-you notes from Mrs. McMath and Mrs. A. Swain. Mrs. A. Gilroy and Mrs. R. Smith expressed appreciation for remembrances while in hospital, and Mrs. W. Edwards, on behalf of her husband, for card. Mrs. L. MacInnis' treasurer's report showed a most gratifying year financially. Mrs. W. Edwards, Dorcas secretary, reported on the bales of new and used articles sent out.

Mrs. S. Beggs reported that 24 cards had been sent to members, three roses and bowls, one book and 68 cards to shut-ins at Christmas. The social service and social fund were given by Mrs. J. Ross and Mrs. E. Smith, respectively.

The Rev. R. G. Fleming congratulated the group on their work and mentioned that each W.A. group is a small part of the World Wide Organization and with co-operation a great work is being accomplished.

Couple Lost Whole Family Year Ago

TORONTO (CP) — A year after their eight children were burned to death in a fire, Mr. and Mrs. Emile French have just about reached the stage where they want to live again.

Several thousand dollars raised to help the couple after fire swept through their home Feb. 8, 1963, have enabled them to move into and furnish a modest five-room bungalow.

Mr. and Mrs. French came to Toronto from Newfoundland as newlyweds in 1945 and all their children were born here.

After midnight on Feb. 8, Mr. French put a kettle on the gas stove next to a fryer full of fat. While he dozed in front of the television set, flames swept up the pressed cardboard walls and spread through the roof of their semi-detached-style home of nine other homes.

When it was over, more than 40 persons were homeless. Dead were the French's five daughters and three sons—Annie, 16, Albert, 15, Eileen, 14, Allison, 13, John, 11, Linda, 9, Sharon 6 and William, 4.

Mrs. French, 38, a trim, blonde woman with a shy, pretty smile, was at work when the fire broke out.

CHEER EVERY DAY

"I don't know how we came through those first months," she says. "I cried every day for weeks."

She and her husband stayed with her sister for two months after the fire, then moved into a flat.

In July, with an estimated $5,000 to $6,000 handled by Rev. M. J. Harrington, the Holy Trinity Church minister who baptized their children and conducted funeral services, they were able to make a down payment on their new home and buy furnishings.

In August, with their own money, they visited Rale d'Espire, N'fld., where Mrs. French saw her mother for the first time in 20 years.

Little things that belonged to the children—Annie's purse and a funny pink bear given to her by a boy friend, Allison's school bag, art work by John, Linda and Sharon — were carefully packed away, along with hundreds of sympathy cards from people in Canada, the United States and Europe.

The Frenches celebrated Christmas quietly. They had a tree and some gifts to nephews and nieces. Mrs. French, who still works, had "one glorious day" shopping with the help cash her own personal saleslady.

Now, with enough they can't quite get used to the idea, they are thinking of adopting children.

REYNOLDS — WOODCOCK

Halloway United Church was the setting for a lovely doublering wedding ceremony, recently when Ada Luella Woodcock, Halloway, was united in marriage to Glenn Eric Reynolds, Frankford. The Rev. Robert Reid officiated before a background of potted white 'mums. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mrs. Eldon Killian of Marmora, aunt of the bridegroom, played traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist Mr. Neal Rooke, cousin, in his vocal renditions.

The bride was radiant in a bridal gown of orchid design white satin brocade featuring a fitted bodice with long lily point sleeves and classic neckline, pointed at the back. The full skirt fell softly from the waist line and swept into a small chapel train. Her elbow length tulle illusion veil flowed from a rhinestone tiara crown and her white Bible was accented with pink rosebuds and white satin streamers.

Miss Alma Woodcock, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was attired in a fiesta rose taffeta sheath dress with a matching overskirt outlined in front with hand made roses of the same material. Her headdress was a white lace pillbox with illusion veil and she carried a nosegay of white 'mums.

Mr. Bill Reynolds, Toronto, was his brother's groomsman, while another brother Mr. Gary Reynolds, Frankford and Mr. Gregory Calder, Wellington, were the ushers.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Calder, Halloway. Mrs. Snider received the guests wearing a wineberry shaded silk sheath dress with matching jacket and fuchsia hat, and corsage of white shasta daisies. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother attired in Caribbean blue wool sheath, white fur pillbox hat and accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The dining centre was decorated with pine boughs, and the bride's table was prettily appointed with white damask cloth, centred with a round three tier wedding cake which was later served to the guests by the bride and bridegroom.

White candles in silver candelabra and the bridal bouquets completed the attractive nuptial setting.

For a brief honeymoon to Niagara Falls the bride donned a cranberry red knit suit with black and white accessories and corsage of white baby 'mums.

Guests were present from Oshawa, Marmora, Belleville and surrounding districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are residing in Frankford.

WEDDING

WAGAR — WOOD

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle was the scene of a lovely double-ring wedding ceremony on Saturday, December 14th when Rev. F. C. Spring united in marriage Constance Mae Wood, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wood of Frankford and Gerald W. Wagar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wagar of R.R. 6, Trenton. Standards of pink snapdragons and white mums adorned the altar.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Gordon Smith of Frankford. Soloist was Mr. James McKay of Carrying Place.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her floor-length bridal gown of white angelface taffeta, with scooped neckline coming to a slight V at the back and long lily point sleeves and chapel train. She wore a large rose headdress and elbow length silk veil and carried a trailing cascade of pink roses with ivy and lily of the valley.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Grant Parks of Belleville, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Mervin Bowes of Deep River, sister of the bride and Miss Beverley Wannamaker of R.R. 3, Frankford who wore identical street-length rose sheath dresses of peau de soie with matching overskirts with scooped neck-lines and long sleeves. They wore rose headdresses and matching shoes and carried cascade bouquets of white mums, centred with pink roses to match that of the bride's bouquet.

Flower girl was little Miss Heather Parks of Belleville, niece of the bride, who wore a full pleated rose dress with scooped neckline and long sleeves identical to the bridesmaids' dresses with small rose headdress and carried a basket of white mums.

Groomsman was Mr. Mark Wagar of Oshawa, brother of the bridegroom and ushers were, Mr. Grant Parks of Belleville, brother-in-law of the bride and Mr. Elwood Wagar of Peterborough, brother of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the Balmoral Room at the Glenburnie Motel, Trenton, by candlelight with the bride's table decorated with a white damask cloth and white globe shaped candles in candelabra, centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with love birds holding two wedding rings.

The bride's mother received wearing a blue satin sheath dress with embossed roses and matching jacket with royal blue accessories and corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother wearing a royal blue sheath dress with matching jacket and brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The bride's home was decorated with pink and white streamers and bows and white wedding bells.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, the bride's travelling costume was a heavenly blue sheath dress with matching jacket, white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests were present from: Oshawa, Toronto, Deep River, Kingston, Brockville, Peterborough, Marmora and Carrying Place.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagar are residing in Frankford.

Previous to the marriage, the bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. A. Fisher, R.R. 2, Belleville.

RAWDON A.O.T.S.

On Thursday evening January 2nd, Rawdon A.O.T.S. men's club sponsored their son and daughter banquet in Wellman's Orange Hall under the direction of the president, Robert H. Hoard. Ezch man introduced his guests, 'Craig Watson proposed the toast and Carol Sharpe responded. Stanley Williams was sergeant-at-arms and Byron Sealey ran the fellowship report. Jim Pollock conducted the devotional and Virginia Pollock read the Bible verses.

Miss Carol Sharpe presided over the program given by the guests of honor. Piano solos were contributed by Carolyn Merrick, Carol Seeley, Jeanette Hoard, Nancy Tompkins and Jean Jeffs. Judy and Shelby Mclean rendered a vocal duet and Janice Clancy gave a vocal solo. Brenda Williams gave a reading.

Thanks were expressed for a program of interest and the pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher gave the closing message.

Bid for Independence Fails to Shake Mother

DEAR DORIS — Our daughter 18 years old has quit school and left home. When I came home from work I found a note that was just like a knife in my heart. She said she was very unhappy at home and she wanted to work and be independent.

She has been going steady with a boy who expected us to let our daughter stay out till one and two in the morning. So the past year it has been a constant argument about getting homework done, keeping her room tidy, spending more time with us, getting in early (12 at the latest). Now this boy helped her move, found her a room and promised to pay her board (which he did for three weeks). But a week ago he told her he was finished with her.

DORIS CLARK

My worry is this: Our daughter will not let us know where she is living. She won't come to talk things over. I am nearly out of my mind.

Our daughter is not a bad girl. She has a wonderful background in music and sports. Was also a camp counsellor for Y.W.C.A. I really have faith in her and trust her that she will not go wrong now, but do wish with God's help she would try to realize what I am going through. — AT WIT'S END.

DEAR WIT'S END — The inward rebellion of a capable girl against restraints can fester and boil up like a volcano — and be more devastating! In this case it was a ruthless boy friend who triggered it.

But she'll be back. Keep that strong faith in her — and when you hear from her let her know about it. Be ready to discuss a New Deal; one which acknowledges she is nearly grown up. You can lay the foundation for a lifetime friendship, if you will.

Confidential to WONDERING — Your letter arrived on my desk far too late to do anything for Christmas. If you had enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I would have been glad to reply direct. It takes time for letters to reach me from the paper and about three weeks after that for anything to appear in my column.

Sidney Twp. Couple Married for 50 Years

"Just like being married all over again," was the reaction of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowers, 5th concession of Sidney township, as they were "at home" Monday afternoon and evening on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Both natives of England, Mr. and Mrs. Bowers were married half a century ago at the Presbyterian church manse at Foxboro. With the exception of a few years at Wallbridge, the couple have lived since in 5th concession — Foxboro area.

Mr. Bowers is 72, while his bride of 50 years, the former Frances Jarran, is 70.

Among the many gifts received yesterday by the couple were a pair of table lamps from community residents.

For the past 17 years and until it closed last summer, Mr. Bowers worked at the Foxboro canning factory.

The couple have four children, two sons, Clarence, 4th concession Sidney, and Arnold, R.R. 1 Foxboro, and two daughters, Mrs. John (Evelyn) Platt, 4th concession Sidney, and Mrs. Edwin (Nellie) Whitley of Collins Bay. There are 16 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Art Gallery To Exhibit Two Picassos

Two pictures by Pablo Picasso never before exhibited outside his studio are to be shown to the public at Toronto Art Gallery for the first time on Saturday, Jan. 11. The Honorable W. Earl Rowe, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario will open the exhibition to members of the Art Gallery on January 10.

The two Picassos, "Head of a Woman" and "Woman Wearing a Hat", were painted in the winter of 1960-61. On December 23 these two works were picked up at his home in the south of France, Ville Les Mas Notre Dame de Vie, near Cannes and were shipped by air from Paris to Toronto.

In addition to lending these two paintings, Picasso has approved the loan of 62 studies for Guernica, which he still owns, but which are stored at the Museum of Modern Art in New York.

With the arrival of Picasso's pictures the number of works in the exhibition will reach 275, and the number of paintings, 100. The paintings, drawings, sculpture and prints have come from Canada, the United States, Russia, Switzerland, France, England, and The Netherlands. The exhibition will cover Picasso's career from the age of 17 to 80, a span of 80 years.

From Toronto the exhibition will go to The Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, from February 27 to March 21.

PLAINFIELD W.I.

The January meeting of Plainfield W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. G. Kerr, with 13 members present. President, Mrs. G. Hall opened the meeting and the roll call was answered with "A Product or Canadian Industries That You Are Wearing."

A swimming project for the children of the community was discussed and laid over until a later date.

Letters of thanks from a number of families for Christmas gifts were read and also a Christmas card from Lee-Nan-Soo the adopted boy in Korea.

An invitation was extended to Plainfield W.I. to attend Hastings County achievement day at Moira Secondary School on February 1st.

Mrs. F. Hodgen was in charge of the program. A list of Canadian Industries in Belleville was given by Mrs. Hodgen; readings were given by Mrs. D. Colden, Mrs. H. Harrison and Mrs. G. Denyes. A debate on agriculture versus industry, with all the members taking part was interesting.

A rock collection, also jewellery fashioned from polished rock was displayed by Mrs. W. Roblin of Belleville. Mrs. G. Hall presented Mrs. Roblin with a small gift in appreciation of her visit to the Institute. Lunch was served by Mrs. Kerr and her committee.

C.A. YOUTH RALLY

FRANKFORD — C.A. director of the Quinte Area, Rev. F. Spring welcomed all visitors in Frankford Full Gospel Tabernacle on Saturday evening. Rev. M. Horoby of Campbellford led in prayer. Rev. W. Hallwell of Brighton led the song service. Rev. and Mrs. E. Bergman of Calvary Temple, Belleville sang two vocal duets.

Little Miss Lori Bergman of Belleville sang a solo. Rev. E. Bergman and son Paul played a trumpet duet. Mr. Bergman sang a solo. Rev. J. Tubby of Belleville led in prayer, and Mr. Bergman brought the challenging message for the evening, speaking on "The Betrayal of Samson."

SPEAKING of MANNERS

—PATRICIA LEWIS

DO YOU BRING YOUR MANNERS TO MARKET?

I delved into the wonderful world of supermarkets the other day and returned laden with much food for thought.

My expedition into the land of shelves and counters was inspired by a paragraph in a newspaper which quoted a disillusioned supermarket manager as saying that women resent being asked to be fair or courteous toward a store.

They feel, he continued, that not only is a customer always right but that the store is always wrong.

He added that if his store asked women to help in a campaign to keep grocery carts from being damaged or taken away they would resent the plea and shop elsewhere.

With note paper and shopping list in hand, I explored this point with three store managers in my neighborhood. "Is it true what they say about women in supermarkets?" I asked. I came away with lots of answers.

First, they had to admit there was some truth in the complaint about the shopping carts, but they thought it was wrong to indict all women. A hard core of shoppers — men, as well — are so protective about their "rights" that they interpret any attempt to establish store rules as an invasion of privacy.

One manager said "I have been tempted to put up a sign in the meat department asking customers not to handle or rip through prewrapped packages. Then I realized what would happen. The sign would merely encourage more handling and tearing. My department manager now checks the packages, and rewraps the ones that are shopper-worn."

BAD-MANNERED SHOPPERS

There are other beefs against customers who either deliberately or heedlessly violate good taste and-or goodmanners when they're replenishing the family larder. All three managers singled out the "me first" shopper who:

Stands like the Rock of Gibraltar in front of the week-end special and won't give an inch to other customers.

Decides after all that she doesn't want that can of tomatoes and drops it off at the point of decision, right among the boxes of cereal.

Handles the cart like a barricade and parks it in the exact centre of the aisle while she makes the agonizing decision between the giant and the super-giant boxes of paper napkins.

Topples the neat array of hot dog rolls to get the one in the rear.

Remembers, just as the clerk is checking out her purchases, that she forgot to get bananas and keeps everyone waiting, while she makes her selection and has it weighed and marked.

Watches stolidly as the clerk packs her purchases and then proffers a cheque that should have been okayed by the manager before she reached the checkout counter.

The manager did say that there are at least ten model customers for every one of the above types. It's just that bad manners always make people stand out — like bad apples.

FINISHES MODEL

BOSTON, England (CP) — Johnnie Johnson recently finished a three-foot matchstick model of the parish church in this Lincolnshire town. The job took seven months and he used 27,000 matchsticks and 48 tubes of glue.

Speaking Personally

By Gladys Ward

A GOOD REPORTER

Almost daily reports of the election of new officers are coming to the editorial desks from many organizations. I thought it might be helpful to the new press and publicity secretaries, and even to the old ones, if I outlined some of the things that differentiate a good report from a poor one.

First of all, spacing. If we receive a report typed on one side of the paper and double spaced with margins top and bottom and on both edges of the paper we say a silent blessing on that person.

But too often we get pages of writing in pencil crowded from edge to edge of the paper with no space between the lines. We don't have to read between the lines but we often have to write between them, sub heads, or changes in a misspelled word or a name. The operators of the linotype machines cannot use this kind of copy, so it has to be all typed over again.

This would not be too much of a chore if it happened once or twice a day, but when you consider the number of reports that come in daily from different organizations including the Women's Institutes; Home and School; I.O.D.E.; Business and professional women; W.C.T.U.; Hospital Auxiliary; University women; all the church groups in the city; Boy Scouts and Girl Guides; C.G.I.T.; and many others, as well as some 70 district correspondents, it would become a monumental task if all reports were illegible. Thank goodness they are not. However it helps if they are written on one side of the paper, typed, or written with a pen, and space left between the lines and on all margins of the paper.

Another small thing, but time consuming, is the use of the ampersand (&) for "and". When you get pages of Mr. & Mrs. personals and have to change every one to "and" it takes up a good deal of time.

A press report is not like writing minutes. You do not have to include who made a motion and who seconded it. A press reporter can save a lot of time if she will omit such things as the reading of the minutes, all song titles, what hymns were sung, roll calls, recitation of creeds, conventional openings and closings such as the singing of the national anthem. These things have to be taken out, so they are a waste of time for the reporter and the editor.

A good reporter is a factual reporter, one who states simply what happened, where and when, and does not add her own opinion. Expressions of opinion are reserved for the editorial page, letters to the editor, and columnists. Reporters do just that — report. They do not express approval, disapproval, or comment.

So much for what not to do. Please keep in mind that you are writing for a larger audience than your own group. In writing minutes you must include every trivial thing, but in writing for a newspaper use items that will have general interest. If your group has a speaker include some of his or her remarks. She wouldn't be speaking if she did not have something to say, so her words would have general interest. If your group is engaged in some activity tell about it. Others are interested in new ideas. If you have an election of officers that is news. When you have written your report, check it against the interest it would have for a wide group of readers, then take out what does not apply.

Don't worry about writing headings for your reports. Every heading has to have every letter counted. For instance a one-column head has only about 13 letters, counting spaces. The letters M and W (both of which are in women) count two spaces each. A double column will hold about 26 letters, again depending on the letters used, so unless you are familiar with the method of counting spaces it is better left to the editors.

Every attempt is made to ensure accuracy. Names are checked in directories and telephone books; places are checked in almanacs; spelling is checked in dictionaries and encyclopedias. The men who use the linotype machines have to have legible copy if they are going to set the columns correctly. Many mistakes that appear in the paper are the result of illegible copy. Newspaper copy goes through many hands. First you write it and send it in. Then it is edited and sent to the machines to be cast in metal. Each story is then inked and a proof taken to the proofroom where it is read and mistakes are marked. It is returned to the operator of the machine who set it, and he makes the corrections. Then it is put into a form which will be the printed page, and sent to the big presses where it is printed.

A mistake can happen in any of these steps, but every care is taken to prevent mistakes. The surprising thing is that there are so few, when you consider the work that goes into a daily paper.

Please don't think I am scolding or finding fault. We love to hear from you and want your reports. The Women's page would look pretty sad without them. I am outlining these things in an effort to be of some assistance, to save your time in writing and ours in editing.

Mrs. R. Brain Heads Kiwanis Ladies' Aux.

The first meeting of the year of the Kiwanis Ladies' Auxiliary was held at the Kiwanis Centre last Thursday evening, with a good turn-out of members.

The main business of the evening was the installation of the new executive with Mrs. Robert Brain as the 1964 president. The past president, Mrs. John Denton, was presented with a beautiful silver flower bowl on behalf of the auxiliary by Mrs. Tex Coleman. Mrs. Denton in turn presented each of the directors with a rose and a poem in connection with each.

For entertainment the ladies enjoyed a few games of court whist after which tasty refreshments were served by the new executive.

Women's Activities

BETHEL-ZION U.C.W.

The January meeting of the Bethel-Zion United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Gerald Tummon, with an attendance of 20 ladies and nine children.

Mrs. Percy Ray opened the meeting with a poem.

Rev. Nicholls conducted the installation of officers for the coming year, as follows:

Past president, Mrs. Percy Ray; president, Mrs. Delbert Rowe; first vice-president, Mrs. Lennon Ketcheson; second vice-president, Mrs. Richard Cranston; treasurer, Mrs. Ralph Sills; convener of children's work, Mrs. G. Tummon and Mary Tummon; finance committee, Mrs. Gerald Tummon, Mrs. Roy Sills and Mrs. Earl Sayers; program committee, Mrs. Gordon Russell, Mrs. Wilbert Casey and Mrs. Percy Ray; recording secretary, Mrs. Morden Brough; supply secretary, Mrs. Floyd Ray; community friendship secretary, Mrs. Alden Lott; stewardship secretary, Mrs. Doug Sills; literature secretary, Mrs. John Ketcheson; temperance and citizenship secretary, Mrs. Roy Chambers; press secretary, Miss Helen Tummon; pianist, Mrs. Allen Lott; assistant pianist, Miss Mildred Ketcheson, and nominating committee, Mrs. Don Sills, Mrs. Earle Ray and Mrs. Jack Clarke.

The new officers took charge of the remainder of the meeting. Mrs. Floyd Ray gave the devotional, using the theme "The Light of the World." Mrs. Russell favored with a solo. Scripture readings were given by Mrs. A. Lott, Mrs. W. Casey and Mrs. Earl Ray. The Bible study was given by Mrs. Brough, followed by a discussion.

A paper on declining standards was given by Mrs. Laurcy and Mrs. Lennon Ketcheson which was also followed by a lively discussion.

Process for Turning Out Instant Fish-Potato Flakes Now Being Tested

OTTAWA (CP)—A process for turning out instant fish - potato flakes is being tested and improved by the federal department of fisheries at its experimental plant at Valleyfield, Nfld.

The department says this instant product could become an important ration or emergency food due to its lightness and high protein content. In an emergency the fish - potato flakes could be eaten dry without the addition of water or milk.

The flakes have already been used in a variety of dishes in the department's test kitchens and their versatility suggests they could become a boon to the busy housewife in the near future.

Their capacity to absorb moisture quickly makes them suitable for instant fishcakes. By adding water or milk and seasoning, the flakes can be shaped into cakes and browned. As both ingredients are already cooked, the cakes require only heating rather than cooking.

HAS FINE TASTE

Deep - fried fish croquettes, fish soup or chowder and fish casseroles have also been prepared from the flakes. Unlike fish flour, which is white, odorless and without fish flavor, fish-potato flakes have the identity of fish fibre and the true taste of fish.

The department says most of the testing has been on cod and has been highly successful. Test runs using salted cod have yielded a product that should be popular with Atlantic coast consumers, traditional users of salted cod for fishcakes.

The process currently being tested involves dehydration of a mixture of cooked fish and cooked potatoes on a drum dryer. The final product consists of white flakes containing fish and potato.

The two ingredients are so well blended that their individual characteristics cannot be detected.

PROCESS PATENTED

The fish and potatoes are processed separately. The fish is filleted, cooked and ground, while the potatoes are peeled, cooked and riced. Both ingredients are then mixed and spread mechanically on the outside of a steam-heated drum after certain smaller components are added.

The thin layer of fish and potatoes which sticks to the heated surface remains in contact on the hot drum for approximately 20 seconds and is scraped off the drum by a special blade in a continuous sheet. The sheet, approximately 1-100th of an inch thick, is broken into half-inch flakes.

This process, developed in the food research laboratories of the federal department of agriculture, is being patented and manufacturing rights will be licensed by Canadian Patents and Development Ltd., Ottawa.

The fisheries department says the program outlined for this project is not limited to fish-potato products. Other ingredients such as meat-potato products and cheese are also being examined.

New Type Of Coat On Display

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Fashion writers here to preview spring fashions are discovering that much is being done about the weather.

Not the least is a new type of coat that warms up as the mercury plunges and sheds precipitation even though made of luxury fabrics usually limited to dresses.

Called Fortezza, Originalia introduced it Tuesday while the rain appropriately fell on sooty vestiges of snow outdoors. A silk print, crepe and an alligator-patterned nylon were the fabrics of the daytime and formal-wear coats modelled. The material is chemically sealed, not ... bed, to a lightweight foam-rubber backing.

Also in the collections were featherweight, sherbet - hued coats that looked like spun sugar. Seamed in front to define the waist, and loose in back, they sparkled with jewelled or gold-coin buttons.

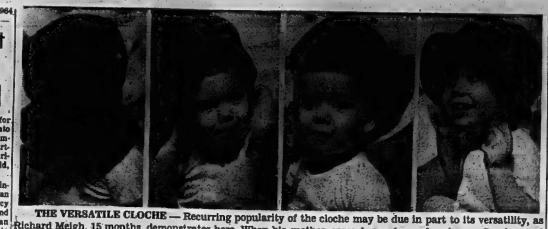
ANNOUNCES RETURN

Announcing its approval of the return to the feminine form was the House of Hattie Carnegie, traditional suit authority.

Nex spring's status suits, as shown at the New York couture groups preview session Tuesday, feature jackets with slanted buttonholes, false pockets, tab detail and occasionally belts. Skirts skimmed slim hips and flared a bit for modest auto exists and easier walking.

Other spring trends were:

Dainty, ruffled see - through blouses with tailored suits.



Exaggerated floral prints on black backgrounds.

Black and white combinations.

Nose-tickling flower or feather boas encircling shoulders and dangling to the floor, als the Hollywood sirens of the 1930s.

FIRE LOSS HIGH

JUNIPER, N.B. (CP) — A fire of undetermined origin destroyed the Flemming and Gibson Limited lumber mill here Tuesday, causing a loss estimated by company officials at $250,000 and putting 100 men out of work. There were no injuries reported.

THE VERSATILE CLOCHE — Recurring popularity of the cloche may be due in part to its versatility, as Richard Meigh, 15 months, demonstrates here. When his mother came home from church one Sunday and picked him up Richard grabbed her hat and started experimenting. From left: the on-the-face style, for ladies who don't want to know where they're going; if you wear it slightly off the head, you could keep balloons in the top part; the slightly-askew look may sweep the country, or again it may not; and, when everything else palls, it can just be worn as a cloche. Ann Landers

Ann Accused of Aiding And Abetting Philanderers

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Your answer to woman whose husband confessed he had indexed from the straight and narrow — only once — made me furious.

"Forgive the big lug," you said. That's some advice from a lady who has millions of readers and is the patron saint of teen-agers.

Isn't there enough adultery going on without Ann Landers giving it her blessings? All the men need is somebody like you on their side.

"Why do they do it?" she said. Your reply, "Pure sex — it has nothing to do with love. Variety." Well, why doesn't the same hold true for females? Why not head your next column "The little woman needs extra marital affairs to combat the boredom of housework."

You let every wife in this country down with your lousy advice. And you gave a big boost to the weaklings and the philanderers. — THOROUGHLY DISGUSTED.

DEAR THOROUGHLY — I write a column for millions of people who live in a real world with real problems. For fairy tales I recommend Mr. Grimm.

To the woman who asked if it was possible for a husband who loves his wife to slip, I replied, "Yes it is." And I'll say it again. My advice to forgive and forget was realistic and it was practical.

I'm for keeping homes and families together. If every husband who slipped once was ordered to move out, there'de be a terrible housing shortage.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — We are a working people of modest means. Our daughter is engaged to marry a young man from a well-known family.

Several weeks ago I told the groom's mother she could invite 75 guests to the wedding dinner and we would invite only 30 from our side since their family is larger and they know more people.

Yesterday the boy's mother mailed me her list. I almost fainted when I counted 150 guests. We are going into debt for the wedding and we just can't have a dinner for 225 people.

My husband is so annoyed he said, "Let's buy the kids a ladder and forget about a wedding."

Please, Ann, tell us what to do. — DISTRESSED.

DEAR DISTRESSED — Scratch the banquet plans and make it a reception with a snack table instead of a sit-down dinner. After the honeymoon the groom's mother can have a post-nuptial Lucullan feast and invite 1,000 people if she wishes.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — This is not the usual run-of-the-mill plea from a high school girl who wants to know how to be popular. Believe me, Ann, popularity is the furthest thing from my mind. All I want is an honest to goodness live date before the semester ends.

I'm no beauty but I'm no beast either. My grades are good and I have a pleasant personality. We live in a nice house, my dad is an attorney and we have no nutty relatives locked up in the attic. So why can't I get even one fellow to ask me out?

When the football players need help with Spanish they call on me. When the basketball players need someone to write a book review I get the nod. But dates — nothing. The fellows all tell me I'm a great gal and a good kid. But when it comes to asking me out it's like I never existed. Why? — ZIPHER.

DEAR ZIPHER — I may sound like a broken record — but here we go again.

(1) Be friendly, but don't try to be one of the boys. If a fellow wants to be with the boys he'll go where the boys are.

(2) Ask him questions about himself. Listen to his replies and then ask more questions.

(3) Be cheerful and fun to be with. All people enjoy pleasant company and boys are people.

If you work on these three points I guarantee that business will improve.

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" is now available at your book store.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Would You Like Two Low-Cost Pies?

by Mary Moore

When I was in Halifax last month I had my meals in the cafeteria of the Nova Scotian Hotel. True to form I watched what the other diners in the queue chose. When they came to the dessert case all three people ahead of me selected pineapple pie. So copycat Mary did too. It was very good so I resolved to make a pineapple pie when I got home.

A 20-oz. can of crushed pineapple cost me 29c, so that was a nice cheap start. I served the pie for dinner on Christmas Eve and all the cooks present wanted the recipe. I think you will too.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Ham Upside Down Loaf (see Monday); Baked Jacket Sweet Potatoes; Broccoli with Mock Hollandaise; Cucumbers in Sour Cream; Blanc Mange with Raspberry Sauce; Pecan Nuggets (see Tuesday); Coffee.

PINEAPPLE PIE (two-crust):

One 20-oz. can crushed pineapple, ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 egg, 3 tablespoons cornstarch, ½ cup less 1 tablespoon water, 1 tablespoon butter, ¼ teaspoon mace, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Into heavy saucepan put pineapple, egg, sugar, lemon juice, cornstarch, water, butter, salt and mace. Stir constantly over high heat until thick. Pour into pastry-lined 9" pie plate. Seal on fashed top crust, brush with mixture of 1 tablespoon each sugar and milk. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes. Bake 40 minutes in all. Could be served on guest occasions with whipped cream or ice cream or white cream cheese.

CRANBERRY RAISIN PIE:

Note: You could use up your leftover cranberry sauce in this.

1 cup seedless raisins, 1¼ cups cranberry sauce, ¼ cup Seville orange marmalade, 1-3 cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, pinch of cloves (optional).

Pour boiling water over raisins and let stand 10 minutes. Drain and dry. Combine all ingredients together; pour into unbaked 9" pie shell. Arrange lattice top over filling. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 35 minutes or until bubbling and golden.

Opinions were divided in our crowd regarding accompaniments to this pie. Some wanted ice cream on it. Others wanted old Cheddar cheese. Make your choice.

Tax Problems of Professional Men, Policemen's Widows Spelled Out Before Board

OTTAWA (CP) — The tax problems of professional men and policemen's widows were spelled out before the royal commission on taxation Tuesday as two Montreal - based organizations sought ways to take the sting out of existing tax laws.

A chief recommendation of L'Association des Medecins de Langue Francaise du Canada—Canadian Association of French-speaking Doctors — was that professional men be allowed to average their incomes over a period of years so they wouldn't be hit by top tax rates during their peak earning years.

L'Association de Bienfaisance et de Retraite de la Police de Montreal—Montreal Police Welfare and Pension Association—spoke out in favor of increased exemptions under the Estate Tax on widows of policemen wouldn't be so heavily hit by succession duties. An additional benefit would be to stop including the capitalized value of police pensions in estates.

Captain Jean-Paul Lapointe said that when a policeman is killed in the line of duty there is no reason why his widow shouldn't receive the same succession duties as the widow of a soldier killed in battle.

The increased benefits under the Estate Tax Act should apply to all citizens, he said, but the association is primarily concerned with pensions of police widows "because we are duty-bound to protect them."

The 8,000-member medical association asked for a system of averaging professional incomes over four fixed years, a ceiling lifetime, so irregular incomes would not be gobbled up by peak tax rates.

Many other organizations have proposed to the commission that professional persons, and others with irregular incomes, be allowed to average their incomes over a number of years to cut down the tax hits. Farmers and fishermen now are the only taxpayers who can do this.

Maple Leaf Gardens Limited, and the Montreal Canadian Hockey Club submitted a joint brief some time ago calling for such a move on behalf of professional hockey players. Various medical and dental associations have made similar submissions on behalf of their members.

While the French - speaking association of doctors didn't define "professional men," its brief referred to professional sportsmen, "whose brief career may be a few months or a few years."

The association said that if additional exemptions had to be raised, one method would be through the use of excise stamps on cheques or receipts. This would not have a great impact on the less-wealthy because most of their dealings could be done with cash.

No Thought of Transferring Canadian Troops to Norway

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday he has no thought of transferring Canadian troops in Germany to Norway.

He was commenting at a press conference on a report, described by the Canadian Press Monday from Oslo, that part of the 6,000-man brigade it is being earmarked for high NATO strides.

"I have been assured that no thought or consideration has been given to such a move," he told reporters.

The prime minister said he also has been advised that the national defence department has termed the report "absolute nonsense, or words to that effect."

OSLO, Norway (Reuters) — Defence Minister Guttorm Hansen denied Tuesday allegations by newspapers that high NATO officials were considering a transfer of the Canadian army brigade of 6,500 men to Norway from West Germany.

"I am at a loss to understand how such a report could come about and it is regrettable that such baseless and misleading information on what we are doing in the NATO field is distributed," Hansen said.

He added that efforts to Create an international detente were not made easier "through such incorrect reports."

He said Canadian Defence Minister Hellyer said nothing about any transfer of Canadian forces being considered by NATO officials when Harlem met him recently.

(The Canadian Press Monday quoted an informed source in Ottawa as saying Hellyer understood Norway had informed NATO it would have less objection to the presence of Canadian troops than forces from other NATO countries.

Harlem said Norway, when she joined NATO in 1949, decided foreign bases would not be allowed on Norwegian soil in peacetime.

"We have since followed this line and if the report had been true, it would have meant a clear breach of our policy of bases," he said.

Harlem also was asked to comment on a report that the Soviet paper Sovietskaya Rossia had been saying certain NATO generals disparaged Norway's peaceful traditions and national policy of not wanting to impose on her a plan for the deployment of a special NATO fire brigade in Norway.

Harlem said the report concerned exercises by mobile forces in northern Norway which started last summer and which would continue next summer on a larger scale.

"We on the Norwegian side are very anxious to have such exercises," he went on, "and demonstrate that we will get military help from our allies if we are attacked. We want to make it clear that this is not only something we talk about, but want to test."

Harlem stressed this arrangement was not imposed upon Norway.

"There is no question of foreign troops being stationed here permanently."

Picton Dairy Leader Says Canada May Be Short 600 Million Pounds Milk in '64

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may be short by 600,000,000 pounds in meeting 1964 milk demand, President J. M. Hardwick of the National Dairy Council of Canada said today.

Under the circumstances it seems imperative that no drastic government policy changes be made at this time, he told the annual convention of the Ontario Cheese Manufacturers' Association.

The milk shortfall, predicated on a farmer cut of one per cent in output and continuing consumption patterns, would be the equivalent of about 30,000,000 pounds of butter.

This amount would then have to be withdrawn from the current surplus—a chronic stockpile in excess of 300,000,000 pounds — Mr. Hartwick said.

Mr. Hartwick said the decline in milk production and rise in consumption was due to federal dairy policies including a 15 cent-a-pound subsidy to consumers on butter, plus incentives to make more cheese and increased promotion by the industry.

Revised dairy policy usually is announced before the start of the dairy year May 1 and there has been some conjecture that the butter subsidy, costing $40,000,000 per year for the past two years, may be trimmed or eliminated.

The Picton, Ont., dairy leader took note on the situation when he said that he felt personally the industry "should eventually be able to stand on its own feet and if the supply and demand picture continues to improve, as I believe it will, it should be possible to reduce gradually government expenditures for this purpose."

Not Guilty Of Murder Says Accused

SEATTLE (AP)—John Wasylenchuk, whose extradition from Canada was sought up in the House of Commons, Tuesday pleaded not guilty to charges of murder in Superior Court.

His trial was set for March 24.

Wasylenchuk, 51, of Burnaby, near Vancouver, was charged with participating in a 1954 Seattle bank holdup in which one policeman was killed and two others were wounded.

Wasylenchuk's court - appointed attorney, E. W. Horsfall, indicated he might ask that the trial be held somewhere outside of Seattle.

Wasylenchuk unsuccessfully fought an American application for extradition last year.

Opposition members in the House of Commons protested after FBI officers armed with an extradition warrant signed by Canadian authorities picked up Wasylenchuk in New Westminster, B.C., and took him across the border last month.

They said that Wasylenchuk was on parole from a life sentence for armed robbery. They said federal law said that because of this he could not be extradited.

But Justice Minister Chevrier said his advisers told him that this was not correct.

Mother Freed Of Assault On Daughter

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Magistrate John Ord dismissed Tuesday a charge of assault causing bodily harm against whose 21 - month - old daughter died after the mother had punished her.

The mother, Mrs. Ralph Park, 25, testified at the inquest and subsequent trial into the death of her daughter, Robin, that she spanked the girl with a leather belt for dirtying her diaper.

The inquest ruled death resulted from a combination of a fall down a stairway and the spanking.

Magistrate Ord noted that the girl had a hemophilic condition and that bruises found on her body could have been caused by light blows.

In dismissing the charge he told Mrs. Park: "No punishment that I might give you can compare to what you have been through."

The mother said the baby had gone limp after the spanking. She had taken her to hospital in Grimsby, near her home at Grimsby Beach, but the girl was dead on arrival.

WRONG CALL

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Control Yuan, top watchdog body in Nationalist China, has censured the chief of the weather bureau for cancellation of duty. Kenneth T. C. Cheng was accused of having provided inaccurate information about typhoon Gloria, which struck Formosa Sept. 13, leaving 226 persons dead and 86 missing. The Control Yuan said Cheng precipitously left the typhoon would bypass Formosa.

F. Clarke Named Chairman Of Public School Board

Board member since the summer of 1950 when he was appointed to fill a vacancy, Mr. Francis F. "Frank" Clarke, was elected chairman of the Belleville Public School Board at its inaugural meeting Tuesday night.

Mr. Clarke succeeds Morley Lovelace who headed the board last year. Mr. J. Nelson McKibbon who received the finance committee chairmanship is also this year's board vice chairman.

Archdeacon A. S. McConnell, who was elected chairman of the board management committee is Dr. J. Russell Scott, while former board chairman William A. VanTassel is chairman of the property committee.

In his inaugural address the new board chairman said that due to school population, the year 1964 would be another "building" year to provide for class requirements.

PLANS READY

He said that plans were ready to proceed with the construction of a new school in West Belleville this year, while property has been purchased for future construction of two new schools in the north end of the city.

Continued efforts would be made by the board to hire the best trained teachers in search in Belleville schools, he said.

Mr. Clarke also said that consideration should be given this year to hiring of an assistant administrator.

Last year Mr. Clarke was vice chairman of the school board and also headed the finance committee. In 1962 he was chairman of the management committee.

Last night's inaugural meeting of the school board saw all members but George Olsen present.

OATH ADMINISTERED

School superintendent L. A. Kells administered the oath of office to the seven board members elected for 1964-65 and conducted the election for the new board chairman.

Members of the board are: For 1964 — Mac Smith, G. H. Trill, F. P. Clarke, L. A. Langabeer, William Townsen, George Olsen. For 1964-65 — James Ritchie, W. A. VanTassel, J. Russell Scott, Gordon Hutchinson, Morley Lovelace, Hazel Pugh and J. N. McKibbon.

Officials of the board are: superintendent and chief inspector — Mr. L. A. Kells; inspector — Mr. H. M. Cousins; assistant secretary-treasurer — Mrs. Irene Raney.

Mr. Kells admitted was appointed as member to the Public Library Board for 1964-65-66.

Interparliamentary Group To Meet in Washington

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk will address the opening session Monday of the seventh meeting of the Canadian-United States interparliamentary group in Washington, Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.), chairman of the U.S. Senate delegation, announced Tuesday.

Twenty - four Canadian MPs and Senators headed by Alan Macnaughton, Speaker of the Commons, and Maurice Bourget, Speaker of the Senate, will make up the visiting delegation. Representatives of the United States delegation and head of the group for the U.S. House is Representative Cornelius E. Gallagher (Dem. N.J.). Several former ministers also will be in the Canadian delegation.

The working sessions will be conducted in two panels, each of which will have three members. The first panel will consider defence production sharing, hemispheric trade and trade with underdeveloped countries.

WILL MEET PRESS

At the conclusion of the meetings Jan. 15, the four co-chairmen will hold a press conference. Later that afternoon President Johnson will receive the delegates and their wives for a tour of the White House and an informal meeting.

The delegates later will make a short visit to Cape Kennedy, Fla., to inspect that space-launching base.

The interparliamentary group was established in 1958 as a result of a suggestion by then Liberal Leader Diefenbaker, then prime minister. Six meetings were held in alternate years of Canadian federal elections none has been held in the last two years.

The meetings alternate between the two countries and are designed to allow informal discussion of subjects of mutual interest and to forge bonds of friendships among members of the countries' legislative bodies.

POLARIS SUCCESS

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Polaris A3 missile, designed to bring all land areas within its range, has scored another successful launching, its fifth in 18 firings. The land-yad firing Tuesday night achieved all objectives, according to preliminary data, the navy said. The missile is to have a range of 2,875 miles. It is expected to be mated with nuclear submarines in six months.

Diefenbaker Catches Limit In Salmon

VICTORIA (CP) — Sartorially elegant in borrowed Shetland Holmes cap, Cowichan Indian sweater and fisherman's flight boots, Opposition leader Diefenbaker caught his limit on salmon Tuesday in Georgia Strait.

"This is the best day I have ever had in my life," former prime minister as he held up a string of eight fish, among them a 15-pounder.

Mr. Diefenbaker went fishing in borrowed clothing after his gear sent ahead for a fishing vacation off Vancouver Island became lost en route.

The fishing party included Mrs. Diefenbaker, George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Esquimalt-Saanich, two television cameramen and guide James Gilbert.

Mr. Gilbert said Mr. Diefenbaker landed the first fish within 25 minutes of leaving the dock — "before the lines were all out."

Toronto Will Get Hydro Rate Reduction

TORONTO (CP)— Mayor Philip Givens announced Tuesday the Toronto Hydro-Electric System has arranged a 25-percent rate reduction for all-electric homes and apartments in the city.

The announcement was made at an annual dinner meeting of city council and members of the Toronto Hydro-Electric system. Officials said they do not know how many all-electric customers, those who use electricity exclusively for heating, lighting and power in their homes or business establishments—there are in the city.

The new rate will be 1.1 cents a kilowat hour. Former rates were two cents for the first 80 kilowatt hours, and 1.4 cents for each kilowatt hour thereafter for residential users. A 10-percent discount was allowed for prompt payment. This discount will be continued, making the new rate .99 cents.

Transistors Warn Drivers Of Radar Traps

HAMILTON (CP)—A transistor device to warn drivers when they are approaching a radar trap may be illegal but Police Traffic Inspector John Robinson said Tuesday it is harmless.

"They accomplish what we are trying to do . . . get people to slow down," he said in an interview.

The device, manufactured in the United States and selling for $50, has been advertised for sale here. Attached to the car's front bumper, it sets off a beep inside the car when contact is made with a radar beam.

A department of transport radio inspector said the devices are illegal under the federal act but enforcement is left to the discretion of local police forces.

Cabinet Looks at Foreign Control of Communications And May Take Some Action

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal cabinet is taking a broad look at the problem of foreign control of or injury to Canadian communications media.

Prime Minister Pearson said Tuesday he expects to make known the government's intentions on this question before Parliament meets next month.

He told a press conference the cabinet had considered legislative steps, but that did not mean a decision had been made for or against action.

Mr. Pearson said representations were received from periodical and newspaper publishers on the dangers of foreign ownership of communications media which caused the government to make a wider examination than that made by the royal commission on publications.

The royal commission, headed by Senator Grattan O'Leary, president of the Ottawa Journal, made recommendations in 1961 following a study of the periodicals field.

TOUCHED NEWSPAPERS

Mr. Pearson indicated that the cabinet's discussion also ranged into the question of newspaper ownership and of "cable television" and long-distance broadcasting regulations on Canadian ownership.

He recalled that the former Progressive Conservative government initiated tax and tariff measures to divert Canadian advertising dollars away from foreign-controlled magazines.

However, Parliament never adopted them before being dissolved in 1962 and 1963 for federal elections.

The measures were based in part on the royal commission recommendations.

Since then, periodicals and newspapers have pressed the government for action.

ASKED FOR BAN

St. Clair Balfour, president of Southam Company Limited, said in Toronto Monday that his company requested government legislation to prevent Canadian newspapers and periodicals from falling into foreign hands.

"I talked this over with various members of the government and told them we felt the only practical alternative to preserve Canadian control of newspapers was to do it by law as France has done," he said.

"Magazines may not seem such an attractive purchase to non-Canadians right now, but newspapers do. They are still profitable in this country."

Donald Hunter, vice - president and managing director of Maclean - Hunter Publishing Company, said Tuesday he feels that while he believes Canadian publications should be operated by Canadians and follow strictly Canadian editorial policy, Canadian ownership is not essential.

DON'T INTERFERE

"I do not think ownership is important," he said. "But I feel that all Canadian publications should be operated by Canadians and follow Canadian policy.

He said that to his knowledge Maclean-Hunter as a company has not made representations to the government on the question except during hearings of the royal commission.

In a 90-minute press conference, Mr. Pearson also made these statements:

He may announce cabinet replacements for Justice Minister Chevrier and Postmaster-General Denis Allan to open post for Mr. Chevrier before leaving for Paris Jan. 14. Mr. Chevrier has been appointed to be Canada's commissioner in London or ambassador to France. Mr. Denis has been appointed to the Senate.

An announcement may be made shortly on a possible visit by the Queen to Canada. The matter is now under discussion.

The government doesn't plan to adopt a Canadian flag at this session of Parliament which opens Feb. 18. However, it remains committed to adopting one by April 22, 1965.

Sense of Estrangement Afflicts Commonwealth

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A sense of estrangement afflicts the Commonwealth as new nations join, the feeling of "clubishness" grows less.

One symptom of current inertia is the lack of interest in the meeting of Commonwealth prime ministers. These conferences, once regarded as a panacea for all ills, are usually held at 18-month intervals, a recent inquiry by Commonwealth correspondents has drawn a blank in Whitehall.

The last of the dozen or so meetings since 1944 took place in London in September, 1962, and was characterized by some disagreement at every point, principally between Canada and Britain.

Since meeting have passed since then and there is little likelihood ministers will get together again at least until 1965, thus creating an unusually long break between conferences.

ELECTION A FACTOR

One factor in deferring any Commonwealth "summit" is the uncertainty about the British election, expected to be held sometime between May and October. A conference before the election is highly improbable and a meeting after it might take some months to arrange.

The Commonwealth, therefore, is almost certain to break what some call the "seven year baker rule" — a reference to the part played by the former Canadian minister in arranging meeting that 18 months is about the right spacing for Commonwealth parleys.

Apart from electoral considerations, certain uneasiness can be detected. British hesitation to seek closer links with the European Common Market, though ultimately modified by the French veto, caused opposition by the former Progressive Conservative government of Canada that was bitterly resented in Whitehall.

Australia and New Zealand, long regarded as the really "loyal" members of the Commonwealth, also took offence. New Zealand particularly, with her overwhelming dependence on British markets for exports of lamb, butter and cheese, was especially upset and continues to be deeply worried about British agricultural policies which New Zealanders say end a 100-year history of free entry of food products into Britain.

INFLUX NO HELP

Even Canada's Prime Minister Keith Holyoake, speaking of a weakening in the Commonwealth association has said the influx of new member nations, bringing current membership of the consultative club to 18, has not helped.

Obviously the former homogeneity is lost in the concept of "old Commonwealth" of Canada, New Zealand, Australia and Britain, with its "family" of intentions, may have little affinity with some of the new African entries.

What's to be done? How can the Commonwealth live up to its tradition as an "concert of convenience?" Discussing the problem in the London Times, former Canadian diplomat John W. Holmes acknowledges "present apathy" but suggests ministers should at least try to tackle some of the outstanding issues that threaten the future.

"At any rate," says Holmes, "it would be better to go down trying than to ruin the high lesson in the end by admitting that the Commonwealth in its latest decline never intended to be taken seriously."

Holmes is president of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs. Formerly a senior official in the external affairs department, he attended a number of Commonwealth conferences.

BAKERIES CLOSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Cushman Bakeries, founded in 1855, closes the doors to its 160 retail stores in the New York-New Jersey area Thursday, throwing some 1,000 employees out of work. D. H. O'Connell, president and board chairman of American Bakeries, of which Cushman's is a division, Tuesday announced the decision to close. He cited "the trend to shopping and frozen products in supermarkets" as key factor in heavy losses felt by Cushman stores.

U. S. Business Leaders Making Buoyant Predictions for 1964

By AL COLLETTI

NEW YORK (CP) — The longest-ever period of sustained peacetime economic growth is in the making for the United States.

If the new year fulfils its promise—and leaders in key segments of the American economy predict continued business expansion for the first six months of 1964—there will be 67 months of industrial growth, the longest, of its kind on record. The sustained climb began in February, 1961.

In 1963, most of the major economic indicators were favorable. The over-all indicator, the Gross National Product, climbed $4 per cent to $584,000,000,000. It can be expected to rise more than six per cent in 1964 with a tax cut adding some $35,000,000,000 to $62,000,000,000, says Business Week magazine.

"Despite intensifying wage and price pressures, the gain in real GNP—adjusted for price increases — will top four per cent," Business Week predicts.

TAX CUT KEY

But the stimulus of a tax cut is the key to that kind of industrial growth. The $11,000,000,000 tax reduction bill proposed by the late president John F. Kennedy, and supported by his successor, Lyndon B. Johnson has passed the House of Representatives but is stalled in the senate.

President Johnson, by stressing "frugality" in government spending, has won over some of the tax-cut critics in the Senate and chances of Senate approval of the bill early in the new year are much brighter.

The country showed confidence in its political institutions after the assassination of president Kennedy and the current bullish stock market is being called the "Johnson market."

Wall Street had the heaviest volume of trading in its history in 1963. More than 1,140,000,000 shares were traded on the New York Stock Exchange, the major securities exchange in the United States. It also was the big board's third billion-share year.

GOOD YEAR

By and large, the year was a good one for many investors. Although some 400 stocks of the 1,500 listed on the big board were near their low points for the year, hundreds of others had dramatic run-ups and the popular market averages hovered near record highs.

But the traditional year-end rally, a feature of the stock market in nine of the last 10 years, did not develop in 1963. Stock averages did complete the job of wiping out all the losses in the crash of the spring of 1962, the worst since 1929.

Most stock market observers anticipate a prosperous 1964, basing their hopes on a tax cut and continued good business. But they don't expect stocks to match the 1963 rise and a 15-per-cent rise in the Dow Jones industrial average is their most optimistic forecast.

SOME CONCERN

There also are some causes of concern in Wall Street. Some analysts feel that stock prices have come too far too fast. Standard and Poor's Corporation warns that the economy could lose momentum after mid-year, that the atmosphere of a presidential election year could cause some disruptions.

Still, many leading business forecasters feel that 1964 will see them reaching new heights in sales and profits.

Surveys of consumer attitudes also show most Americans remain convinced that good times will continue for a while at least.

Only one out of five consumers recently questioned feels there will be a recession in the next two years, says the Survey Research Centre of the University of Michigan.

"It appears that the recent tragic news (of the president's death) has not shaken people's confidence in the favorable trend of economic developments," the Michigan centre says.

HOLIDAY RECORD

During Christmas, Americans spent more for holiday goods than ever before, and continued impressive spending for major items such as autos. Home builders say that prospects for 1964 are undimmed.

If there is no new international crisis and no great wave of labor strife, Business Week predicts that 1964 should produce an increase in personal income "matching or bettering" 5½ per cent chalked up in 1963.

American industry expects to spend $17,000,000,000 — an increase of about eight per cent—for all kinds of new plants in the new year, with automation a key economic factor.

Given a tax cut, many a businessman will be willing to try new systems whether in manpower, materials or production. While business reaps the benefits of automation, labor will seek a bigger share of the profits.

KEY LABOR YEAR

For 1964 is a key year for new labor contracts in the automaking, trucking, meat packing, farm equipment and telephone communications industries, all generally doing well now and expected to do even better in the coming year.

The optimistic mood of Business generally led one leading official of a major insurance company with more than $1,000,000,000 in common stock among its assets to comment:

"There is nothing bad in sight for the economy, but there is too much unanimity of opinion about the healthy prospects to make me feel comfortable."

FEWER FARM

Between 1946 and 1963, farm employment in Canada declined to 610,000 from 1,190,000.

Gestapo Chief Said Holding Albanian Post

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP)—The West German magazine Der Stern said Tuesday the last chief of the Nazi Gestapo, SS LL-Gen. Heinrich Mueller, holds an influential intelligence post in Albania.

Mueller was the immediate superior of Adolf Eichmann, hanged in Israel in 1962 for his part in the massacres of the Jews. The West German central war crimes investiation agency lists Mueller as killed in the battle of Berlin.

Sources close to the agency expressed scepticism about Der Stern's report. Reports of Mueller having a post behind the Iron Curtain have appeared repeatedly since Walter Schellenberg, the late Nazi intelligence chief, said in his post-war memoirs that Mueller had been seen in Moscow in 1948.

U. S. Rebuffed Canadian Move To Join Group

WASHINGTON (CP) — State department documents disclose that in 1941 Canada offered to join the Pan American Union but was rebuffed by the United States.

The documents, part of diplomatic papers made public by the department, do not indicate just why the U.S. discouraged Canada's entry but Dr. Charles Fenwick, one of the greatest living international authorities on Latin-American affairs, said in a recent interview the late Cordell Hull, then secretary, felt Canada should not join the membership because Canada was a member of the Commonwealth.

"I was strongly opposed to Hull's views at that time and still am today," said the 83-year-old Fenwick, former director of law for the Oranisation of American States and now a consultant to that body. "I was the U.S. delegate to several of the inter-American conferences and saw no reason why Canada could not serve in the Commonwealth as well as in the regional organization. But Hull did not agree."

Fenwick added that it is his recollection that the Dominion government had initiated suggestions at that time that Canada be invited to join and that it was following this suggestion that the Canadian government officially asked.

OTHERS WERE ANXIOUS

"However, the Dominican government was not the only one that wanted Canada in the Pan American Union. There were others from Latin America who were anxious to have Canada come in, mainly in order to provide a check against the power of the United States in Latin affairs," Fenwick added.

High Seas, Low Revenues Pulling Many Ships Off Regular Passenger Runs

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Shipping companies, tired of watching their giants get buffeted by winters of high seas and low revenues, are pulling them in ever increasing numbers off regular passenger runs across the North Atlantic.

Instead, they are turning to what the advertisements are calling the new cruises for trophies. Gone is the idea of providing quiet, sedate transportation and in its place—for winter—is a new atmosphere of 36-hours-a-day carefree vacationing and sightseeing.

The reason for the change is simple—money.

Ocean liner costs run from $30,000 a day up to operate and it has to run at near capacity to show a profit.

Last winter one liner crossed the North Atlantic with more than twice as many crew members as passengers—hardly a paying proposition.

Her owners have shifted her to tropical cruises this winter and the reservation list is packed.

Even the tragic fire aboard the Italian liner Andrea, with loss of more than 150 lives, is not expected to have any serious impact on the volume of travellers.

'PERFECT ANSWER'

"Since the war we've had to build up ship travel as a symbol of relaxation," says one shipping official. "And let's face it, crossing the North Atlantic in winter is relaxing. Sometimes we've had to look elsewhere.

"People want to get away for a few days and they want it to be a perfect answer. They just get on board and kick up their heels in the tropical sun," says one of the Far East from the west coast.

The Mediterranean is a favorite spot for European cruises and at least one line is offering a three-month, 31,000-mile trip around the world.

Prices vary with accommodation, but rates can start as low as $25 a day per person and go up to $150 a day or even higher.

The cruises can be a quick, five-day trip into the sun or a more leisurely voyage of about three weeks, touching several ports and providing time for sight-seeing ashore.

EMPHASIZE FUN

In the ads, the key word is "fun"—with pictures piling up from bikini-clad girls to magnums of champagne.

For the winter-weary male, the ads promise sun-splashed swimming pools aboard ship with plenty of lightly covered curves to ogle.

The lukewarm girl is lured by suggestions of dancing under a big tropical moon with bronzed, white-jacketed men.

Most cruises take a wide-open approach to entertainment, featuring nightly dancing, plenty of informal bars and constant organized games.

The lines are promoting a cruise out of Europe this winter that will be limited to passengers "with a sporting attitude" "and that really should be fun," said an official of the organization.

Some lines are so excited about the boom in cruising they're putting their ships completely out of regular passenger business.

Home Lines, for example, has recently taken its 25,500-ton Homeric off the Montreal-Europe route in favor of year-round cruising.

The 35,000-ton Oceanic, now nearing completion in an Italian shipyard, will not go into transatlantic service as originally planned, but will start cruising as soon as she is christened.

Only years ago, Home stopped the Italia running to Montreal and shifted her to full-time cruising.

"Although the company has enjoyed more than a decade of profitable transatlantic liner service, it must also adhere closely to changing times in the steamship industry," the company said.

Canadian Pacific Steamships has leased its Empress of Britain to a British organization for cruising and next year and will be turned its two other Empresses —Canada and England—to winter cruising.

Cunard Lines has entered the Queen Elizabeth, Caronia, Carmania and Franconia in the cruise sweepstakes.

The changing times mean an almost certain end to hopes of eastern Canadian ports of increasing passenger business during the winter months.

The biggest immediate loser is Saint John, N.B., used for years by CPS as the "winter

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The Olympics left for the "big adventure" the other day, with the warning of the experts, "Watch Russia" ringing in their ears.

That's tantamount to telling an old-age pensioner to watch for his monthly cheque around the 29th inst.

Admittedly the Russians are the crew to watch, but knowing Father Bauer by reputation and past performances, he doesn't have to be told not to sell Swedes, Czechoslovaks and the United States short.

Particularly the Swedes.

Observers here apparently judging the Svenskas on their performances in the Canadian tour recently concluded, have not been overly impressed with the calibre of the squad.

As far as that goes, it seems to me the chances of the European teams in the upcoming Olympics have been judged, in the main, by their performances during the Canadian tour.

Canadian hockey men who have passed opinions have come out flatfooted that the Czechs, Russians and the United States are the teams that will give our side the best arguments. Most of them have sidetracked the Swedes in their pre-tournament predictions.

The Russians cut a wide swath in the United States during their recent tour. They met and defeated the best Uncle Sam could produce hockeywise including the top collegiate club from the University of Denver.

Murr Patrick, bossman of the New York Rangers, voiced the opinion the Soviets are as good as some of the clubs playing in the top minor professional leagues on this side of the pond.

So much for Solly, Treg and Tovarich Tarasov.

But place this in the family meerschaum and puff on it. Our Olympics are going to have a helova lot tougher time defeating the Swedes, Czechs and Russians at Innsbruck than they did in the Land of the Maple... and-before hometown crowds.

Statistics in my mind are for record books only. They are not the base for futurities. Records and potentials go for nought when the chips are down. Sheer ability tips the scales while a break or two helps. How many boys in the backroom or on the patios bet the Dodgers would take the mighty Yankees in four straight?

The Russian team that bowed 9-2 to the Windsor Bulldogs during the former club's Canadian tour a year ago, made monkeys out of the Canadians on the return tour of Russia. So did a few mediocre Red squads. Okay, they, the "Dogs" may have overdone the social side of the tour but after all its the score on the ice that counts.

I'm not climbing on the Swedish bandwagon, but the puck-chasing buckaroos from the land of the smorgasbord and the blonde "fiickas," in my opinion, rate at least as a danger potential to the Canadians, and other clubs for that matter, at the Affair at Innsbruck.

At full strength and with all stops out, I think they are as good as any club in the tournament, and that goes for the Russians.

And from what I have seen and read recently, that goes for the Canadians.

Father Bauer has developed a team of young Canucks and instilled in them an intense spirit and desire to win. Cynics, including this agent, have been convinced that the priest-coach has the right method, and right spirit, and material to work with. A group of youngsters into a whole that should carry the banner of Canada far along the Olympics' tournament trail.

They may not win the Olympics' gold medal but as sure as Scotch-and-soda appreciation comes to every club they meet plenty of reasons to believe they have been in a hockey joust.

But they'll have to be "up" and go all out to do it. They must develop something to offset lack of experience.

The European squads are going to be tough. Remember while not exactly playing at home, they will be performing in a hockey environment that is more to their liking and ability than when they experienced in Canada. And there could have been, especially with the Swedes, a little "pressure-playing" during that Canadian tour.

Meanwhile here's hoping the good priest from the University of B.C. end points east will prove to be Canada's right Bauer. A grand slam is probably out of the question, but if he can trump the Soviet "aces," we'll consider he may be scoring an Olympics' gold medal come tournament anent.

Minor Hockey

Rangers and Leafs won lopsided victories in two of three Quinte division games last night while Hawks and Canadiens split their points.

Rangers whitewashed the Wings 9-0. Brian Cousins scored three goals and added one assist while Junitsch scored two goals and picked up as many assists. Rick Meagher, John Bowen, Mike Flynn and Wayne Andrews bagged the other goals. S. Bodley, G. Wilms and C. Bolnan got single assists.

Leafs whacked the Bruins to the count of 8-1, spurred by L. Creelman with two goals and two assists G. Duffy had two goals and one helper while M. Coates also fired two goals. S. Boardman scored once but drew two assists and R. Maydoon had the other goal. M. Hayes from B. Muir was the Bruins' scoring ace.

Black Hawks and Canadiens fought to a 3-3 tie. P. Fralick and J. Mitchell led Hawk markers and P. Smith got an assist. Canadiens' goals were scored by D. James and D. Lang.

In a close, hard-fought juvenile fixture, the Midget All-Stars nipped the Tigers 1-0. The game's only goal was in a solo effort by R. Bird.

Bruins shaded the Hawks 3-2 in one of two Midget tilts. Tom Ford scored twice and Fuller ton got a goal and assist for the Bruins. Hawk goals helped out with one assist. J. Cole collected a goal and assist for the losers. The Tigers had the other goal and Parks got an assist.

Red Wings defeated the Canadiens 6-2, led by Steve White with one goal and two assists. Other goals by Le Morre, D. Dickey, McKenzie and G. Lucas each scored once. Mayfield, Hull, LaMorre and Dickey also drew assists. Beecher and Lang were the Canadiens' scorers, with B. Wersner notching one assist.

Kenora Team Is Suspended

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario - Minnesota Hockey League Monday announced the suspension of Kenora Thistles for an indefinite period.

Thistles have failed to block a team for their first four games in the four-team international league.

League President Cal Marvin announced the suspension following an executive meeting in Kenora.

His statement said the suspension is effective "pending a ruling to be handed down by the Thunder Bay Amateur Hockey Association."

The Thunder Bay group, to which the Ontario - Minnesota League belongs, is expected to discuss the suspension at a meeting this week.

Thistles, a historic name in Canadian hockey, were reported to be having financial and player difficulties.

MONTREAL (CP) — Howie Young, who has earned a reputation as a problem child in the National Hockey League, was suspended indefinitely Tuesday.

HOWIE YOUNG

NHL president Clarence Campbell said the suspension stands until he has made a thorough investigation of the incident—in the penalty box—of the Chicago Black Hawks defenceman during a game in Toronto last Saturday.

Campbell did not indicate when he expects to complete the investigation.

The president's statement gave no details of Young's alleged actions, but in Toronto Monday Stafford Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said he had filed an official protest with the league and had also protested the referees decision Carl Voss.

Smythe said Young used intemperate language in the presence of women and children and spat.

RECEIVED MINOR

Just prior to whatever happened, Young had been tagged by referee Vern Buffey with a minor penalty for holding and a major penalty for elbowing.

The penalties for Wings and Hawks combined, who formerly played for Detroit Red Wings, is no stranger to disciplinary action.

Last season he set an NHL record for penalty minutes with 273 minutes served. This season so far he has accumulated 99 minutes and ranks third behind Reg Fleming of the Hawks, 106 minutes, and Vic Hadfield of New York Rangers, 100 minutes.

Young was suspended for three games last season for throwing a stick at referee Frank Udvari. He was also suspended by Detroit for failing to show up at a players' meeting.

The Red Wings benefited from off last summer, trading him to Chicago for goalie Roger Crozier and defenceman Ron Ingram.

WAS SUSPENDED

In the 1961-62 season Young was suspended by Detroit for drawing needless penalties and during the same campaign was taken off the ice by referee Red Storey for twice missing practice.

Four seasons ago Young, a Toronto native, was suspended by Rochester of the American Hockey League for conduct detrimental to the best interests of the club. With Hershey of the same league in the 1960-61 season he was banned for participating in a stick - swinging duel.

Young was jailed briefly last summer, the result of a restaurant brawl. He received a suspended sentence.

For the last two seasons and so far in the current season Young has accumulated a total of six misconduct penalties and two game misconduct penalties. The automatic fines totalled $250.

In Chicago, general manager Tommy Ivan of the Black Hawks said: "It was on the other side of the ice and I don't know what went on in the penalty box. Therefore, I cannot make any comment except to say I am surprised that he is indefinitely suspended. I have not talked to Howie about it."

Young called the suspension "silly" and said "they're railroading me."

"I think it's silly. What kind of setup is this when a club executive can go to the head of the league and get you suspended."

Young did not deny that he swore while in the penalty box. "I was mad at 'em (officials and players). I'm not a bad call on the ice."

Lobby Footfall

CFL Bosses Play Touch-And-Go

By JIM PEACOCK

NEW YORK (CP) — About three dozen Canadian football coaches, managers and players have been playing a special kind of game here this week.

It's sometimes called "pastelling the lobby," or just plain "lobbying." Occasionally it's "patrolling the corridors" and frequently leads to "pouring in the suds."

The playing field on this occasion is the Commodore Hotel in midtown New York where football coaches from more than 600 United States colleges are meeting at the annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Rules of the game are broad and there are no referees to blow the whistle.

Here's how it operates: The representatives of the professional teams simply roam through the hotel lobby and corridors, seeking out college coaches, introducing themselves when necessary, saves dropping now and then perhaps, and engaging in football talk.

CANUCKS OUTNUMBERED

There's no limit on the number of players—in fact, the Canadian Football League participants are outnumbered by those from the U.S. National and American Leagues — and there's no official scorekeeper. Only the players themselves are likely to know who is making points.

The prize may be a tip on a future professional prospect, a friendship with a coach which pays off later—or as Jim Trimble of Montreal Alouettes said: "Liaison, that's what we're establishing. We may find out about a sleeper (an unknown who has good potential) but there aren't many of those around any more."

For the individual CFL team, the awards may include the name of a college football player—or two or three, for an NFL player who doesn't fit into his current team's plans for next year for the negotiation list. Once on the negotiation list of one CFL team, that player is out of bounds to other CFL clubs.

NO OTHER TEAMS

The NFL and AFL have a draft system and no other means to claim rights to any college player on a list they can hop for is some inside information on those sleepers.

The Canadian participants have been extremely active, as a few hours of lobby-watching showed.

Race Driver Pickets Car Firm

LONDON (CP) — A 25-year - old Canadian racing driver is picketing the Lotus car firm's Hertfordshire headquarters because he cannot get a driving test.

John Hughes, a native of Northern Ontario, says he is just going to walk up and down in front of the factory in Cheshunt, about 20 miles northeast of London, "and every time I do someone takes some notice."

He carries a placard reading: "I'm not Stirling Moss or a count or a prince or a baron, I am just a damn good Canadian driver wanting a test to drive."

Hughes said he first wrote to Lotus asking for a test drive in one of the firm's famed Grand Prix cars and then decided to make a personal approach to Colin Chapman, head of Lotus.

Chapman's secretary told the Canadian that it would be uneconomic for Lotus to risk a test drive with everyone who asked.

Junior 'B' Coaches Suspended

TORONTO (CP) — Three-game suspensions have been levied against two coaches and 19 fines totalling $200 issued out by the Ontario Hockey Association in a bid to curb rough play.

Neil McNeil coach Frank Rocchio and Whitby coach Bob Wright were suspended without option of a following game by referee Ron Ingram.

Both teams in a Junior B game at Whitby Monday.

Referee John d'Amico handed out 19 misconduct penalties and one game misconduct penalty after both coaches allowed players to leave the benches.

DUFOUR SENT DOWN

PLAN NEW STABLES

TORONTO (CP) — Five of Victoria Park's first sons are to be honored Wednesday by E. P. Taylor's new stables in Maryland, Windfields' Farm manager Jew Thomas said Tuesday. Victoria Park, considered Canada's leading Canadian-bred thoroughbred runner, won the Queen's Plate in 1960, second in the Preakness and third in the Kentucky Derby.

Barrazzo Rated No.2 Contender

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — John Carlo Barrazzo of Toronto has been named No. 2 contender for the vacant Canadian heavyweight boxing title.

Barrazzo, previously unranked, was given the second spot behind Toronto's George Chuvalo in a list issued here by Richard B. Pearson, president of the Canadian Professional Boxing Federation. The new rankings are effective today.

The heavyweight crown was declared vacant by the federation last year after champion Bob Cleroux of Montreal refused to defend the crown against Chuvalo.

In other changes, previously unranked Raoul Sarrazin of Montreal was named No. 2 contender for the welterweight crown of Toronto's Peter Schmidt. Joey Durelle of Montreal continues to be first in line for Schmidt's title.

New Glasgow's Al McLean was placed in the No. 4 slot in the list of contenders for Blair Richardson's middleweight title.

AFL HERE TO STAY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pete Retzlaff of Philadelphia Eagles said Tuesday the American Football League is here to stay and inter-league competition is inevitable. The end, a veteran of eight seasons in the National Football League, added: "From a player's point of view, the formation of the AFL was a boon, because it created more jobs and a more competitive market for talent."

Elston Howard Is MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — When Elston Howard eventually gets around to signing his contract for 1964, it will make him the highest salaried catcher in the history of baseball — more than even Yogi Berra ever received in a single season.

"I expect to get a pretty good raise," said the 34-year-old New Yankee sparkplug who was voted the American League's most valuable player for 1963. That MVP award just ought to be worth something."

Howard didn't say how much money he received last year or how much he would ask for next season but the guess is he earned in the neighborhood of $50,000 in 1963 and will sign for about $60,000.

Berra, now the Yankee manager, has the distinction of having drawn the largest salary of any catcher in the game. His top pay was $57,500. As manager he is said to be getting $40,000.

Wings Blank Bruins 5-0

Leafs, Habs Tonight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Boston Bruins might have been better off just forgetting about the scheduled Nov. 24 meeting with the Detroit Red Wings, postponed because of President Kennedy's assassination.

The game was moved up to Tuesday night and the Bruins got clobbered 5-0 by the Wings as diminutive Roger Crozier recorded his second shutout of the season, both against the Bruins.

It was a good example of what Boston coach Milt Schmidt has been saying all along: The Bruins must score more goals and beat second division clubs like Detroit and New York if they hope to make the National Hockey League playoffs.

SINKING INTO CELLAR

The Beantowners let 29 shots fly at 143-pound Crozier but the 21-year-old rookie turned them back. The loss dropped the Bruins further into the cellar, six points behind New York and 11 back of fourth-place Detroit and last playoff spot.

Five Wings shared the scoring with Alex Delvecchio, Norm Ullman and Gordie Howe—Delvecchio and Ullman each got a goal and two assists while Howe picked up two assists.

Floyd Smith opened the scoring late in the first period as the Wings began a 43-shot barrage at Bruins goalie Ed Johnston before a sparse Boston crowd of 7,246.

Ed Joyal and Doug Barkley increased the margin to 3-0 in the second and Delvecchio and Ullman repped home third period markers.

It was Boston's ninth consecutive game in a row without a victory.

The NHL features another lone game tonight as Montreal and Toronto resume their battle for second place. The Leafs are two points behind the Canadiens in third place while Montreal is three points back of league - leading Chicago and hope to gain ground with a win in Toronto.

The Habs, who have been idle since Dec. 28, will be trying to avoid a fifth straight loss.

The Leafs, who have been idle since Dec. 29, will be trying to avoid a fifth straight loss.

Dempsey Used 'Loaded Gloves'

Next Episode-Goliath Took A Dive!

NEW YORK (AP) — Another ghost from the past has risen to haunt Jack Dempsey. Now they are claiming he used loaded gloves in 1919 when he won the world heavyweight boxing title from Jess Willard.

The story is told in the memoirs of the late Jack (Doc) Kearns, his manager at the time, as published in a copyrighted feature in Sports Illustrated. Dempsey denies it in the same article.

Kearns claimed he used plaster of paris and water in bandaging Dempsey's hands to insure a 10-to-1 bet of $10,000 that Dempsey would win in one round. Kearns lost, for due to a comedy of errors Dempsey won in three rounds.

Dempsey's ex-manager said the fighter was "entirely innocent of what happened and stood there in what amounted to almost a stupor. I had to hide a smile as the call came to enter the ring. Every punch, landing with the hollow sound of a mallet crunching into a watermelon, raised knots on him or tore him open. NEVER DID IT AGAIN

"In all his subsequent career Dempsey never inflicted such dreadful damage on an opponent. And he did it to this one in the very first round. There may be those who will wonder how it could possibly be that Dempsey didn't know his gloves were loaded.

"Actually, it isn't too surprising. He was young and this was the most unnerving day of his hungry life. Afterward, when I cracked off the bandages and ditched them, he was so dumb at being the heavyweight champion of the world that you could have hit him with a hammer and he wouldn't have blinked an eye."

The article quotes Dempsey as commenting: "Ridiculous! I could take an oath. In fact I will."

A month ago, Benny Marshall of the Birmingham News wrote that Dempsey had been doped before his first fight with Gene Tunney in Philadelphia. At the time, Dempsey said he was not sick the day of the fight but added: "A doctor told me the next day, I'd probably be given a mickey finn and I probably was ill for three or four days after that."

In reference to the 1919 bout, Willard, now 82, told Sports Illustrated:

"I'm glad that Kearns finally was man enough to admit it. The first time Dempsey hit me, I knew the gloves were loaded. He knocked me down seven times, maybe eight. I don't recall exactly now. But every time he hit me, I could feel another bone or two breaking. I got robbed by the king of the robbers, I guess we could say. That Kearns."

Kansas City, Louisville Is Question

KANSAS CITY (AP) — For the next eight days, until owners of American League teams meet in New York, the question of whether Kansas City or Louisville has a baseball team named the Athletics will be subject to conjecture. And words.

Owner Charles O. Finley, who signed a two-year contract Monday to shift the franchise to Louisville, says he is confident the owners "will approve my move when they have had an opportunity to analyse the true facts."

A majority of owners have indicated otherwise.

"He isn't going to Louisville," Chicago White Sox owner Arthur Allyn said Tuesday. "Mr. Finley's action is absolutely inexcusable. He has an obligation to Kansas City and I'm going to see that he lives up to it."

Kansas City civic officials, who failed in weeks of negotiations to reach agreement on a municipal Stadium lease, maintained what Mayor Ilus W. Davis called "discreet silence."

Davis and City Manager Carleton Sharpe had requested American League assistance before Finley announced his planned move. They'll attend the league meeting in New York Jan. 16.

Hawks Dump Rangers

Generals Edge Baby Habs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Junior Canadiens had intentions of closing to within six points of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series Tuesday night—but Oshawa Generals and Danny O'Shea had different ideas.

The sixth-place Generals, behind a three-goal outburst by O'Shea, edged the Canadiens 3-2 in Bowmanville to take a seven-point lead over Hamilton Red Wings for the last playoff spot. The Wings have three games in hand.

In other action, St. Catharines Black Hawks dumped the cellar-dwelling Kitchener Rangers 6-4 to move into fourth place in the standings. The win gave Hawks a one-point edge over Niagara Falls Flyers.

Toronto Marlboros lead the parade with 51 points, a margin of eight over Montreal. Peterborough Petes are in third place with 36 points, followed by St. Catharines with 33, Niagara Falls 32, Oshawa 24, Hamilton 17 and Kitchener 12.

SIX IN ACTION

Six of the eight clubs are in action Thursday night when Hamilton plays host to Montreal, Toronto visits Peterborough and St. Catharines visits Oshawa.

O'Shea accounted for all of Oshawa's scoring while Leo Thiffault and Christian Bordeleau fired singles for the losers.

Brian McDonald paced the Hawks in their home-ice win, clicking for a pair of goals. Singles came from Fred Stanfield, Joe Kish, Dennis Hull and Doug Jarrett.

John Beechey, Peter Brennan, Trevor Fahey and Dave Sheen scored Kitchener's goals.

The game was one of the cleanest of the season in St. Catharines. Referee Gord Payrean handed out only five minor penalties and one major.

Marg. Fairbairn Bowls 410 In Five Pins

Marg Fairbairn bowled the highest five-pin game recorded by a woman in this city for the past 12 years in the Ladies' Business League at the Bowl-O-Drome last night.

An outstanding bowler, Miss Fairbairn rolled 410, the highest single game by either a man or woman at Drome this season.

She started her second game with seven consecutive strikes. She "dropped off" to a spare in the eighth frame but came right back with four more strikes to register the terrific 410 single.

Miss Fairbairn held the ladies' high average last season.

Last night's 410 was the highest single since the 1951-52 season when Theresa Warchaugh had a 4-. In 1950-51, Dot Bone hit for a brilliant 421 while last year's high was Gwen Bellis' 401. In the 1952-54 season Hazel Fiperni rolled a 403.

May Convert Santa Anita Race Track

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—The president of strikebound Santa Anita Park said Tuesday that directors of the race track are seriously considering converting their property to other uses.

"We're considering it right now," Robert F. Kelley told reporters at a press conference. "We're talking to people who have made attractive offers for shopping centres, apartment houses and things like that.

"This is not our desire. We want to continue racing. But we have stockholders, so we must look at the economic picture involved here. We feel we can make more money doing something else."

The conference was called to give Santa Anita's position on the strike called Monday night by part-mutuel clerks and others affiliated with the Building Service Union.

General Manager James D. Stewart of Hollywood Park, who also attended the conference, said his track is also thinking of using its property for other purposes.

Aces Blank Clippers

QUEBEC (CP)—Leon Rochefort's three goals powered Quebec Aces to an easy 6-0 victory over Baltimore Clippers Tuesday night in an American Hockey League game before 8,275 fans.

Lorne (Gump) Worsley the shutout, performing at his best in stopping 35 drives by the Clippers—who lamched 16 at him in a furious effort to score in the third period.

Also scoring for the Aces were Don Blackburn, Ed Hockstra and Wayne Hicks. Hicks has the most goals in the AHL with 22.

Quebec scored three times in the first period, once in the second and twice in the third and generally out-checked and outpaced the visitors.

Baltimore goalie Gilles Villemure made 25 saves.

The three goals brought Rochefort's total this season to 13.

WINDSOR (CP)—Des Moines Oak Leafs downed Windsor Bulldogs 3-1 Tuesday night to take over sole possession of fourth place in the International Hockey League standings.

The Oak Leafs emerged from a deadlock with Chatham Maroons in fifth spot, to take a one-point lead over Windsor. Des Moines has 25 points.

Playing-coach Minnie Menard and Nelson LeClair fired second period goals to overcome a 1-0 lead by the Bulldogs. Bob Brown counted for Windsor on a power-play midway through the opening period.

Defeats Cobourg 6-5

Picton Wins 16 In Row

By JACK FAWKES

PICTON — Fresh from their 6-5 victory in Cobourg on Monday night, the Picton Intermediates made it 16 wins in a row to maintain their unbeaten streak this season as they dumped Cobourg again here last night by a decisive 9-3 score.

Picton led 4-1 at the end of the first period, 7-3 at the end of the second and outscored the visitors 2-1 in the final period.

Things livened up in the last period, when a fight broke out in the Cobourg end. Harris Mc-Keen slashed Jack Kennedy who retaliated with a left hook and the fat was in the fire.

Playing coach Davie Jones came over and took a hand and was banished with a game misconduct for his efforts. McKeen drew two for slashing and five for fighting. Kennedy drew five for fighting. This took place at the 5.30 mark.

(Shaker) Baker opened the scoring at the 1.17 mark of the first period converting passes from Davie Jones and Jim Guernsey. Just 10 seconds later Rolland Berry took Carl Stacey's goalmouth pass and drove one past Jim Irvine in the Cobourg nets.

Cobourg's first marker came at the 8.25 mark when Paul Wakely fired Gary Sharpe's pass into the right hand side of the Picton net. Nell Denard got that one back as he fired a pass from Jones and Doug Murray at the 15.25 mark and 35 seconds later Carl Stacey fired one from Murray to give Picton a 4-1 edge at the end of the first period.

Stacey fired the picture goal of the night to open the second period. He picked up the puck in his own end, rushed to centre ice, deked the defence, pulled the trigger and the puck never left the ice as it scooted into the short side. This was at 6.31.

Davie Jones took passes from Keith MacDonald and Rolland Berry to beat Irvine at the 7.38 mark. Garry Sharpe scored an unassisted marker for the visitors at the 9.40 mark which bounced clean over Tom O'Halloran's goal stick and into the net. He didn't have a chance on it. Berry fired passes from MacDonald and Stacey at the 14.46 mark to give Picton a 7-2 edge going into the last period.

Ron Weese fired a goal at the 7.37 mark after taking a perfect pass from MacDonald to beat Irvine cleanly. Ross Quigley fired the lone Cobourg goal unassisted at the 9.32 mark. Shaker fired the last goal for the winners at the 12.57 mark with Murray and Jack Kennedy picking up assists.

There were 11 penalties, including two for fighting and a game misconduct. Shots on goal were even at 40 each.

Cobourg — Jim Irvine, Alex McKeen, Harris McKeen, Paul Wakely, Gary Sharpe, Bill Elliott, Jim Freeman, Mel Stevenson, Roly Campbell, Al Macklin, Ross Quigley.

Anderson To Manage Maple Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — Officials of the Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club confirmed the appointment Tuesday of George "Sparky" Anderson as field manager, but shed little light on the reported sale of the club to several Toronto businessmen.

Frank Pollock, club general manager, said at a press conference, however, that Anderson would be the field manager "no matter who was making out the pay cheques."

Club president Harry C. Kimber, in an interview following the conference, confirmed that negotiations are being carried on for the sale of the club and said he thought the deal would hinge on the condition of the stadium.

He said engineers now are checking the building, owned by the Toronto harbor commission, and an estimate of cost of repairs is expected next week. The club is responsible for stadium upkeep.

CONFIRMS TALKS

Sam Starr, one of two businessmen reported interested in the purchase of Jack Kent Cooke's team, confirmed negotiations were being held but would not comment on price or other detail.

He said several other businessmen were involved in the proposed purchase.

It was reported that Starr, a manufacturer of children's clothing, and Robert L. Hunter, broker, headed a group of 10 sportsmen who had invested $5,000 each in the deal.

Cooke, who has lived in Los Angeles for the last three years and who has invested $250,000 in the club, said in a recent telephone interview he wants the team to stay in Toronto but the price must be reasonable.

His asking price was reported to be $125,000.

North Marysburg Reeve Elected Warden of County

PICTON (Staff) — Kenneth Hicks, Reeve of North Marysburgh was elected Warden of Prince Edward County at the inaugural meeting of the council held at the Shire Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

In his acceptance speech, Warden Hicks said, "I will do everything in my power to be worthy of the high position you as a council have placed me, and if I can do as well as those that have been in this chair before, I will be very happy," he added.

The Warden pointed out some of the things that could be expected in the coming year, highlighted by the forthcoming convention of the Home for the Aged Association billed for the county some time in early September.

He mentioned that it was entirely possible the Greenpoint Bridge will be started during his term of office.

"We will be one of the very few counties in the province that will have our own Assessment Commissioner and our own Welfare Administrator," he added. He further expressed the hope that by the continued co-operation of all committees that the mill rate is kept down.

The only business of the first day of the county council was the appointment of the Standing Committees for the year. They are as follows, with the first name being Chairman.

Road Committee — Harold Cleave, Mayor H. J. McFarland, Gordon Earle and Robert Boyce.

War Memorial Committee — Major G. T. Walmsley, Lt.-Col. W. A. Davern, Lt.-Col. Ray Young, Clifford McClaplin and Don DeMille.

The Board of Criminal Audit—George Cunningham and John Fox.

County Representatives on the Board of Children's Aid—Don Kotchapaw and Clair Platt.

County Representative on the Hospital Board—Barney Hepburn.

County Representatives on the Board of Health—Del Huff, Gordon Demore, Don Kotchapaw and Don Bond.

Appointment to the Federation of Agriculture—Del Huff and George Cunningham.

Agriculture Committee—Del Huff, Des Kotchapaw and Gordon Demore.

County Representative on the Board of Ongwanada Sanitorium—John Fox.

County Representative to the Tourist Association— Robert Boyce.

County Representative to the Chamber of Commerce— Don Thompson.

Three new faces attended county council — Don Kotchapaw, reeve of Sophiasburg; Robert Boyce, reeve of Wellington and George Cunningham, deputy reeve of Ameliasburg.

WANT ONE PARTY

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters) — Uganda will restrict the growth of political parties and develop at a one-party socialist state, Prime Minister Milton Obote said in a statement issued Tuesday from Lango, northern Uganda. Obote said opposition leaders in Uganda had still to win the respect of the public, and opposition leaders outside Parliament had been "irresponsible, opportunist and subversive in their conduct."

'Jest a Second'

"I mean, can you support my daughter financially?"

Family Visits With War Friends In France

PICTON (Staff) — Mr. and Mrs. William Jones and their three sons, Ricky, David and Glynne have returned to Picton after spending ten days on the Continent and in England.

Flying both ways, in jet airliners, they arrived in Paris, France, 5½ hours after leaving New York. The plane usually carries 180 passengers but for some reason there were only 31 aboard, so we had the entire aircraft practically to ourselves," Mr. Jones said.

This is the third such trip for Mr. Jones. The fourth to be exact, the first was in 1944, when he was a navigator in the R.A.F., and had the Lancaster aircraft shot out from under him and he bailed out.

In bright daylight, the Germans had good targets, and killed a couple of the crew who were also coming down by chute. Bill and another crew member, now living in Winnipeg, landed in a field and were promptly hidden by a French family on whose farm they landed.

After being hidden for four days, Bill and his pal escaped into the south of France where they wandered around for two months before being picked up and taken back to England.

The subsequent trips Mr. Jones has made have been to attend weddings of his rescuers' family. In the 1960 trip, Mr. and Mrs. Jones were guests at the wedding of the daughter, who was only six when Bill was shot down. This trip they saw the first born daughter of the marriage. Margaret Jones is the Godmother of the child.

Travelling about 15,000 miles in ten days, the Jones family made an air trip to London, and while there visited Oxford and Stratford-on-Avon. They also attended the world's largest boat show, held in London each year.

The family attended five banquets in their honor in the ten-day period. Each banquet lasted from four to six hours each.

For those who will remember, Bill was shot down near Forges Les Eaux, which is between Rouen and Amiens, about 90 miles from Paris, and about 30-35 miles from Dieppe.

NBC Lightheartedly Strips Glamor From Orient Express

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YOR (AP)—Another illusion was destroyed Tuesday night as NBC lightheartedly stripped the glamor from the Orient Express, the famous train that travels from Paris through seven countries to Istanbul.

It was partly because correspondent Edwin Newman's trip was so uneventful, and uncomfortable, that the record of the journey was a delightful hour of television.

Newman, determinedly droll and looking every inch a man of sinister mystery, boarded the train in Paris by night, chatting about the reputation of The Express, beloved by writers like Agatha Christie and Graham Green. From 1883 on, it carried royalty, millionaires and probably even thieves and spies in sumptuous style across Europe.

By morning, Newman was in Switzerland addressing himself to a fine breakfast in a nice if not lavish dining car. But it was his last square meal until, six hours late, the train reached the Black Sea.

Passengers included a French diplomat courier who ate ham sandwiches in his compartment throughout the long trip, and an assortment of peasants, soldiers, pilgrims and businessmen.

Television Success Has Not Spoiled Danny Kaye

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Has television show might not have had an adverse financial effect.

MONEY NOT VITAL

"Money was the last thing I went into television for," Kaye said, showing a glimmer of his old form. "As a matter of fact I am making less money now than I could if I worked in other fields."

Kaye said his only reluctance in entering TV was that it would tie him to one locale for most of a year. That problem is alleviated somewhat by his schedule: Five weeks on, one week off. The week off has found him fishing in Canada, attending the World Series, flying to London.

"The way I feel now, I'm ready to sign for another year," he said.

SETS WHIPPING DATE

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Judge Stewart Lynch Tuesday set Jan. 20 for the public whipping of Talmadge R. Balsar, 40, but reduced the sentence from 20 lashes to 10. The State Supreme Court, in November, ordered Lynch to re-sentence Balsar. The High Court ruled that the original sentence for robbery was not valid because Lynch did not set a specific date for the whipping to take place.

The interviewer suggested the

Orangutan Did Not Want to Go Back to Zoo

CALGARY (CP)—Jiggs, an 18-month-old orangutan, may spend the rest of his life wondering why he isn't outside his cage at St. George's Island zoo here.

The polgum-faced youngster spent three weeks in the home of zookeeper Norman Winnick during an illness and liked the life so much he didn't particularly relish the idea of moving into his cage.

About a week before his illness Jiggs arrived in Calgary with two year - old Maggie, who will be his mate. both came from Borneo and when Jiggs was examined he was found to have a cold.

It settled in his chest and got worse so he was moved into the Winnick house. The first thing Mrs. Winnick did was put Jiggs in a diaper and plastic pants.

"When he was hungry, he just climbed into the high chair and squealed," Mrs. Winnick says.

Jiggs gobbled pablum, bananas, celery and carrots, sweet potatoes and cooked meat.

The animal, about three years old in human terms, learned to understand the word "not" but not very well. Jiggs took an interest in the telephone and often pulled the receiver down and listened. His greatest joy was shredding newspapers and magazines.

At night he submitted to confinement in a cage in the living room with a humidifier alongside for his cold.

He was returned to the zoo after regaining normal weight and when the Winnicks went to visit him a day later Jiggs squealed until the cage was opened so he could embrace Mrs. Winnick.

"He wouldn't let go," said Mrs. Winnick. "He is human — at least he thinks he is."

Signs Point To Oswald As Assassin

WASHINGTON (CP) — Did Lee Harvey Oswald kill John Fitzgerald Kennedy?

The chief counsel for the Warren commission says the signs point that way but that the commission still hasn't enough evidence to remove all doubt. So the investigation into the crime likely will continue for months.

For example, while Dallas police once reported a fingerprint on the alleged assassination weapon—an Italian-made, bolt-action rifle — J. Lee Rankin, commission general counsel, said Monday there was no fingerprint; only a palm print, identified as that of Oswald.

There are other points which bother and puzzle the former U.S. solicitor-general as he directs the legal staff of the seven-man commission headed by U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren.

TESTS PUZZLING

Paraffin tests showed there was evidence of gunpowder on Oswald's hands, indicating the accused assassin had fired a hand weapon, but there were no similar gunpowder traces on his face, Rankin said in an interview.

Some authorities maintain the paraffin tests on Oswald's face would have been positive if he had fired a rifle, as police said he did, Rankin added.

Eyewitnesses have testified that Oswald fired a pistol to kill police constable J. D. Tippit shortly after Kennedy was assassinated and a police alarm sounded in Dallas last Nov. 22.

Rankin said that because of the condition of the bullets, they could not be positively identified as coming from the rifle found in the warehouse. However, spent shells were found near the sixth-floor window where the assassin was believed to have been perched.

What the commission wants to be able to do, he said, is to publish a report that would eliminate doubt. Last month the Federal Bureau of Investigation gave the commission its report, concluding Oswald committed the crime unaided.

But the commission apparently was not completely satisfied with the FBI summary. It called for all documents on which the FBI report was based. The commission intends to re-examine every aspect of the case; to account if possible for every development on the day of the assassination.

SCHEDULE TWO STOPS

OTTAWA (CP) — The Queen Mother will make brief stops in Montreal and Vancouver Feb. 7 on her way to New Zealand and Australia. The Queen Mother's aircraft is expected to stop for one hour at Dorval International Airport for refueling and arrive at Vancouver early in the evening. An informant said the Queen Mother probably will spend the night in Vancouver and continue to New Zealand Feb. 8.

Astrological Forecast

For January 9

By SYDNEY OMARR

Aries (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Avoid wishful thinking. Stress practical approach. Firm for completing detail work. Get house in order. Be particularly attentive where business matters are concerned.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20): Outside events take on "misty" glow. This is day of highly personal activities. You are not likely to be interested in news, economic trends. Keep eye open when driving.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21): Insist on obtaining factual information. Check newspaper columns. Set prices, time schedules. Wonderful for added cooperation with fellow workers. Remember your individuality.

Cancer (June 22 to July 21): Good letter correspondence to change for greater creative expression. Look within for basic answers. Be true to your principles. Avoid self-deception.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21): Stress on finances, security. Consult with accountant or real estate broker. Check opportunities. Put ideas to work. Capricorn individual can give encouragement.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): What you wish may not be for best. Act with confidence, self-assurance. Full steam ahead! Some of your ideas may require revising. Begin to lay groundwork for success.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Take initiative where financial affairs enter picture. Be positive. Trust own judgment. Take a chance on your creative abilities. Project not as costly as you might imagine.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Don't mix fantasy with reality. Keep contacts straight. Pisces individual may present misleading information. Your intuitive intellect serves you well. Trust hunch!

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Read Cancer message. Gain proper perspective. Evening favors theatre or motion picture entertainment. Unusual routine. Weave recent events into logical pattern.

Capricorn (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20): If you show strength, determination — you get your way. Otherwise, some may attempt to "push." Be friendly, but do not permit others to too much for granted.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Avoid misunderstandings in connection with contracts, dealings with higher-ups. Double check facts, figures. Surprises due. Activity tonight could be exciting.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You do best with attitude of acceptance. Don' try to force your advice on others. Concentrate on future. Worry over past is waste of energy.

If today is your birthday . . . you would make excellent teacher; you stimulate others to you with their problems. You inspire trust.

Employees Will Not Make More With Company

TORONTO (CP) — Only two of the 1,100 employees of General Steel Wares who originally said they would move from Toronto to one of the company's other plants will in fact make the move, the company said Tuesday.

General Steel Wares, which plans to transfer its manufacturing operations to Fergus, Ont., and London, Ont., offered to maintain pension and seniority rights and pay moving expenses and a cash gratuity to employees who would move.

However, it was believed that most employees at one of the company's two Toronto plants declined to leave because their union, the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), was able to relocate most of them. The plant employed about 350 persons.

The company announced Tuesday its other plant was also suspending operations. About 120 employees will be affected. The union said it expected the same situation would exist, where employees would all agree to be relocated at other jobs in Toronto.

A union spokesman said many of the employees were reluctant to leave the city. "They don't bear the company any ill will," he said. "They will benefit from all the benefits they have built up over the years, including pension credits."

Jurist Concerned Over Increase in Juvenile Crimes

TORONTO (CP)—Chief Justice James C. McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court said Tuesday the trend toward increased juvenile crimes of violence is a matter of concern for judges.

The 73-year-old jurist noted he had tried four youths, none over age 16, for capital murder in the last two years.

Statistics, he said, show an increase of almost 300 per cent in the number of appearances in juvenile courts in York County in the five years prior to 1963.

Chief Justice McRuer made his remarks at a ceremony marking the opening of the Ontario High Courts of Justice this year. Attending were Supreme and County Court judges, Metropolitan Toronto magistrates, Attorney-General Cass and benchers of the Law Society of Upper Canada.

The increase in violent juvenile crimes does "not reflect on the great body of young people in Ontario," he said. "But they do reflect on the manner in which adult population is discharging its responsibility."

NEEDS PUBLIC SUPPORT

The chief justice suggested the average citizen is content to leave law enforcement to police officers. However, no police force can adequately safeguard individual rights unless supported by strong public opinion.

Chief Justice McRuer cited other influences, television and magazines—he said are insidiously educating young minds in the ways and means of crime.

John D. Arnup, treasurer of the Law Society, said that if legal aid is to be expanded it will have to come from political rather than professional decisions.

"We've been doing it for nothing," he said, "and we've gone about as far as we can go."

Mr. Arnup said that since the legal aid plan was inaugurated in 1951, hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of lawyer time had been given. The only direct government aid was an annual $5,000 grant which had been increased to $20,000.

Demerit Marks Can Be Charged Says Gazette

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Gazette published a new regulation under the Highway Traffic Act Monday, making it possible for the registrar of motor vehicles to record demerit points against a motorist even if the fine is paid out of court.

The regulation came from the attorney - general's department as a result of a York County court judge's ruling that demerit points could not be charged against a motorist if fines were paid out of court.

In October, Harry Waldeman, 32, of Hamilton successfully appealed a conviction for driving while his license was under suspension for having 12 demerit points.

Waldeman's lawyer, R. H. Smeis, argued before Judge Farquhar J. MacRae that his client paid an $18 speeding fine out of court, therefore the offence could not be regarded as a conviction. As a result, the recording of three points against him was illegal.

Judge MacRae agreed that only a justice of peace, magistrate or judge could register a conviction under the Highway Traffic Act. He said sending in money does not amount to a conviction.

A. G. McNab, deputy minister of transport, said the new regulation now removes any doubt over the legality of similar suspensions against other motorists.

Union Tactics Need Revamping As Automation Transforms Life

By OBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP)—The stage is set for a final round of collective bargaining that could reshape—perhaps even revolutionize—labor-management relations in many key industries in Canada.

In the next 12 months, labor and management negotiators will be hammering out new contracts involving thousands of workers, from bartenders in British Columbia to macaroni makers in Montreal.

More than 210 major agreements,not counting those in the construction trades or those in plants with fewer than 500 employees—come up for renegotiation in 1964. About 370,000 workers are covered by the agreements.

Another 100,000 railwaymen are involved in wage negotiations that started last year and continue into the new year. By June, the CPR and CNR will be embroiled in bargaining sessions with 19 unions representing the running trades and the non-operating work force.

JOBS DISAPPEAR

The 1964 negotiating calendar includes the pace-setting steel and auto industries, national bargaining of the meat-packing industry, regional talks in textiles and the first test of bargaining skills for the government's three-man union trusteeship in the maritime industry.
